Henry B. Nieport married Mary Borgerding on eptember 6, 1911 and raised five children on a farm outh of St. Henry, near the old Gelhaus School.

This is the famous school where mysterious earth emors would tip the outhouse over, coincidentally nly when in use by girls of the school). Their five nildren are Rose (b. 1-15-1914), Joseph (b. 6-26-916), Alberta (b. 6-19-1918), Anthony (b. 4-19-

920), and Bernadetta (b. 3-12-1922).

Joseph married Gertrude Weitzel on May 30, 1942 nd they raised seven boys and two girls. Joseph ontinued farming after his father died at a young ge. He has always been a very innovative and head-of-his time farmer in that he was one of the arliest farmers to use tractors, balers, self-propelled ombines, grain dryers, and the like. Because of nese equipment purchases, he began doing a lot of ustom farm work for others. At one time he baled ay 30 and 40 miles from St. Henry, then moved on rom farm to farm with his stationary baler until reurning to home ground with his crew of workers.

Children of Joseph and Gertrude Nieport are Herert (b. 5-11-43), David (b. 2-6-45), Leroy (b. 11-7-6), Stanley (b. 10-4-48), Michael (b. 3-31-50), Mary D. 1-16-53), Melvin (b. 1-29-54), Terry (b. 5-1-57), and Brenda (b. 11-3-62). Henry A. and Anna M. Pohl

HENRY A. AND ANNA M. POHL FAMILY

Henry Pohl was a son of Joseph Pohl and Anna Mary Kallmeyer (Kallmeier) and they were both German immigrants. Joseph was born in Hanover, Germany, and Mary was born in Antum, Germany.

Anna Hemmelgarn was a daughter of John Frederick Hemmelgarn and Elisabeth Mary Schmachers. Fred was born in Hanover, Germany, and came to America with his parents in 1834 or 1835 when he was still a small boy. Fred's father was Herman Hemmelgarn and he was the man who sold the land to the sisters of the Precious Blood for the old Himmelgarten Convent that stood on St. Route 119 west of St. Henry. He thought that the house was haunted and the sisters would keep the ghosts away with their constant praying. The German, Himmelgarten, or the English, Hemmelgarn, means "Heaven's Garden".

As children, Henry and Anna grew up as neighbors because both of their parents lived on farms in the immediate area of Township Line Road and Carthagena Road west of St. Henry. And as happened many times in those days, the neighbor boy married the neighbor girl. And it was quite often that brothers and sisters from the same families married, and the Hemmelgarn and Pohl family was no exception.

Henry and Anna were married on November 16, 1897, and they had the following children: Joseph born Oct. 24, 1898 and married Estella Omlor; Leo born Aug. 23, 1901 and married Pauline Rammel; Edward born Oct. 10, 1905 and married Margaret Gasson; Hilda born Jan. 15, 1908 and married Albert Rammel; Esther born Apr. 25, 1911 and married Arthur Meyer; Mary born Mar. 2, 1914 and married Clarence Huelsman; Agnes (Stillborn); Erma born May 10, 1920 and married Donald Dellinger on Nov. 16, 1943. He was killed in WW II and she then married Walter Riegel on Nov. 28, 1946.

In addition to the fine family just listed, the family includes a great number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Among the grandchildren is Dr. Kenneth Pohl of Kettering, Ohio. He is well known in this area as an excellent orthopedic surgeon doing hip and knee replacements.

As a young married couple, Henry and Anna lived on a farm west of St. Henry. They later moved into St. Henry into a very large white house at the southwest corner of Washington Street and John Street. At this time they still owned a few acres of ground at the east end of Washington Street. In this pasture, they kept their cow and during the late 1930's and early 1940's, the cow was brought into the little barn on their property and milked twice a day. The mi not needed for the immediate family was sold to the people in the neighborhood.

Henry was a highly respected person and serve for many years on the village council at St. Henr Anna was a very smart woman and an exceller cook. She had a great deal of good, old-fashione "common sense" and was called upon many time by the people in St. Henry because of her known edge of home remedies in helping the sick. They walso be remembered as having "boarded" many the single school teachers in their big house on the corner, including the late A. J. Collins and Walte Weisenbach. Written by Eileen H. THE STANLEY A. ROMER FAMILY

The Stanley A. Romer family continues from the line of one of the oldest families of St. Henry and Mercer County. Their first ancestor to come to America was John Joseph Romer in 1834. He and his first wife, Anna Marie (Klinetrimp) met and lived in Cincinnati until October, 1838. At that time they moved to Mercer County, where John Joseph became one of the founders and first businessmen of St. Henry.

Many people and eventful years lie between the time of Stanley A. Romer and his great-grandfather, John Joseph. However, this sketch must limit itself to Stanley A. Romer and his family.

Stanley Alexander Romer, son of Joseph John and Anna Marie (Hartings) Romer, was born May 27, 1901. His father had been married once before, having four children from that marriage.

Stanley and his brother, Harry A. Romer, were well known in St. Henry, having serviced the community as funeral directors. After Harry's death, Dan C. Romer joined in partnership with his father, Stanley. Stanley's ill health caused him to sell the funeral home to N. J. Hogenkamp in 1960. However, he continued to operate the variety store that he owned, until his death in 1971.

Stanley married Marie Lange, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Dwenger) Lange, on October 15, 1923. They had five children, as follows: Flora E. born September 11, 1925; Irene P., born April 15, 1928; Daniel C., born October 29, 1930; Elizabeth A., born December 23, 1932; and Joseph J., born October 9, 1937.

He later married Loretta E. Osterfeld, daughter of Henry and Elnora (Dabbett) Osterfeld, on September 1, 1943. They had one daughter, Barbara A., born August 30, 1947.

Flora E. Romer married Tony kohnen (born Feb. 12, 1923) on July 18, 1950. They have six children, as follows: Katherine M. born Sept. 27, 1951 who married Joe Farrey; Robert L. born Oct. 29, 1952 who married Gayle Herman; Kenneth E., born July 27, 1954, who died Aug. 24, 1975; Richard, born Jan. 13, 1957; Douglas M., born May 7, 1962; and Charles A.,

HENRY SCHMACKERS AND ANNA LEFELD

Henry Schmackers was born on his father's farm, n Granville Township, Section 17 East, on August 15, 1889. He as a small child lived in a log cabin built by his father. The education that he had received vas from the Home School, west of them on State Route 119. Henry helped his father build a new barn on the farm in 1915. As Henry was planning on geting married in 1916, his father promised him the arm. With the upcoming marriage Henry and his ather erected the house which now stands to this lay. Before the house was very far along George Lefeld, a future brother-in-law fell into the basement. Grandpa was a general farmer and stock raiser, and served on the school board.

On October 11, 1916 Henry married Anna Lefeld laughter of Bernard and Antionette Kessen Lefeld.

The wedding reception for friends and neighbors was held in the new barn. Anna was born at St. Peter, Ohio on September 20, 1888 and went to school in St. Peters. Later her parents moved to Coldwater. After her marriage she moved on the farm with Henry. Among the many duties of being a wife, she took care of Henry's mother and father, who stayed with them. Later on in life her mother moved in and was well cared for by them. After the death of her husband she moved in with her brother George, in St. Henry. Henry and Anna are the parents of three sons: Victor H., Louis A., and James G.

Henry George Schmackers, father of Henry, was born February 13, 1857, and came from Germany. Gerhard Schmackers, father of H. G. Schmackers, purchased 40 acres from Herman T. Jaspers, on February 23, 1876. When he bought the land it was nothing but woods. The logs that were made from clearing the land were used to build the log cabin, which was on a brick foundation. Herman T. Jaspers was a brother-in-law of Gerhard's. Henry G. married Elizabeth Wessel and they were the parents of four children, Anna, Bernadine, Henry G., and John Laurentius, who died when he was two years old. Elizabeth Wessel was born on September 26, 1860, G. H. and Elizabeth deeded the farm over to Henry and Anna on April 20, 1922.

When Henry died in 1963 the oldest son Victor took over the farm which by now was 100 acres. Anna as of this writing is still living, but being in poor health she is in the Shane Hill Nursing Home, at Rockford, Ohio. The Schmackers family is of Catholic Faith, and belong to the St. Henry Parish.

SEITZ

John Seitz was well known as an educator in Merer County having taught school in that area for thirty plus years. John, the third child in a family of eight was born to Joseph (Oct. 14, 1852) and Elizabeth (Knapke) Seitz (June 11, 1855) on August 21, 1879 at Chickasaw, Ohio. Other members in the family were Ben, Mary, Anthony, Anne, Rosa, Charles and Albert. He attended school in Chickasaw and later obtained a degree in education from St. Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Indiana. A man of high integrity and Catholic beliefs, he was a dedicated teacher and disciplinarian.

While teaching in a one room schoolhouse in St. Peter, Ohio, he met and married Clara Steinbrunner, the daughter of Robert, a farmer and cobbler who was born in Crawford County, Ohio on May 5, 1852 and Barbara (Johe) who was born in Columbus, Ohio on April 27, 1857. Clara, the third child of eight children was born June 10, 1885 in the small town of Victoria (St. Joe), Ohio. Other members of her family were Agnes, John, Clem, Elizabeth, Mary, Aloysius and Cyrillus.

John and Clara were married on August 31, 1903 in St. Joseph, Ohio. She was a devout Catholic and worked very hard in the rearing of eleven children. Besides the normal household chores, many hours of back-breaking labor were spent in the preparation and canning of foodstuff for storage in the cellar for winter use.

After a short period of time in St. Peter, Ohio, they moved to St. Anthony, Ohio where their first child, Alma (1906) was born. Subsequently, the family moved to Ft. Recovery where Esther (1908) was born. Then they moved to Chickasaw where Helen (1910) was born. During these years, John was employed in the banking business. In 1913 he moved the family to the Cranberry Prairie where he taught the next twelve years. It was here that six sons, Harold (1913), Leon (1915), Seranus (1917), Robert (1919), Luke (1921) and Arthur (1923) were born.

He then moved and taught in St. Henry where he supplemented his income by selling for Delco Light Co. of Dayton, Ohio. Virginia (1925) was born within this three year period. In 1925 the family moved to Dayton, Ohio. During the next four years he continued to work for the Delco Light Co. and various other places of employment due to economic conditions. During this time their son, John (1928) was born. Foreseeing the dreadful "Crash of 1929" approaching, the family returned to the small farming community of St. Henry, Ohio where he taught for another twelve years.

In 1941 due to ill health, he retired and moved his wife and two youngest children back to Dayton, Ohio where the older children, now married, had established their homes. During periods of time when his health permitted, he taught at Chaminade High School and later obtained bookkeeping jobs for small businesses.

In addition to his career in education, Mr. Seitz was also known for his artistic abilities. He was an accomplished organist and director of church choirs. He was active in community affairs, painted backdrops and assisted in the directing of local theater groups. Being an enthusiastic gardener, his home in St. Henry was always a showplace with its beautiful flowers and ornamental rock gardens. He died May 17, 1950. His wife died October 10, 1972.

Sunderhaus Clan in the 1960's at Coldwater, Ohio

THE SUNDERHAUS

The immigrant ancestor was Franz Johann Sunderhaus who was born in Oldenburg, Germany on May 6, 1812, and died in St. Henry, Ohio on February 15, 1898.

Franz moved to Mercer County, Granville Township, near St. Henry, Ohio. Franz Sunderhaus first appears on the records of Mercer County, Ohio on the 24th day of March, 1848, when a deed is registered transferring 40 acres in the NW/4 of the SE/4 of Section 27 in Granville Township from Bernard and Agnes Roemer to Franz Sunderhaus for $80. In 1854 he purchased an additional 10 acres of land from John and Elizabeth Ainsworth for $55. On this 50 acres of land Franz and later his son, Frank, paid taxes until 1905. The farm was sold in 1906.

The next evidence of Franz's life in Granville Township is his marriage to Maria Angelo Sunderhaus and the birth of two daughters, Mary born in 1850, and Agnes born in 1853. Maria Angelo Sun-derhaus died on September 8, 1858.

The 1860 census shows that Franz had a new wife, Mary Ann Nieman Sunderhaus born in Hanover, Garmany. In 1860 they had a daughter, Bernadine, and in 1862, a son, Frank J.

Franz's daughter, Agnes, by his first wife, died in November, 1873 and Mary Ann Nieman Sunderhaus died in 1880, age 57.

Frankz and Mary Ann's daughter, Bernadine, married John Kuhn and she died in 1935 and is buried at St. Henry.

On January 18, 1887, Franz and Maria Ann's son, Frank J., married Mary Catherine Kate Stab, daughter of John and Theckla Hein Stab.

Franz Sunderhaus died in St. Henry on February 15, 1898, age 85. In his will he gave the farm in Granville Township to his son Frank who remained on the farm from 1887 to 1905 where all eight of his children were born. Mary Monika Rose, born October 20, 1887, died Sept., 1971; Agnes Bernardina, born May 5, 1889, died Feb., 1966; Henry Edward, born December 21, 1891, died Aug., 1968; Henry Albert, born October 1, 1892, died 1966; Mary An Francis, born December 1, 1895, died Oct., 196 Carolina Mathilda, born October 30, 1896, (Living Henry Leo, born March 13, 1900, (Living); John M thew, born October 23, 1902, died May, 1973.

Frank Sunderhaus, Jr. was not the farmer his f ther was and sold the farm to Joseph Steinlage at Henry Grieshop, Jr. for $3400 and bought the S' corner of lot 60 in St. Henry from H. & L. C. Gebe for $1500.

From this beginning in business Frank is listed Mercer County history as City Assessor, Wat Commissioner, Meat Market Owner, proprietor of livery stable and finally the owner of the Palm Hot and Cafe, which was well known in Mercer Coun where Frank supervised the saloon. His wife Ma Catherine or Kate had a fine reputation as a coo and with the help of their eight children, who hasuch jobs as delivery boys, meat cutters, dishwaslers, and waitresses, all helped Frank with the work.

These seem to have been the happiest of times for the Sunderhaus family. But life and death move of In 1912 Frank Sunderhaus died at age 53. He left widow and eight children.

In 1912 Kate (Stab) Sunderhaus was left with the management of the Palm Hotel and Cafe and eiglichildren. Rosie, her oldest daughter had marrie John Losekamp in 1907. John was a carpenter be trade and lived in St. Henry for 25 years and late moved to Celina and Dayton. He had a family of three girls, Alma, Bertha, and Lillian plus three boy Cletus, Richard, and Ralph. A fourth boy, Clarence died at age five. John built the house of Anna Surderhaus Sacher in Celina at 319 N. Mill Street.

Kate and the kids kept things going up to 192. One by one the children left home so that by th time of Kate's death, March 30, 1926, only two chi dren were at home.

Henry Ed Sunderhaus, oldest son of Frank, was carpenter and married Mamie Huber and moved t Lima, Ohio where they raised a large family of te children, Adeline, Ursula, Louis, Frank, Bill, Eddig Ruth, Rita, Mary and Bob.

Henry Albert Sunderhaus, also known as "Cas per", was the town barber in Coldwater, Ohio fc fifty years. He married Francis Huelsman. The raised three girls, Luella, Vivian, and Esther, and tw boys, Wilfred and Thomas.

Wilfred or "Cherry" was a career Navy man for over twenty years and on retirement from the Navy he was the sheriff of Mercer County for three terms

FAMILY AND FARM OF BERT J. TOBE

Current records show that it all began with Joseph Tobe Jr. He was born April 4, 1853 and the oldest of 4 children: Bernard, Fritz, and Mary. On November 24, 1878, he married Anna Siefring and they had 2 children, Joseph Jr. and Veronica. Joseph Jr. became Brother Isidore C.P.P.S. in 1906. Anna died and Joseph married Caroline Kahlig in 1891 or 1892. Caroline's parents were Frank and Judith (Bayer) Kahlig, both from Germany. The family lived in St. Peter, Ohio.

Joseph and Caroline had 7 children: Catherine and Rosa died in their childhood from black fever. The other 5 were Leo, Isabelle, Cornelius, Henry, and Bert. Bert married Margaret Wenning from Coldwater in 1950. Their 7 children are Joann, Virgil, Elizabeth, Lester, Evelyn, Michael, and Dorothy.

Our Century Farm was purchased by Constantine Gardner and his wife, Anna, from Bernard Romer Jr. and his wife, Mary. The 80 acres are situated in the West half of the South West quarter of Section 28, Township 15, Range 2 East, which is on the corner of Watkins and Post Roads. Mr. Gardner bought the land on March 30, 1874 for $1,250.00 and sold it to my grandfather on April 17, 1878 for $1,500.00. Barely half the price for one acre of ground today!

Rammel school was a wooden frame structure built on the corner acre of Watkins and Post Roads. Three of its teachers were Leo Klingshirn, Lucile Kenney, and Amy Ainsworth. The school board consisted of Joseph Tobe: President, Henry Herman: Clerk, Joseph Klingshirn, Albert King, Albin Gottas, and H. J. Bernard: Superintendent.

Students walked to school 8 months of the year, from September to April and in all kinds of weather, rain or shine. The school closed around 1935 and was torn down in the 50's when Bert Tobe bought the corner acre from Frank Kremer. Joseph Tobe had given the one acre to the school board and the school board sold it to Frank Kremer. Bert Tobe now owns the entire 80 acres and it is farmed by his son, Lester. Dorothy Tobe

WILLIAM BERNARD UHLENHAKE

My grandfather, William Bernard Uhlenhake, was a blacksmith in St. Henry for 63 years, but it wasn't the only thing he did. Around 1920 he pitched for the St. Henry Hardball Team until he broke his finger. He also belonged to the gun club. From 1931 to 1948 he worked second shift at the New Idea and blacksmithed during the day. He was firechief off and on during the 20's and 30's. From June 1928 to January 1938 he was town Marshall and Constable. December 29, 1941, he was appointed Chief-of-Police until September 13, 1948, when he resigned. He also belonged to the Sheriff's Association.

In 1924 a 1917 Model-T truck was boug Grandpa built the back end in his shop and oth helped remodel the truck into St. Henry's first I

Grandpa was a typical law officer of a small to in a very rough period of time. The pay was $150 per year. He acquired his nickname, "Bill Butt while holding down the job of Marshall.

During Prohibition, open air dances were h west of town. Bootleggers would come to sell th wares. People drinking whiskey would hide th pints behind the wheels of their cars. Granc would walk through the parking lot and finding whiskey he would empty it. He had fun doing th but caused a great deal of embarrassment for daughters attending the dances.

One day Drydicks came into town in a car w expired license. When they stopped to eat Grand waited outside of the restaurant. When they turned he refused to let them in their car. Th showed their badges to him, but he told them made no difference; everyone had to obey the la He called the Sheriff and took them to Celina. The they called their Superiors to prove they were I venoorers, but they still had to pay the fine for a pired plates and resisting arrest. They never did 1 the bootleggers they were after and took quite a r bing from both the Sheriff and their Superiors being collared by such a small town cop.

Grandpa worked on the Dillinger investigation Once he received a tip Dillinger was going to rob t St. Henry Bank. He laid on the balcony behind clock with a sawed-off shot gun, loaded with ba bearings, waiting, but Dillinger never showed up.

He was also involved in the capture of Putman Van Wert County on a Sunday morning. Putm was shot and wounded by Spain James, Marshall Coldwater, during the capture.

Another Sunday afternoon, while relaxing wi the family in the front yard, the gas station acro the street was robbed. The robbers hit Charl "Hickory" North over the head as they left, but didn't black out. He ran across the street yellir "Bill, they got me!" Grandpa ran down the stre putting five shots into the back of their car. This l to their capture later in Dayton where Grandpa and Hickory went to identify them.

Not many people wanted to mess with Grands He was a strong muscular man. A favorite story his will illustrate this. One night two young m were causing trouble uptown so Grandpa arrest them and was walking them to jail to allow them cool off overnight. They asked him if he thought l was big enough to handle both of them. He advise not to try anything. One said, "Let's take him!" B fore they could do anything, he picked them both up off their feet, slapped them together, ar dragged them the rest of the way to jail.

My grandfather, William Uhlenhake, is an atyp cal man. He worked hard all his life and took his re sponsibilities seriously. He has earned the respect of all who have known him. Kenneth Uhlenhake

WILLIAM BERNARD UHLENHAKE

William Bernard Uhlenhake, my grandfather, wa

rn July 23, 1888 on Fleetfoot Rd. just north of St. 119, where his father, Henry, Jr. (1853-1936) was rn and raised. Henry, Jr.'s brothers were Ben and n; their father was Henry, Sr. Grandpa's mother is Elizabeth Gravenkamp (1853-1928). His brother and sisters were Eleanor, Francis, Louis, John I., ary and Philomena. Grandpa's ancestors were me of the earliest settlers in the St. Henry area.

Grandpa first worked as an apprentice for the nkle Brothers in Ft. Recovery when he was 16 or years old. He rode there on a bicycle, stayed there ring the week, and rode home on weekends. He rned a silver dollar and four bits for a week's ork. At 20 he worked for Ben Wimmers and Sestian Ranly in St. Henry. Wimmers had a black-lith shop on the ground floor and Ranly, a buggy op on the second floor. Grandpa bought the ilding from Mrs. Westerheide, the equipment om Wimmers and went into business for himself by 10, 1911. He blacksmithed there for 63 years.

A year later he married Catherine Link (Septemr 20, 1891-July 30, 1974) from Cranberry Prairie. Prairies parents were Charles Link (1861-1926) and ary Margaret Wendel. Her paternal grandparents ere Valentin Link (1816-1906) and Katharina Stauer (1835-1910). Her maternal grandfather was Wilm Wendel whose parents were William and Mary endel. The maternal grandmother was Elizabeth outman. Her brothers and sister were Elizabeth, ward, Alfred, Cornelius, and Adolph. Grandpad Grandma were married on August 28, 1912 and d six children, Rosina (1914), Helen (1916), Arthur im" (1919), Armella (1921), Paul "Casey" (1924), d Alvin "Squeak" (1926).

Grandpa shod thousands of horses in his lifetime. 12 largest number of shoes shod in one day was 82. 2 shod his last horse in 1952 during the Mercer punty Fair. One particular day the race horses are extra lively. It took three men to hold the present to be shod. Grandpa decided then that he as too old for that kind of work.

As a young man he was very strong and powerful. nee he was shoeing a farmer's horse that was act-g up quite a bit. Grandpa hit it on its side with ch force that he knocked it off its feet. He didn't we any trouble with the horse after that. It was the last time he had ever hit a horse that hard

Ily time he had ever hit a horse that hard. Grandpa did other kinds of work as a blacksmith. 'agon and buggy wooden wheels would shrink. ne iron tires would have to be removed, made naller, then remounted. He also sharpened and shaped plowshares. He could do as many as 80 in day's time. Grandpa enjoyed making hatchets and

He gradually worked into ornamental iron work. is iron works can be found all over Mercer County id neighboring areas. He made the railings for the . Henry Church and Rectory. He has iron works in veral states, such as Indiana, Pennsylvania, Kencky, and all over Ohio. Even a man, passing rough town, stopped and bought something to ke back to Colorado. Grandpa retired in 1974 at 1986, shortly after his wife died. Rebecca Uhlenhake aun, Celina, Oh. 45822

The two room log house was replaced by this log house in 1858 built by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greive; later the home of Bernard and Mary Uhlenhake. The boy standing by the well in front of the house was Lawrence Uhlenhake when he was about five years old; he died when he was sixteen years old.

SCHMACKERS

(To see the family of Henry Schmackers and Anna Lefeld refer to Granville Township.)

Valentine Reigelsperger was born in Germany. He came to Cincinnati and married Caroline Balmert. They had nine children while in Cincinnati. They then moved to Sharpsburg, Ohio in Mercer County in 1883, and had four more children. The children received very little education. The family worked on a farm and cleared woodland. Half of the family died at a very early age.

Bernard Wenning was born in Germany, and he had a son named Gerard Wenning, who was born in Germany, also. The son came to the United States after he married Margretha Anna Synck. They had thirteen children, and they lived on a farm in Philothea, Ohio. Most of the children attended Philothea Special School. Margretha died at the age of thirtynine from infection in the womb, leaving eleven surviving children, one of which was just one week old. This caused very deep hardships for the family.

Gertrude, was one of the older children, and she had to quit school to help out at home. When Gertrude was eighteen she married George Steggeman in 1910. He lived only three years and died. They had one daughter during this short marriage. After George's death, Gertrude moved back home and raised her daughter, and helped raise some of her sisters, until she married John Reigelsperger on October 6, 1915. John was employed at New Idea and farmed. They had seven more children in St. Henry and Coldwater. Two of the children died in early childhood. One of their sons died in a burning egg truck and the other died of lung cancer. So now, there are three surviving children, one of which is Mary Ann.

Mary Ann Reigelsperger was employed at Ed Hemmelgarn's egg plant as Ed's secretary for ten years, then she married Victor Schmackers on March 31, 1951 at Coldwater, Ohio. They had six children while in St. Henry, the first eight years of their marriage. They moved to Celina on a 40 acre farm and had two more children. Vic farmed the land, and worked at New Idea in the foundry. They lived at Celina until shortly after the death of Henry Schmackers in 1963. In October of 1964, they moved back to St. Henry, on the home place of Henry Schmackers, into a partially remodeled house, and a Grade A milk set-up. In August of 1971, they had a fire, which started in the barn, and continued on to destroy everything, but the house and garage. The barn was rebuilt to a modern dairy set-up, which is still present today.

After the fire in August, Janice, one of Vic Schmacker's children, got married in October, and now resides in St. Henry. The following year, their second son Gary was killed in an automobile accident. In the spring of the year, Richard got married and he built a home on an acre of ground, close to home, and helps do the farming. Elaine got married five months later and they live in Sharpsburg, Ohio. One year later, Nancy got married, and she lives on a two-acre farm in Indiana. In July of 1975, Victor had a heart attack, totally disabling him, and so they converted the farm into the Schmackers Holstein Farm Inc. Joyce, Dale and Roger are at home to help with the farm yet, but Joyce will be getting married May 19, 1979 to Dave Bruns. Mrs. Victor Schmackers

John Theodore Wildenhaus was born February 3, 1860 at Wessum, Westphalia, Germany, son of Gerhardt Herman Broeker Wildenhaus and Elizabeth Flahr (Flayer) Wildenhaus. Gerhardt was a veterinarian, and the family were Roman Catholics. Only three of the children migrated to the United States: Henry, who settled at St. John (Maria Stein); Gertrude Elizabeth (18) who was accompanied by her father when she came to the states. The father visited with his sister, Mrs. Joseph Brueggeman of Maria Stein. John Theodore came to the US at age 13, and made the journey alone. He made his way across Holland to Amsterdam, then boarded a sailing ship for New York City. From there he made his way by train and canal boat to Cincinnati and then to Maria Stein to the home of his brother Henry.

A fondly remembered experience was the pur-chase of a bright-red "apple" from the train "butcher boy". One bite, and he thought he was poisoned — the apple was a tomato. Grandchildren loved that tale — wise grandpa had gotten fooled.

J. T.'s first job was operating a buzz saw after school hours. An accident caused the loss of thumb and finger on the right hand, and saw the end of the craftsman's job. He then sold apple trees for an apple grower, and from his earnings saved money for advanced education. His adventures included sales as far north as Toledo, a train wreck on the old C.H.

John.

When he was 23 years old he enrolled in t Coldwater Normal School. The school closed Christmas time, and the students had to seek an ϵ ucation in Portland, Indiana. A group of 15 studes spent 40 weeks studying for the test that would er ble them to be teachers. Only John passed on t first try. His first teaching job was at the Ramn School. He remembered that on August 27, 181 corn in the low fields of the Cranberry area we frozen during an unseasonal cold snap. At St. Joe taught school and operated a blacksmith shop. Th he moved to Sharpsburg, where he met and marri Miss Catherine Wagner. She was one of his a vanced students, and upon completion of scho married her schoolmaster. They lived just across t avenue from St. Paul's Church in Sharpsburg. 1895 the Wildenhaus' moved to Burkettsville, Oh And therein lies another interesting family tale.

After eleven years of marriage, we considered ourselves established in the community. Doc is a Mobil consignee out of the St. Henry bulk plant. Besides this, he farms and does some mechanical repair. I help with the business doing the books, reports, and phone messages. When he has nothing better to do in the summer months, Doc plays slopitch softball (fifteen years). We are also active in various organizations.

The Fortkamp biography is listed under Marion Township. This has been submitted by Thelma J. Fortkamp.

IOHN A. YANEY

It was in the year 1636 that three Jenne brothers came from St. Gallen in Switzerland to Woffenwiler and Baden, Germany. It was from one of these families that we are descendants. Records found in Evangelical Lutheran Church in Botzingen, Germany.

John A. Yaney's great-grandfather and greatgrandmother, Johann Jakob Jenne and Anna Katharine (Stein) Jenne, came to America circa 1818 with their children Johann Georg and Catherine. They landed at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and settled in York County, Pennsylvania. Children born there were Israel Putman, John, Daniel, Mary, Elizabeth, Christopher and Benjamin. The father was a baker. In 1838 the parents together with their oldest son Johann Georg and his wife Barbara (Schafer) came to Ohio by wagon. Johann George and Barbara (Schafer) Yaney were the grandparents of John A. Yaney.

The family settled in Mercer County, the first land purchased in June 1849 by George Yaney from John Sharp situated in South half of the South East Quarter of Section Twenty-Three in Township Number Six South of Range Number Two East consisting of eighty acres of land, more or less.

Johann George and Barbara Yaney's son, William Yaney, married Sydnia Ann Vangordon, and had nine children. Their second child, John A. Yaney, married Mina Bell Buck. John A. Yaney and Mina (Buck) Yaney had seven children: Ernest, Arthur, Florence, Gard, Paul, Clarence, and Thelma. Their fourth child, Gard, married Goldie Swatwood. Gard and Goldie Yaney had two daughters: Helen Ruth Yaney who married Ralph Benner, and Marcella Bell Yaney (1923-1940). Gard's second marriage is to Eda Breymaier. Gard was an automobile mechanic in Dayton and came to Mercer County in 1932. He farmed in Butler Township near St. Henry, selling his farm off into plats for building homes, which is known as Yaneytown. Gard's daughter Helen also lives on a farm near by. Gard's sister, Thelma, of Lewisburg, Ohio, married James Bigham. They have one son, Gale Bigham, who married Nancy Snyder, and had three children: April, Sharon, and John. Thelma Fay (Yaney) Bigham published the book JENNE to YANEY, 1976, at Eaton City School, Eaton, Ohio. This book is the family tree of the Yaneys from 1636 to 1976 and is in the Celina Library at Celina, Ohio.

The eldest son of John A. Yaney, Ernest was a farmer and also the owner and operator of the Yaney Sawmill located on St. Anthony Road in Butler

Ernest married Ellen Smith, July 16, 1911. They were the parents of 10 children: DeLaura (Heindel), Kathryn (Link), Crystal (Willrath), Sherman, Dale, Esther (Gallihugh), Charles, Willis, John, and Lowell.

In 1935 the Yaney Sawmill was built on St. Anthony Road and continued business there by Ernest and Sons until 1962 when Ernest met his death by a falling limb. His son, Charles had met his death in 1951 by a log rolling on him while loading a truck. The Yaney Sawmill was destroyed by fire in 1964.

Willis, the 4th son of Ernest and Ellen Yaney married Kathryn Casperson in 1945. They have three children: Pamela (Coolman), James, and Cheryl (Vannette).

In 1965 Willis started another sawmill on Kuhn Road just a couple miles from the original one. It was destroyed by fire in 1970. In 1971, Willis and son James started, once again, another mill on Monroe Road. It was continued until ill health of Willis forced the closing in 1973.

Willis's son James married Jennifer Springer in 1968. They have two sons: James and Loren. James is a carpenter and farmer in Mercer County. Gard Yaney Place your Family History in this Space.

HOPEWELL TOWNSHIP

Hopewell Township was organized December 6, 1842. It consists of an area of 30 square miles. Today we find not only well kept farms but new homes on small acreages scattered throughout the township. Farming is mainly grain with a few dairy, beef, swine and poultry enterprises. The township is bounded on the north by Dublin township, on the east by Center township, on the south by Jefferson and west by Liberty township. There are no streams of importance within its borders. The Board of Health was organized in April 24, 1893 to adopt rules and regulations for the prevention of contagious diseases and to abate nuisances which are detrimental to health. There were 16 Resolutions:

1st It shall be the duty of every physician called to attend a case of cholera, smallpox, diphtheria, yellow fever, typhus fever or scarlet fever in the township, to report the case within twelve hours thereafter, to the health officer giving the name and place of residence of the patient.

2nd It shall be the duty of the health officer, when a case of contagious disease is reported in the township to at once notify the superintendent or teacher of the school attended by any person residing or lodging in the house with the patient. No pupil or teacher from such house will be permitted to attend school until the board of health issues a certificate that all danger from contagion has passed.

In October 1897 11 cases of diphtheria were reported. September 26, 1903 1 family was reported to have scarlet fever. January 11, 1904 1 family scarlet fever. February 4, 1904 2 children tonsillitis 1 Humor of the blood and the baby the rash. April 1905 smallpox and in October 31, 1908 Stedcke school closed because of diphtheria. The telephone central (operator) notified the public via party line, using one long ring denoting an announcement was to be made and all people should take down their receiver and hear the announcement, that the Board of Health agreed to close the Miller, Pierstorff, DeHays and Hair schools. The churches were also closed for several weeks because of an outbreak of diphtheria. There were 3 general country stores in operation in the 1800's. The Shively store at Stedcke (Shively's Corner) opened in 1888 and closed its operation February 1922. Oregon Station (Early) store closed in the 1930's. Tamah store was the first building to be erected in the 1870's and remained in business until 1971 when its present owner ceased to operate the store. This building is still standing and is well cared for. The country store is history in Hopewell Township but Tamah still has two businesses in operation in 1979. The Tamah Elevator, owned and operated by John Krugh and the Canary & Sons tile mill owned and operated by Ralph and sons. This business was started by William Canary in 1917, Ralph's father. A new business was opened in 1978, Leugers House and Garden Center located on Eichar road. Other businesses in the township are Johnsman's Auto Service located on Frahm Pike was started in 1974. Beougher & Stachler Engine & Welding I cated on Schleucher road was started in 1977. C& Grain located on St. Rt. 118 opened in August 196 Schroyer Inc. located on St. Rt. 127 was started 195 Heckler's Slaughter House, Weitz road opened f business in 1946. McAfee's Communications start its operation on Weitz road in 1964. Jane's Beau Shop, Fast road was opened in 1961. There is abo 80 rods of the old Cincinnati, Hamilton, Delph railroad bed that is still visible east and north of tl Copp school on the Fast road. East of this school an Indian burial grounds and west and north of the Copp school is a small woods remaining where it h been passed from generation to generation that the Indians grew their herbs calling it their herb wood We do not know the name of the tribe. This woo is located between the Carson and John Fast farm The Cincinnati Northern railroad ceased to opera its passenger train in the 1940's. A resident neighb of Tamah related this story, It was publicized th the president was coming via this railroad thru T mah to Rockford which is a few miles north of T mah. There were about 100 students of the Rockford school who patiently awaited his arrival, much their chagrin, who turned out to be the president the railroad instead of "the president of the Unite States."

The through freight ran from Cincinnati thru Aı sonia. Tamah to Jackson, Michigan until Augu 1962. The local freight service thru Tamah w. stopped October 1975. Jack Rutledge, a native Me cer countian, resident of Dublin township was th last engineer to pass thru Tamah. Thus ending a era of trains for Tamah and community. The or room country school was a place of learning the many a scholar can recall. The teacher taught a eight grades and in 1907 their salary for nine montl of teaching was $420.00. The Siebert, Copp, Milli structures are still standing though long vacant ar void of childish laughter. The Hair school has bee converted into a dwelling. The 5 Point school we moved from its location at Hoenie road and Frahi Pike and moved to the corner of Hellwarth and On gon Rd. and was converted into the Hopewell town ship hall. This building has been remodeled sever times, the last date being September 1977. The cei ing was lowered, new windows, paneling an drapes. The old floor was sanded many time thanks to our trustees, and beautifully preserve The new siding is aluminum. This hall is availab for public use for a fee.

The roads in Hopewell township are all black topped with the exception of .47 not treated. In 195 one mile of Hellwarth road was the first to be black topped. In June 25, 1948 the Hopewell township purchased their first new road grader from Galio Iron & Mfg. Co. They previously had owned a use grader with the first equipment being unmotorize and was pulled by horses or later by tractor. Hopewell township has three cemeteries that are ell cared for; Friends, Buck and Union.

In 1971 Mr. and Mrs. Orville Crouch donated apoximately 22 acres to the township for a park, is was given with the stipulation that new trees are to be planted when needed for the preservan of wild life and "to the Glory of God". 60 acres ross from the now developed park was given in 79 by the Crouches. A federal grant was acquired the amount of $186,000 this transaction shall be nsummated this spring or summer. The park and has plans for this new park with the possibilated of an animal exhibit. The existing park has a elter house and lake and nature trails. These faciles are available for church groups and baptismal rvices by checking with the park president and arnging by date.

The name of the park was chosen by holding a intest for the naming of the park. Edith Slabaugh as the winner with the name "Eden Haven" being

This township has 5 churches namely, Friends hapel Church located on the corner of St. Rt. 118 at Tamah road. St. John's Lutheran church on the orner of St. Rt. 118 and Oregon road. Landfair nited Methodist formally (Hope) is located on St. t. 118. Pleasant View Church of God located at St. t. 118 and Miller road. Mt. Tabor Church of God 1 the corner of St. Rt. 127 and Tamah road. These e all lovely country churches that are up-dated, ell cared for and in very good repair. The Union hurch was torn down in the early 1940's. Union is 10 e only one of the original churches that ceases to 11 main since their birth in the 1800's. I think this 12 peaks well of the God fearing people of Hopewell

The pioneers who came to this township when it as a wilderness, cleared it and improved it were rgely of German descent. The northern and eastn part were settled by English speaking people om the older counties of Ohio. The early families German people were those of Wilhelm Fetter, Minael Hellwarth, John Miller, John Frahm, Frederick ielschott, Henry Beathler, John Now and the Sieert family. John and Adam were residents in 1907. cob Eichar, one of the pioneers, came from Stark ounty, Ohio September 10, 1837. William Morrow, Villiam Buck, Peter W. Shimp, Edward Willcutt, W. . Groves, John Lehman, Lewis Smith, Henry Crogıan (Krogman), J. C. Brookhart, Samuel Brookhart mos Chapman Pierstorff family came from Gernany prior to the Civil War and settled here. Wilam Y. Wallace. Moses McChrisym, Fast family. hn E. Smith, William Regedanz. Tobias Eicheauer, Frederick Stedcke were all instrumental in eveloping and improving the township. I am sure ne people justly named would be proud of the rogress and improvement of our great heritage. We rear our names proudly, for indeed, these are our oots and they were born in Hopewell township, 1ercer county, Ohio. Pioneers we salute you!

OREGON STATION

Not a trace remains of the little station called Oregon, except a small portion of the old railroad bed, a few chunks of cement, and the house that the switchboard of the former Home Telephone Company (central) occupied. It was founded as Earley in 1881 on the south side of Oregon Road at Weitz Road, and changed to Oregon in 1888. At the peak of prosperity, a cream station, cider press, tile mill, elevator, train station, and store were there. The Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Dayton Railroad ran from Cincinnati to Delphos. Some men who owned or operated the store were: Shell Johnson (preacher), Bill Witter, Frank Algeyer, Jim Weaver, Dee Now, Grover Nuding, Charlie Siebert, Charles and Frank Hainline. The discontinuation of the railroad precipitated the death of Oregon, as the businesses closed one by one in the 1930's. The lone exception was the switchboard, installed in the house in the early 1900's, which closed in August 1949. by Marjorie Buck Pierstorff and Marilyn Buck Helmer

SHIVELY'S CORNER

The government named it Stedke, but to everyone, far and wide, it always has been, and always will be "Shively's Corner". John Shively opened a general store at the intersection of State Route 118 and Frahm Pike in 1888. A post office was in a corner of this store until the late 1890's. Then a wagon wheel mounted on a post, with a mailbox on each spoke was installed on the southwest corner, on the Henry Krogman farm. Families came to pick up the once-a-week mail. The store was the social hub of the community. Many a yarn was spun there and several friendships led to matrimony. In the days of the huckster wagons, if a housewife purchased more than $4.00 worth of supplies, the driver would have had to help her carry it into the house, a far cry from 1978. Included in this thriving trading center were a barn, blacksmith shop, sawmill, warehouse and two huckster wagons and sheds. The buildings disappeared one by one, following the demise of the store in February 1922. The old store, which is converted into a granary, stands today on the Wayne Shively farm. Mrs. John (Sarah Buck) Shively was killed in the tornado of 1888, leaving two children. Mr. Shively later married Eliza Crouch and had five more children. Still later, the twice widowed Mr. Shively married Mandy Young. Ernest (a son of John) and Fannie Fisher Shively still live on the corner. by Marjorie Buck Pierstorff and Marilyn Buck Helmer

Tamah, in its heyday, more widely known the Rockford or Celina, was from all indicatio founded in the 1870's. The store was the first buil ing to be erected, and has been owned and operate by Tom Groves, Perry Miller, Ferd Smith, George 5 ebert, Clyde and Frank Davis, George Schroyer. Tl last owner, Richard Sealscott, took over in 1947 at closed it in 1971. For a few early years there was post office in the store. George Painter started blacksmith shop in the 1920's, followed by son Jii There was also a basket weaver named Baxter. T mah also had an inventor and medical doctor, I Vaughn, who, legend says invented, or at least ir proved upon, the couplings for train cars. He al donated land for a roundhouse, since Tamah w the midway point between Jackson, Michigan at Cincinnati, Ohio. The Cincinnati-Northern Railro never built the roundhouse because "there w never a legal deed and something crooked to place", as the residents of today tell us. The ve busy, popular depot was located on the west side the tracks on the south side of Tama Road. This pa senger train (but not the depot) was in operation u til the 1940's. There are two businesses still in oper tion today, the elevator and the tile mill. Present the elevator is owned by John Krugh, Elgin, Ohi Other owners and operators were: George Dustma Jim Stammen, Palmer & Miller, Berne Equity, as Landmark (who never opened it). The tile mill w started by William Canary in 1917. Ralph Cana and sons presently own and operate the mill, whi makes concrete drain tile and septic tanks. A ne business, located on Eichar Road, Leuger's Hou and Garden Center, opened in 1978.

Earl Fisher, who resides on the old homestead th has been in the family for 118 years, Richa Hughes, Dick Sealscott, and Ralph Canary are that remain of the "old timers". Though not as a tive as it once was, Tama is still on the map. by Mi

Second Church, 1881

ST. JOHN'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

THE FIRST CHURCH — 1861

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church was formed the years 1858-1860. The first pastors who served here were circuit riders on horseback. Services were probably held in the homes until the first structure was built, which was a log church located southeast of the crossroads. In 1861 the constitution was drawn up and adopted.

On July 29, 1863, a congregational meeting was held by Pastor George Heintz, and the following church officers were elected: Elder, George Weier, 2 years; Fred Sielschott, 1 year; Deacon, William Regadanz, 2 years, and Fred Berlin, 1 year; Treasurer, William Regadanz; Secretary, Fred Berlin.

The first German Hymnals were purchased in 1864. The church was incorporated as the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Hopewell Township in 1866, and about this time the first church bell was also bought.

It was during the history of the first church that the old parsonage, now housing the janitor, was built in 1873. It was believed to have been the first frame house in the community. The building committee for this was Adam Siebert, John Frahm, and John Riese. In 1874 they built the stable, and the members of this committee were Karl Silk, Frederick Frahm, and John Siebert.

The second church building was constructed in the year of 1881, and was erected on the site of the present Parish Hall.

The land was purchased from William Pierstorff. The building was 40 x 60 feet, and was erected at a total cost of $5,016.52.

In 1909 the first furnace was installed in the church. Art glass windows were installed in the yea 1914 at a cost of $50.00 and the next year the firs sidewalks were put around the grounds.

The first minutes written in English were recorded in 1913 when Arnold Hoenie was secretary. We were united with the Celina congregation from 1900 to 1918. The old acetylene lighting system was in stalled in the church in April, 1914, on a total basis and in January, 1915, they decided to accept the nev lighting equipment.

The present home of the pastor was built in 1918 at the cost of $3,785.84.

The German language was the basic language and all who were instructed in the Word of Goc were instructed in German. In the early 1920's, the German language was dropped.

In 1931 we united with St. Paul's Church, Liberty Township. These congregations were served by one pastor until 1947 when partnership was dissolved.

In connection with our 75th Anniversary in 1937

the pipe organ was purchased.

The Luther League purchased the bell we now use in 1916.

The Ladies Aid began in August of 1919, with Mrs. Rudolph Frahm serving as the first president.

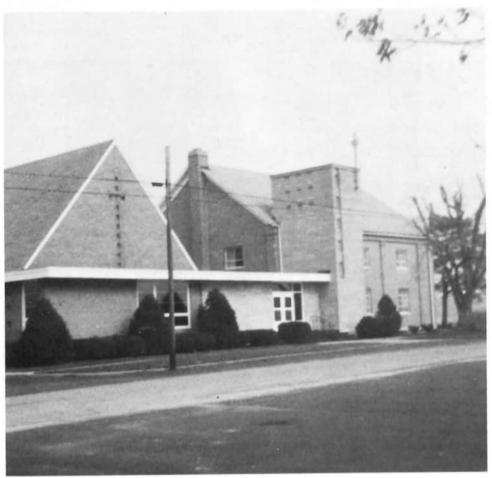

The Luther League organized on May 28 in the year of 1914.

The Junior Mission Band, now known as the Junior Lutherans, started in the 1930's. Miss Hazel Regadanz was the first leader.

back to February, 1938.

The Fellowship League, now known as the Young Married Adults, met for the first meeting January 22, 1947 with six families present. The Young Adults were officially reorganized on October 23, 1963.

St. John's Lutheran Church, Hopewell Township

THIRD CHURCH — 1955

Our church fathers must have had foresight for he need of a larger church and Sunday School oom, as the improvement and building fund was set up in 1942. In 1951 the building committee was appointed.

On Palm Sunday, 1953, it was voted to build our present church and to convert the old church into our present Sunday School rooms and Social Hall. The following members served on the Building Committee: George Luth, Irvin Meyer, Howard Frahm, Ole Sites, Urban Hoenie, and Cletus Frahm.

On the fourth day of September, 1955, this church was dedicated to the service of the Triune God durng the pastorate of Rev. Clyde P. Miller. The total pids of the contracts were $75,754.00. The pews, pipe organ and alter were transferred from the old thurch.

The membership of St. John's has grown to 361 paptized members and 232 confirmed members. Only with the cooperation of every member in the congregation can we hope to remain an active church and in this way be assured of the future of this congregation.

Much progress has been made during the last few years. We hope that St. Johns congregation will continue to progress during the next one hundred years and that our congregation will continue to be a source of spiritual blessings to us.

David Sites was the first son of the congregation, ordained on August 25, 1974.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

The first Sunday School at St. John's was held on Sunday afternoons and only during the summer months. This was stated by Grandpa Grube (step grandfather of Misses Mary and Lydia Siebert and Mrs. August Willrath) when he came to the church on a rainy afternoon to carry wood into the church and found a group of boys who had gathered there in the corner to kill snakes. The boys helped Mr. Grube carry the wood into the church, and to show his appreciation, Mr. Grube told the boys a story — the story of creation. From then on, the boys came to the church on Sunday afternoons during the summer to hear the Bible stories told by Mr. Grube.

This Sunday School continued until Rev. Melcher came to be the pastor at St. John's. He thought that Sunday School should be like an evergreen tree — keep it alive the year round. So Rev. Melcher changed it so that Sunday School was held the year round and in the morning instead of the afternoon.

Special recognition should be given to Miss Lydia Siebert who was a teacher in our Sunday School for over fifty years. She retired from teaching in 1960. by Vera Speicher, Celina, Oh.

THE PLEASANT VIEW CHURCH OF GOD

The Pleasant View Church of God is located in Hopewell Township, five miles Northwest of Celina on State Route # 118.

It is difficult to pinpoint the actual beginning of the Pleasant View Church. As early as 1835, Jacob Keller, Thomas Hickernell, and John Greeger were appointed by the Churches of God in Eastern Pennsylvania to serve the Ohio Circuit. One of the ministers was Christopher Now. His membership in the Pleasant View records is given as 1851, which was many years before the organization of this church.

A congregation sometimes referred to as Now's Appointment and at other times as the Church of God in the German Settlement of Hopewell Township emerged. This association was incorporated on Sept. 6, 1860 in the Lincoln schoolhouse. The following names appear on the statement of incorporation: Michael Hellwarth, Margaret Hellwarth, John Now Sr., Mary Now, Caroline Now, Catherine Crouch, Mary Thomas, Mary Magdaline Meyer, Mary Jane Wallace, Emily Garman, Magdaline Garman, Lydia Zimmerman, and Philip Smith. Chris Now was elected as clerk and Michael Hellwarth, John Now Sr., and Chris Now were elected as trustees. A bethel was built by this congregation just one-half mile north of the present church, probably in the early 1860s. C. H. Forney stated that "The mistake had been made here years before of building on land for which they had only the promise of a deed. The man died, and later the house was sold to the Evangelical Church."

During the ministry of Rev. C. N. Belman the church re-organized and began building a new bethel. The first organization of the Pleasant View Church of God was February, 1876. At that time, Lafe Now, a brother of Christopher Now and son of John Now, Sr. was serving as clerk of the church. He reported in The Church Advocate that a protracted meeting by Brother C. N. Belman was being held in "our vicinity, formerly known as Now's Appointment." The new bethel was built on the Frank Miller farm and became known as the Pleasant View Church of God and was sometimes referred to as Miller's. The bethel was completed in 1878 and ded icated that same year. On May 14, 1886 the church was destroyed by a tornado. "Only the floor remained along with the lectern which was no moved. On it was the Bible still closed and undisturbed." Some of the testaments were found in the Neptune area. It is very probable that the first church records were lost in this tornado because the records of the church are somewhat incomplete for the first ten years and in them, after a reference to service in the new bethel is a statement that, "The above has been kept and entered by Lafe Now as a record."

After the tornado the group used the Lincolr schoolhouse again for services for a period of three years and until a new building was built on the present site on the John Miller farm, which is East across State Route # 118 from where the other bethel was destroyed. The new bethel was completed in 1889 and dedicated on June 2, 1889.

On Jan. 22, 1879, Lafe and Margaret Now deeded an acre of ground from their farm to the church for $5.00, to be used as a parsonage. On Oct. 13, 1900 this ground was deeded back to the Nows for $40.00 since it was no longer used as a parsonage.

In 1898 the bethel was repaired and repainted, a new bell purchased, and a new bible placed on the pulpit.

In the early 1900s the small congregation became discouraged and wanted to close the church. John H. Now, son of Lafe Now, and Janitor of the church from the 1890s until the time of his death in 1959, and his wife, Nettie Now, by their faithfulness kept the church doors open.

In 1911-1913, an addition was constructed on the front of the church, the pulpit area enlarged, the belfry made higher, and new pews purchased at a cost of $334, and these same pews were refinished in 1975 at a cost of $1439.50. There have been many improvements since that time. The lectern which came through the tornado was used in the church until 1967 when new pulpit furniture was purchased. In 1957, additional ground was purchased for a parsonage adjacent to the church property and a house was moved on it and remodeled. In 1976, the church observed their 100th anniversary. MOUNT TABOR CHURCH OF GOD

This church is located on the corner of St. Rt. 127 and ma Road, in Hopewell Twp., Mercer Co., Ohio. It was ilt on a corner of farm land granted by a patent deed to illip Hitchner, Sr., in 1824, and given to the congregan by his widow, Rhoda C. (Hinkle) Hitchner.

Joseph Hansel wrote a history of Mt. Tabor Church me time ago up to 1941 and follows: On April 18, 1879, v. J. H. McNutt held a meeting in the Baptist Church at ercer, Ohio, and organized a Church of God. Those to became members at this first meeting were; Jacob st, Sarah Fast, W. S. Hansel, Sarah A. Hansel, Sam rry, Zoe Berry, Wm. Banan, Sarah Banan, Tom cLaughlin, Emma McLaughlin, and Floyd Purdy.

The officers elected were; Ruling Elder, Jacob Fast;

eacon, W. S. Hansel.

On March 2, 1881, Rev. C. N. Bellman held a meeting Mercer and six more members joined the organization. ptember 11, 1881, Rev. Bellman appointed Tom cLaughlin, Elder and Sam Berry and W. S. Hansel as eacons.

In the fall of 1881, Rev. E. Poling came on the work. uring the two years he was on the work, J. G. Fast was der and W. S. Hansel, Deacon. Also during this pastore, preparation was made to build a church building. everal other members were added to the church being; G. Fast, Laverta Fast, Rhoda Hitchner, Chris Anspaugh, ecky Anspaugh and Anderson Chapman and Elsa Chapan.

In 1883, the building was erected about one mile south Mercer. On September 9, 1883, it was dedicated by ev. Koogle and named the Mt. Tabor Church. Other inisters present at this service were; Poling, Heppert, oss and Dolson.

The ministers who followed Rev. Poling and dates of eir pastorates are as follows: McNutt, 1883 who regned in 1884 and Voss finished his work. Cassle 1884-186; Richie 1886-1888; Lemunyon 1888-1890; Hoover 390-1893; Rothrock 1893-1896; Poling 1896-1897; Osborn 397-1898; Witham 1898-1903; J. T. Miller 1903-1905; hnson 1905-1907; (during 1907 the building was struck y lightning and rebuilt the same year); Manchester 1907-208; Buaders 1908-1910; Charles Berey 1910-1911; Lemuyon 1912-1913; Musgrave 1913-1914; Winger 1914-1915; eff 1915-1916; Snavely 1916-1918; (in 1918 the building as again remodeled) Lyons 1918-1920; Cheney (1920-23; Neff 1923-1926; Bauders 1926-1929; Tippie 1929-331; Forest Beery 1931-1934; Elza Beery 1934-1938; Myrl ephart 1939-1941 (our present pastor). Built to the nurch in 1940 and dedicated May 4, 1941.

There are seventy-six members on record that are ithful to God's cause.

Additional information has been supplied by Mrs. lelen (Nuding) Harner to bring history up to the present ate. It follows:

1884, while Rev. Cassle was on the work, women of the hurch (Becky Amspaugh, Elsie Chapman and Laverta ast) raised money for a bell that cost $35.00. Each of the idies had a territory around the church to gather money. ecky Amspaugh had the section around Tama. Several aid not to call on a certain man that all she would get yould be a good tongue lashing. Becky felt it would do harm

call on him and he gave $5.00, the most she received from any one person. She said, "See, the outsiders are more concerned than you think".

When the church was first erected, it faced the west. There were two doors. The pulpit was along the east wall with a door on the east wall. It was one step high with an altar rail all around it. There were two rows of seats with an aisle down the middle of the church. While the Belfry was changed from the center of the church to the corner of the church, the bell had to be taken down and someone stole it. The new one cost quite a bit more than $35.00. The church has been broken into several times with Bibles, rugs and other items stolen, besides the bell.

In the early days, the Sunday collection would be about 36-38 pennies. There were two men in the men's class who would ask for change for a nickle. A nickle was too much to give on one Sunday, they thought. When Rev. Bauders first came on the work, he rode horseback to church. He would sleep and eat at Laverda Fasts.

1918-1919 saw the people of the church and Rev. Snavely raise $2,000. The house was put upon a better foundation, stuccoed, and stained glass windows replaced the more common ones. A small room to the South was added enlarging the seating capacity. New seats at a cost of over $600.00 were added. Carpet and linoleum and rubber matting were put down. Painting and varnishing were done and new spouting put up.

The church first had gas light, then gasoline lanterns

The church first had gas light, then gasoline lanterns and finally electric lights. Gas stoves and lights were given to the church by Emma Siler. The stoves first used natural gas from Hitcheners gas wells. They were converted to coal and from coal to oil. An oil furnace was put in during the remodeling of 1955-1956.

At one time, Mt. Tabor was part of a four church circuit. (Neptune, Fairview, and Pleasant View — the others) Neptune left the circuit during the pastorate of Royal Smith. Fairview broke from the circuit when Rev. Binkley was on the work. The Eldership placed Pleasant View with Mt. Carmel.

Other pastors serving Mt. Tabor are as follows: Shelby Stratton 1941-1944; Royal Smith 1944-1946; Sam Bauders 1946-1949; Norman Folk 1949-1952; Kenneth Laffin 1952-1956; Carl Binkley 1956-1965; Geoffrey Clay 1965-1972; Lewis Johnston 1972-1974; William Smith 1974-1978; and James Pommert is the present pastor.

The church purchased a 40 Acre farm in 1946. A new parsonage was built in 1964-1965. January 30, 1972 was a "Day to Remember". There was a Note-Burning ceremony during the morning service marking the successful conclusion of the Building Fund for the new parsonage. The day was celebrated with former pastor Carl Binkley as speaker in the morning service. A carry in dinner followed. Rev. and Mrs. James Wallace from our mission work at Borel, Haiti were the evening speakers.

LANDFAIR CHURCH

On the corner of Frahm Pike and Erastus Durbin Roads, the Center Chapel Methodist Protestant Church was built around 1887, on the ground owned by John Stoll. The carpenter was Nathan Baucher. Pews were built in a barn owned by George Felver.

Some of the first trustees were: John Stoll, George Felver, Ben Baucher, George Hines, and Jack Snavely. One of the earlier ministers was Rev. Albright. At the time of the transfer from the Indiana to the Ohio Conference, the name was changed to Landfair.

It was remodeled, with work done by the congregation in 1950. In 1961 a fire in the attic made it necessary to have a new ceiling installed.

In 1971 the church moved to the former Hope United Bretheran Church on State Route 118. The present minister is Rev. Wayne Reis. Church activities include a women's organization and a youth group. submitted by Mildred Sheets

WILLIAM AUSTIN CARPENTER

William Austin Carpenter, son of Noah and Rachel (Beery) Carpenter, was born Sept. 6, 1853 and died Feb. 25, 1928. He was married to Mary Lovina Fisher who was born Feb. 19, 1857 and died Feb. 27, 1936. Mary Lovina Fisher was the daughter of Peter and Mary M. (Stuck) Fisher who were natives of Pennsylvania.

Mary M. (Stuck) Fisher came from Pennsylvania to Mercer County with her parents around the year 1842. They purchased eighty acres of timberland about seven miles west of Celina, Ohio on Frahm Pike and forty acres along Schleucher Road, close to their eighty-acre tract of land.

Mary Lovina (Fisher) Carpenter's great grandfather, Michael (Stock) Stuck was a soldier in the Revolutionary War of the 1700's. The family name was changed from Stock to Stuck in the 1800's.

William and Mary Carpenter moved their family from Center Township to their eighty-acre farm in Hopewell Township on Morrow Road around the year 1881 when their eldest child was three years of age. The eldest child was eight years of age at the time of the tornado of May, 1886. She remembered standing at the door of their home with her mother during the tornado and listening to the storm and the screams of the people who were in the path of the tornado along Frahm Pike which was about onehalf mile south of their dwelling.

William cleared his eighty-acre farm of trees, and split rails to build fences. He also built some picket fences with the help of the oldest child who turned the crank of the picket-weaving machine. William had built their dwelling of logs and chinked it with clay mud to keep out the cold, which was the method used in building homes at that time. It was later sided and painted. When the house was being torn down around the 1960's, it was taken to Mendon, Ohio where a part of it was reassembled into a small cabin for the Boy Scouts of that area.

William and Mary (Fisher) Carpenter were the parents of six children: Lura Clyde, Emmett, Bessie, Lucy, Leonard Cecil, and Minnie. The oldest child, Lura Clyde, married John Roberts Hoenie who owned a tract of land across the road from the Carpenter farm. Their children were Ray, Ross and Ethel. Ethel, the writer of this sketch, married James E. Marbaugh and they have one son, James A. Mar-

William and Mary's second child, Emmett, married Blanche Weaver, and their children were Lowell, Lloyd, Donald, Dale and Dorothy; their third child, Bessie, died at about eighteen years of age; Lucy, the fourth child, married Daniel W. Weaver, and their children were Cloyd, who died in infancy, and Robert Daniel Weaver; the fifth child, Leonard Cecil, died in infancy; the sixth child, Minnie, married Herschel Jeffries. They were the parents of one child, Mary Linda.

William and Mary (Fisher) Carpenter attended the Union United Brethren Church which was more than a mile from their home. They lived on their Hopewell Township farm until their death and were laid to rest in the Union Cemetery of that township. Mrs. Ethel M. Marbaugh ackcreek Townships for 18 years.

William married Fannie D. Smith Sept. 26, 1901. nnie was the eightht child born to George and agdalene Myers Smith. George, a Civil War Vetan, was born in Germany, and emigrated to Pennlvania with his parents. He later moved to Mercer D., Ohio and became a farmer there. George died 20 in a train-car accident, age 81. His wife died 25 age 81. They were buried in North Grove Cemery, Celina, Ohio.

William and Fannie had three children: Alma 103, Russell 1907, Edgar 1914. All three children we remained citizens of Mercer Co. While the ildren were growing up the family was members

Hope Evangelical church, where William was inday School Supt. and teacher for many years. Iter when they moved to Celina, Ohio, they became members of Bethany U.M. church and William taught a class there.

William and Fannie had no modern conveniences but farmed their land with horses, used a windmill to pump water for livestock, and a gasoline engine to wash clothes. They raised a herd of guernsey milk cows. The family lived mostly off their large vegetable garden, fruit trees, and meat from their own livestock. They made their own butter, cottage cheese, and dried and canned fruits and vegetables. They used a wood range in the kitchen and a baseburner in the living room to keep warm.

William and Fannie retired from farming in 1936, and moved to Celina, Ohio, from their farm on State Route 118 south of Rockford. The couple never traveled much farther than Ind. from their home in Ohio, until 1955, they took a car trip to Florida with their son, Edgar and family. They celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary Sept. 23, 1951 at their home 240 Touvelle St. in Celina. Fannie died July 9, 1958 age 76. FAST

The good ship ROYAL UNION, commanded by Clement Nicholson, sailed from Rotterdan, Holland and arrived at Philadelphia by way of Portsmouth, England, August 17, 1750.¹ It carried 500 passengers. On the day of landing, Nickle Faust, whose name appeared 52nd in the list of passengers, and Nickle Fass, whose name is 57th on the list, both signed in Philadelphia the Declaration of Fidelity and Abjuration required of all immigrants by Act of the Legislature of the Province of Pennsylvania from the year 1729. In this list of the passengers of the ROYAL UNION both names were clearly written by the men themselves; asterisks were placed by those nar. which were recorded by clerks.2 One of these mei the progenitor of the family in America which t research concerns: however, the information asse bled for this manuscript assuredly concerns founder of the American family; for it leads direct and logically, through varient spellings, includ both "Fast" and "Faust," as well as others, to Will, his gravestone, and the names of his wife a children, known to most of his descendants. At time of his landing, reckoned from the date of birth carved on his gravestone, he was 22 years age. He came from the ancient town of Zw brucken, Germany, in the section known as Pfalz or Palatinate. A grandson, John Jacob Fast son of Francis, in a brief autobiographical sket written in his 65th year names Zweibrucken as ancestral home of the family and further states t his grandparents, Nicholas Fast and his wife Cath ine Terner came from near Zweibrucken in th single days. Dr. Allen K. Faust, President of Miy College, Sendai, Japan, in a letter to the autl writes: "The first Faust of my line seems to ha come to Philadelphia sometime between 1735 a 1760. He was a redemptioner and a carpenter. Af working two years as an indentured servant, went to the south side of the Blue Mountains, n the Schuylkill River and took up some land from Pennsylvania. The original home of the Germ Fausts was the Pfalz or the Palatinate."

The word "Nickle" is probably the nickname us by this youth of 22 years, and the spelling "Nieleus" is that used in his signature to his Will and Name carved on his gravestone. In all probabilithe correct form is "Nicholas," which spelling vused by him a few times in his lifetime.

FETTER

Walter E. Fetter(s) born Oct. 6, 1876 to Daniel a Sarah Smith Fetter, and Olive L. Miller born on Jt 9, 1878, to Franklin P. and Margaret Smith Mil were married Dec. 22, 1898 at the bride's home Rev. J. W. Schnitz, pastor of Hope Evangelic Church, Hopewell Township. Walter's grandparer were Johann Whilhelm and Anna Clappen Fett Wilhelm's parents were Johann Peter and An Margarethe Schneider Vetter. (Probably because the difficulty of learning to speak English, the nar was changed to Fetter, and an (s) added, although German name ending in "er" should end in (s).)

Whilhelm came to Fredericktown, Maryland, om his home in Wersau, Hesse-Darmstadt, Gerany, in 1832. Anna Clappen came on the next ship d they were married. He followed his trade of ood worker in Fredericktown, until 1837, when ey came to Hopewell Twp., Mercer Co., in 1837. iey bought the farm on Rt. 118 where Mr. and rs. Gordon (Gretchen Fetter) Hays, their greateat-granddaughter now lives.

Walter's mother's parents, also from Germany, ere John and Anna Bechtol Smith.

Olive's grandparents were John and Emily Ann ncoln Miller. John's parents were Israel, born Oct. 1788 and Regina Kitch Miller, natives of Pennsylnia of German descent.

John and Emily Ann Miller came to Hopewell

wnship in 1850 with six children and bought the rm on St. Rt. 118, where their great-grandson, Ivan iller now lives.

Emily Ann's parents were Alfred and Phoebe Diond Lincoln, natives of Massachusetts. The first ncoln colonist came from Hingham, England to ingham, Mass., in 1637. Alfred Lincoln was a usin of Thomas Lincoln, father of Abraham.

Olive's mother's father, born Feb. 7, 1828, in othhime, Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany, was George nith, son of John and Margaret Dengas Smith, ho came to America in 1840. George married Gerude Wappas, daughter of Casper and Margaret appas on August 19, 1852. They bought a farm in berty township, three miles west of Hope Evangelal Church, where they were members.

Walter's brothers and sister were: John, Frank, his vin, Rose, Wilbert and Herbert twins, Moody, imuel and Wesley. Olive's brothers and sister ere: Gertrude, Clarence and Richard.

Their children are Helen, Celina, retired after rty-four years of teaching in Mercer Co. and Decar, Indiana. Mrs. Harry (Louetta) Roediger, Troy ho have Robert, president of Arcair, Lancaster, hio. He and his wife Mitzie Wagner have Christine nd Robb. Richard, architect, Trotwood, Ohio, and is wife Johanna Steinmetz have James, David, homas and Michael. Walter was an excellent farmer and stockman. His ops were always abundant, although he was alays sure they wouldn't be. He was a devoted memer of Hope Evangelical Church, and a gracious host the family's many guests. With his good wife, Ole, he especially liked to entertain the evangelists ho came every winter to hold revival meeting at lope. One was George Bennard, author of the ymn, "The Old Rugged Cross" who came in 1916. t that time Walter rededicated his life to the Mas-

Ollie was his capable helpmeet. Besides caring for te children, she did the washing either on the oard or a hand operated washer, until a gasolineowered washer was purchased. Ironing was done 7ith flat irons heated on a woodburning range. A itcher pump was in the washroom. All other lumbing was outside with the wood and coal.

Vegetables and fruits were canned all summer and meat in the winter. She raised chickens by means of mother hens, cooked, baked, milked cows, churned butter and made cottage cheese. It was rare not to have extra people at the table.

Yet she found time to teach Sunday School classes and be an officer in the missionary society. She delighted to recite poetry to her children while she was sewing. Her family's stay in Kansas in 1885-1886 was a never-ending source of stories. A favorite was walking to school with her sister, past prairie dog holes, where they lived with owls and rattlesnakes. They lived in a sod hut, warm in winter and cool in summer. Her father loved to sit on the roof of the hut and sing hymns on Sunday morning.

She was released from the dread Parkinson's disease on Jan. 19, 1949. Her husband had preceded her to that better land on Oct. 6, 1936. Helen Fetter

FETTERS

Dedicated to the memory of my mother, Sarah Evaline Fetters Behm, who was always very proud of her lineage.

> "... Mr. Fetters, Mr. Now, Mr. Gump and Mr. Hellwarth being the first settlers to the township of Hopewell," from "A Portrait and Biographical Record of Mer-cer and Van Wert Counties, Ohio." 1896 p. 349.

Mr. Fetters was my great grandfather, William Fetters, born Johann Wilhelm Vetter, July 29, 1905, in Germany. According to the Family Book of the Lutheran Church of Wersau Parish, his father, Johann Peter Vetter, had come from Oberkainsbach, was a Communal Official (Gemeindemann); Lutheran Evangelical, married Anna Margarathe

Schneider, and died in 1849.

His son, William Fetters, came to America in 1837 and married Anna Smith from Hesse Darmstadt. In 1843 he renounced his allegiance to a king of Darmstadt, Germany, and became naturalized. By trade he was a turner, learned farming from other settlers. He was a member of the Evangelical Church for 40 years, died on the place he entered from the government in Hopewell Township, and is buried in the old section of the Hair Cemetery on Frahm Pike. His household spoke only german, he signed legal papers with an "X" but his Last Will and Testament bears his signature in beautiful German script.

His son John, my mother's father (1843-1909) was born in Mercer County and married Catherine Miller in Indiana in 1865. His home farm was south from Shively's Corner where at the corner of the first east and west road he donated land for a Lutheran Evangelical Church where he and his family were members for many years. In conjunction with farming he raised fine livestock for sale. He was also a supervisor and school director.

My mother, John Fetters' second child, (1868-1949) married, on Feb. 14, 1889, John F. Behm, who was brought from Prussia as a young boy by his mother and his father, Christian. Christian Behm also settled in Mercer County on a farm on the first road west off of Route 127, going south from Celina.

He was a salesman as well as farmer, one of his items was the first cream separators. He later, after my father's death, became interested in oil fields in Kansas and died there.

John and Evaline Fetters Behm, members of the Evangelical Church, had six sons and two daughters, all born in Mercer County. My father was a farmer too but had a business of buying and selling hay, grain and seed, much of which was shipped to other areas by train. In 1906 my father died and my mother moved us to a farm on Frahm Pike which she inherited from her father. Our house had been built from lumber on the farm by her father, using hewn beams, wood pins and hardwood.

The house was later acquired by my oldest brother, Albert, who literally pulled the house apart and put it together as it had been originally constructed at 240 Leona Street, Celina. He lived in the house with his family until his death in 1977.

Albert Ellsworth, born Dec. 25, 1889. Two sons, Rex and Eugene are still residents of Mercer County. Myrtle, the second child, born December 7, 1890, lost her life in the 1913 flood.

Christopher, born February 2nd, 1890; six of his children were born in Mercer County; all residents of Defiance County.

Howard, born Feb. 14, 1893, owns and lives at Behm's Landing on the south side of Lake St. Marys, which is operated by his only living daughter, Bernice.

Domer, born Nov. 16, 1896, deceased.

Raymond, born Oct. 16, 1898, deceased. One son, Harold, born in Mercer County. Two were born at Pigua.

Mabel, born Dec. 23, 1900. One son, Jack Duncan, lives in Louisiana.

Delbert (called Dick), born Nov. 16, 1903, was born in Paulding County, shortly thereafter the family returned to Mercer County. He lives in Miami County. One child, Virginia, was born in Mercer County.

No matter what the avocation of my mother's descendants they largely display the love of the land, preferring to make a home in open spaces, if possible, even into the sixth generation. Mabel Ruhl

JOHN HENRY FRAHM

John Henry Frahm, a wagon maker and carpenter, was born in Germany in 1831. When a boy, he disliked the military rule of Germany and enforced armed service which he wanted to avoid. He worked as a wagon maker and carpenter for $24 per year and at the age of 14 he had saved enough money to pay his passage to America.

He landed in New York City, after spending nine weeks of stormy passage on a sailing vessel. He traveled by rail to Buffalo and from there took passage on Lake Erie to Toledo, Ohio.

At Toledo, he embarked on a canalpacket and several days later, reached Spencerville, Ohio. His plan was to continue on to St. Marys, Ohio, from there go to Mercer Co. Fate ruled otherwise and the packet was frozen in the ice. Young Frahm with a small amount of luggage walked through bitter cold to Mercer Co.

Soon afterwards, he returned with a team horses and a wagon to get the rest of his luggage a also the young lady, Sophia Schmidt, who came or on the voyage with him. Several days later they turned to Mercer Co. to Hopewell Twp. near Frah Pike and were married. John was a well liked m by his friends, in a few years he was elected cour commissioner. He served two years.

It was during his public service that he was reconized for building the first pike in Mercer Co. No known as Frahm Pike, which extends from nort west of Celina to Shively's Corner (Ohio 118) o time known as Stedke's Corner and then on West the Indiana State Line.

He also opposed all wooden bridges, finally h them replaced by iron ones.

In 1858, he built a log church at Frahm's Corn (intersection Orgen Rd. and S.R. 118). In 1881 headed a movement to have it replaced by a bri structure. In 1955 a new church was dedicated whi is known as St. John's Lutheran Church Hopew Twp. Mercer Co., Celina, Ohio, R.R. 3.

BENJAMIN HELLWARTH

Benjamin Hellwarth was born and died at the 160 acre homestead in Hopewell Township that was first settled by his father George Michael (1803-1866), a native of Wurttemberg.

Caroline Lachenmeier (1808-1841) sailed to America in May 1831 with George and his father Uhlerich (1772-1846). They married at York, Penn. George worked at York, then on the National Pike between Columbus and Springfield. They arrived at the homestead October 1837 with two children Caroline (1833-1900) and John (1836-1881); Michael (1840-1901) was the first born at the homestead. As with any successful pioneer family, the test for endurance in establishing a home and farm economy included a combination of faith, courage, determination, hard labor, and perseverance. Tragedy soon struck with the death of Caroline and of a new-born baby in 1841.

George was fortunately blessed when in 1842 he married Margaret Wappas (1822-1899) who at age twelve migrated with her family from Bavaria. This union gave renewed encouragement for the future. To them were born eight sons and four daughters —

Joseph (1844-1911), David (1845-1927), George (1848-1927), Benjamin (1854-1924), Stephen (1858-1935), Lydia (1862-1939), and Louisa (1865-1909) were living at the time of their father's untimely death.

George adopted America as his new homeland, becoming a citizen in 1842 and contributing to the establishment of local government, schools and church. Scattered widely are descendants to the fifth and sixth generations who enjoy the rich inheritance of freedom and opportunity made possible by the lifelong dreams, the willing sacrifices, and inspirational influence of George Michael, his two partners, and the eleven sons and daughters.

Benjamin married Lena Will (1861-1927) in 1884. She was a daughter of nearby settlers George Will (1838-1865), who died after return from Civil War service, and Sarah Raach (1840?-1905). They gair ownership of the Hellwarth homestead in 1885 which they raised their family of four sons. I three eldest continued living at the homestead or jacent farm.

(1) Ronello (1884-1972); (2) Richard (1888-19 married Melva West Ferguson (1897-), descendar Lavaun, Maurice, Don; 7 grandchildren, 3 gre grandchildren; (3) Ray (1894-1953) served U.S. Na World War I, married Mae Sielschott (1899-196 descendants: Dillon, Dean; 5 grandchildren; (4) Alen (1903-) married Sarah Townsend (1905-); liv. Ann Arbor, Mich., descendants: Robert, Geor

James, John; 5 grandchildren.

The lives of Benjamin and Lena spanned an int esting period of our country's history from the Ci War through World War I. They knew pioneer I ing in a log cabin. They experienced the introdition of machines and power and electric energy threduced the hard labor of farming and upgrad their way of life in the home. They saw the ho and buggy replaced by the automobile; they moveled at the airplane overhead and at such invetions as wireless communication. What a story through tell their 20th century descendants! submitted Arlen Hellwarth

JOHN B. H. HOENIE

John B. H. Hoenie and wife Margaret (Whi Hoenie came from Hannover, Germany to Amer: about the year 1837. They were married in Germa and the next day they boarded a sailing ship I America. They were on the ocean for about thi months. Their first child, Henry, was born June : 1838 in New Bremen, Ohio when New Bremen w a Mercer County town. The county lines have sin been changed.

When Grand Lake Saint Marys was being forme Margaret helped to prepare meals for the worke and John kept the fires furnished with wood.

They then bought a tract of land (it was mostly all odland at that time) northwest of Celina along at is now called Frahm Pike. While John was lding their dwelling, the family lived among acintances about a mile south of their newlychased tract of land. John had blazed a trail (by rking trees along the way) from where they were ying, to their newly-acquired land and worked h day at erecting a home. One day he worked too and the sun set quickly, making it impossible to the next blaze on the trail. He walked around 5 one blazed tree all night to keep warm and to ep from going to sleep. Margaret, fearing he had t his way, blew on a conch shell all night so he uld know which way to go to arrive home safely. t he was afraid that she would become tired and It blowing the conch snell, so he decided to stay at tree which he knew was on the blazed trail.

eventually the buildings were all completed and land cleared of trees. In time, the farm became property of the oldest son, Henry. At the present it is owned by one of Henry's grandsons, Cort Hellwarth. This farm is located in Hopewell wiship and has been in the possession of some mber of the family for over 100 years.

The family name was changed from Hoene to enie around the latter part of the year 1888. A cool teacher, Ben Klinger, helped to bring about change in the spelling of the name, stating that it uld be more like an English name with the new

KROGMAN-BUCK

Great grandfather Henry Krogman (Crogman) was born in Mecklenburgh Schwerin Germany August 25, 1828-1913 and came to Mercer County in Oct. 1852. He married Frederica Reese in 1859 who was also born in Mecklenburgh Schwrerin, Germany in 1838-1923. They reared 7 children. We are considering one son Charles, Carl John born Dec. 6, 1859-1943 and his family and descendants. Charles married Sophia Mary Uhlenhake. They reared 3 children Roy, Leona, Myrtle. Myrtle married Rheuben N. Buck, son of Benjamin Franklin Buck-Martha Lehman Buck, June 20, 1925. They had one daughter Marjorie Lou who married Edson Leon Pierstorff Feb. 18, 1950. They have one son Niles Edward who married Carolyn Rasawher Oct. 14, 1977. It is interesting to note, quite by accident, not planned, and recently found that Niles was married the same date Oct. 14, one hundred years later than his great grandfather Buck was married Oct. 14, 1877. Niles lives on his great great grandfather Krogmans farm. We are reminded that the land lives on but the generations come and go. Marjorie Pierstorff

LEHMAN FAMILY

The members of the Lehman family currently residing in Mercer County trace their beginnings in Mercer County to the year 1846. At that time Adam Pixler Lehman (born 1806) along with his wife Julia (Griggs) and their seven children left Perry County, Ohio. They traveled in a covered wagon to where Julia's sister, Mrs. John (Maria Griggs) Wilson lived north of Celina in Hopewell Twp.

When the family first arrived they lived in a log cabin six miles north of Celina along the road that went straight north from town. On April 22, 1853, Adam purchased an eighty acre farm from John Wilson for $500. This farm was located just south of Early, Ohio. Early consisted of a general merchandise store and three houses built along the C.H.&D. railway. Later Early became known as Oregon, Ohio

The land purchased by Adam was all forest, so many hours were spent clearing the land for a house and farming.

When the Civil War broke out Adam and four of his sons left the homestead to serve their country. William, the youngest son born after the family came to Mercer County, was left to care for the homestead until his father and brothers returned. Though Adam and his four sons all served in the army, each was sent to a different territory; so none of them fought side by side. It was a day of great celebration when Adam and his four sons all returned home safely, reuniting the family.

Soon the sons and daughters were all married. John married Rebecca Webb, James married Phidella Snyder, Abraham married Nancy Hiles, William married Charlotte Fisher, Daniel was first married to Mary Harden and after her death married Rebecca Layland, Julie married David Hull, Sarah married Albert Ford, and Mariah married David Howick.

Daniel was first married to Mary Harden. Two children were born of this marriage: Mary and William. On July 4, 1867, Daniel married Rebecca Jane Layland daughter of Benjamin P. and Margaret (Parker). Daniel and his family remained on the old homestead following the deaths of Adam in 1882 and Julia in 1891. The children of Daniel and Rebecca included: James B. who married Mary Michiel, Margaret and Ursula who died in infancy, Lucy who married A. Dick Brookhart, Adam Perry who married May Mote, Eliza Jane who married Porter Stiverson, and Willshier Stephen who married Lucy Adam P. and May were blessed with three children: Edith who married Thomas Wirebaugh, Ada who married Ervin Andrews, and Kenneth who married Esther Gardner. After Esther's death, Kenneth married Marjorie York, Born to Kenneth and Esther were two sons, Michael Dennis and Eric Allen. Eric married Linda Michael and they reside in Toledo with their sons, Adam Michael and Casey Sean. Michael married Jane Murlin and they reside in Celina with their children, Timothy Cyle and Ellen Melissa. Michael is a partner in the Stein and Lehman Funeral Home.

Willshier and Lucy had five children. Raymond and Hubert both died in their youth, Nellie who married Robert Morrow, Paul Robert who married Mildred Hutchinson, and Wilson who was killed in World War II. Paul and Mildred had one son, Daniel Judson who married Mary McCallister. Daniel and Mary with their children Daniel Judson, Jr. and Kara Marie reside in the Neptune area. Daniel is a teacher in the Coldwater Schools.

Willshier Lehman, grandson of Adam Pixler, wrote a book about Adam and his family's journey and subsequent settling in Mercer County as told to him by his grandfather. Willshier wrote the book at age eighty shortly before his death. This unpublished book written in a simple narrative style provides the descendants of Adam Pixler Lehman with a priceless gift on their heritage. The book is entitled, And They Got There. submitted by Daniel J. Lehman

Mr. and Mrs. John Now

John H. Now, the son of Lafe (Godlieh dow and Margarette Bickel Now, was born in Hopewell Township, Mercer County, Ohio on April 19, 1878. He married Nettie (Antoinette) Smith on December 18, 1902. Nettie, the daughter of Henry Smith and Sarah Bieber Smith, was born on March 31, 1881. After their marriage they built a house on an acre of ground located on the farm of his birthplace on the present Now Road in Hopewell Township where they lived throughout the life of Mr. Now who died on May 8, 1959. After his death, Mrs. Now purchased a house at 132 East Anthony Street, Celina where she resided until she went to live in Totalcare Nursing Home in March of 1977, where she resides at the time of this article at the age of 97 years.

Six children were born in this family, namely: Beulah (Mrs. Willis) Bradford of Wapakoneta, Ohio, Herbert Now (wife Helen Alexander) of Findlay, Ohio, and Laveda (Mrs. Arlie) Baucher, Margaret (Mrs. Clarence) Weitz, Loretta (Mrs. Carson) Fast, and Mabel (Mrs. Lawrence) Koontz all of Celina, Ohio.

John was basically a farmer all of his life and owned sixty acres of land, a part of his father's homestead. His farming operations consisted of general grain farming and livestock. In addition to his own farm he usually rented from eighty to one hundred twenty acres of land. He did his farming with horses all his life and he was quite proud of the quality and appearance of his horses. Besides being a farmer, John was a lumberman, and assisted in the operation of a sawmill on his father's farm; he was a thresher and in his later life he was a carpenter and did some cabinet work.

Mr. and Mrs. Now did not confine their life activities to their livelihood. They were quite community and church minded. He served on the Hopewell Township Board of Education, was a Trustee of Hopewell Township, and was a charter member and also was instrumental in reorganizing the Hopewell Grange. Mrs. Now was a member of the Hope Evangelical Church at the time of their marriage and Mr. Now was a member of the Pleasant View Church of God. After their marriage they both held their membership with the Pleasant View Church of God for the rest of their lives. He served as janitor of the church for most of his lifetime, mostly without pay, and Mrs. Now was by his side in caring for the church property. He walked the mile and a quarter to the church to get the fires started so the building would be warmed some by the time his family arrived.

Theirs was a life of dedication, sacrifice and devotion. They were very religious Christians and so were dedicated to the work of the church, having served as delegates to the annual sessions of the Ohio Eldership of the Churches of God many times. They were willing to sacrifice much to provide for the essentials of life for their children and always were proud of the accomplishments of their children. Herbert Now

Lafe (Godlieb) Now, the son of John and Mary Now, was born in Hopewell Township, Mercer County, Ohio, on May 23, 1847, his parents having settled in this county in 1837. GEHRNARD FREDERICK SIELSCHOTT

Frederick is the name he used in most records. See bstract of Titles in Mercer Co. and History of Van /ert and Mercer Cos. for year 1882. I will from here fer to him as G. Frederick.

G. Frederick (b) 1807 (d) 1865 and his wife Marie 1 1809 (d) 1891 came to America from an area of anover, Germany in 1834. G. Frederick had 5 tothers and 1 sister that also came to America—1 came at the same time. They first came to Cinn., hio where for 3 years they all worked as butchers. Frederick and Marie had a son die on the voyage America and was buried in the Atlantic Ocean. he sister died while still in Cinn., Ohio. The boys I came to Mercer Co., 3 to Hopewell Twp. and 3 to enter Twp.

G. Frederick came to Hopewell Twp. in 1837 here he and Marie became the first settlers in Secon 10. From the Abstract of Titles in Mercer Co., it tows 80A was deeded to him in 1840 from the U.S. overnment through the Land Office in Lima, Ohio and signed by Martin Van Buren who was at that me the 8th President of U.S. (1837-1841). At his eath this farm became the home of son Reuben and family. The Sielschotts were members of the atheran Church.

G. Frederick and wife had 6 sons and 2 daughters. The son and one daughter died as infants. Their tildren all remained in Hopewell Twp., except enry's family who settled in Van Wert Co., Ohio.

Their children were — Henry, Philip, William, Elizabeth, G. Frederick and Reuben.

Henry's children were Sarah Chicadance and William. Henry's grandchildren from William are Samuel and Lester Sealscott and Lilly Weldy. These became the Van Wert Co. people.

Philip's children were Ida Schaadt (Dave), Anna Schaadt (Bill), Margaret Smith (Charles) and Jacob.

William's children were Louisa Frahm (John) and Roseltha Lemke (Henry).

Elizabeth Pierstorff's (Bill) children were George, Mary Willrath (Charles), William, Anna, Charles, Flora Siebert (Franc), Albert and Roy. G. Frederick's children were Edward, Lillie Weber, Grover, Fanny Kuhn (Philip), Pearlie Groth (Otto), Lewis, Walter and George.

Reuben's children were John, Charles, Martin,

Laura and Lawrence.

Prior to his death, G. Frederick and Marie had acquired over 400A of land which later was divided among their children. All land was in Section 10 in Hopewell Twp.

The name Sieschott has over the years acquired several spellings. Sielschott the German, Sealscott and Sealschott. I can only say what my parents told us as to the Sealscott spelling. G. Frederick's son Reuben had their spelling changed to Sealscott. It looked, at one time like some of their sons would be drafted by U.S. and sent to Germany to fight in a war. Not wanting their German cousins to think their American cousins were coming back to fight against each other, they changed the spelling of their name. All turned out well as no one was drafted to go back to Germany in Reuben's family till in World War II. At that time, Reuben's grandson Dewan Sealscott, son of Charles, was drafted and sent to Germany to serve in the 80th Division in General Patton's Army. He, however, had to do no fighting in that war as he served his time in the Medical Corps.

The U.S. census of 1850 does show the name as Sealscott for the early settlers. This probably was because the Sielschotts only knew the German language and the census taker the English, so he wrote the name like it sounded in English.

In many cases I have not shown the names of young children who died because I could not find records of some and many names were not readable.

JACOB SIELSCHOTT

Jacob Sielschott was born June 19, 1871 Hopewell Township son of Philip and Matilda Heffner Sielschott. CLARENCE WEITZ

Clarence Weitz, the son of Charles and Katie Hone Weitz, was born in Liberty Township, Mercer County, Ohio on Jan. 30, 1909. He married Margaret Now on Oct. 4, 1930, the daughter of John H. and Agusta Antoinette (Nettie) Smith Now. She was born Sept. 20, 1909 in Hopewell Township, Mercer County, Ohio.

They are the parents of three children, all born in Liberty Township, namely: Patricia Ann, born June 19, 1932, married Norman Gottschalk of St. Marys, Ohio. They own and operate an egg business near St. Marys, and he is also a substitute mail carrier. They have 2 children, Paula and Bruce, both at home. Clara Virginia, born Oct. 6, 1933, married Lavern Musselman of West Mansfield, Ohio. They live in Xenia, Ohio, and she is an assistant teacher in the retarded school near Xenia. Lavern served 14 years with the Air Force and is now an Electronic Technician at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Fairborn, Ohio. They have 5 children: Paul born in Biloxi, Miss., married to Barbara Jones, they have 1 daughter, April; Daniel and Joanna, both born in Lincoln, Nebraska. Joanna is married to Roger Hollingsworth, they have 1 son, Daniel; Stephen, born in Logansport, Ind., married to Deborah Caudill; and Ruth, born in Stephensville, Newfoundland.

Max Eugene, born Dec. 8, 1935, married to Alice Muhlenkamp, of Celina, Ohio. He served 5 years with the Air Force, and is now Director of Manufacturing with SRL Medical, Inc. near Dayton, Ohio, where they make Stress Testing Equipment and Pulmonary Testing Devices. He is also a Mechanical Engineer on the side. They live in Beavercreek, near Dayton, and have 5 children, Teresa, Joey, Nicholas, Andrew, and Samuel, all born in Dayton, and reside at home.

Mr. Weitz was educated in the Landfair School, a one room school near their home. After his marriage, they lived in Liberty Township and he worked with his father on the farm, both farming and operating the threshing machine for 7 years. Then he and his family moved to the Lafe Now farm near his father-in-law in Hopewell Township, the farm being owned by Mrs. Weitz's brother Herbert. He worked with his father-in-law, farming both the farms where they lived along with other rented land. In Feb. 1947, they purchased the farm from Herbert. In Jan. 1951, he went to work at the Mersman Furniture Factory in Celina along with the farming operation. In Feb. 1962, they rented the farm and moved to Celina on East Livingston St., where they now reside. In 1975 they sold the farm to a neighbor. Lafe Now was a grandfather of Mrs. Weitz, and he had purchased the farm in 1872, so the farm had been owned by the Now family over 100 years.

Clarence was raised in the Landfair Methodist Protestant Church. Margaret was a member of the Pleasant View Church of God. After they moved to Hopewell Township, Clarence transferred his membership to the Pleasant View Church near their home, where he became an active member, serving the church in the various offices. He and his wife are charter members of the Hopewell Grange, and members of the Mercer County International Gideons. Clarence Weitz

JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP

Jefferson Township is 12 miles long from east to est; the east half of the township has an average idth from north to south of one and a half miles, hile the west half of the township has an average idth from north to south of three miles. It is ounded on the south by the Grand Reservoir and ıtler Township, on the east by Auglaize County, 1 the north by Hopewell and Center townships and 1 the west by Washington and Liberty townships.

The proceedings of the Board of Commissioners Mercer County on March 5, 1839 would indicate at Jefferson Township was organized at this time. ne first election was held in the spring of 1840. The est settlement of the township was on farms both ist and west of the county seat, Celina. Of the early ttlers of the county and of Jefferson township, we nd that Robert Linzee moved from Athens County, hio in the fall of 1832 and located on a farm east of elina on the north bank of the Grand Reservoir, allough at that time the reservoir was not built and othing in the shape of a road existed save the trails ade by the Indians. Mr. Linzee located his son anklin on a farm later known as the Huston farm, nd on what is known as the Stearns farm he located is nephew, Robert Linzee, Jr. In his lifetime, Mr. nzee gave the school district land, the deed for hich is in his own handwriting, specifying the fact at it was to be used for that purpose "as long as ater runs and wood grows". A young man by the ame of Wesley Herbert was the first teacher emloyed in the first log schoolhouse built in Jefferson ownship.

Jefferson township contains 16,526 acres of land. he present appraised value of the lands and buildigs of the township, outside Celina corporation, is 57,204,077. The farm buildings of today are of subantial make, constructed on modern and up-to-ate plans. The farm land is well tilled. The soil is rell adapted to raising corn, soybeans, wheat and egetables in abundance.

Jefferson Township has within its road system 34 tiles of road. Beginning in 1940 the township roads vere converted from mud and stone roads to hard urface roads, the last mud road being surfaced in Part of the 34 miles consists of streets located in ural sub-divisions within East and West Jefferson ownship. During the "Great Blizzard of 1978", the ustees provided adequate snow removal for the pads and streets with township equipment and asistance from private contractors.

The first divided four-lane highway in Mercer ounty is located in East Jefferson Township being ast Route 29 linking with Route 703 and extending 5 Interstate 75. Old Route 29 is now State Route

The Trustees, on October 28, 1962, passed a resoution authorizing the Board of County Commisioners and the City of Celina, Mercer County, Dhio, both acting on behalf of the East Jefferson ewer District in Jefferson Township, to construct nd use water and sanitary mains and laterals upon he right of way of township roads within the disrict. The installation of the water and sewer lines nabled more expansion and development of residential homes in the rural areas of East and West Jefferson Township. The water and sewer lines extended to the present sight of Wright State College, located on State Route 703.

The Gallman Sub-Division, platted by L.R. Gallman, and Menchhofer Woods Sub-Division, platted by Orland Menchhofer, were developed and many new residential homes constructed. The Jefferson Township Trustees contracts with the City of Celina for fire protection for all the residents of Jefferson Township.

Jefferson Township has numerous industrial and commercial businesses. One of the larger industrial business being Pax Machine Works located on Monroe Road in West Jefferson Township.

Upon receiving a petition from the residents of East Jefferson Township, the Township Trustees recommended to the Mercer County Commissioners that zoning for East Jefferson Township be placed on the ballot. In 1972, by vote of the residents, East Jefferson Township was zoned. The Mercer County Commissioners then appointed the first East Jefferson Zoning Board of Appeals, the members were, Mrs. Betty Scott, Mr. Gene Riesen, Mr. Donald Huser, Mr. Jonny Dicke and Mr. Thomas E. Green.

On April 29, 1974, the Jefferson Township Trustees accepted an Emergency Ambulance Service contract between the Board of Mercer County Commissioners and the City of Celina. This Emergency Ambulance Service has since become a county wide service.

Petrie, Oldtown and Swamp College Cemeteries are located in Jefferson Township. Petrie and Oldtown Cemeteries are inactive cemeteries. In 1977 the Mead cemetery was studied, about 40 rods west of the Mercer County Home Buildings and is on the list of inactive cemeteries in Jefferson Township.

Swamp College Cemetery located on Karch Road is the only public owned Cemetery in Jefferson Township that is currently used. Swamp College Cemetery is located on both the east and west side of Karch Road. The East side was used for burial until recent years when it was necessary to make available additional burial sites which are located on the west side of Karch Road.

The present officers of Jefferson township are as follows: Trustees - David E. Pax, John H. Zumberge, Wilfred Albers; Clerk, Maxine M. Green. By

GRAND LAKE ST. MARYS

Grand Lake St. Marys is an artificial or man-made body of water. Approximately ½ of the water area lies in Auglaize County and the remainder in east central Mercer County. It is bounded on the north by Jefferson Township, on the south by Franklin Twp., on the west by Butler Twp. and on the east by Auglaize County.

The original purpose of Grand Lake was to store and supply the water necessary to keep the Miami and Erie Canal at the level needed for navigation.

Upon examination of the territory, it was decided that this area would be most suitable for the construction of such a reservoir. A glacier had formed a groove or dip across mid county, making a natural low area — ideal for the needed water storage. The north side shoreline was considerably higher, which prevented overflow to the north. Although the south side elevation was less than the north, it was still adequate to contain water, except during spring high water periods.

Thus it was necessary for the state to build levees or embankments on the east and west sides only. A Bulkhead on the east bank would be joined to the Miami and Erie Canal by a feeder canal.

Sources of water for the lake were the following: Coldwater Creek, Big Beaver Creek (Montezuma Creek), the Big and Little Chickasaw Creeks and several smaller inlets on the south side. There were no inlets or creeks on the other three sides.

In 1830 Mr. Mitchell, an engineer, ran the first line around the reservoir. Samuel Farrer, commissioner, reported to the General Assembly, after an examination of the banks, that the cost would be about $90,000.

In 1837 a line was again run by Messrs. Barney and Farrer, compassing a circumference of 18,000 acres. This area was a vast expanse of swampy land — a wet prairie (known as Beaver Prairie) with tall grasses and the accumulations of growth of years of decayed grasses, leaves and fallen timber. More than half the area was covered with many thousands of virgin trees: walnut, hickory, oak, beech, sycamore and many others. It was originally planned to girdle and then remove this timber before letting the water backup, but the cost became so excessive that most were left standing.

Work began on the lake in 1837. Approximately 1700 men were employed in constructing the ea and west banks. Most of those employed were Geman and Irish immigrants. The Irish were escapir the Potato Famine. They worked from sunrise to sunset. Wages amounted to 30¢ a day plus a jiggi of whiskey (which was considered necessary to was off malaria and a help to boost morale).

The men dug the dirt for these embankments I hand. They carted and wheeled it either by whee barrow or by specially constructed one horse cart which when a pin was pulled, the dirt was dumped Houses built of logs were erected for the laborer One stands yet today, the Mathias Smith Tavern, a authentic log house of 1840. It is located at the North Shore Park on S. Main St., Celina, Ohio. has an unusual construction. All the logs are moticed and tenoned and held in place with larg wooden pegs — not the ordinary type of notche cross log corners.

It was restored and moved to its present locatic through the efforts of the Celina Jaycees.

For nearly three years all was properly conducte until the State and banks failed to maintain the

Their notes and bonds depreciated to such a "ri inous percent" that the workers were cheated out thalf their earnings.

In 1843 the West Bank was completed, backing use a lake about half the size of the finished reservoi. The water filled in at the upper end to the depth of several feet but as the ground rose gradually to the east, it overflowed for several miles to a depth of few inches only.

About 150 inhabitants feared that this shallo water, exposed to the rays of the sun, would, if a lowed to stand, produce disease. So with spades an shovels, they made a passage for the water throug the embankment. It cost the state several thousanc of dollars to repair this break.

$20,000 had been secured from the State to con pensate for the removal of timber and loss of crop of those early pioneers who had settled along the north and south banks of the reservoir. This mone was squandered by state officials and land speculators. When the water was let in, there was nothin left to pay the land owners.

A meeting was called in Celina on May 3, 1843 t decide what course of action the citizens shoul take. Benjamin Linzee was elected to go to Pique the head of the Board of Public Works, and lay the ievances before them.

He returned to Celina with Messrs. Spencer and amsey's answer, "Help yourselves if you can."

Another meeting was held on May 12. It resulted Mr. Linzee's return to Piqua with the answer, that they did not pay for the land and let off the water, ley would cut the bank on the 15th.

The reply came back, "The Piqua guards will be ith you and rout you on that day."

When the people heard this response, their anger nd excitement mounted.

On the morning of the 15th, more than 100 citiens gathered with their shovels and spades. They et at the strongest place on the Bank, in the old eaver channel. Their object was not to damage the ate, and the dirt was wheeled back on the bank on ich side.

One day and a half later, a cut was completed six et below the level of the water, and a flimsy eastwork was the only thing holding back the ater.

"Who will start the Water?" asked Samuel Ruck-an.

"I," said John Sunday. "I," said Henry Linzee; in a oment the waters were rushing down 50 yards bew the bank. It was six weeks before the water subded.

When the Board of Public Works heard about is, warrants were issued for the arrests of all who ad participated. Thirty-four of the leaders, includgall the county officers, judges, sheriffs, clerks, iditor, treasurer, deputy treasurer, recorder and irveyor, with merchants, farmers and private citiens were arrested and bound over to the next term court.

The grand jury refused to find a bill of misdemea-or, and so the matter ended.

It cost the State $17,000 and some red faces to re-air the damages.

Construction of the lake was completed in 1845 at total cost of about $600,000. The lake was approxiately nine miles long and three miles wide and ad 52 miles of shoreline. It covered 17,500 acres at a average depth of 10 feet. Today due to erosion it ow covers 19,000 acres and 10 feet is its maximum epth.

The completion of the Canal and Reservoir had a eat effect on freight charges. Rates dropped from 1.00 for hauling a bushel of wheat 100 miles to 15¢ ir hauling a ton of wheat 100 miles.

Once the feeder canal was completed, Celina had cess to both the Cincinnati and the Toledo marets. Boats from either city could travel via the canal the feeder to the East Bank Bulkhead to the lake across to Celina; where they would deposit pasingers and cargo before loading on Celina's goods or the return trip.

These canal boats were some 80 feet long and 14: 15 feet wide. They were equipped with a steering idder, a captain, mules, a cook and a roustabout or vo. The boats were moved across the lake by setng a long pole at one end on the boat and then, by ushing, the man would walk the length of the boat is moving it the length of itself. These poles were ten worked down to a satin smoothness.

The flat bottomed canal boats were soon aided by nall steam boats. The steamers were used to do the wing. They were also used to give local citizens easure cruises on the lake.

In the early days of the lake, the water was cool and clear and was often used for drinking by the hunters and fishermen who worked and played there.

Waves were not a problem then. The moss and thousands of stumps and logs were able to keep this under control.

Commercial benefits of the lake included the Ice Industry in the winter months and the Commercial Fishing Industry during the rest of the year. The Western Standard reported on May 10, 1855, that two or three men with a seine could catch as many catfish as a team could haul in half as many hours — yet this didn't seem to diminish the quantity of fish still in the lake.

The fish were choice bass, sunfish, catfish, perch and pike. They were packed in ice and shipped to such markets as New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and Dayton. Frogs were also shipped along with the fish.

Commercial fishing was dealt a death blow when state laws were passed in 1884 to prevent the taking of fish in inland waters by means other than a hook and line.

Another factor that contributed to the end of commercial fishing in Grand Lake was the Drought Period between 1890-1900. Due to the low water, there was a great loss of fish. Heavy ice during this period was also responsible for the loss of a tremendous amount of fish.

It was reported that the water level was so low that Edward Frey waded across the lake in hip boots, from Villa Nova on the north side to the south side.

Hundreds of acres of corn were raised on the exposed lake bed and thousands of feet of timber were removed at this time also.

Another short-lived, but important commercial venture of the lake was the discovery that it was on the fringe of the Findlay and Lima oil fields. Between 200 and 300 wells were drilled. They produced hundreds of thousands of barrels of oil.

At night, the burning gas from the derricks lighted up the roadway along the eastern shore.

As the oil supply was exhausted, the wells were abandoned. Most of them were pulled but not capped when production ceased. Wastes were allowed to spill into the lake. This pollution had a bad effect on the vegetation and fish life.

Today only one derrick remains. It serves as a refuge for boaters in stormy weather and is a favorite fishing spot in hot weather when fish move to deeper waters.

The coming of the railroad in the late 1800's affected the lake in two ways. The most important was that it made the Miami and Erie Canal's importance as a trade route a thing of the past. This in turn changed the main role of the lake from that of a source of water for the canal to that of a source of recreation for the public.

The second effect of the railroad was that it brought great numbers of sportsmen to this area. Hunting and fishing lodges, complete with professional guides, were established around the lake. (Until about 1890, 75% of the shoreline was timber covered.) Large parties constituting excursions from all parts of the middle west came to visit during the summer and during the hunting season. Many were just sightseers who had come to see the world's largest artificial body of water.

Lake Mercer by Moonlight (c. 1890's)

These vacationers would sometimes take a shuttle boat out to an island in the lake. They could picnic or party, hunt or fish. It is reported one island was a resort complete with "gambling, liquor and rougecheeked girls".

Today Safety Island remains as a haven during turbulent weather. It is vacant except for rats and an occasional hunter.

In 1915 an Act was passed by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio. It stated that this body of water and adjacent lands owned by the State were to be dedicated and set apart forever for the use of the public, as public parks or pleasure resorts.

The name Lake St. Mary's was also introduced at this time as per the Revised Code Section 1541.06. This was not a popular name with the people of Celina. Eventually a compromise was reached and the Ohio Legislature changed the name on maps to read Grand Lake St. Marys. Since its beginning, this body of water has been known by such various names as: the Grand Reservoir, Lake Mercer, Lake Celina, Grand Lake and finally Grand Lake St. Marys.

Since the Act of 1915, the State of Ohio has spent thousands of dollars in the development of state parks.

Private investors have spent many more thousands to provide for amusement and relaxation. In a booklet titled: "Celina on the Grand Reservoir" the Play Ground of Ohio, the following resorts and parks were mentioned: Mercelina Park, Pullman Bay Park, Edgewater Park and Edgewater Park Gardens (included an amusement center, dance pavillion and board walk along the water's edge), Harbor Point, Highland Park, Lakeland Beach, Sandy Beach, Northwood, Ballinger Park, and Windy Point.

In 1930 the Lake was transferred from the Dept. of Public Works to the Dept. of Conservation for recreational purposes.

The newly created Div. of Parks assumed contro of the area in 1950. They have maintained parks an picnic areas for public use. Two large dredges hav been put to use in dredging and cleaning the chan nels of the estimated 5 tons of sediment that are de posited per acre per year into the lake.

A Lake Patrol Service has been maintained to en sure the safety of those using its facilities. Becaus of the shallowness of the water and also because th length of the lake is in the direction of the prevailin winds, the water can get exceptionally rough an dangerous during stormy weather.

In earlier days, the Lighthouse located at Northwood, operated under a government license durin the months from April 1 to November 1. Now th Eddystone lighthouse copy is just a monument the original English Channel Beacon.

Grand Lake St. Marys today is still a valuable as set to the communities surrounding it. The water: used by Celina and St. Marys' municipalities and ir

This area stands as an oasis of bird life in central western Ohio. The Mercer County Waterfowl Reuge, located on the SW corner of the lake, provide for acres of unmolested territory and it also has winter feeding program.

Recreation is still its most important use. Boatin has always been a popular pastime. There are wel marked channels for boaters and there are spee and ski lanes that go from one end of the lake to th other with leads to channel landings.

The month of July around Grand Lake is noted for the Celina Lake Festival. It is a time when the community gets together for a parade, a queer crowning, sidewalk sales, street dances, fireworks over-the-lake and boat races.

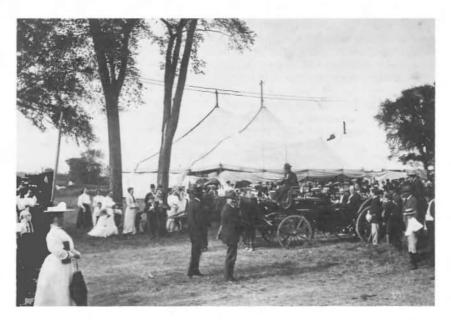

When all this hustle and bustle is over, the Gran is still there for the fishermen in the spring, the swimmers in the summer, the duck hunters in the fall and the ice skaters and snow mobilers in the winter. by Carolann Kincaid Thees

Noticeable are the women's long ull skirts and tight bodices, the children's black tockings and the many hats.

The Celina-Mercer County Chatauqua may well re regarded as the most momentous communal, culural effort made in this part of the state. Conducted or two weeks of each summer during the years 1905 to 1909 and in 1911, 1912, and 1914, it was held in a large, outdoor auditorium arranged in Mercelina Park. It consisted of a series of entertainment in the form of lectures, concerts, and various activities, and was notable for the celebrated character of the talent — persons politically prominent, nationally and internationally; leaders in religious thought and in philosophy, and performers expert in the arts. As an added feature, it was valuable in the contacts made and in the mingling of the many people in a common, enjoyable experience, with the gracious memory, left, to be cherished throughout the coming years. by Claudia Kenney

Celina, located in Jefferson Township, is the county seat of Mercer County. It was founded in 1834. Four men — Peter Aughenbaugh, Rufus Stearnes, James Watson Riley, and Robert Linzee, 2nd — entered into an agreement on August 25, 1834. Each was to pay in $100 for the purchase of land in the center of Mercer County to establish a town named Celina. This agreement was entered for record on September 8, 1834. When all the costs were totaled, each man actually paid in $117.29.

Included in the agreement were the following donations: 3 lots for Church use only, 2 lots for school use only and 3 acres of land near the town for use as a cemetery.

J. W. Riley, as deputy surveyor, laid out the town. Recalling the teamsters, who, when bogged in the mud on the narrow eastern city streets, beat and shot each other, as their wagons collided, Mr. Riley measured Celina's streets in rods rather than feet; making Celina's main streets wider than most small towns. Because of an error in platting the out lots, a corrected survey was entered for record in October, 1840.

The name Celina was derived from Salina, Onondaga County, New York. Mr. Riley, while on a trip to New York to have maps of the new town lithographed, stopped at Salina. He noted the similarities of the two towns. The surface of each was level and both were situated at the head of a lake — one a natural lake (Lake Onondaga) and the other an artificial lake (Grand Lake). To avoid confusion at the post offices, he changed the orthography.

At that time, Celina consisted of one sawmill; which had been built near the lake for the purpose of providing lumber for the construction of the embankment, only one store; owned by Mr. Riley, which also housed the clerk's office, and two hotels. One was owned by Mr. Simmons and the other was owned by Franklin Linzee. The residents at that time numbered about 15 families.

The settlement was situated among the tall, virgin trees of the forests. The only roads were those trails made by the Indians. The trees were so dense that the sun could not reach the land to dry up the knee-deep mud and water that stood everywhere.

To solve this problem, a Chopping Bee was held on November 18, 1840. Over 70 of the finest woodsmen answered an invitation to help clear Celina of its trees. The entire day was spent working in squads of 15 to 20 men, felling the giant trees. They started at the corner of Buckeye and Market Streets and working westward, cleared all timber south of Market to the west line of the town plat. (The public square, containing 5 acres of heavily timbered land, was cleared during the following year.) With their task accomplished, the workers enjoyed a grand supper and a dance which lasted till the next morning. It is reported there were no injuries and no confrontations. A full and enriching day was had by all.

The small settlement now began to grow into a town. The sun dried up the mud and water, and in the spring, grass sprouted everywhere. Because it was more centrally located, the county seat was moved from St. Marys to Celina in 1840. A court house was built in 1841 and completed in time for the spring term of court to be held there. Two bric buildings were also erected at this time — one b Mr. Beach and one by Mr. Benjamin Linzee.

Another factor which contributed to Celina growth was the construction of the Grand Reservoi as it was called then. Many Irish and German immigrants came to work on the Lake and the Miami – Erie Canal. After their work was completed, they decided to settle in this area.

The population of Celina in 1850 was 222. In cluded in this number were 5 doctors.

According to the Western Standard, Celina's first newspaper, established in 1848 by Mr. Barringto and Mr. Hunter, the first County Fair was held of October 28, 1852. Much of the newspaper date from April 22, 1852, to July 8, 1852, was devoted the publishing the Laws of Ohio. The editors felt it was their duty to inform the people about their government.

Operating a newspaper in those days had it problems too. In January of 1856, the weather was s cold (-20) that the paper had to be thawed before i could be printed. The Western Standard, at thi time, was being published by the Snyder Bros.

By the end of 1850's, Celina's businesses included John M. Hayes' Fashionable Taylor Shop, Mrs. M. I Haller's Ambrotype Gallery, Lehmkuhl & Bros. Gro cery, the Celina Planing Shop owned by James W Carlin and John Castleman, G. & F. C. LeBlond' Mill, Celina Stove & Tin Store, operated by G. E. Wilson, Abner Davis Grocery, and the Thompson & Morford Grocery. Mr. Jacob Broadwell and A. J. Lin zee established a Land Agency business in conjunc tion with their drug store. There was a Boot and Shoe Shop owned by William Roether & Jame Watson Riley, Jr., and the Michael Kuntz Barbe Shop. Two local nurseries were also established, on owned by J. Broadwell, Esq. and one by Danie Brookhart located five miles north of Celina. Resi dents also had several lawyers available to assis when needed.

The people of Celina could join various organiza tions at this time also. There was the Lyceum Soci ety, J. B. Werts, President; the Celina Literary Asso ciation, the Agricultural Society, and variou political clubs. (Mercer County was a Democratistronghold in Ohio during this period). There was a new Masonic Hall, located at the LeBlond House completed in 1858. The men could join the Celina Guards, an independent military company, organ ized in 1857, with H. L. Johnston, President and A. F. J. Snyder, Secretary. There were also religious affili ated organizations. One was called the Merce County Bible Society, William Hunter, President. A Bible in every home was one of their goals. A Teach ers' Association was organized in February, 1855 with Wm. L. Blocher as President.

On February 15, 1857, Celina's old school house fell down. Because it was Sunday, there were no in juries. Until the fall of 1859, school was taught it various buildings, chiefly, in the old Presbyteriar Church on E. Fayette St. The school employed two teachers during the winter season and one teacher it the spring. In 1859, a four room brick school was built on the west side of town. In order for the par ents to know what their children and teachers were doing, school exhibitions were held regularly.

Although things seemed to be prospering, there is a prediction made by Messrs. Abraham Flavell d J. Decker and printed in the newspaper on Febary 10, 1859, that the "END OF THE WORLD" ould come during Passover that year.

Celina had grown enough to be incorporated as a lage on June 2, 1860. Its population then was 307. . Joseph N. Hetzler was elected as the first mayor

During the 1860's the newspaper reported outeaks of measles, diphtheria, and small pox. It pubhed the supposed cures and preventions of the y for these diseases.

Correspondence from Celina's Civil War soldiers ere printed during the war years. Requests for irm scarves and gloves, woolen socks and letters om home were often included in these letters. Reirts on conditions and accounts of battles were ven. Mercer County sent enough men (about 450) form four companies to assist in the Northern 1867 was a year of growth. The town acquired out 30 new buildings and a Baseball Team — the elina Forrest Ball Club. The cornerstone for the w court house was laid in September, 1867. It was mpleted in April, 1869, at a cost of $43,773.51. It as a 2-story brick building with one main tower, 4ories high and a smaller tower, 3-stories high. The ilder was M. P. Guffey.

Celina extended its Corporation limits in early 70. Other improvements and growth during the 70's included: the first bank, the Citizens Bank of elina, established on May 1, 1873, the Commercial inking Co. (1874), an eight room addition to the wn's west school house made it a 3-story building, id a new jail and sheriff's residence was built in 75. Street lights were installed in 1879. They consted of 17 coal oil lamps.

The town council funded the grading of Celina's reets with gravel. During these early years, the wn was plagued with deep mud after the rains, ep ruts after a freeze (On Dec. 12, 1872, the tempature was -21) and poor sanitation during the hot immer months (On July 18, 1872, the temperature as 124.) Reminders were published in the newspaer to keep alley ways and streets free of garbage in der to help prevent the spread of disease.

Travel was quite difficult to say the least. It was ported that a trip made in December of 1875, from elina to St. Marys, via plankroad, took 4 hours. he coming of the railroads in the late 1870's langed this. Not only did it make travel more posble and pleasurable, it also opened up the comercial markets into and from Celina. The Miami ie Canal, the first important means of transportaon, now gave way to the railroads. The three railad companies that passed through Celina were the ike Erie & Western, the Cincinnati Northern, and e Cincinnati, Dayton & Hamilton railway.

Population was also influenced by the advent of ie railroads. The 1880 census for Celina gave its opulation as 1,346.

Oil and gas wells made their appearance in the te 1880's. The first gas wells in Celina were drilled 1888. The Celina Gas Co., formed by local citiens, installed a gas plant in town and furnished the cal homes with fuel and light for a number of ears. They offered cheap gas to homes and free gas to factories. An Ordinance was passed in July, 1888 to contract for the supply of natural gas to encourage manufacturers to locate in Celina. Franklin Township, southeast of Celina, was the chief source of this gas supply. Later a second plant was formed by local people. When the field was depleted, both plants were sold at a sacrifice.

The oil industry followed the finding of gas. By the turn of the century, 2,700 wells had been drilled in Mercer County. The field had reached its peak by 1900 and the production followed its course to the end of a prosperous era for the local residents.

In 1890, the Town Hall or City Building was constructed at a cost of approximately $20,000. A portion of this building was used as a City Opera House, seating 500 people. Traveling theatre groups as well as local talent provided entertainment for Celina and its surrounding areas.

A terrible disaster struck on July 26, 1894. The Great Fire destroyed the heart of Celina's business section. The exact cause unknown, it started during the night in a hay filled barn, located at the present site of McKirnan Bros. An entire block - the area bordered by Main, Fayette, Market and Walnut Streets — was destroyed. Most of the buildings were wood frame constructions with wooden shingled roofs. The Celina Fire Dept. consisted of Chief Leifeld, his volunteer crew, a hand pumper, hose cart and a bucket brigade. Van Wert and Lima Fire Departments, with their steam pumpers, arrived by railroad. When the fire cisterns were pumped dry (the fire was preceded by a drought period), hoses were stretched to the Reservoir and lake water was pumped to fight the flames. Some of the contents of the buildings were carried into the streets. There were reports of theft and looting. The only injury reported was when a man jumped from a 2nd story window and hurt his leg.

Although the fire was indeed a tragic event, Celina learned and grew from the experience. On August 29, 1894, the town council passed Ordinance # 131. This provided for the Issue and Sale of $50,-000 worth of Bonds of the Village. The money was used to purchase a Fire engine, hose and other fire fighting apparatus, and for the erecting and purchasing of a water works and water supplying system to the corporation and its inhabitants.

The ruins of the fire were replaced with more substantial, brick buildings; thus improving and aiding in the growth of the town. The water works building was erected in 1895 at the north end of Celina. Drilled wells were the source of the water supply. In 1900 an electric light plant was installed in the same building at a cost of $50,000.

The 1900 census shows Celina's population to be 2,815. Along with the population the industrial expansion began at this time. Some of the businesses established at about this time were: Mersman Bros.-Brandts Co., furniture factory, William Cron's carriage factory, Ames Bending Co., Crampton Canning (vegetables), A.B. Grothjan (Blacksmithing), John Leifeld's carriages and buggies. Other industries included Krenning Woolen Mills, Celina Mach. Works, A. Wykoff & Sons (carriage), W. B. Nimmons (barrel heads).

Other improvements made were brick paved streets; with W. Fayette St. being first in 1902, Livingston St. in 1903, and Main St. in 1905. Celina's home mail delivery began in 1908, and the Public Library formally opened on Jan. 1, 1907.

The Western Ohio Electric Railway extended its line to Celina, connecting it to Lima. Trolleys left town almost hourly for Lima. This business thrived for about 25 years. Then automobiles became numerous. Celina's first concrete highway was built in 1912 — State Road 566. It was what is now known as West Bank Road. It was two miles in length and 10 feet wide. Automobiles also brought new businesses to town. Garages (Lake View Garage), service stations and car dealerships (The Fuhren Bros. Co.) came into being.

In the summer of 1905, the Celina Chautauqua Assembly held its first session. It was held at the site of the old Fair Grounds, located on the north shore of the Reservoir. Due to the huge success of the first season, an auditorium was built to accommodate the large number of interested people. Some of the best talent in the land was scheduled for appearances. It was under the leadership of Milton I. Brown of Cincinnati, John E. Hamburger and Ira Crampton of Celina.

As the world became involved in World War I, did Celina, Ohio. It is thought that in excess of 9 men served from this County.

An airfield and flying school was located firmiles north of Celina on U.S. Route 127. Large nurbers of pilots trained there. The majority will trained there were Canadian and other foreign-box

This was a very difficult time for the people this area. Many of Mercer County's and Celina's cizens were from Germany. They still had parent brothers, sisters and friends living there. For th reason, people were suspicious of each other — n knowing where their neighbors' true loyalties lay. was during this period, in area schools and churche that the German language and German texts we replaced with English. Some of the German-bor citizens even went so far as to change the spelling their last name; to prove they were loyal Americans.

The young man with the snare drum was Urba Hinders, an Uncle of Atty. John Hinders. It is know that the Roesner and Zender brothers were all men bers of this Band. Jerome Roesner is the other drun mer, while his brother is the first one to the left i the second row. Jerome Roesner was the father of Richard Roesner, a Celina resident. Frank Zender thought to be the last one to the right in the top rov while his brother Andy is the second one to the le in the second row. Frank Zender was the father c Mrs. Francis Smith, and Thomas Zender, Asst. Pos master of Celina. Before construction of the ne County Jail and Courthouse, both the old red bric jail and court house faced on Main Street, while th rest of the square was made into a park with plent of shade trees and some benches here and there The band stand was in the middle of the shade park area, and drew large crowds on band conce: nights, however, it is not known if the persons mer tioned above were members of the Celina band ; this time.

CELINA 75 YEARS AGO DESCRIBED BY WASHINGTON MAN

POETICAL HISTORY WRITTEN BY WALTER McMURRAY

1r. McMurray Left Here As A Boy Three-Quarters Of A Century Ago — Is Now Blind, But Able To Write

Walter McMurray, as a boy of 10, left Celina 75 ars ago. He now lives in Zillah, Washington. He has written his memories of the town three-tarters of a century ago in poetry.

Mr. McMurray was the son of William McMurray id Amelia Riley McMurray.

William McMurray was a captain in the Union valry during the Civil War. In 1863 he was capred by Confederates.

He was last heard of in Libby Prison, deep in the onfederacy. Probably his body lies in some unarked grave near the old prison.

A monument to his memory now stands in North rove cemetery, at the grave of his wife.

His son Walter, the author of the poem printed slow, is now blind. He writes by means of a menanical device which spaces his lines.

"MEMORIES OF CELINA" By W. R. McMurray

am thinking of my boyhood days nd of the place where I was found, 'was a little country village Vith dense forests all around. he people there were humble folks lad not much of this world's goods, Volves, deer, black bear and turkeys ambled freely through the woods.

Ve ate lots of fish and water fowls and lye hominy made of corn and buckwheat cakes and honey this land where I was born. Those pioneers were honest folks ach as good as virgin gold, When I was born in Celina The town was but eighteen years old.

There were no brick, concrete or gravel Then upon that village street, leither was there on the sidewalks We thought plank walks were hard to beat. Jo railroads or interurban to add to our lives a joy Occasionally a canal boat Came across the reservoir.

remember the first canal boat hat ever came across by steam. When the people heard the whistle heir excitement was extreme. They rushed down to the landing Wonder written on each face to see just what had happened and learn what was taking place.

kating, hunting, fishing, swimming n that grand old reservoir Vas a real inspiration To most any normal boy.
Oh, that sandy bottom swimming hole
With both men and boys alive
And the dandy great big spring board
Off of which we used to dive.

I remember the big frame courthouse Such today would be a joke. The county jail across the street Went up in a cloud of smoke. I do not think we had a bank We had no need for banker's docket Every man was his own banker And his bank was in his pocket.

I saw them build two churches there In which the people worshipped God And thanked Him for food and raiment And that He smoothed the path they trod. Thanked Him for hope and courage To sustain them on their way And for loved ones, friends and neighbors And grace sufficient for their day.

Uncles Calvin and James Riley
Then the millers of the town,
Of good grain made meal and flour
On mill stones that spun round and round.
They sawed lumber for the builders
In the village and country round,
'Twas before the days of buzz saws —
Their saw ran only up and down.

Dave Overley, the village smith
How he made his anvil ring,
And Mr. Charles Gillispie
Drew horse hair on his fiddle string.
Mr. Wyckoff made our wagons
In that good old wagon style,
And John Hole through his big whiskers
Would greet me with kind word and smile.

There was Uncle Oliver Ellis Landlord of our town hotel, Congenial and generous And he served his patrons well. Celina had her own Dutch Henry A fixture we could not do without, He sold both fruit and vegetables, Ginger cakes and sauerkraut.

I think one doctor's name was Finley, When he was sober, he was sane, To take his nasty bitter powders Would make most any man profane. And we had a Dr. Hetsler Who dealt in bitter powders too, We had our choice to die or take them For there was nothing else to do.

There was Judge Broadwell and Judge Bleucher
Both men of sterling worth,
Dr. Davidson, the merchant
Sold nigh everything on earth,
When his store was overflowing
And would not hold anymore,
He stood the bamboo fishing poles
On the sidewalk near the door.

My father and my Uncle James Both went away to war, Which is a thing I do detest, The very name I do abhor.
Uncle James came home a cripple
My father came home no more.
He sleeps now in the sunny South
A land once drenched with human gore.

The Brandon's too were merchants, They sold drygoods, boots and shoes. Park Snyder and his brother Seth Printed all our weekly news, In the Mercer County Standard, I think that was the name It served the people many years, Then the Daily Standard came.

Uncle Alfred Hodder built a mansion And he beautified the ground, It astonished all the natives Of the village and miles around. It joined an humble neighbor, Though a man of much renown, 'Twas my grandfather, James Watson Riley Who was the founder of the town.

Mr. Gable was our tailor I did not know him very well, But I knew his little daughter, Among small girls, she was a belle. Long hair was every woman's pride And our fathers long whiskers grew, That was the good old days of old — But now, everything is new.

There was Uncle Dave McMurray Lafe LeBlond and his brother too, There was a Mr. Winters And Ben Lindsey, good and true, There are some I have forgotten, Their names I cannot now recall And there were some I never knew Because I could not know them all.

Captain Legg and Thomas Godfrey Came much later to our town, A tinner and a banker. Both fine fellows all around. Could I name all those pioneers, It would multiply my joys, But I cannot name the women Nor the little girls and boys.

To the women of that early day
There is so much honor due,
For those men without the women
Could have hardly brought us through.
They were homemakers, wives and mothers
And the spirit of every good
The success of any people,
Is its noble womanhood.

Those pioneers have gone their way, But they surely left behind A younger generation Who were congenial and kind. They made of that country village That was born out in the woods A pretty growing city, They delivered well the goods.

Celina still young and growing. But I know I'm growing old, The story of Celina Has not nearly half been told, And the time is fast approaching When I must say to earth, goodbye and join Celina's pioneers In that city beyond the skies.

Now I feel my way in darkness With my good trustworthy cane, Or led by kind and loving hands But have no reason to complain. Eighty-five years filled with blessings Leaves me nothing more to crave, But to be at home with Jesus In that land beyond the grave.

The new year, 1920, was heralded in Celina along the the "harvest of the best ice that has ever been to from the Grand," according to the Mercer punty Standard. M. J. Hemmert reported the big house at the foot of South Main filled with ice of yetal clearness and the desired eight inches and ore in thickness. A "good" harvest was 5,000 tons cked in straw and sawdust to be delivered to the elina homes the following summer.

Some winters, however, were so open that there is no ice to harvest, and it had to be purchased sewhere. And sometimes by the middle of a very it summer there was none to be had at all.

There were frequent news items that winter of tople ill with the grip; entire families were shut in. en were advised in a news headline, "Retain Your ead Covering...flu is spread by the practice of offing the hat in salutation... such a large number males attacked because of the constant drain on eir vitality by the nature of their daily occupation."

Many deaths from pneumonia were listed, includg two or three small children each week. Appenditis was also a frequent cause of death. In funeral ptices the offer of cars was always gratefully ac-nowledged.

A 20-year Celina business, Crampton and Son anning Factory, passed into the hands of A. L. narp, Herbert Kriemendahl and H. C. Bowman this ar and would can peas and tomatoes. Fred Diener Irchased the Elmer Gagle Restaurant and Cafe, and Dr. R. M. Pierson was associated with Dr. D. H. liller in the practice of medicine.

Alice M. Flanders, Beauty Doctor, advertised fair dryer has arrived and can do your work on tort notice." The Rudolph Wurlitzer Company at 22 Fayette, "next to the Picture House," was having a introductory exhibition and sample sale of the furlitzer Piano Fortes. "Open evenings till 10 o'-

ock. Pay after the crops are in."

The summer of 1922 there was excitement in the ty when an airplane dropped into the Reservoir at ighland Park; three young men were injured. The ane was carrying passengers from other parks on ght-seeing tours over the Grand.

Also, in 1922, John W. Karch purchased the Huey lant in Indiana for $22,000. "With this acquisition Ir. Karch owns two of the best stone crusher plants this section of the country... to help carry out te new roads program."

As for crime, there were frequent arrests for bootgging and hundreds of quarts of "booze" were said be sold in Celina each week. Chicken stealing was revalent and victims and witnesses were reluctant give information for fear of reprisals. A frontage editorial decried the operation of a skating rink Mercelina Park on Sunday "when the lid is amped on Sunday operation of picture shows of a eligious nature." The rink was a portable one rought to Celina by an out-of-town man and the imbling noise of it was said to be heard to the orthern limits of the city.

Probably the outstanding event in Celina in 1923 as the completion of the new County Courthouse.

City streets, previously "almost impassable because they were so rough and rutty," were graveled in anticipation of the crowds who would travel to the dedication on September 3. It was the first day of school and they were opened long enough for roll to be taken and then all were urged to attend the festivities.

Attorney C. A. Stubbs gave the opening remarks and a bronze tablet was dedicated to 58 Mercer County veterans whose names had been previously displayed on the Memorial Arch on Main Street. "People gathered and greeted one another in the huge rotunda like it was homecoming." Fireworks followed in the evening.

The courthouse was started in 1921 and financed by a $500,000 bond issue that required at least three election campaigns to pass. The old brick courthouse was torn down by Gus Jackson, and the old jail moved as it was felt the imposing new building should command the entire square.

The busiest place in Celina the last day of 1923 was the office of the County Automobile Association. As people lined up to buy their auto tags, Secretary Herb Schindler "was several times compelled to lock the door so those within could be waited upon . . ." There were problems as the gasoline buggy competed in popularity with the horse and buggy: noise, speed, passing. A typical accident report:

"A buggy was overturned on Frahm Pike about dark when a man in his car went to pass... in trying to get out of a rut his car hit the buggy, overturned it in the ditch, broke the shafts and the horse ran away." He had sounded his horn, it was reported, but "...she did not hear it, being in a closed buggy." No one was seriously injured.

A spectacular storm hit the Grand in May, 1927. A funnel-shaped cloud dipped down in the center of the Reservoir, "throwing water and waves upon the north shore to a great height... water literally lifted up in the air... dashed over the shore more than the distance of three city squares, sweeping loose planks and board walks away." One boat was carried 30 feet back of a retaining wall.

The sixth annual Mersman Bros,-Brandts Furniture Company picnic was at Edgewater Park in June 1927. A mile-long parade of 500 people marched from the factory through town and out to the park. Fifty automobiles were on hand to transport the older employees. The day ended in near tragedy when a section of platform over the water on the south side of the dance pavillion gave way and 100 people fell into the mud and water. There were no serious injuries.

Celina Manufacturing Company on the east side was gearing to meet the demand for new laundry tubs and collapsible benches. Orders were coming from every state in the Union. Local people were impressed to see their product advertised in the October 1927 Ladies Home Journal, and with a local girl, Anne Hemmert, pictured in the ad to show with what ease the tubs could be handled. The company organized in 1909 as a windmill factory and reorganized in 1919. They also made galvanized steel tanks, stock fountains, tank heaters and septic tanks.

In the summer of 1928 a caravan of Boosters ventured to Wapak, Greenville and Dayton to advertise

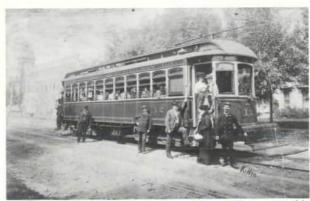

June 26, 1928 — Celina Boosters, Troy, Ohio (Boosters for Grand Reservoir) — Kneeling:

Celina and the Reservoir as a playground area. Expenses for the trip to Dayton were $615.35, one of the items being "bathing suits for the girls, $27." Results of the Booster activities were surging crowds along the lake. On Labor Day tourists had to be turned away; uptown hotels and private rooms were filled, and even tents were pitched to accommodate visitors from almost every state.

Skating on the Grand was reported good in January 1929, also ice boating. One of the outstanding feats that winter was said to be that of Dow Roettger and Paul Krause, who skated to St. Marys and back, "jumping the three-mile crack." Celinans were boosting the Reservoir now as a winter playground

During this decade the community was privileged to hear many fine speakers in their "Chautauqua" auditorium at Mercelina Park, the old Fairgrounds. Two such visitors were Revivalist Billy Sunday and three-time presidential candidate, William Jennings Bryan.

Celina had access to public transportation from the 1900's on, being served from the east (St. Marys and Lima) by an electric trolley. During the 20's it made almost hourly stops at Main and Market Streets. Later, there was a daily train on the Nickel Plate Railroad between St. Louis and Buffalo, making regular stops in Celina and Lima. by M. Fuhrwerk

CELINA HISTORY 1930-1939

The research for the thirties comes from the lonewspapers. At that time Celina was described being located at the intersection of U.S. 127 a state route 32. The unofficial census for 1930 was 658 living in Celina with 25,091 living in Merc County.

The researcher will briefly cover this period time in the following areas: world affairs that affa Celina, a partial list of the businesses, the weathe influence on Celina's history, the crime, price sports we don't hear too much about today, chur and school affairs, a few Grand Lake accounts, as just some interesting facts, plus some good old Celina humor stories.

The world events that had impact on those living in Celina were the depression, the beginning of the German invasions, Herbert Hoover's term of officending and Franklin D. Roosevelt's long term begins. Roosevelt's terms in office brought about man programs that changed the way of living both locand national.

A partial list of the many businesses were as follows: Celina had a bus line, an interurban line, three jewelry stores, twenty groceries, eleven meat makets, one health doctor, six medical doctors, two veerinarians, six dentists, two laundries, seven shoustores, six department stores, eight barber shout three taxi companies, three grade schools, two his schools, four hotels, ten insurance offices, three formeral directors, six restaurants, fourteen attorney one bottling plant, five real estate agents, three se ond hand stores, two lumber yards, ten factoric one catholic church and seven protestant churches.

The weather always played a part in the history the community. In January of 1930 flood wate were said to have been higher than in 1913. The local reservoir was over its banks. The farmers alor Beaver Creek suffered livestock loss. Almost a doze farmers living along the turbulent flood stream water were forced to put their household on secor stories of their homes and move with neighbors relatives.

Mercelina Park in Celina was literally a sea water. The waste weier resembled Niagara Falls wil a furious cataract of white water pouring over the twin spillway.

November 1932 brought the heaviest snowfall in decade that blanketed Celina. The schools were di missed, all trains off schedule. The rural deliveric were curtailed. It was claimed to be the deepe snow since January 12, 1918. The rain and sleet the preceded the two feet of drifting snow made a roads impassable.

May 10, 1934 it was reported that the crops were withering. The most disastrous drought in a half century was taking place. The fourteenth day of extreme heat as the temperature soared into the 10 degrees again and again.

In January 1937 twenty-five refugees were sent t

Celina from the Cincinnati flood area.

Heavy ice downs many power and telephone line on April 7, 1938.

The newspapers were filled with crime stories i this decade. The housewives of Celina were com ining that thieves were stealing the glass milk ttles with the money in them. This brings to mind horse drawn milk wagons delivering milk door-door early each morning.

A raid at Edgewater Park resulted in a man being ested for the possession of approximately two lons of liquor. The fine was $516.84. An underbund still was found by sheriff Russell. He noticed ground near the garage had been disturbed. Bout fifteen pints were drawn from a barrel for evence. Yes, this was the period of history that you ght read about, three million American women edge their support to prohibition, or April 3, 1930 Congress is expected to give more funds to rid country of dope smugglers for narcotic enforcement.

January 21, 1932 arrests and raids were made on a ty gallon still and a large amount of alleged whis-y was seized.

John Dillinger lodged in an Indiana jail made any law officers take elaborate precautions. After s capture many Celina residents were relieved. any Celina people were reading about kidnapngs in almost every edition of the newspaper. The ndbergh baby kidnapping was followed very carelly in the local news. April 1930 many slot maines were removed from the Celina area. 1937 ought an interesting and daring robbery. A thound dollar brooch was stolen while the owner was ending an evening on her own front porch. The elina mail pouch robbers stole from a small truck st after the 4:11 a.m. drop. The Nickel Plate Railad flier had just gone by. Many shoplifting arrests ere made in those days. This was the period of ne during the depression. In 1930 prices for food id clothing were: butter 35¢, eggs 20¢, heavy hens ¢, old roosters 10¢, lettuce two heads for 15¢, ceal 15¢, oranges 13¢-18¢, bananas five pounds for i¢, A&P coffee three pounds for 49¢, celery two rge stalks for 15¢, boneless T-bones 25¢ per bund, roasts 131/2¢ sausage 18¢, ground beef 19¢, ologna 12¢. Prices at the clothing stores: men socks : a pair, shoes $1.99 to $3.99, girls anklets 10¢ a iir, house slippers 49¢. The car market: a standard ord V-8 in 1938 started at $599.00 for a tudor sein. The car got 22-27 miles per gallon of gasoline.

The sports and sportsmen of Celina also plays an aportant part in the lives of many local people. runo Betzel joins his ball club at Topeka, Kansas in 130. He was the manager of the Topeka ball club. ater in 1935 he was manager of the Ft. Wayne

In the year of 1935 night baseball was inaugurated the playground at the Mercelina Park in Celina.

Corn husking contests were held, ox roasts sponored by the Sportsmen Association. In 1936 the ow shooters ended the season with the high man agging 145 birds.

March 1938 the third annual homemade kite const was held at the Mercelina playgrounds.

Back in the 1930's the Celina checker players traved to Lima to play the Lima players who were assed among the best in Ohio. They used restricve move openings with referees as required by the merican Checker Association. Don VanTilburg resived the Golden Glove crown in 1938. Another outh won the lightweight champion title at Annarbor, Michigan. He was the son of Mayor Rice.

The church and school affairs were an extensive part of the social gatherings. The entire Sunday School lessons were printed in the newspaper. The combined Sunday School celebration Picnics with the CHS band leading the Sunday Schools of the town to the fairgrounds. There was lots of good food, contests, singing, and prizes for the best program presentation and the best banners displayed.

An annual school exhibit composed of all work done by all grade levels were popular in the thirties. The weekly summer band concerts with the entire program printed took place in front of the courthouse or at the North Shore Park. The bands took part in many district band festivals. On April 23, 1931 the Sunday afternoon and evening movie showing was legalized. In 1934 as part of President Roosevelt's proclamation to establish the Warm Springs Foundation for the fight against infantile paralysis, the Celina mayor, A.B. Grothjan, made proclaims support for the relief of those afflicted with the disease.

Another social affair was the May Day celebration in 1935. It was held at the Mercelina Hotel. The May Pole contest was open to any school.

Many new building and improvement programs appeared in Celina. Many of them were supported by the New Deal. In February of 1930 a Parochial High School was planned. The new building was to be erected on lots bought from J.E. Hamburger. These lots were located across the street from the Catholic church and grade school.

In 1930 the Celina Manufacturing Co. prepared to build near railroad facilities. March 8, 1934 the post office site was selected at the North Main Street lo-

The drinking fountains in front of the courthouse and in front of Rentzches were installed in July of 1936.

In 1939 the TWA leases one hundred acres for the purpose of building a landing field for private planes just northwest of Coldwater.

The J.C. Penney Co. moves into the former Remaklaus & Beckman Co. location in 1939.

A new Barr Store was completed in 1938.

The Kroger Grocery opens a new self-serve market.

Lots for a new jail are bought. A grant of $18,000 from the PWA office helps build the jail. This was part of the New Deal programs that gave jobs to many during the depression revival. The old jail was sold for $51.00. A sizeable addition to the Celina High School, including the new gymnasium seating 2500 to 3000 was part of the history made in the thirties. The North Grove Cemetery added to the mausoleum. Many ditches and bridges were projects of the WPA. A new disposal plant was erected, and the Stearic Acid built a new office on South Ash Street.

By the year 1938 one family out of every twelve was on WPA payroll. Also the CWA, Civil Workers, projects give Celina curbing, gutter improvements, repainting the courthouse, work on the Tama Road, side ditches worked on, the South Bank Road improved.

The CCC, the Civilian Conservation Corps sent many Celina boys to different parts of the U.S. for the reforestation work.

Other interesting events to the researcher are: in 1932 the school revenues were cut. Celina had nine months of school with the teachers volunteering to teach for half pay.

1932 the Bi-centennial year, Mersmans contribute a dining room suite which was a reproduction of the ones used by George and Martha Washington at Mt.

Vernon.

May 31, 1934 the famous quintuplets were born. The Crampton Canneries have their own fleet of freight cars for their large output all over the U.S.

In 1935 during fire prevention week the Brandts

Furniture Co. had a big fire.

In 1930 a $50,000 blaze of undertermined origin threatened the Brandts Chair Co. as it was called then.

The Garden Club of Celina was organized on March 19, 1936.

Dr. D.H. Richardson dies at his residence in 1936. He at that time was the oldest practicing physician in Celina.

Governor Martin Davy visited Celina. He crowned the Lake Festival Queen. The Queens contest was viewed by 10,000 people in 1937.

1937 era.

In 1938 the last child of the founder of Celina expired at the age of 94. She was the daughter of James W. Riley.

The Fanger store in 1938 displayed the skills of a blind man's whittling. Betty Pulskamp senior at IC High School broke the worlds recorded typing speed record.

Appearing in the newspaper was a list of sixtyone mother's names on the pension list from the probate judges office.

1938 the Celina High Tatler appears in the newspapers, also a section called Jr. High Affairs. The Sidelights also made its appearance about the same time.

ans to read the daily news.

In 1939 a community movie was produced in Celina. It was called "Life in Celina." It was shown in technicolor at the Lake Theater.

A war correspondent for the Standard was killed in England as he leaped from a train during a London blast. Webb Miller was his name.

Celina enjoyed the writings of many local persons. A Celina girl received a check from a publishing company for her poem entitled, "Snow."

Many interesting articles appeared that were written by J.E. Hamburger, called "Survey of Mercer County's Early Settlers." The Rev. U.F. Mueller CPPS wrote of the county and the local history. Numerous local citizens were reading the history of Ohio as written by Albert Volz of Coldwater, Ohio.

In 1932 the comics first appear in the newspaper. The series was called "Reg'lar Fellers and Cuddles."

Speaking of the comics, the researcher had many smiles as the pages of the newspapers were read. The researcher will try to share a few of those humorous moments as Celina history was being made.

Believe it or not, a well known Celina man of the early thirties who was very fond of bologna said he could eat three feet of bologna at one meal and wish for more. The one who listened to this collected

$5.00 for the bet. He proceeded to find the bigg bologna he could find. The bologna vanished to tamazement of his companion. Needless to say was declared the bologna champion eater in the part of the state. After pocketing the money the winner stepped into a restaurant, he came out with sandwich to show the loser he wasn't exactly fill with the bologna.

In 1932 a large safe was dynamited at the Dar-N Milk office on West Warren Street. The yeş showed how unusually bright they were. They c namited a safe which had not been locked for year

An island disappears. In 1938 the island in Gra Lake that the state had started in the fall was c clared as lost in the depths of Grand Lake. It counts found after a diligent search not be found after a diligent search.

Another deep tale. A sea monster is captured by local woman at the North wall. It was believed to a lamprey. Could the monster have swallowed t island?

Remember the man from India? The hypnot would hypnotize a young lady. The young lawould rest on a Perfect Sleeper Mattress at the Cina Furniture store. During the twenty-four hour priod many spectators would pass by the furnitus tore window to see if the young lady was still sleeing. After twenty-four hours she was transported the Lake Theater and the hypnotic spell was brokely, Kirma, the man from India?

The Mercer County Fair has made history f many years. In the late thirties a mystery pair was be married at the Mercer Co. Fair. The names we not revealed until after the "Hats Off" show w over. Sure enough the couple appeared on stage at the Rev. Tennyson Guyer officiated. by Mrs. Euge

Shortages, substitutions and rationing affected to daily lives of the citizens of Celina during the fatef and fabulous forties. Wars and rumors of wars we rampant in the village and throughout the world the onset of World War II rapidly neared. It was endent that the United States was becoming involving the world holocaust as the Selective Service System, commonly known as the Draft Board, was established in October, 1940.

During the war years, practically everything r motely connected with war activities was ratione Sugar, meat, flour and gasoline could be obtaine only with coupons or tokens that were skimpily i sued to everyone. The normal allotment of sug, was twelve ounces per person per week. No new at tomobiles were available from 1941 to 1946. Tim were more valuable than gold and strictly ratione. The allotment to the Mercer County Ration Boar for one specific month was one and one-fourth tire. It is not known to whom the one-fourth tire was it sued. Metals were in such short supply that or could purchase a tube of tooth paste only by turnin in a used tube.

Celina was a typical rural village in the decade of the forties. This was clearly illustrated when a delegation of farm folks appeared before the village Council to protest the adoption of 'War Time' (the equivalent of Daylight Savings Time). They re inded Council that this was a rural community id depended, to a large extent, on the rural people r its existence. The 1940 census showed a total of 65 residents, an increase of only 161 over that of

One would drool today over the average prices loted in the newspapers of that period. The ercelina Hotel featured a complete Sunday dinner, ith drink and dessert, for fifty cents. Bananas were ioted at five pounds for 25¢, butter 25¢ per pound, icon three pounds 25¢, and sugar (when available) 10 pounds for 49¢. Even the Daily Standard was ailable by carrier at $4.00 per year. The tax rate in elina for all purposes — county, township, schools id municipality - varied from 13.8 mills in 1940 to .8 mills in 1949.

As a village, Celina was governed by a Mayor and six-member Council. During this decade, C. D. ce, Tennyson Guyer, Henry Herman and Ralph lurlin held the office of mayor. All utility services water, sewers and electrical — were supervised id controlled by a Board of Public Affairs. Freient, and often heated, were the disagreements beveen the Council and the Board of Public Affairs as how the utilities should be operated. In the sumer of 1948 the controversy became so bad that the hamber of Commerce asked that the entire Board sign 'due to a lack of future planning'.

Despite all of the criticism, the utilities of Celina ere not neglected. The first and only sewage treatent plant was put in operation in 1940. A new ectrical generating plant, capable of producing 500KW, at a cost of $340,000, was constructed in 242. The old plant on Touvelle street was retained a stand-by basis.

Recreational activities in Celina received quite a post in 1946 when a group of public spirited citiens purchased eight acres of land on the west side Mercelina Park and donated it to the village for ayground purposes.

During the v r years two industries of relatively ort life were established here. One of these was e Scientific Specialty Company to make lenses for ar-related optical instruments. The Winner Co. of erne, Ind. set up a branch operation to produce the mous "Safety Legion Togs" for boys.

After the war, several acres of land in the southest part of town were purchased by several busiess men of Celina and given to the Reynolds and eynolds Company for a branch facility. Open ouse in their new building was held in the fall of 248. This plant has since developed into one of the rgest manufacturers of business forms and similar ems.

The outbreak of a serious epidemic of polio in 349 brought everything to a virtual standstill. chools were closed and church services cancelled as strict curfew was enforced by the village officials. here were over 800 cases reported in Ohio and 36 Mercer County. Several deaths in the County reilted from this epidemic.

By a 3 to 1 majority the voters of the Celina chool District approved, in November 1949, a 975,000 bond issue for a new elementary school. his school, to be constructed on East Wayne St. ould replace the old East and West elementary aildings. The bonds were to run for a period of 24 ears at an average of 3.80 mills. by D. B. Spangler

The Lake Festival was even more successful the the one the preceding year. An estimated 30,000 a tended with Carolyn Zumberge named queen.

Celina purchased the D. R. Smalley and Sor property on West Market St. to be used for city of fices.

On the dark side, Stokely Van Camp closed i Celina tomato plant. Little work was done in remo ing stumps from Grand Lake St. Marys in spite much publicity. The year 1963 also was disappoin ing as far as state help with lake improvements w concerned — the state allocated only $338,000 f improvements.

The Western Ohio College was off to a good stawith an enrollment of 320. Malcolm Wallace welected judge of the Municipal Court and Bob Hecwas elected mayor. The East Jefferson Sewer ar Water District became a reality. Mersman Brothe Corporation was sold to Congoleum-Nairn of Keney, N.J. for $4,597,040.

An explosion and fire destroyed the Bruce Gree Ford sales on West Fayette St., but Green rebu in east of Celina.

Another drive for Celina's college, now the West-Ohio Educational Foundation, dominated the ws in 1964. Vicki Otis and Leah Boise were voted ce Festival Queen and princess. Harold Wagner laced Rudy Barkley as safety-service director.

n 1965, "A Go Go," a short-lived teen center was anced by many Celina organizations. A "biggest er" Lake Festival saw Mary Jane Anderson of St. ırys elected queen. John Porch replaced veteran ic leader A. C. Lachstadter as manager of Huffin's. Bob Hecht was re-elected mayor.

in 1966, Reynolds and Reynolds announced plans a $300,000 expansion at the Celina plant. The amber of Commerce named a new Community provement Committee aimed at attracting new lustry to Celina. Shelley Stachler was elected Lake stival Queen. Center Township joined the Celina nool system.

The Celina city council and the Mercer County mmissioners jointly appointed a planning comssion which in turn okayed a contract for hiring ofessional services in drawing up a master plan for e city's growth.

By 1967, the need for a new hospital in Celina was parent, but all attempts to pass levies to finance ch an endeavor failed, as did attempts to secure nds to erect a vocational school in Mercer County.

allace McDougall was elected mayor.

St. Marys and Celina Chambers of Commerce ben to meet with one another to work together for ce improvement. The Celina Civic Theatre was ace in 1967 and the historic Matthias Smith Tavern is moved to the South Main St. Park. Valerie erce was Lake Festival Queen.

In 1968, hopes were high for the ill-fated new $5 illion municipal power plant. Radio station MER was started by Celinans Elmer Schweizer d Phil Moore. The Huffy Co. purchased 77 acres st of the plant. JC Penney announced plans to illd a new store on the north edge of Celina. izanne Murlin was Lake Festival Queen. In June, e local college severed ties with Ohio Northern id became a part of Wright State University. On ly 30, ground was broken for a new Presbyterian nurch on North Main. On August 24, plans for a w public library were announced, and these plans ere approved on November 13 by the Ohio State brary Board. Plans for a new Kroger Store in the orthern part of Celina were announced in 1969, hich was the year Celinans voted to switch from a atutory form of government to a charter form. aroughout the year, civic-minded Celinans worked 1 framing the municipal charter. The Celina Jamesay store was built on a 10-acre tract on Ohio 197. overnor James Rhodes announced he would ask e Ohio General Assembly for $2 million for the instruction of a new branch campus of Wright ate. The planning commission was active in inveszating and making recommendations for school eds, roads, fire protection and recreation.

The year of 1969, however, saw a "tax rebellion" Mercer County, with six money issues failing to ass at election time, including those for a new hosital and new building for the retarded. Production iutdowns at Avco New Idea and layoffs at Huffy's

On January 1, 1970, Safety-Service Director Frank E. Sullivan praised Street Department personnel and their boss, Tom Anderson, for doing a really fine job of opening and keeping open the City's streets after the 8.5 inch snowfall which closed out 1969. The City's four snowplows, plus three rentals, were put into action at midnight, and by 9:30 a.m. the next morning the slightly more than 40 miles of City streets were sufficiently open to permit traffic flow.

Mayor Wallace McDougall, delivering his second annual "State of the City" message at the regular City Council Meeting of January 12, 1970, disclosed that plans have been dropped for construction of a reservoir within Grand Lake, aimed at clearing up longstanding taste and odor problems in Celina's drinking water. McDougall said it now appears that an in-lake reservoir would not solve the problem. Mayor McDougall unveiled the following five-point program for 1970:

Creation of a Department of Recreation within the Department of Service to manage and increase the various recreational pro-

A program to expand present business and (2)industry and encourage new industry to keep pace with the growing community.

A program to encourage the annexation of (3) areas at the City's perimeter for future orderly growth.

Providing of a cable television system by the (4) end of the year.

Implementation of a plan for modernizing and improving the street lighting and traffic control system equipment.

Celina City Council met in special session February 2, 1970, and passed emergency ordinances establishing a Department of Industrial Development and amending the City's salary schedule to include the position of Director of Industrial Development. George W. Gaw, who moved to Celina in 1967 and held various management positions with Avco New Idea in Coldwater, was appointed to fill the position of Director of Industrial Development. McDougall said that Gaw will organize, develop, and establish the requirements related to the activity of the recently established Department of Industrial Development. He (Gaw) was also to review CATV (Community Antenna Television) alternatives and help develop a plan for presentation to City Council that would make the service available.

The annual appropriation ordinance of $3,050,-211.73 for 1970 was passed March 30, 1970. $1,617,-515.00 was appropriated from the Electric Light Fund, $241,871.00 from the Water Works Fund, $346,280.00 from the Sewage Works Fund, and $844,545.73 from the City's General and Special Funds. Finance Committee Chairman Don Grimes explained that the increase of $675,191.23 over 1969 expenditures was due largely to sewer line expansion and costs incurred in the municipal power plant expansion.

Carl Campbell, Celina Fire Chief since mid-1966 and a veteran of 35 years with the local Fire Department, resigned effective at midnight May 6, 1970. Chief Campbell had suffered a heart attack the previous May and felt a younger, more active person was needed to do the job justice.

On May 27, 1970, Celina City Council authorized the expenditure of $22,514.56 for the purchase of 11.9 acres of land to serve as the site of new sludge disposal lagoons for the municipal water treatment plant. The acreage, located on the east side of U.S. 127 south of the generating plants, was purchased from Mrs. Charles Gorsuch. The City had been under mandate from the State Department of Health to install new sludge disposal facilities for some time.

Mayor Wallace McDougall announced the appointment of Junior L. Robbins as Celina's new Fire Chief effective May 8, 1970. With the exception of a two-year period of military service, Robbins had been with the Celina Fire Department since July 1,

Frank E. Sullivan, who served as Celina's Director of Public Service and Safety since January 4, 1969, announced his resignation from that post effective October 2, 1970, due to family health reasons. Celina had, in Frank Sullivan, an extremely dedicated and capable public servant with managerial skills that would be very difficult to replace. Mr. Sullivan stood on principle when he felt it necessary and he refused to knuckle under to either executive or legislative pressures when he felt they were misplaced.

Celina's new J.C. Penney Company shopping complex officially opened for business October 1, 1970, with Celina Mayor Wallace McDougall on hand for grand opening ceremonies. The Penney complex included a supermarket, an auto center,

Lowell Dock was appointed to the position of Director of Public Service and Safety effective October 3, 1970. Dock, Superintendent of Celina's Water and Sewage Treatment Plants, filled the position of Safety-Service Director until a replacement for this position was chosen.

Problems had cropped up in Celina's power generating plants over the past few months, including power outages, equipment malfunctions and labor unrest. Hans Comprix, Power Plant Superintendent, resigned October 23, 1970, complaining that Mayor McDougall was trying to oversee the entire operation of the power plant as well as other City Departments, and causing problems in the process. Plant personnel organized a local chapter of the International Union of Operating Engineers and sent a letter to Mayor McDougall which threatened the taking of drastic action if the City did not rescind the recent order laying off six plant employees. James P. Johnson was appointed Superintendent of Electric Generation effective November 9, 1970, and talks continued between Union Representatives and Director Dock to resolve the labor problems.

Power Plant Superintendent Johnson announced that Celina's new $5.1 million generating plant was placed fully on the line around 10:50 A.M., February 24, 1971.

The City of Celina showed a population increase of only 1.6% for the 10-year 1960-1970 period according to official U.S. census figures published in early March. The City's population showed an increase of 120 residents from 7,659 to 7,779.

Municipal Power Plant employees notified City officials that they had voted 100% to launc strike unless the City approved a labor agreem with their union by 12:01 A.M. Tuesday, March 1971. The employees were sent a letter signed McDougall and Council President D.B. Spans which stated that "all (City) employees are part our common destiny and all must be considered a whole. We cannot consider fragmented bargain units with special interests and concerns." McD gall said a second letter would be sent to all empl ees proposing creation of a City-wide employ committee consisting of one member from each partment selected by their fellow employees. T group would meet monthly with management o cials to communicate general employee problems management and seek a solution. He (McDoug also warned Power Plant employees that a strike illegal and all municipal employees who walk their jobs will be fired. At their regular meeting March 22, 1971, City Council again refused to reco nize Local 20 as bargaining agent for Power Pla workers. Since the new plant was closed for mir adjustments, picket lines were set up at the old pla and the strike was on. However, the plant remain in operation with some regular employees and ! pervisory personnel in charge. Striking employe (20 of the 23 workers) received letters signed Mayor McDougall informing them they would fired if they did not report for work on their regu shifts. The City also obtained a temporary restraing order against striking workers, restricting the c fendants from interfering with, hindering, threate ing or intimidating plaintiff's officers, agen employees, representatives or anyone else havi business with the City; from interfering with anyo entering or leaving the Power Plant or parking are. from blocking drives and gates at the plant a parking areas: from engaging in action or conduct interfere with or hinder by destruction or damage property or threats thereof the free use of the plan Labor Unions in the area were unanimous in the support of the strikers offering facilities for mee ings and threatening to boycott Celina businesses the Mayor and City Council continued to refuse re ognition of Local 20. The strike ended April 6, 197 with City officials agreeing to a negotiating comm tee made up of one employee from each departme and a union official to represent Power Plant er ployees. Strikers who had been fired were reinstate with no loss of benefits.

Council met in special session March 31, 197 and passed the annual appropriation ordinance. $2, 818,342.00 was appropriated from the Electric Lig. Fund, $241,417.00 from the Water Works Fund, 148,281.00 from the Sewage Works Fund, ar $764,300.50 from the General and Special Funds for a total of $4,972,340.50. The budget eliminated the City's Industrial Development Department effectively April 16, 1971. According to Finance Committee Chairman Don Grimes, this was necessary to meinflationary costs in other departments and to retain funds needed for a City-wide pay increase in the near future.

Larry Haas, who had served as Financial Assistanto the City for approximately one year, was elevate to the post of acting Director of Service and Safe

May 1, 1971. Lowell Dock had expressed a desire return to his former position of Superintendent of iter and Sewage Treatment as large capital imvements were planned in this area and he felt his ticipation in these projects was important.

Ed Londt, who completed work in March for a chelor of Science Degree in mechanical engineerat Tri-State College, Angola, Indiana, was named gineering Administrator for the City effective

ower Plant personnel problems rose again when Mayor and Service Director reduced the plant rk force to 14. This action met with opposition m Plant Superintendent Jim Johnson and Chief gineer and Assistant Superintendent Don Freen, and let to the resignation of both effective July 1971. Failure of the new plant's second boiler d pump necessitated closing the new plant on gust 9, until repairs could be made. The old plant s started up again on August 18, until the City ild come to some agreement with Worthington rporation to repair the boiler feed pumps in the w plant. An explosion in one of the boilers at apeximately 11:15 A.M. Sunday, August 22, put the plant out of commission. With both plants inopble, all Celina's power was purchased from the yton Power and Light Company.

Mayor McDougall announced the appointment of arles McKnight to the new position of Electric lity Manager effective October 25, 1971. The apintment was made with D. B. Spangler's approval, emed necessary by Council since McDougall was to a candidate for re-election and Spangler was the ly mayoral candidate whose name appeared on n the election of November 2nd, D. B. Spangler s elected Mayor over write-in candidate, Walter Irlin. Another write-in candidate, R. H. Bane, was idly defeated by John Garman for the 3rd Ward uncil Seat. Unopposed Celina candidates were ger Stauffer, Council President; Victor J. Pulmp, City Auditor; James W. Myers, City Solici; Don Grimes, 1st Ward Councilman; and Roland Dore, 2nd Ward Councilman. Five candidates, nes Lawrence, Ted Gilliland, R. W. Barkley, ayne Rexroat and Walter Fleck, ran for at-large uncil Seats with Barkley, Rexroat and Fleck win-

A windstorm, more typical of April than Decemr, ripped the County Friday afternoon, December with high winds knocking out electric services d causing considerable other damage. Windapped power poles and downed lines caused the sing of at least two highways, while fierce gusts rooted trees, damaged some buildings, and blew er television antennae and Christmas decorations. Mayor-elect Spangler confirmed reports of last ek and officially announced the appointment of eodore C. Gilroy, Wapakoneta, as Celina's new rector of Service and Safety effective January 1, 72. A native of Waynesfield, Mr. Gilroy had ved as Safety-Service Director at Wapakoneta for nost 11 years after serving for some 6 years as ad lineman for the Wapakoneta Electric Distribun System.

The first four months of 1972 were devoted alost exclusively to electric system problems. Last ar's Council was aware the electric utility was on shaky financial ground with the new generating plant still not on the line and large outlays required to retire bonded indebtedness, but the new Council was made aware early in January just how shaky that ground was when a financial statement was presented which showed an outstanding debt of almost $500,000.00 and a cash balance of approximately $23,000.00. Toward the end of March, Council passed an ordinance authorizing entry into a 10-year contract to purchase electricity from The Dayton Power and Light Company under terms of a tariff on file with The Federal Power Commission.

The annual appropriation ordinance for 1972 was passed March 27, with Finance Committee Chairman Grimes emphasizing that the entire budget had been cut to the bone to ensure financial stability. $1,621,699.00 was appropriated from the Electric Light Fund, $276,757.00 from the Water Works Fund, $144,060.00 from the Sewage Works Fund, and $994,665.00 from the General and Special Funds

In late June, fire destroyed the Celina Equity Exchange main building and elevator on West Market Street. In addition to the main building, at least two trucks and a large amount of stored grain were destroyed in the blaze. Three units from the Celina Fire Department, along with units from St. Marys, Coldwater, Rockford and Mendon, battled the blaze, but were unable to save the structure.

On July 7, 1972, the City filed a $2.36 million lawsuit against three firms involved in designing or equipping the new, but non-operational, $5.2 million electric generating plant. The suit was filed with the understanding that it will not be pressed to any final legal decision if negotiation between the City and the three firms reach a mutually acceptable conclusion. Defendants in the action were May Engineering Company, Worthington Corporation, and Erie City Iron Works.

A cable television system had been under study by Council for quite some time and on October 16, a 15-year franchise was awarded to Tele-Media Company of State College, Pennsylvania.

With the new generating plant on and off the line, excessive power outages, and release of a report on the electric system done by Pfeifer and Shultz of Minneapolis, which recommended shutting down the new generating plant and buying all the City's electric requirements from The Dayton Power and Light Company, the year of 1972 was pretty well summed up in a Daily Standard editorial heading which read, "A New Day, A New Power Discussion".

The 1973 Annual Appropriation Ordinance was passed March 26, 1973, with $1,879,056.00 appropriated from the Electric Light Fund, $503,908.00 from the Water Works Fund, $184,881.00 from the Sewage Works Fund, and $944,526.00 from General and Special Funds for a total appropriation of $3,512,371.00.

At a special Council meeting held May 22, 1973, an ordinance authorizing the issuance and sale of $1.6 million worth of mortgage revenue bonds was approved to finance water plant and system improvements. This action made it possible to enter into a contract with Peterson Construction Company for expansion of the Water Treatment Plant which would almost double its capacity.

An ordinance to shut down the electric generating plant, which had been idle since May 6th, was passed on to second reading by a 4-3 vote on June 25th. Cincinnati Attorney Henry C. Kasson had notified City officials approximately a week earlier that the earliest possible trial date in the City's $2.3 million damage suit against three firms involved in designing and equipping the new electric generating Plant would be the Spring of 1974. Kasson stated that attempts were still being made to settle the case.

The Ordinance to shut down the Power Plant passed on 3rd reading by a 4-3 vote on July 23, 1973. Immediately after the vote, Mayor Spangler announced his intention to veto the measure. His contention was that the Ordinance was in violation of the Bonding Ordinance and might lead to foreclosure. Trust officers from The National City Bank in Cleveland agreed with Mr. Spangler and cited the portion of the bond indenture which stated that the City must maintain and operate its electric system. Mr. Spangler did veto the Ordinance and no attempt was made to override the veto, but the plant has remained idle since May 6, 1973.

Ernest Evans was appointed by City Council August 27, to fill the unexpired term of R. W. Barkley who retired for health reasons.

Charles McKnight, Municipal Electric Utilities Manager, announced his resignation effective October 1. He (McKnight) said he liked the job and the people, but felt he must consider the long-range situation. Assistant Plant Manager Richard Shinn was placed in charge of electric generating activities until a replacement could be found for McKnight.

The election of November 6, 1973, saw R. W. Barkley, Walter Fleck and Ernest Evans elected to at-large Council seats over write-in candidates Kathryn Hierholzer and Davis Welker. Barkley had tried to withdraw as a candidate because of illness, but his name remained on City ballots because the withdrawal notice arrived after the legal deadline. Other municipal candidates (all unopposed) were: City Treasurer, Paul Badger; Council President, Don H. Grimes; First Ward Councilman, James T. Scales; Second Ward Councilman, Roland Moore; Third Ward Councilman, John Garman; and Fourth Ward Councilman, Henry Bueltel.

Mayor Spangler's 1974 "State of the City" message was presented at the January 28th Council meeting and contained the following twelve-point program:

(1) A new study of downtown parking problems.
 (2) An attempt to alleviate the problems of crime, vandalism, and juvenile delinquency.

 Revamping of the City's refuse collection sys-

- (4) Providing of additional space for the housing of a new fire apparatus and the new ambulances purchased for the Countywide program.
- (5) An upgrading of City fire engines to meet the ever increasing demands of the Fire Inspection Bureau.
- (6) Completion of the previously proposed City Hall remodeling project.
- (7) Replacement of a two-inch water main on North Walnut Street with a six-inch main.
 (8) Adoption of the new Zoning Ordinance (this had been in the works since 1970).

(9) Application of Council pressure on the P Central Railroad to complete installation warning signals at the Schunck Road cre

(10) An across-the-board 10% electric rate crease with an accompanying fuel adjustm clause which was needed to cover an incre in purchased power costs, to finance c struction of a new Celina-Dayton Power Light substation, and to provide funds to grade the City's electric distribution syster

(11) Application of constant pressure on the S Department of Transportation to comp the Ohio 29 bypass around Celina.

(12) Investigation of the possibility of construing an ice skating rink in Celina to proverecreation in the winter as well as in the sumer.

On February 11, 1974, Council unanimously proved the appointment of David Welker to fill at-large Council Seat vacated by the resignation

R. W. Barkley.

In early February, Council unanimously approan Ordinance designating the newly reorganic Community Improvement Corporation (CIC) of Cina as the City's official agency "for the industrict economic, civic, commercial, distribution and search development". Key purpose of having CIC become a formal agency of City Governm was that this arrangement would allow the group issue tax-free municipal industrial revenue bonds finance land acquisition, construction, or other projects deemed necessary to help attract new dustry, or meet the needs of current industry.

The 1974 Annual Appropriation Ordinance toling $3,824,184.72 was passed March 25, with fur allocated as follows: Electric Light Fur $2,110,659.00; Water Works Fund, $398,968.00; Se age Works Fund, $161,893.00; and General and Sp cial Funds, $1,152,664.72.

On June 1, 1974, a new garbage collection systems put into effect. Instead of paying a set month charge for the service, customers would purchaplastic bags. These bags would come in two colland sell for 25¢ and 35¢. Subscribers putting out come would use a 35¢ bag; two bags would require 35¢ and a 25¢ bag; and three or more bags could be 25¢ bags.

The Mercer County Emergency Ambulance Seice, which officially began operations September announced, in mid-September, the delivery of the new ambulances. This brought the total emerger vehicles to four, which are manned on a 24-hour play basis by members of the Celina Fire Department whose personnel has received special training perform the service.

Celina's new 50-page Zoning Ordinance was a proved on third reading by a 5-1 vote September : 1974. Only Councilman Walter Fleck opposed pa sage of the Ordinance.

On October 14, Blair Williams, former Vice Predent and General Manager of Avco New Idea Coldwater, accepted appointment as new Councman-at-large replacing the resigned David Welker resigned last month when he accepted exployment outside the City.

At a special meeting October 22, Council author

d Mayor D. B. Spangler and City Auditor Victor J. Iskamp to enter into an agreement with the Ohio ater Development authority for a Preliminary aste Disposal Engineering Study around the and Lake St. Marys area. The Study was the first p in a comprehensive $14 million project (with % of the total financing hopefully to come from Ideral and State sources) aimed at upgrading waste posal facilities around the Lake. On November, representatives of Auglaize and Mercer Couns, the Cities of Celina and St. Marys, and the Vilge of Montezuma signed a formal agreement unruhich a Study of the Grand Lake St. Marys ainage area was to be undertaken by The Ohio ater Development Authority. The Study was to be nducted by Toledo Consulting Engineers Finkiner, Pettis and Strout.

The 1975 Annual Appropriations totaling $4,208,-2.57 was approved March 24. $2,559,561.00 was propriated from the Electric Light Fund, 30,800.00 from the Water Works Fund, 35,551.00 from the Sewage Works Fund, and $1,-2,610.57 from the General and Special Funds.

The addition to the north end of City Hall on orth Main Street, which was constructed to house re Department equipment, was completed in early pril. Fire Chief Robbins noted this was the first ne since February 1, 1968, that the department's ur fire trucks and five emergency ambulances are housed in one location.

There were only two contested races in the priary election of June 3, 1975. Don H. Grimes cared all eight precincts to win the Republican nomition for Mayor over former City Councilman Jayne Rexroat. Grimes will oppose Democrat Lisle thmidt and Independent Martha Kittle in the Nomber general election. Republican James Lawnce won a narrow victory over Henry Bueltel for e Council Presidency. Lawrence will be unopposed. November.

Water and Sewage Treatment Plant Superintendit Lowell Dock announced June 25 that Celina's w $1.5 million Water Treatment Plant was on the ne with no operational problems. The Plant is caible of treating up to three million gallons of water or day. The expansion was undertaken because the d facility had reached its 1.5 million gallon per day on July 11, Mayor Spangler announced tentative proval of a Farmers Home Administration Grant Celina of $200,000.00. The Grant was to be aplied toward the purchase of approximately sixtyne (61) acres of land located at the northeast corner Grand Lake Road and Havemann Road for use as a Industrial Park. The $200,000.00 Grant was aproved and turned over to the City on August 26. ombined with additional funds provided by the ommunity Improvement Corporation, the City urchased the 61 acre parcel of land mentioned bove for $4,000.00 per acre.

Winners in the November 4th election were Don I. Grimes for Mayor in an easy victory over his Democratic opponent, Lysle Schmidt and Independent Martha Kittle; Roland Moore over Wally Elnger for 2nd Ward Councilman; John Garman over leanore Alt and Dan Hartsock for 3rd Ward Councilman; and Robert Gibson over Tom Rable by a 2-ote margin for the 4th Ward Council Seat. Candidates Blair Williams, Ernest Evans, Walter Fleck, and Kathryn Hierholzer sought the three at-large Council Seats with Williams, Evans, and Fleck coming out on top. Elected to uncontested posts were James Scales, 1st Ward Councilman; James Lawrence, Council President; Victor Pulskamp, City Auditor; and incumbent Celina Solicitor James W. Myers, Judge of Celina Municipal Court.

In early December, Council approved issuance of $500,000.00 in electric notes to finance a new Celina-

Dayton Power and Light substation.

Also, in December, Ted C. Gilroy, Safety-Service Director announced his resignation effective January 1, 1976, stating only the resignation was for personal reasons and submitted with considerable regret. Mayor-elect Grimes stated that Lowell Dock, Superintendent of Celina's Water and Sewage Treatment Plants, has agreed to accept the Directorship on an interim basis until a permanent replacement was found.

D. B. Spangler wound up a quarter of a century in municipal service on December 31, 1975. He said that his "biggest regret" was "getting older and realizing it's time to quit".

The 1976 Annual Appropriation Ordinance was passed March 22, with $1,336,316.00 appropriated from General and Special Funds, $3,881,289.00 from the Electric Light Fund, $451,609.00 from the Water Works Fund, $156,008.00 from the Sewage Works Fund, and $23,300.00 from the Gasoline Account.

At a special meeting April 5, 1976, Council approved emergency legislation creating a new Department of Industrial Development and confirming the appointment of D. B. Spangler as its part-time Director.

Jeffrey Ingraham, who had been appointed as Acting City Solicitor by Mayor Grimes, was officially appointed on April 12 by the Mercer County Democratic Central Committee. This action was necessary because the last person elected to the office was James W. Myers, a Democrat.

On May 20, a joint announcement was made from the offices of U.S. Senator Robert Taft, Jr. and Representative Tennyson Guyer that an Industrial Development Grant totaling $213,300.00 had been approved by the Farmers Home Administration for the City of Celina. Mayor Grimes, who had reported filing the Grant Application the previous month, expressed surprise and great satisfaction that action had come so quickly.

After months of negotiation aimed at settlement, trial delays, and postponements, the City's $2.3 million damage suit, which had been filed in July of 1972 against May Engineering Company, Worthington Corporation, and Erie City Iron Works, who designed and/or supplied equipment for the municipal generating plant, opened before Judge Nicholas Wallinski in U. S. District Court in Toledo, Ohio on August 11, 1976. Opening witnesses for the City were Joe Lersky, Managing Editor of The Daily Standard who has reported on municipal affairs since the plant was first planned, and Municipal Court Judge James W. Myers, who served as City Solicitor during the same period. Former Mayor D. B. Spangler was the next witness for the City, followed by Acting Superintendent of Gener ion, R. L. Shinn. Two former Celina Superintendc of Electric Generation, Hans Comprix and Charles McKnight, testified to problems encountered with the new power plant. Bernard Nagle, a partner in May Engineering Company, who had testified earlier as a substitute for Gail May who was ill and unavailable to testify, was recalled briefly to the witness stand. Jack Patterson of the consulting engineering firm of Pfeifer and Shultz, Minneapolis, Minnesota, testified regarding plant design, and John Alico, Engineer and Appraiser from Southfield, Michigan, testified to the present value of the plant. Art Knox, a Cincinnati Mechanical Engineer testified that, in his opinion, the plant was a victim of faulty design. City Utilities Accounting Supervisor, June Moothart, testified regarding monetary damages incurred as a result of plant malfunctions. Cincinnati Accountant, Dale Weizker testified to approximately $290,000.00 in damages resulting from repeated failures in the new plant and resultant delays in the projects completion. Celina's Attorney, Henry Kasson, wound up the City's case with testimony from power plant employee Howard Toler, and Safety-Service Director Lowell Dock. May's Attorney, John Eastman, began the defense presentation by recalling June Moothart as his first witness. Kasson was prepared to recall Ms. Moothart for cross-examination, but Eastman elected to call her as a defense witness. The second defense witness was Mechanical Engineer, Herman Ehrhard, who had been employed by May Engineering and was responsible for piping design at the Celina facility. Jerry Reschlay, a Mechanical Engineer with Detroit Stoker Company and Jerome Kelly, Manager of a Toledo Financial Planning and Consulting Firm, were the final witnesses as the defense brought its case to an abrupt close on the tenth day of the trial. Judge Wallinski's decision, received in early March, 1977, ruled that Celina was entitled to a judgment totaling $42,652.21 from May Engineering Company and Worthington Corporation. The case against Erie City Iron Works was dropped.

Subzero weather, heavy snow, frozen water services, frozen gas services, and shortages of fuel and power led to closing of businesses and industries, and conservation measures by residential users in early 1977. By mid-January, the frost depth had hit 40 inches leading to more and more frozen water services and broken lines.

City Auditor Victor Pulskamp announced his retirement effective March 1, 1977. Pulskamp had served as Auditor for nine (9) years and two (2) months with the current term running through 1979. His replacement, former Celina Superintendent of Schools, D. W. Stover, named by the Republican Precinct Committee, served until January 1, 1978.

Mayor Grimes announced in late May that Goverr James A. Rhodes had signed a bill conveying tifor the Lake Shore Drive area from the Ohio partment of Natural Resources to the City of Celi, Ohio. The transfer, effective August 21, involves proximately 4.7 acres, including Lake Shore Drive, Pullman Bay area, and the State Boat Dock area mediately south of Mercelina Park.

In late June, traffic signals and additional overad lighting were installed at the dangerous intertion of Ohio Routes 29 and 703 and Grand Lake ad. This intersection had been the scene of many rious accidents since the new Route 29 opening d had been of great concern to Mayor Grimes and ner Officials.

On August 28, Celina City Council authorized sking a Federal Grant to finance a sewer system aluation study to determine the location and expect of existing problems in Celina's sanitary sewer stem. This is one of the first steps necessary in the grading of the sanitary sewer system and plant to able it to handle the increased load when the Augize-Mercer regional sewer system scheduled to circle Grand Lake St. Marys is completed. by Don Grimes

CITY OF CELINA, OHIO DEPARTMENTS and HOUSING FACILITIES

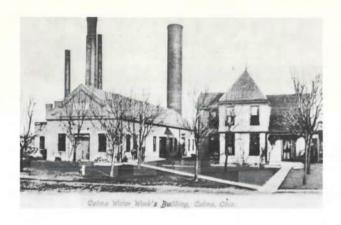

CELINA CITY HALL

Above City Hall was built in 1890, and houses various City Departments, including the Mayor's Office, the Municipal Court, the City Auditor's Office, and the City Income Tax Administrator. The City Police Department, under Chief Robert Humbert, is also located in this building. The function of the Police Department is to preserve the peace, to enforce all Federal, State, and Local laws; to regulate traffic and render assistance when needed, while protecting the rights and property of the citizens of the City of Celina. The Celina Fire Department, headed by Chief Jerry Baucher, is also headquartered in the City Hall. This department provides the full spectrum of fire protection for the City of Celina, including fire inspections. The department provides response to calls for fire runs to Hopewell, Jefferson, and Center Townships, and Fire Department personnel are used to man the Mercer County emergency ambulance service.

The 85 foot aerial tower quint shown above is Celina's most impressive piece of fire equipment. It was purchased from the Sutphen Fire Equipment Company, Columbus, in 1974 at a cost of $159,113. and delivered in April, 1977.

Above photo was dated 1908 and depicts the "Waterworks" which was built in 1895. The first well was drilled in 1894 and pumped by air-lift pumping equipment. In 1900, the operating Board of the Celina Waterworks, with the approval of the electorate, installed in the waterworks pumping station a 100 KW Skinner Slide Valve engine belted to a single-phase electric generator, as a move to expand Celina's utility services and provide the first centralized electric power plant.

SWIMMING POOL

The Mersman Swimming Pool, dedicated May 1954, was a gift from The Mersman Civic Found tion to the citizens of the community in memory J. B. Mersman, founder of the Mersman Broth Corporation. Present pool activities are under a Supervision of Parks and Recreation Director J. Hoess. The Parks and Recreation Department a provides and maintains equipment and areas necesary for recreational programs planned by the apartment for both young and adults of the commity.

The old plant, in 1978, is used as headquarters for all City Street Department activities. This department, headed by Superintendent Tom Anderson, is responsible for the rebuilding and maintenance of streets, cleaning and maintenance of storm and sanitary sewers, maintenance and mowing of parks, leaf pickup, street sweeping, spring and fall trash pickup, snow and ice removal, erection and maintenance of street markers and signs, and the supervision of contract work in the above categories.

CELINA MUNICIPAL UTILITIES

The office of Wilson J. Myers, Safety-Servi Director, is located in this building on West Mark Street, along with the Utilities Accounting Depai ment under the supervision of Administrative A sistant June Moothart, and the Customer Accoun-Department headed by Supervisor, Doris Grunde Dennis Zahn and Michael Sovinski comprise tl City Engineering Department housed on the secon floor of the Utilities Building. Headquarters for the Electric Distribution crew, under Superintende Lowell Sickles, is located at the rear of the utiliti office building. This department is responsible f construction and maintenance of overhead and u derground power distribution lines, plans and i stallation of service to new subdivisions, and prov sion of continuous service to electrical custome The activities of the Water Distribution crew, charge of Water-Wastewater Superintendent Low Dock, are directed from this same location. This d partment installs, maintains, and repairs wat mains, makes water taps and sets meters, and pe forms other duties necessary for the maintenance proper service to customers.

CELINA MUNICIPAL POWER PLANT

This plant was constructed in 1941 and was uipped with a 2,000 KW generator. In 1952, a 3,0 KW unit was put into service, and in 1961, a 7,0 KW unit was added bringing the total capacity 12,500 KW. This plant served the City's electrical eds until completion of the new generating plant. In 2,500 KW turbine-generator and accessories are sold to Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, in d-1975 for $85,000. The radial brick stack was ppled in the same year because of its unsafe contion.

CELINA WATER TREATMENT PLANT

This plant went into operation in 1952 with a rated capacity of 1,500,000 gallons per day of clear potable water for the citizens of Celina. An expansion was completed in 1975 bringing the present rated capacity to 3,000,000 gallons per day. Water-Wastewater Superintendent Lowell Dock is in charge of this facility which is under the supervision of Arthur A. Fishbaugh, Jr.

NEW GENERATING PLANT

The above plant produced its first electricity in 70. It contains a 12,500 KW turbine-generator and 20,000 KW unit which was never used. The plant s been idle since May, 1973, due to equipment alfunction and economic reasons. Three (3) people employed at the facility under the direction of perating Engineer, R. L. Shinn.

CELINA SEWAGE TREATMENT PLANT

The plant, designed to handle a flow of 900,000 gallons per day of domestic and industrial wastes, went into operation on February 15, 1940. In 1962, it was expanded to its present capacity of 2,000,000 gallons per day. Water-Wastewater Superintendent Lowell Dock is in charge of the facility which is supervised by Carl Cook.

CELINA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The Continental Congress of 1785 passed a law on May 20 which led to the creation of the public school system. The law stipulated that lot number sixteen in each township be preserved from sale and set aside for public education purposes. A subsequent act was passed on January 22, 1921, which outlined the procedure for establishing the boundaries of a public school system. By majority approval districts were laid out with twelve to forty householders in one district. A schoolhouse was built upon the approval of two-thirds of the residents.

A local school became a reality on November 30, 1926, when a deed was recorded by an early settler, Robert Linzee. On that date he conveyed and quitclaimed a parcel of land east of Celina. This land was to be used as a graveyard, school yard and a school house. In the early 1830's the first log school house was built on this site by donated labor and donated logs.

During this same period of time the center of Mercer County (200 acres of land) became Celina. Approximately fifteen families resided on these two hundred acres and decided to build a worship house on lot number one hundred forty-nine which is located at the corner of Fayette and Ash streets. The church did not survive; thus, in the early 1840's, it was used as a school house. The early 1850's produced a one-room school house in Celina on the corner of Fulton and Walnut Streets. The building collapsed within a few years, and in 1859, a four-room school was built on this same site and was called Union School. This site and school became the foundation for the future of the schools in Celina

Union school was serving the educational needs in Celina for several years and a decision was made to organize a high school in this same building. In 1866, S.F. Deford was hired to teach high school and also to serve as the superintendent of schools. The high school aroused controversy due to the need for higher taxes to provide a few students an opportunity to learn algebra, geometry, rhetoric, and composition. In May 1878, the first graduate of a high school in Celina emerged — Lizzie Snyder McKim.

As Union School organized into high school, a grammar department, intermediate department, a primary department, organization also took pla among the teachers. Teachers were hired and p as high school teachers ($40.00 per month) a grade teachers (30.00 per month). This organizat of schools, accompanied with an increase in s dents, required a new school in 1894, a grade bui ing on the east side of town, at the corner of Way and Buckeye. It was a two-story brick building a provided room for students from the rural areas the interest in education of children spread througout the county.

The old West building was deteriorating and v condemned. A special election on July 10, 1906 p vided an approved bond issue to build a new schat the old site. During the construction of the W building, the high school was moved to the E Building with the overflow of the one hundred s dents occupying vacant buildings around Celi Soon the new West Building became available a the top story of the two story structure was used high school. Eight classrooms on the first floor w used by the grade pupils. The remaining grade I pils in the Celina schools were housed in the E building. With this new emphasis for high scho many pupils were enrolling at the high school from the rural areas of Mercer County. Overcrowding sulted and on November 6, 1923, a bond issue v presented and approved for $150,000 (yes votes 1452; no votes — 429).

In September, 1925, the high school students Celina occupied a new modern building on East L ingston Street. A faculty of fourteen had the responsibility to educate the 290 students enrolled. An addition to the high school on Livingston Street v necessary. The local voters approved a three-n levy for two years and this money, combined w $45,000 as a result of a PWA federal government, provided the funds to build rooms for shinstruction, arts, and physical education. The but of the structure was the auditorium/fieldhout which provided the area with one of the finest a letic facilities in the state. A second addition, for purify classroom space, was necessitated in 19 and this total complex served the high school structure was the high school structure.

Street in 1964.

The grade schools followed similar courses aged schools deteriorated and needed replaced newer one-story expansive structures. The beg ning of the end of the old West building located Fulton and Walnut Streets came as a result of a Ju 11, 1948 building inspection. The wood supports the roof were mandated to be changed to brick su ports. Architects were hired to investigate the con tions of the West school as well as East school a the High School. On October 31, 1949, the Board Education published a joint statement on a bond sue. They noted the age (East Building - 55 ye. old; West Building — 42 years old) and conditic of the two buildings. They took a position to build new elementary building and to solicit voter a proval on November 8, 1949 for 3.8 mills in order finance construction of a $975,000 structure. An tempt was made to secure land for the new buildi through condemnation proceedings against the Jo Diener property in the northern section of Celii An offer was produced to sell Staeger property proximately twenty-eight acres and Smalley propty of approximately nine acres. The board agreed at the new East building would occupy the site. In November 8, 1955, district voters approved 2.4 ills for the construction of a new West building at the west edge of Celina at a cost of $862,000. This pow allowed Celina to have two modern elementary thools. The $1,698,000 new high school approved. November 1962 and the $2,426,000 new junior gh school financed with federal funds supplied the elina School District with needed facilities through 279. Another building in use is the Franklin Elementary building which came under the Celina thools as a result of a multitude of consolidations.

While Celina schools grew in size and facilities, it is rest of Mercer County was phasing out oneom school houses and petitioning for assignments larger districts. The Celina schools attracted early iterest due to the high school. Prior to consolidaon efforts, the students in Jefferson township as ell as students from Burntwood, Center, and Male came to Celina to attend high school. The townnips of Liberty, Washington, Hopewell, and Butler ad regions where some students were taken to Ce-

On April 27, 1936, Maple and Center townships resented petitions to the controlling Board of Eduition for membership in the Celina Schools. This ltimately led to the township's small rural school ctinction. Early schools such as Mount Hope, eougher, Kiser, Adams, Piper, Plank Road, Hardrabble, and Maple Center schools soon became remories of early education in Mercer County. The rge central school in Neptune lasted many years or its residents, but it too gave in to larger centraliation. In 1937, additional petitions from the reraining section of Jefferson township applied for tembership. The early schools in Jefferson townnip were: Brock school, Lincoln, Bunker Hill, wamp, and Elm Grove school. As these schools beame vacated, they were either converted into townnip halls or as residences for area families.

Continuing with the trend, several years later, arts of Liberty, Hopewell, and Washington townhips became affiliated with the school in the county eat. Soon schools with names such as Washington chool, Erastus school, Wabash school, and Prospect chool became history in the western part of the ounty. Landfair, Scudder, and Mount Carmel chools seemed so far from the main school in Cel-1a, but they also gave way to the movement. The tudents from these western regions would ride uses instead of walking to familiar areas for schoolng. Hopewell township schools with names such as Iair, Pierstorff, Siebert, DeHayes, Miller, Clutter, nd Five Point were phased out of operation. In the outhern regions, in the townships of Butler and ranklin, Burntwood school, Klosterman school, and ranklin school joined the rest of Mercer County in ooking for a larger school for opportunities for its oung residents. The school in Montezuma has been nmune from the destiny of the multitude of chools already mentioned. In fact, an addition was dded to the largest school in Franklin township and still in use today.

The net effect of the years of consolidation evenually led to a school district with 148.14 square niles and a composite evaluation of over 100 million dollars in 1979. The enrollment peaked in the mid 1970's at 3500 plus students with multiple curricular offerings. The land of the Black Prairies changed to the now recreational reservoir known as Grand Lake; the fifteen families of Celina, Ohio soon became many hundreds approaching 10,000 individuals; the one-roomed log schoolhouse now has six successors surviving with many, many rooms; one graduate of Celina High School in 1878, Lizzie Snyder McKim, would become 240 graduates of Celina Senior High School one hundred years later in 1978. Such is history.

CELINA FIRST CHURCH OF GOD

Early in the year of 1916, Rev. W. E. Turner made s appearance in Celina with a determination to esblish a Church of God Church. The county seat wn of Mercer County seemed to be an especially vorable place for planting a new church there were ready nine Church of God Churches in the county in deep le were constantly moving into Celina from the ese outlying districts. Many were waiting and oping that such a church might be established.

Rev. Turner worked in and around Celina, lookg for prospects who would be willing to put their forts back of trying to organize Church of God hurch in this city. Then on June 11, 1916 the first eeting was held in the City Hall. There was a very ne response, showing their high spirited interest in aving a Church of God Church in Celina.

At the first meeting officers were elected for a Fabernacle Association" and the following were ected: P. W. Bowser, President; Floyd Houts, Sectary; and Frank Stoner, Treasurer. The next queston was: how to house the congregation? It was nanimously agreed to buy a tent and Floyd Houts greed to loan the Church the money to purchase tent, without interest.

r. R. E. Riley heard of the plans for this new nurch and offered a lot on West Market Street for ne church to erect the tent. This lot was at the corer of West Market and Brandon Avenue.

The first Revival meeting was held in the tent as son as everything was in place. Rev. W. E. Turner erved as Evangelist, Bennie Weaver as Song Leader, and Ralph Turner was Pianist. It was a successful ampaign both from the standpoint of conversions and of recruits among those who had no church ome in this city.

The first Sunday School was organized with 36 tembers present. W. R. Thomas was chosen Supertendent; Miss Inez Hines, Secretary; Benny Hines, reasurer; and Miss Hazel Frysinger, Organist. The ollowing teachers were appointed: Jason Frysinger, M. Ellinger, Mrs. George Lynch, Mrs. W. R. homas, Mrs. Minnie Berry, and Miss Hazel Frysiger. The congregation grew and so did the Sunday chool. By the Time of the Eldership, September 2, 916, when the Church was recognized, an organization of 36 members could be reported, with a Sunay School enrollment of 105. The first officers were: Elders — W. R. Thomas, and F. M. Ellinger; Peacons — Frank Chrisman and Ben Hines; Clerk – Floyd Houts; Treasurer — Arthur Siler; Trustees – C. O. Swanders, W. R. Thomas, and Jason Frysiger.

With the chilly breezes of fall they realized the tent would have to be replaced with a tabernacle. Again, Dr. Riley offered a building site and with help of the men of the congregation a building was erected with no labor cost. The people over town often referred to the tabernacle as the "Sheep Pen". But the people placed great faith and confidence in the word of the Lord when he said, "Lo I am with you even unto the end."

With this faith and confidence plans were made to build a new bethel. Thanks again to Dr. Riley who donated the two lots on which the church building now stands. The corner stone was laid in 1918 and the Sunday School and Church met in the basement until the Church was completed. On June 6, 1920 the Church was dedicated with Rev. J. L.

Undegraph giving the dedicatory sermon.

One of the milestones in the church's history was reached on November 20, 1927 when the debt was brought to an end, and the mortgage note was burned at the Annual Pre-Thanksgiving service. Since that first milestone many more have followed. Shortly after the first debt was paid the property at 540 W. Livingston was purchased so that a parsonage could be built. Then later in the 1940's the lot west of the Church was bought for future expansion and in 1954 the Educational Unit was added.

Our latest milestone was October 22, 1978 when two worship services were offered to accommodate our growing attendance. The faith and confidence of our forefathers is still evident in our congregation today as we make plans to expand in order that we may serve our Lord and minister to our communi-

The following ministers have served the Church and the Lord faithfully: W. E. Turner (1916-1922); S. F. Bauders (1922-1926); Leroy Cabbage (1926-1928); F. D. Rayle (1928-1936); Tennyson Guyer (1936-1946); Paul Tewell (1946-1951); Leland Barnes (1951-1956); Norman Folk (1956-1959); Paul Tewell (1959-1969); C. Q. McMillion (1969-1976); Morris Now (Interim) (1976-1977); and Richard VanHorn (1977—our present pastor).

BETHANY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH CELINA, OHIO

The Bethany United Methodist Church 416 East Wayne St., Celina, Ohio, had its beginning in 1909. Rev. J. M. Lantz was pastor of Celina Circuit, including the Hope Evangelical Church five miles west of Celina. Several members from the Hope Church moved to Celina and Rev. Lantz saw the need for services there. In the Spring, 1909, he organized the first class in Celina at the home of Andrew Smith. The eleven charter members that responded were: Andrew Smith, Elizabeth Smith, George W. Smith, Maggie Bollenbacher, Catherine Squires Hines, Mary Miller, Bertha Mercle, Anna Hole, Catherine Fetters, Jonathan Bodkin and Lottie Hoenie. Rev. Lantz continued preaching in different homes in Celina until 1910, when Rev. A. D. Kroft was assigned to Celina Circuit. He also, continued to hold classes at various homes.

In the Fall, Rev. Kroft, J. J. Wise, and Rev. B. R. Weiner (evangelist), held a camp meeting in Celina that was an inspiration to the community and several souls were saved. At one meeting, steps were taken toward building a new church. At the Indiana Conference session of 1911, Celina Mission was added and Rev. B. E. Koenig was assigned as the first full time pastor of Celina Bethany. He found only 31 members, no Sabbath School, and an inadequate place of worship. He held Sunday and Midweek prayer Services regularly at various places in Celina.

In June, 1911, ground was broken on the corner of Blake and Walnut Streets, for a new church. The Trustee Board and Building Committee were: Andrew Smith, George W. Smith, William Smith, Clindrew Smith, Cli ton Smith, Jonathan Bodkin, and Benjamin Lorentz. In October 1911, the first Sabbath School wheld in the basement with 68 present. On Jan. 1 1912, the congregation met for the first time in the new church auditorium. This was Dedication Da Bishop S. C. Breyfogel gave the sermon and decated Bethany Evangelical Church to the service God. One week later they held their first revival ar 68 united with the church. The word went out th they were a spiritual and moral uplift in the committy and by 1915 had a membership over 200.

During the pastorate of M. O. Herman, Nov. 2 1919, the church debt was paid and the mortgag was cancelled. A Jubilee Service was held Feb. 2 1920 to celebrate and praise God for this accomplishment. Four months later the congregation purchased their first parsonage at 673 N. Walnut 5 This was used until 1943, when it was sold and the

Between the years of 1920 to 1945 several in provements were made in the church. A new pip organ was installed. The basement was complete, remodeled to provide for a new Children's Chapel, new steam heating system installed, and the kitche was remodeled with new equipment. Many gif were donated to the church, including money, capets, and an illuminated Cross for the Sanctuar There was a marvelous spirit of giving and servir the Lord at Bethany.

Rev. Walter Adams came to Celina in 1943, an through his efforts, a building fund was started for later date. Bethany membership was growing as Go had richly blessed them.

On Nov. 16, 1946 the Evangelical Church merge with the United Brethren Church and this churc became Bethany Evangelical United Brethre Church and changed from the Indiana Conference to the Ohio Sandusky Conference. The latter Corference built the Evangelical United Brethren Cam St. Mary's, to be used for Christian Youth activitie and the Yearly Conference meetings. Bethan helped support this Church Camp.

In 1952 Rev. M. W. George came to Celina, and i this year one of the biggest decisions in Bethany history was made, when it voted to buy the old Eas School lot at the corner of Wayne at Buckeye, an build a new church there. Feb. 28, 1957 their ol building was sold to the local Nazarene Church Ground breaking for the new church was held Apr 28, 1957. The Corner Stone was laid Oct. 13, 1957 with Dr. V. H. Allman, Conference Supt. in charge The building committee consisted of — Reube Amstutz, Oliver Nutt, Dussell Lohrentz, Raymon Meyers, Jacob Bauer, Corwin Hellwarth, Cheste Schmidt, Rita Gagle, and Clarence Baucher.

After a year of hard work, prayers and planning the 350 members of Bethany and their pastor, M. W. George, saw their beautiful Gothic Contemporar Indiana limestone church become a reality. The interior of the sanctuary was finished in white oa with a beechwood finish. Most of the inside finishing and outside pitching was done by the member: including the large active group of young people.

The last service in the old Bethany Church was of Palm Sunday Mar. 30, 1958, and the first service in the new Bethany Church was on Easter Sunda April 6, 1958. Guest speakers for Dedication Wee July 23-28, were former ministers of the church; Res

. W. Loose, Rev. M. O. Herman, Rev. Walter Adns, and also Bishop Harold R. Heininger.

April 23, 1968 the Evangelical United Brethren nurches and the Methodist churches merged and ecame known as the United Methodist Church.

All the classes of Bethany, the United Methodist Vomen and the Youth Fellowship worked hard on lany projects to help pay off the debt on their eautiful new church. After much praying, work nd generous giving a note burning service was held farch 22, 1970, to celebrate the termination of the nurch debt on the new building. Rev. Burton rosby was the minister. The guest speaker was Dr.

seph Graham, the Conference Supt.

In the Summers of 1973, '74, '75, '76, '77, Bethany hurch sent groups of young people and older youth help repair homes of the poor in the Appalachia 1ountain regions. The United Methodist Women of ne church helped support this project, as well as ther worthy Missionary work at home and abroad. ethany has always been a Missionary minded hurch and down through the years has contributed the support of missions, both financially and by ending young people out to serve at home and broad. Approximately 25 Bethany youth have erved Christ in full time service.

Bethany church has been served by 18 pastors and

Our pastor since 1976 is Robert E. Williman. He and his wife, Eva, live in the parsonage at 536 East Wayne St. which was bought in 1963, since it would be closer to the new church.

Many consecrated men and women continue to work faithfully in Bethany's future as they did in the past by maintaining and continually adding to the beauty of their church.

May our Bethany United Methodist Church continue to be a light in the community that leads to peace and good will among men, and a spiritual enrichment for all who seek the Lord and His Bless-

Submitted in memory of Mr. and Mrs. William Eichenauer.

United Presbyterian Church

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Celina Presbyterian Church was organized in 1839-1840 by a small group from Pennsylvania and Virginia, of the very earliest pioneers into Ohio. Early in 1800, these first pioneers settled in Marietta and St. Clairville in Washington County. From there they made their way to what is now Chillicothe. Then they moved to Mercer County, Ohio. The members were Andrew Crockett, Elder; his wife Maria Bitcher Crockett; Samuel Jackson; Nathan Mead; Abigail Mead; Ezra Hiatt; Mrs. John Brown; Mrs. Davenport; Samuel Ruckman; Mrs. Ruckman; Mrs. C. Maurer; and her sister.

They immediately made plans for erection of a house of worship on lot 149, at the corner of Fayette and Ash Streets. This lot was one of the three lots set aside for churches, together with a cemetery, by the proprietors. Rev. J.N. Taylor was the first pastor, serving from 1840-1844. The church building was shared with the Methodist and Baptist denominations that had organized.

In 1847, the church was re-organized by the Rev. Templeton, with Samuel Ruckman and Stephen Hight added as Elders. Members added at this time were: Mrs. Catherine Timmonds; Miss Frances A. Timmonds: Catherine Hight; and William Hight.

Timmonds; Catherine Hight; and William Hight.

The times of the Civil War and decade following the war were difficult for the church. Visiting ministers were relied upon. June 12, 1870, the Presbytery of the Synod of Cincinnati appointed the Rev. Telford and the Rev. Cunningham Kerr to re-organize and renew the church at Celina. Another reorganization was held on July 19, 1878, when the Rev. E.S. Scott, Delphos, Elder Oliver Jay, St. Mary's and D.W. Roebuck of Center Presbyterian Church, re-organized the church with ceremonies held in the Lutheran Church on Anthony Street. (The original church structure had been abandoned years before and was now being used for various purposes.)

The 1878 re-organization was made which lasted to the present day. The following members were admitted: Marcus Schuyler; Mrs. M. Schuyler; Mrs. Eliza Schuyler; Miss Mahala Stevens; Mrs. Helen

First Presbyterian Church (Old Johnson home, North Main Stre

Smith; and Mr. John P. McAfee from the U. Church. On June 13, 1878, a Sabbath School was o ganized by the Rev. LaPort, with 80 scholars and teachers. On April 7, 1878, the Rev. M.M. Lawsc accepted the call to the combined pastorates of Colina and St. Mary's. The pastor lived in St. Mary commuting back and forth over muddy roads. The Rev. Lawson served the two churches until 188 when he resigned to devote his time to the S Mary's and Salem Churches.

The brick church was erected in 1882 at the coner of Fulton and Walnut Streets. The church continued growing. During Rev. Kreager's pastoral from 1901 to 1905, a manse was completed and the church repaired at a cost of $2,875. During Relindsay's pastorate from 1924-1928, Church parlo

In 1949, the congregation decided to remodel the building at the corner of Walnut and Fulton. After the work had begun, it was discovered there were problems in the foundation and walls and the building was condemned by the State. Because they were unable to purchase additional property in 1950, was decided to buy the J.D. Johnson home whice was owned by the D.R. Smalley family. The inside of the building was remodeled to accommodate the growing congregation. The membership grew to 26 under Rev. John Gregory's ministry.

The First Church built in Celina, built by the Presbyterians; late used by the Methodists as a school house, also used by the Bartists, built on lot number one hundred forty-nine, on the corner c Fayette and Ash Streets. Built in 1840, the church was twenty b thirty feet, the ceiling finished with paneled boards instead c plastering.

The construction for the next manse was started larch 1956 and completed March 1957. In the early 260's plans were begun for the new church and the rest fund raising campaign was held. Ground breaking took place on July 28, 1968. Dedication was held ine 14, 1970.

Special dedicatory services for the newly installed eeple and signs on the north and south side of the nurch were held Sunday, May 25, 1975 with Rev. tanley R. Chapin presiding. The steeple was dedited in memory of the late Roscoe D. Riley while the Magnolia St. sign was dedicated to the memory of the late Howard Leffler. The Johnson Ave. sign as dedicated in the memory of the late John tiener.

On Sunday, September 12, 1976, in commemoraon of the bicentennial and the nation's religious eritage, a special re-creation of an eighteenth ceniry communion service was conducted by Rev. hapin, outdoors at the farm of Timothy and Sanra Kennedy, Mercer and Auglaize County Line Rd.

Following a Scottish Irish tradition, bagpiper Robert Wallace, Norwalk, Ohio piped the Bible to the ulpit where Sherman Mackey opened it to the conregation. Rev. Chapin used seventeenth and eighenth century liturgies and prayers. He was assisted y ruling elders of the church and Merilee Walter, he church organist.

June 4, 1978 an Allen Digital Computer organ, urchased with donations from church members nd replacing the 1937 Hammond organ, originally onated by Lib and Herb McClure in memory of hilip Redfern was dedicated.

Rev. Chapin resigned from the pulpit June 11, 978, which left the church without a resident minster. A pulpit supply committee was formed and ney are now in the process of searching for a new ninister.

CELINA CHURCH OF CHRIST

The present church was organized September 26, 248, by Robert Powell who served as their first inister. Worship services were held in the old Eae Hall on West Market Street in Celina. The young ongregation also held cottage prayer meetings each Vednesday evening in the homes of members.

After a time they purchased a house on the corner f East Livingston Street and County Road. This erved as a combination meeting place and a home or the minister's family until it was sold to buy land or a house of worship.

The Richardson Bretz Memorial on West Fulton treet was used as a meeting place until the present uilding was erected at 2035 East Livingston Street. round breaking ceremonies for the building were eld September 21, 1958. The outside structure was uilt by Stein Builders. The interior was completed y members and friends.

Celina Church of Christ, 2035 East Livingston Street, Celina, Ohio

The church decided to incorporate in 1958, so they applied to the state for Articles of Incorporation under the name of Celina Church of Christ. They learned that an earlier body of Christians had existed in 1892, with that name. Those signing the 1892 incorporation were: W. F. McDaniel, A. D. Marsh, Frank Betz, C. E. Riley, T. J. Godfrey, and James M. Taylor. The incorporation was notarized by Attorney John W. Loree.

It is not known how long this early group existed or where they met. There isn't any mention of them in earlier local histories. The articles were renewed, May 19, 1958, and the present group continues under the original name.

The Elders of the church are Arthur Parker Sr. and Gerald Babb. Deacons are Fred Tyo, Allan Colson, and Donald Colson.

The minister is Charles R. Houp. He will begin a full-time ministry October 1, 1978. He and his wife Jenna are moving to Celina from Fort Mitchell, Kentucky.

The purpose of the Celina Church of Christ is to reflect the attitude, doctrine, and worship of the church as described in the New Testament.

All Christian Churches/Churches of Christ follow no creed or doctrine other than the Bible. They fully accept the inerrancy of the scriptures and the divinity of Jesus Christ.

Each congregation is self-governed by a group of elected men called Elders. Elders have the responsibility of the spiritual growth and welfare of all local members.

The leaders and minister of the Celina Church of Christ have recently been instructing the church in spiritual unity and growth, personal evangelism, Bible study, and family life. Mary E. Colson

Grace Missionary Church, 1971

GRACE MISSIONARY CHURCH

On March 9, 1954 a group of Bible-believing Christians began meeting together to seek God's guidance for a place of worship. On June 3, 1954 an organizational meeting was held, and the group officially became a church and voted to make application to the Missionary Church Association for membership. Approval and acceptance of this membership by the Missionary Church Association was received on June 10, 1954.

The name of Grace Missionary Church was chosen by congregational vote, and the Andrews property, consisting of 5 lots - or ½ block - in the southwestern section of Celina, was acquired as a site for the new church.

The first trustees elected for Grace Missionary Church were: Elmer Hanni, Henry Amstutz, and William Stillberger. The first deacons were Lawrence Felver and Rufus Kneuss. Kenneth Grandlienard was the first Sunday School superintendent with only 5 classes under his supervision. The average Sunday School attendance for 1954 was 51 while the average attendance for morning worship was 57.

The congregation met in the Amstutz Hatcheries from June 3, 1954 until June 12, 1955 when they moved into their newly built church at the corner of Portland and Sycamore streets.

On August 1, 1954, 33 people were accepted into Grace Missionary Church as charter members. 18 of these charter members are still active in the church 24 years later.

tember 1957.

The new church building was dedicated on September 18, 1955 with 653 persons attending the afternoon service and many more being turned away for lack of room.

The next big project was the building of the parsonage adjacent to the church. This project was started in 1956 with just the basement, walls, and roof of the house being finished. In August 1958, it was decided to complete the parsonage. This was accomplished by March 6, 1959 when an Open House was held before the pastor moved from the basement to the first floor.

Grace Missionary Church, 1955

In the meantime, Rev. Leroy Rusher accepted th call as the second pastor of Grace Missional Church beginning in September of 1957. He serve faithfully until September 1963, at which time Re-Glen D. Head became the third pastor of the church a position which he kept until July 1, 1978.

It was under Rev. Head's leadership that th church bought 5 more lots as they became available so that today the entire block is church propert with ample parking space and room for more expar sion when needed.

In January of 1971 the congregation voted the approval of a new building program proposed by th church board. During this project 8655 square fee were added to the existing building. The sanctuar was enlarged, an addition was built on the east en of the church, a large fellowship hall was erected t the north, and the entire church was air conditioned. This increased the number of Sunda school rooms by 10, provided for 2 new Sunda school departments, added 2 more rest rooms, large foyer, and the fellowship hall with complet kitchen facilities and nursery. These have adde greatly to the usefulness of the church.

This new building program was completed an dedicated on October 31, 1971. The total churc property is now evaluated at $500,000.

The present Sunday school is under the direction of Steven Howell as general superintendent with departments and 19 classes. The average Sunda school attendance for 1977 was 177 with an averag attendance of 187 for morning worship.

The 1978 church board consists of the following Kenneth Grandlienard, Marion Freeman, Cliffor Eichenauer, William Enyart, Steven Howell, Rober Eichar, Bill Springer, Ralph Schultz, Edwin Stone Gerald Van Tilburg, John Cordier, and Charle Lynn.

On July 1, 1978 Rev. David D. Biberstein came a the fourth pastor of Grace Missionary Church. Th church is expecting great things for the future unde his leadership.

Grace Church has since its beginning been an avi supporter of missions. Over the years the followin missionaries have received support: Mrs. Timoth Warner, Rev. and Mrs. Ron Hodgin, and Mr. an Mrs. Bruce Head in Sierra Leone; Dorothy Rothsu and Stanley Kabaishai in Hawaii; Rev. and Mrs Richard Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Weyeneth, and Mi and Mrs. Jack Harrison in Ecuador; Zelda Pierson i

The congregation is deeply grateful to the Lord fo His blessings during these first 24 years and is trust ing Him for an even more blessed future.

1864 IMMACULATE CONCEPTION PARISH

Immaculate Conception Parish, according to hurch records, was organized in 1864 by Rev. Joph Dwenger. He was a member of the Precious lood Order, serving as Bishop of the Ft. Wayne, Inana Diocese. He attended the Celina people as a lission Station from St. Marys during the years 364 to Dec. 1866. He visited every two weeks to old services in Joseph Zender's factory.

Assured of spiritual care, more Catholics moved Celina, making it necessary to build a house of

On Aug. 31, 1865, Archbishop Purcell came to elina to preside at the laying of the cornerstone of ie first parish church.

Completed three months later, the church was loited on the corner of Anthony and Walnut Streets. brick construction, it measured 40 by 60 feet and ost $7,000. On Mary's feast, Dec. 8, 1865, it was edicated and officially placed under the patronage f the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin. Rev. Bernard Dickman, C.PP.S., attended the parh from Carthagena during the years Dec., 1866 to

In addition to the priests already mentioned, other recious Blood Fathers serving the parish between ne years of 1864 and 1876 were: Mathias Kenk, Minael Graf, Thomas Eisenring, and Ignatius Selb. In 1876, Father Theopistus Wittmer, C.PP.S., beame the first resident pastor. A small frame house, ear the church, was his rectory. With the help of a building committee, Pastor Vittmer supervised the erection of Celina's first paochial school. It measured 35 by 40 feet, accommoated ninety pupils, and cost $1,200. In 1879 a small onvent was built and two Sisters of the Precious lood arrived to take charge of the school. Because the number of scholars had doubled by 886, Pastor Andrew Geith, C.PP.S., began a drive or school funds. In the fall of 1889, a new Immacuite Conception Grade School opened its doors to ccept 220 students.

Pastor George Hindelang, C.PP.S., arrived at I.C. 1 1899. Under his guidance a building committee as appointed to organize a fund drive for building new church.

Work began in 1900 and when completed three ears later, the grand Romanesque-style church ominated the Celina scene. The contract price was 52,000. The large glass-stained windows cost $3,-00. The women's Altar Society donated the main ltar. The communion railing, stations, Pilcher organ nd church bells were donated by parishioners, as vere countless hours of labor.

A new parish rectory was built in 1908. Located n the corner of Anthony and Sugar Streets, the arge brick residence was erected at a cost of $10,-

Continued parish growth made it necessary to aze the 1889 school and replace it with a modern chool. In September of 1918, the school complete with a gymnasium and auditorium was opened to the grade and high school students of the parish. The high school department offered only a threeyear course until 1928. Then a fourth year of study was added and I.C.H.S. was granted a charter from the School Association of the State of Ohio.

The increase in high school applicants made it necessary to add to the parish plant. On Thanksgiving Day in 1933, the new high school building was dedicated. Erected on the corner of Anthony and Wayne Streets, it cost $72,000.

During the 1940's Pastor Albert Gerhardstein, C.PP.S., cared for the parish's needs. The Sisters' convent was purchased in 1949.

Pastor Marcellus Fortman, C.PP.S., helped to improve and enlarge I.C. Parish during the 1950's. The church roof was replaced and the interior was cleaned and redecorated. The total cost was $52,000.

By 1958 the Grade School was crowded with an enrollment of 560 - and so again the parish began to build. A 15-room addition plus the conversion of the gymnasium in the older section to an efficient cafeteria brought the I.C. school system up to date.

The 1960's brought more changes to Immaculate Conception Parish. A school board of lay advisors was formed to assist the educational process and a Co-ordinating Council was installed to assist with parish management.

Father Charles Bricher served at I.C. from 1963 to 1970. Father Cornelius Fenton then became pastor. Due to financial problems the parish high school was forced to close its door. The class of 1972 was the last to graduate from Immaculate Conception High School.

Fathers Joseph McNicholas and Robert Hunt were co-pastors during the year of 1972-73. It was during this year that the convent was sold.

Former Assistant Pastor Louis Osterhage returned in 1973 to become Pastor. During his stay, the rectory was completely remodeled, the church's interior was cleaned and outside ramps installed. Also, the annual July Church Festival grew to become an important fund raising and social event.

In 1977, Father Gregory Moorman took on the responsibilities of guiding and caring for the 1,200 families and nearly 5,000 souls who make up Immaculate Conception Parish today.

For a more detailed account of parish life, refer to the booklet published in 1964, I.C.'s centennial year.

ST. JOHN LUTHERAN CHURCH

It is not known that there were any Lutherans in Celina when the City was founded in 1834. Records of early Lutheranism here are very meager. Lutheran services were held here as early as 1853, when pastors from neighboring towns and communities served occasionally. The services were held in the school house, private homes and the Presbyterian Church.

On June 21, 1858, one Maria Prior conveyed to Christian Fanger, John Pohlman, and H. F. Juneman, Trustees of the German Evangelical Lutheran and Reformed Church and their successors, Lot Number 248 Old Plat, Celina. The transaction was a gift.

The Evangelical Lutheran and Reformed Congregation of Celina was organized on January 6, 1869, and a church building completed on the above described lot in 1870. However the arrangement of Lutheran and Reformed Churches using the same property soon became unsatisfactory and they separated; the Reformed faction keeping the above property while the Lutherans bought elsewhere.

According to the best information obtainable, the congregation was organized in 1870 as the Evangelical Lutheran St. John's Congregation. The first page of the old record bears the date of May 16, 1870, and the minutes record an election of officers in 1871.

On May 5, 1871, one, A. J. Hodder for the consideration of $125.00 conveyed to Charles Fanger, John Luck and Michael Feldheiser as Trustees of the Evangelical Lutheran St. John's Congregation Lot Number 197 Old Plat, Celina, Ohio, at the northwest corner of Fayette and Cherry streets.

The first church was a plain frame building without steeple or bell, which still stands, remodeled into a duplex. Its erection was begun in 1874 and was dedicated in 1875. At this time the congregation did not have its own pastor, but was served by pastors from neighboring churches. There is no record of a constitution having bee adopted in the seventies. It may be that the fir members simply drew together with the unde standing that theirs was to be a Lutheran Churc without setting down definite and specific rules. The first recorded constitution was adopted in 1888.

membership was between 100 and 120.

Almost immediately pastor and congregation be gan making plans for a new church. At a special meeting held February 11, 1912, John Mesarve made a motion, seconded by George Heffner, the build a new church. The motion carried. On August 4, 1912, the church purchased the Roop Propert (now the site of the First Baptist Church at the northeast corner of Main and Anthony Streets) for $3000.00. The dedication of the church took place on Pentecost, May 23, 1915. Pastors serving the congregation in this location following Rev. Reitz were J. C. Einfalt (1918-1933), F. T. Florstedt (1933-1959) and Don R. Bachman (1960-1965).

In the Spring of 1945 a church building fund wa discussed. On February 22, 1955, a meeting wa called to study the need, and determine the approximate cost of a new church, which after severa months consideration was estimated to be

At a special meeting on February 14, 1957, it was unanimously voted to build a new church. At a meeting on May 14, 1957, several building sites were discussed, the most favorable being the Paul Remaklus property of approximately twenty-sever acres at the northeast corner of Route #127 and Meyers Road for $37,500.00 and at a meeting or June 19, it was decided in favor of said site.

On June 21, 1959, Pastor Florstedt celebrated his Forty-fifth Anniversary in the Ministry and tendered his resignation to take effect November 1, 1959 A Letter of Call sent to Rev. Don Bachman was accepted and he was installed on the first Sunday in

On September 2, 1962, the last complete service as held in the old Church with Holy Communion.

On Dedication Sunday, September 9, festivities egan at the site of the old Church where a farewell ervice of Thanksgiving began. With the conclusion f the Recessional hymn, "Onward Christian Soliers" the congregation filed out reverently and the rocession wended its way to the New Church at 10 North Main Street. There the congregation asymbled and a Church Opening Ceremony was conucted, Pastor Bachman receiving the keys from the rchitect, William Gilfillen. Following the dedication of the Church, the Altar was dedicated to the lory of God and to the memory of the late Pastor F. Florstedt, who passed away January 1, 1962.

The beautiful stained glass windows of St. John's re one of its most outstanding features. Stained lass is an ancient art in the Christian church. The indows that are used in St. John's, while very modrn in appearance, are a revival of an ancient nethod of the use of stained glass. They are made of aceted pieces of stained glass set in epoxy resin. The Willet Stained Glass Studios of Philadelphia rere the designers of these windows.

The stained glass windows depict the life of Christ y the use of symbols. Starting with the full bay on ne north side of the church, there is depicted the lessianic prophecy. The north-east bay of windows ontains symbols from Gethsemane to the crucifixon. The south-east bay of windows presents the ord's Supper and the Resurrection. The full bay on ne south pictures the Ascension, Pentecost, and rinity. The small windows in the back of the hurch symbolize St. John and Martin Luther. The hoir room windows are an abstract break-up of olor with musical notes defined in the matrix. The alcony window in the west end of the church deicts Christ enthroned in glory. Due to the large perentage of faceted glass used, it seems to shimmer in he light and can be seen from a distance outside the lumined church at night.

A complete Carillon Set, including automatic laying equipment, a one hundred foot bell tower, ontaining three bells was raised and hoisted in lace by the Don R. Fruchtey Steel Erectors of Fort Vayne, Indiana, and dedicated on June 27, 1965, at :30 pm with a Carillonneur presenting the concert.

The Carillon was made possible by a gift from Ars. Marie Schlenker in memory of her husband,

Dr. Ralph Schlenker.

On November 26, 1969, a full house witnessed the Church Mortgage Burning Ceremony, which was a part of the Thanksgiving Eve Worship Service to our Good and Gracious Lord for all of His Blessings.

An organ fund was established and on January 21, 973, a Schantz organ was purchased. It was erected n the fall of 1973. It has two manuals with sixty-one lotes and pedals for thirty-two notes. The organ has wenty ranks consisting of 972 pipes.

Pastors that have served at St. Johns: 1892-1898, rnst Schulz — first resident pastor; 1899-1900, E. ehne; 1901-1904, William Emch; 1905-1906, E. J. W. Aack; 1906-1911, J. E. Harmon; 1911-1918, F. G. leitz; 1918-1933, J. C. Einfalt; 1933-1959, F. T. Flortedt; 1960-1965, Don R. Bachman; 1965-1969, Benon Bartell 1970-1975, Jay D. Stratton; 1976-, Eugene N. Langholz.

1969) who then served as Pastor Emeritus 1969-1976, Wayne Zavotka (1974-1977) and Robert Linsz (1978-). Interns who have served the church are Ken Nosworthy (1967-1968), Douglas Meyer (1968-1969) and Frank Reisinger III (1969-1970), Jack Williams (1970-71), Eric Kampfe (1971-72); Don Pletcher (1972-73). In addition the church contributes to the support of a pastor in Brazil, Reverend Paul Hauenstein.

Currently the congregation numbers well over 1000 baptized members. In addition to the Sunday School, the following organizations are active: Luther League, American Lutheran Church Women, Junior High Fellowship, St. John Campers, Friendly Class and Scout Troop #108. Youth participate in church volleyball and basketball leagues. The church loans its facilities to various community projects such as the Bloodmobile and is ready to open its facilities to the community in case of emergency.

Three sons of the congregation are currently serving in the ministry of the American Lutheran Church. They are Luther Florstedt of Zanesville, Ohio, Donald Hare of Georgetown, Ohio, and Kirk Havel of Holland, Ohio.

1978-1979 officers include Robert Hawk, president; Richard Frahm, vice-president; Lois Snavely, secretary; and Edward Starr, business administrator. In addition, there are ten boards which govern congregational activities. Services are currently broadcast over radio station WCSM (96.7fm and 1350am) at 10:30 AM every Sunday.

ST. PAUL'S UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

East Fulton and North Main Streets

The first Methodist services in Celina were conducted by a missionary preacher, Reverend George Armstrong, under the Eldership of Reverend Elmer Yocum, in 1838 in a log meeting house shared with Baptists and Presbyterians. The second church was erected in 1856 during the pastorate of Reverend G.V. McPherson, and burned down in 1861. The third church was built in 1862 during the pastorate of Reverend P. A. Browne, on a lot facing Fulton Street one-half block off Main Street, and was replaced by a fourth church built in 1892 during the pastorate of Reverend A. E. Smith, who later became president of Ohio Northern University.

The present church building, which is the fifth, faces Main Street on an enlarged corner lot bought for this purpose. It was well planned, built wisely and well, with large sanctuary and outstandingly beautiful stained glass window above the choir loft. It was built during the pastorate of Reverend C. Harold Clerke. The pipe organ was a gift from Edgar Jacob Brookhart, honoring his wife who served as choir director for many years. Mrs. C. D. Rice was organist for more than fifty years. How the congregation worked to make money for this building! Mrs. Elizabeth Vordemfelde, president of the Ladies Aid, pledged $10,000, and the ladies raised it by paying $1,000 a year, giving dinners, quilting ... anything to earn money.

During the early 1960's, the new educational building was added during the pastorate of Reverend Stanley T. Benton. It includes three floors of Church school rooms, a small chapel, and spacious

In 1966, during the pastorate of Reverend Robert E. Miller, a program of remodeling was initiated and accomplished which provides for a center aisle in the sanctuary, the pastors' studies, the office area, the library, fellowship hall, narthex and kitchen

In a memorials program in 1976, an elevator and new and enlarged lounge were added, financed entirely by special gifts.

The church is a worshipping, working and serving Christian Community of 675 families and 1,250 members. Its rooms are open to the community when there is a need and space is available. Its missions budget reaches into Wesley Hall in Cincinnati, Friendly Center in Toledo, deprived families in Appalachia, a children's hospital in Haiti, a teacher in Ghana, and a rural development mission in India.

EAST OLD TOWN CHURCH United Brethren In Christ

In the eighteenth century, the first new denomition in the New World came into being, formed imarily by Germans in America. Many were Mennites and German Reformed groups in Pennsylvaa and Maryland. In one meeting of this group Wilm Otterbein and Martin Boehm made the atement, "We are brethren," and with this the new oup was formed. The United Brethren in Christ read rapidly through the eastern states and contued westward with the settlement of the Country, ney took a strong stand against slavery during the vil War. A "born again" experience was stressed, id is still a part of its tenets today.

In 1889 the denomination divided, and the group ho retained the Old Constitution of 1841, with shop Milton Wright (father of Orville and Wilbur) its leader, became known as the "radicals". A oup of these persons in eastern Mercer County egan plans for a new church. They first held their eetings under a beech tree in the woods of Henry oringer. As winter approached, the worship serces were moved into his barn. In October of 1891, nd for a church was donated by Edson B. and Sue Miller. Edson, along with Henry Stansbury, enry Springer, Joseph Wolf and Absolam Ashaugh, were the trustees of the new church. With ev. Thomas Weyer of Van Wert as their pastor, the eople built what has been known as the East Old own Church of the United Brethren in Christ. luch of the labor was donated by men of the comjunity. The women also gave much assistance as iey prepared the meals and lodging for the work-

The first seats in the new building were planks. In pulpit desk was available for the first service, so stand was improvised with broomsticks placed in a coss position as legs. This provided a place for the unister to lay his Bible. When the people came together for that first service in their new sanctuary it was a great day for them as they worshipped and thanked God for His kindness to them.

Charter members were: Henry, Edward, Amanda, Lucinda, Charles, Harvey, and Alzada Springer; David, Ellen, Eliza, Maggie, and William Ashbaugh; Albert and Harriet Hile; Mary, Anna and Ida Dibble; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stansbury; Orena, Minnie, Emma and Walter Stansbury; Francis and Sarah Copeland; Mary and Aletha Reel; Leah, Josephine and Theresa Jacobs; Edson, Susie, Fannie and Rutherford Miller; Joseph, Isaac, David, Fred and Mary Wolf; Barbara, Mary and Ben Fast; Matilda Bricker; Cassie Hammond; Charles and Melissa Osborn; Mary Fisher; Susan Pierce; Anda Linden; and Henry Snider.

More than thirty ministers served the church over the period of its existence. Flossie (Duncan) Fast was the first convert. She later became a Quarterly Conference minister. Several other ministers, missionaries, teachers, and nurses have answered the call to full time service in the extension of God's kingdom. This was the result of a people who "kept the faith".

A little more than seventy years had passed since the thrill of building the House of God came to that congregation. In 1960, with a different congregation, but one with the onward Christian vision, a new decision was to be faced. The community had changed and people were moving toward the city. The decision was on the question, "Shall we relocate our church?" Many began to feel that if the most were to be accomplished for the Lord, the church must be relocated. After consultation and much prayer, it was decided to relocate in a new housing development in St. Marys. Mr. Paul Kessler, who was developing the Hillsdale addition, was contacted. He was interested in the project, and donated two acres of ground for a new church. On that site a new church was built — The Hillsdale United Brethren in Christ.

Land had been obtained for the East Old Town Church on Oct. 28, 1891. The last services were held Oct. 29, 1961. Seventy years had passed. The congregation looked forward to new horizons, for they felt that God had great things in store for them. East Old Town Church had served well its place in the history of the community.

BEAVER CHAPEL CONGREGATIONAL-CHRISTIAN CHURCH

In the year 1880 the people who were living in and around Swamp School in Jefferson Township, Mercer County, Ohio, were hungering for religious worship and some members of their community went on a Sunday morning to a small Methodist Church located west of Coldwater where a young minister, Rev. Daniel Carter, was holding services, being on the M. E. circuit from Ft. Recovery, and asked him if he would come to their school house and hold services for them. This he consented to do if Saturday evening or some week day evening service would do, as his Sundays were all taken up.

They gladly said any time, so he made several trips to the school house conducting services for them and always found the building crowded with people. Owing to the roads at that time, his only way of going from one appointment to another was walking and his greatest concern was to get there in time for service.

Due to circumstances in his home he gave up his pastoral charge in the fall of 1880 and entered Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware. But the seed had fallen on fertile fields and the religious worship was continued in the school house until the year 1887 when a building was erected for church services, paid for by funds solicited from the community adjoining.

At the request of the interested worshippers, the late Rev. O. S. Greene of Ft. Recovery came over to Swamp in the fall of 1887 — when the new church had been built — but the seats had not arrived yet, and organized a Christian Church (called the Beaver Creek Sabbath School) with fifteen charter members, at SW corner of Karch and Swamp Rd. The family charter members names are McCoy, Meyer Brandon, Gallihugh, Platt, and Garrison. The olde being fifty-one years of age and the younge twenty-four years old. He became their regular pa tor and that winter there were fifty-four more adde to the church.

The church met January, 1903 for the purpose a restoring the church records as much as possibl. The original records were destroyed by fire in the home of Frank Beyer.

The church grew in interest and attendance an the room was found too small to take care of th people who attended so it was remodeled and mac larger in 1908.

Again in the year 1924 a basement was placed be neath the church and later a furnace was installe which adequately heated the building. Also the ol seats were replaced with chairs.

The religious vine planted here in 1887 by th good people of God and watered by the dews from heaven still grows and in 1931 a Sunday School room, seating nearly a hundred people was added to the building.

Another important event happened in 1931. The Christian Churches and the Congregation.

Churches merged into one Conference.

In 1951 a special meeting was held in regards t curing land from John Sink for a parsonage. Mr. nk agreed to donate a lot 100 x 125 feet, but a parnage had to be started before the elapse of 2 years the land was to be returned to him. A milestone the church's history was reached. In 1952 the parnage was built and dedicated debt free.

In 1957 our Conference made plans to merge with e Evangelical and Reformed Churches. The Layen and some of the pastors did not wish to go with is merger. After much work and prayer 30 urches in our area withdrew from the merger and ganized the Midwest Congregational Christian onference.

As the church continued to grow, a new educaonal wing was built and dedicated in May 1963. his included Sunday School rooms, a nursery, restoms, and a basement with a kitchen and fellow-ip hall.

In 1972, the sanctuary was redecorated and refurshed with new pews and carpet. Storm windows, sulation and electric heat were also installed.

THE CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

THE CHURCH'S BEGINNING

After a revival in June, 1928 with Rev. Maffit and Rev. Cook in a tent at the corner of Warren and Walnut Streets, the following became charter members of the Celina Church of the Nazarene: Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Ayers, Miss Esther Harris, Mrs. Josephine Redmond, Miss Gladys Redmond, Kenneth Redmond, Mrs. Nettie Jackson, Miss Ruth Jackson, Carl Jackson, Robert Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nolan, Margaret Crouch, Rev. and Mrs. Robert Goodwin, Paul Goodwin, Robert Goodwin, Jr. and Owen Goodwin.

On the Fourth of July, 1928, Rev. C. A. Gibson, Superintendent of the Ohio District, Church of the Nazarene, met with the group to organize the church. Mrs. Bertha Green opened her home as a temporary place of worship. Later, a house was rented on Summit Street for parsonage and place of

Pastors who have served are Robert Goodwin 1928-30, Rueben Oren 1930-32, Minnie Moorehead 1932-40, Wilson Lanpher 1940-43, J. I. Moore 1943-47, H. J. Maish 1947-49, M. S. Johnson 1949-53, J. B. Budd 1953-56, Wayne Sharp 1956-61, Max Karns 1961-65, John Bruce 1965-69, Robert Bradley 1969-71, Chester Henneman 1971-77, M. Ray Snow 1977—presently serving the church at the corner of Blake and Walnut.

The Church of the Nazarene is evangelical in doctrine and evangelistic in practice. We believe the Bible to be the inspired Word of God, the Foundation of Christian faith, and the Guide to devout, Godfearing living. We believe in revivals, in preaching repentance and urging men and women to forsake sin and seek God for forgiveness and cleansing.

THE RICHARDSON & BRETZ MEMORIAL BUILDING

The Richardson & Bretz Memorial Endowment is a charitable foundation created under the will of Dr. David H. Richardson, dedicated to art, science, literature and moral uplift. The authority for this endowment was authorized in Dr. Richardson's will of which Harold Bowman was to be the executor.

The original trustees named were Dr. Frank E. Ayers, John Spriggs and Charles A. McKim. After their decease Carroll A. Stubbs, Savella Johnson and Dr. Walter Scheidt acted. The present trustees are Russell Hattery, D. B. Spangler and Bill C. Toms.

Russell Hattery, D. B. Spangler and Bill C. Toms. Dr. David H. Richardson, born in 1848 was reared in Ft. Recovery, Ohio, where he attended school and where at the age of eighteen he began reading medicine under the instruction of his father Dr. John C. Richardson one of the pioneer Physicians of Mercer County. About a year later he started studies at Starling Medical College at Columbus, Ohio and graduated in the spring of 1869. He then located at Celina.

In January 1869 he was married to Mary Lehmkuhl. To them were born two children, a son who died in infancy and a daughter Minnie who became the wife of John M. Bretz of Celina. Dr. Richardson passed on March 20, 1936.

A bronze plaque on the wall in the lobby of the building states the donor of the building and its proposed uses. One room is used as a museum for the display of oil paintings and china by his wife and daughter. On display also is the doctor's gold headed cane. One meeting room is reserved for use of the Mercer County Medical Society and houses his medical library.

A larger meeting room with a possible seating capacity of around 150 is made available to local organizations for meeting purposes. Some fifteen organizations are now holding meetings there. There is also a kitchen and utility room.

The architects for the building are Fanning &

Howey, Celina, Ohio.

Open House was held Sunday, September 7, 1975.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S CLUB

University Women's Club of Mercer County open to any woman with a four-year degree fro any college. It was started in the 1930's to bring t gether women college graduates who were inte ested in encouraging and assisting young Merc County women to further their education. The charter members are still members of the club 1978: Bernice (Smith) Bryan, LaVaun (Sprigg

Nickel, and Lucille (Netts) Younger.

The first minutes on record are for October 1 1936, when the club was a branch of the America Association of University Women. One of their fir projects was starting a scholarship loan fund. In November that year they sponsored an exhibition paintings by Ohio artist Joseph Pfister for the benefit of the loan fund. It drew guests from throughouthe area and Indiana.

Other early fund-raising efforts were bake sale white elephant and rummage sales, benefit bridg parties, collecting sales stamps, and occasional moies at the Celina theater (on a percentage basis).

Evelyn Meyer was the first scholarship recipies and was awarded $100 a year in 1937 through 194 According to early members, keeping money in the scholarship account for even one student was a challenge, and in 1938 the club voted to drop its affiliation with AAUW and use all their funds within the local community. University Club of Celina later became country-wide.

The interest-free loans are now $500 per year an area awarded on the basis of scholarship and othe criteria. Any high school woman graduate in th county is eligible to apply and the loans are usuall renewable until undergraduate work is completed. The loans are repayable in the same number of years as used. In the fall of 1978, $8,400 was grante to 17 students, including four new recipients.

The primary source now of income is dues an the sale every fall of shelled pecans. This project started in 1952 with an order of perhaps 200 pound. In 1978 club members sold two and one-half tons.

UWC has also taken an active role in support cethe local college and the Mercer County Program for the Mentally Retarded. Two successful efforts were the 1965 Spring House Tour for the benefit of the (then WOEF) college library, and a 1973 Fall Fashion Show for the Cheryl Ann School Building Fund.

The gavel in use by the club was made by Shirle (Knight) Gunyou's father when Shirley was presi dent in 1961-62. By M. Fuhrwerk

AYERS ASPHALT PAVING, INC.

Ayers Asphalt Paving, Inc. was started in the ring of 1953 as a blacktop paving contractor, illding and resurfacing driveways with asphalt oducts. The Company began operations with two ployees, one used dump truck and one small ed roller. The equipment was purchased with oney borrowed from a local bank because the vners, Charles H. Ayers and Pauline A. Ayers, had en married only one and one half years and they id no opportunity to accumulate any money. The syments on the equipment and the payroll were ade from the small earnings of the Company. The st year in business the Company had total sales of 8,000.00 and Charlie earned $15.00 per week in ages.

The second year the sales were up to $45,000.00 d the Company was now starting to pave parking eas and other larger jobs together with the smaller iveway jobs. By 1956 the Company had grown to a pint where it was able to finance the purchase of irteen new dump trucks which was the largest irchase of automotive equipment ever recorded in ercer County.

In 1960 Ayers Asphalt Paving became Ayers Ashalt Paving, Incorporated with Charles H. Ayers as esident and Treasurer and Pauline A. Ayers as ice-President and Secretary. The Company contined to expand and was now doing work in six earby Ohio counties plus some work in Indiana. In Idition to the driveway and parking area jobs, the ompany was now engaged in the complete conruction of streets and roads for political subdivious such as The State of Ohio, Counties, Townips, Cities and Villages.

By 1969 Ayers Asphalt Paving, Inc. was doing 1,500,000.00 in annual sales and regularly emoyed between 40 and 45 people. Charles H. Ayers archased the land east of Celina at the northeast orner of Steager Road and State Route #703. A simbination office and shop building 120 feet long and 60 feet wide was constructed near the north end the area. All of the equipment plus the hot mix ant and the storage tanks were moved to this loca-

Charles Douglas Ayers who had worked for the ompany for a number of years each summer ined his father, Charles H. Ayers, in 1977 as supertendent and manager of operations. Craig Michael yers worked at various jobs during his summer varions and is now studying business administration. The Ohio State University. Daughters Elise Marie yers and Mary Ellen Ayers each worked in the ofce during their summer vacations from school.

The motto of the Company has always been "No

b too large or too small".

BELL & HORN

On October 16, 1952, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Floyd of Greenville, Ohio sold the Celina Firestone Store to James R. Bell and Noel R. Horn. The business was renamed Bell & Horn. Both new owners were formerly Goodyear store managers so they changed to Goodyear with tires and batteries as the major items. One of the side lines was appliances and television. The store was located at 112 N. Main St. in Celina across from the court house near the Celina Theater.

Over the years appliances became a larger part of the sales and eventually the tire department was eliminated.

In April 1963 Noel Horn sold his interest in the business to Mr. Bell. Mr. Horn then moved to Greenville and opened an appliance and television store there. The store in Celina retained the name Bell & Horn and has since continued as an individual ownership.

By 1973 Bell & Horn had outgrown their Main Street location. After extensive remodeling they moved to 204 W. Market St. The new location more than doubled the display area. They eliminated television from the products handled and expanded the appliance department to display the largest General Electric appliance selection in the area. The new location also includes a paint and wallpaper department.

In the spring of 1977 another remodeling moved the appliance parts room and put in a new clock,

Over the years appliance service has been a large part of Bell & Horn's continuing effort to back up the appliances they sell. They now have three (3) factory trained service technicians, a service shop and a large parts department.

Over the years, Bell & Horn has won several awards for excellence in Appliance Retailing and most recently were recognized for twenty-five (25) years as a General Electric dealer.

BAIR PHARMACY

Bair Pharmacy, 101 S. Main St., Celina is the oldest drug store in the County. Founded in 1866 by George Zay and listed in the 1888 Mercer County Atlas under "Books, Drugs, and Jewelry," the store has continuously been located at the corner of Main and Market streets.

In 1893, Charles and Rochester "Roy" Wyckoff purchased the business from Mr. Zay, their brother-in-law, and changed the name to Wyckoff Brothers. One year later the "Great Fire" of 1894 leveled the entire block. The building was rebuilt to the present stairway on Market Street with the drugstore being the sole occupant.

After several years Charles Wyckoff developed tuberculosis and moved to the West for his health. Henry Puthoff purchased part of the business and the name became Wyckoff & Puthoff. This partnership continued until 1907 when Roy Wyckoff purchased a dredge on the Mississippi River. The business was sold entirely to Puthoff with the stipulation Wyckoff could buy it back if he ever wished. After a

In 1922 a partnership was formed between Re Wyckoff and Robert Ross and the business was purchased from Puthoff. The name was changed Wyckoff & Ross. Roy Wyckoff died in November 1941 and Ross continued the business under the same name. A partnership again was formed in 194 when Willis W. Bair purchased half-interest in the business. Mr. Bair had worked in the drugstore single high school days. He attended Ohio Northern Urversity and served as a pharmacist in the U.S. Naturing World War II.

Robert Ross sold the remaining interest to M. Bair in 1948 and became Mercer County Probatic Officer until his health forced him to retire in 196 The name was changed to Bair Drug Store with Ba and Gene Arnold as registered pharmacists un 1959 when Paul Arnold graduated from Oh Northern University and joined the staff at Bair's a registered pharmacist.

October, 1963, Gene Arnold purchased Van Fle Drug Store in Rockford, Ohio. Paul Arnold r mained as manager until August 24, 1973, when I purchased the business from Bair. The name of Ba Pharmacy has been retained at present along with the constant aim to provide the customer with the latest items in the health and beauty field in a ful service store.

The soda fountain for which Wyckoff's was a ways noted was removed in 1951 to make room for more shelf space as the number of items more that doubled. The constant striving for improvement has brought recognition from the college level. Ohis Northern University College of Pharmacy has contracted with Bair Pharmacy to provide pharmacian instructors for the extern program. The senior pharmacy student trains in the pharmacy as a part of their college experience with the registered pharmacist in the store becoming the instructor. The program is being studied by other colleges entering the extern program.

BROWN DRUGS

Paul and Betty (Fetters) Brown, both natives of elina, founded Brown Drugs in January, 1955, hen they purchased the Kindell Drug Store on outh Main Street. Prior to this, Paul graduated in tarmacy at Ohio State University in 1950 and was e store manager for the Gallaher Drug Co. in Dayn, Ohio.

It was in July, 1961, that Brown Drugs moved to a w location in the Plaza Shopping Center on North ain Street, in a room adjacent to Marsh Supermart. The drug store was incorporated in March, 167, as Paul Brown became President and David uilling, Vice President. Mr. Quilling had been a ark at the drug store during his high school years Celina. He attended and graduated in 1962 from e College of Pharmacy at Ohio Northern Univerty.

The store was expanded to its present location in pril, 1970, and is now the Walgreen Agency Drug ore of Mercer County.

Brown Drugs

In January, 1972, with permission from the Zong Committee of the city of Celina, Bryan's Bridals bened in the front portion of the residence at 122 ist Wayne Street. Bernice Bryan had been interted in garment construction for years for her famy and as a 4-H advisor. She became aware of the eed for a complete wedding attire shop in the elina area, as she, being a business teacher, heard ans for weddings being discussed by students durg school breaks. When she opened her shop on layne Street, she and a home economics teacher nd a seamstress worked part time during evenings nd Saturdays. Ten feet of racks held the sample ridals, bridesmaids and mothers' dresses from hich wedding apparel was ordered. Within a few ionths, tuxedo rental was added in order to coordiate whole weddings.

By the spring of 1973, larger quarters were eeded. Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Bryan purchased the x-room house (pictured here), located at 225 East larket Street on SR 29 one and one half blocks east f Main Street (SR 127) zoned business, from Doris arber. The front was enclosed to make a showcase nd vestibule.

Now there was room to increase the number of amples as well as handle formal lingerie, shoe samles, invitations and other formal and wedding accessories.

Mrs. Bryan's dream of a complete wedding attire hop is fulfilled as she has increased her stock many nany fold and employs six employees besides herelf. Bryan's Bridals are open stated times, about 50 ours per week, plus extra appointment times helping brides and grooms over much of Ohio and Indina by outfitting complete weddings as a specialty.

BRUCE GREEN FORD, INCORPORATED

Bruce Green Ford is located east of Celina on State Route 703. Bruce Green is president of the corporation; B. Mark Green is vice president in charge of sales operation; Robert F. Green is vice president in charge of parts and service; and Dorothy B. Green is secretary.

Bruce Green purchased the agency from Otis Johnson, who had operated it for 38 years on August 1, 1960. At that time it was located at 220 West Fayette Street in Celina. On February 22, 1963, the dealership burned down when a furnace blew up and completely destroyed the building. Luckily, prior to the fire, the body shop had been moved to the corner of Brandon and Touvelle so service was not interrupted. At 1027 North Main Street a gas statio was leased from the Mobil Oil Company to set u temporary headquarters. On October 1, 1963, th operation was moved to the present location.

The dealership grew rapidly and on April 1, 1968 incorporated. What had started out as a $500,000 year business has grown into over a $3,000,000 business. Besides selling Ford cars and trucks, the business handles a leasing operation to provide the specialized demands of all its customers.

Two long time employees are Donald C. Poor is sales since October, 1960, to the present and Jerom Osterholt, mechanic, since October, 1960, to the present.

Bruce Green Ford, Incorporated has been awarded the Distinguished Achievement Award and the Distinguished Service Citation which explains thei ability to sell in excess of 600 units per year.

CELINA COFFEE SHOP

here has been a restaurant at 211 South Main set throughout the history of Celina. The Celina fee Shop has been owned by Pat McKirnan since 1, when he and his father Dan McKirnan bought business.

he first known name of the business was the midt Restaurant, which was bought by Fred lenker around 1900. About 1908, because of a iness of about 200 to 300 customers nightly, lenker built a new building and named his resrant the "Manhattan." John McKirnan, who marl Irma Schlenker, Fred's daughter, eventually ted the business.

he new building had a ladies entrance and hall ling to the dining room. This arrangement was ch like the old building. The outlines of the hall y still be seen in the pattern of ceramic tile in the fee Shop's floor. The knotty pine booths were talled in the 30's.

iventually wanting to be on his own, John McKirtopened a restaurant in the building which now uses the City Loan. This was the original Coffee op. In 1939, John died and his widow operated the fee Shop until 1941, when it was bought by Dan Kirnan and his son, Pat.

for the past 34 years the restaurant has been own as the Celina Coffee Shop. Owner Pat Kirnan still runs the business with the kind of de which nowadays seems old-fashioned, but ich sets the Coffee Shop aside from many other taurants. McKirnan cuts the meat for the restau-

Toffee shop employees make their own jelly, ich is served with little loaves of homemade ad.

For 28 years, pies were baked by "Mother" Lulu hlar. She would often bake as many as 22 kinds one day. "We'd see her when she came in in the rning." said McKirnan. "She'd go down to the cing room in the basement and then we wouldn't her again until she went home in the afternoon." Early in the morning of September 22, 1974, a fire ske out in the Coffee Shop. The cause of the fire a faulty electric appliance cord. Although the was confined to the kitchen, there was considere smoke damage to the other parts of the build. When asked whether he planned to remodel as ult of the fire, Pat McKirnan replied, "Why ruld I remodel? I like the place just the way it is."

CELINA GLASS

In late January of 1958, Celina Glass was becoming a reality. We were then building the necessary bins for storage, as well as a workable cutting table. A showroom was also becoming real, along with a waiting room with a TV which was rarely seen. This was a family affair, for my wife was playing a very big part on every level. Our family, of which there were six, was still quite young. Our work, which we had talked about before and accepted, was cut out for us. The days were long but enjoyable, because we were starting a brand new business (the glass business) which Celina had never seen before. After proving that we were honest and sincere about what we were doing and planning, people accepted our service.

I was eager to learn all the things that made the business better, but I found that it was a never-ending process, from getting credit to making decisions on the best investments, time, and money. For example, I always believed that hanging a sign out would automatically create all the business I would need to provide for my family. This wasn't true, but I knew that if I did a good job, people would give me a chance, and they did. I made mistakes, but could see a new day, which would be more challenging, but better.

After six years, we found we were running out of floor space, but noticed the room next to Celina Glass was twice as large as the current operation. After talking to Mersmans, the board which occupied this space, it was agreed that moving would be a benefit, and so it was. We took on new products, and our work was spreading into a three county area. Products changed, but I always found that after awhile I became familiar with new products. In the long run, it was for the better. We finally acquired the real estate to build a new building, which meant another move, this time to the other side of town. By this time, my son Barry was helping part-time. We did move, and now Celina Glass sports their sign in a location where we have made many new friends.

The construction part of our business gives us a chance to work in schools, hospitals, bank offices, and show-rooms for many different retail and factory businesses. Barry and Terry are now part of Celina Glass, both being married with fine families. Two sons, Gary and Randy, have fine jobs doing what they like best.

Now twenty years have passed, which I say with great pride. Kim, one of my daughters, is helping with frontend sales and bookkeeping. Tammi is now in high school.

I am Gene Rolfes, and am now learning to make drawings, etc. and estimate work. Celina Glass is now known in a five county area and we hope to expand our existing building to 8400 square feet. Thanks to Celina and surrounding area for the chance to prove that we were serious about making it better.

1914's "Hare-brained Idea" Became 1978's Celina Group of 14 Companies

In 1914, rural and small town Americans were putt-putting happily into the automobile age. Farm families and residents of isolated communities discovered that Henry Ford's Model T opened new horizons, provided economic opportunities and gave them a mobility unknown in the entire previous history of the human race.

Before the acceptance of the motor car, farm people's travels were limited to a dozen miles from their land, the distance that could be traveled by horse and buggy in daylight hours. Here was new freedom, and rural America rushed to buy automobiles.

In Celina, Ohio, Edgar J. Brookhart watched the motorization of his neighbors with intense interest. Brookhart was born in Hopewell Township, Ohio, and raised on a farm near Celina. An attorney trained at Ohio Northern University, he practiced law in Celina, with real estate and insurance as sidelines.

Each week, he watched more and more Model T's crowd Celina's streets on Saturdays. They came piled high with farm products and packed with family members. They left with newly purchased feed, supplies and clothes. He knew he was watching a revolution.

Brookhart also knew insurance. The big eastern insurance companies had started to write fire insurance on autos. E. J. Brookhart thought the rates charged were too high and nursed the idea that a small town insurance company especially organized to serve rural areas could provide insurance more efficiently.

He interested four acquaintances in his idea for an insurance company in Celina. Under Brookhart's leadership with $10,000 in borrowed capital, The National Mutual Automobile Insurance Association was incorporated in September, 1914 as an assessment association writing fire and windstorm insurance on automobiles. J. D. Johnson was named prident; O. F. Rentzsch, vice president; W. T. Palm treasurer, and Brookhart was secretary and gene manager. These four men, along with T. A. We made up the board of directors.

E. J. Brookhart's fellow townspeople thought was foolish. Comments of "hare-brained ide "wild-eyed dreamer" and "going to be a disasti were a few of the things he heard.

The company started business in Brookhart's two room law office in Celina's Richardson Building. spite of local skepticism, the National Mutual survive. By the end of 1915, it had about 8,000 pccies in force. Brookhart was the company. He the underwriting, appointed agents, handled colltions and settled claims, all with the help of just cclerk.

Quickly, it became obvious that fire insurance autos alone was not enough for the company prosper. As more people bought cars, some people started stealing them. E. J. Brookhart determined convert his fledgling company from an assessment mutual writing fire and wind insurance on cars to pre-payment mutual writing fire, windstorm a theft insurance on all types of property. There we one problem. Ohio's insurance laws required $10 000 in surplus for such a company, and the Nation Mutual had only $65,000. Brookhart found to needed money, and in March, 1916 The Nation Mutual Automobile Insurance Association because The National Mutual Insurance Company.

With the structural change in the compar growth came easier. Brookhart was able to add pople to handle the increased work load. The compaoutgrew his law offices, so later in 1916 the Nation Mutual moved to the second floor of the Nation insurance companies ipied the second floor he First National Bank lding from 1916 until

Under the insurance laws then in force, fire insurce companies couldn't write liability insurance for dily injury or property damage. Brookhart knew al expansion would come only when he was able write liability as well as property insurance. So in 19, he and his associates incorporated The Celina utual Casualty Company to operate as a compann to the National Mutual. Brookhart also became cretary and general manager of the Celina Mutual. With the deaths of W. T. Palmer and T. A. Weis, W. Parsons joined the companies as treasurer and ora M. Brookhart (E. J. Brookhart's wife) as a direcr. O. F. Rentzsch was elected president when J. D.

hnson resigned. In April, 1923, a man who was to be a major influice for more than 40 years joined the two compaes. He was C. M. Montgomery. Born in Ada, Ohio, ontgomery attended Ohio Northern University d worked as an accountant for Firestone Steel and ie Concrete Steel before coming to Celina as a atistician for the insurance companies. By 1925 he as assistant secretary.

Edgar J. Brookhart in his office about 1933.

The bank building offices were overflowing by the mid-twenties. A new building, designed for the companies, was built on South Main Street and occupied in July, 1925. The two-story structure, to which a third floor was added in 1940, housed the companies for 37 years.

Deep antagonism divided the insurance business into two camps. Agents representing mutual companies had nothing to do with insurance companies owned by stockholders. Agents representing stock companies had the same attitude toward mutual companies. To tap both sides of the business street, Brookhart experimented with a stock company, Mercer Casualty Company, organized in 1926. Mercer Casualty was managed by the same executives who ran the National and Celina Mutuals.

In 1929, the Great Depression struck. Business activities everywhere wound down. Millions were out of work. Insurance companies felt the crunch during the four worst years of the economic collapse.

C. M. Montgomery is at the right rear and A. W. Parsons is sitting at right front in this photograph made about 1926. The other two men are Ohio insurance examiners.

The National and Celina Mutuals found growth difficult, but they stayed alive. A retired executive of the companies, who went to work in Celina in July, 1931, recalled the depression days this way: "We managed, one way or another. Mercer Casualty got the worst of it, because it was a new company. In December, 1931, all wages were cut 10%. We wouldn't hire a married woman if her husband was lucky enough to still have a job. Mr. Brookhart said one job per family was enough for anyone. But amazingly, we never laid off a single person. Our people were lucky, compared to what was happening everywhere else."

By the late 1930's, the United States was climbing out of the business doldrums. Once again, insurance expanded, boosting the two Celina mutual companies. With things looking brighter, World War II exploded. For two years, the U.S. watched the conflict. Then on December 7, 1941, the Japanese spilled the first blood of the Pacific war.

Again, the companies in Celina felt a pinch. This time it was people, as every healthy man under 35 disappeared into the armed forces. War plants with their high wages siphoned off many other men and women. Office equipment had to last, because there wasn't any new. Executives helped with the mail. Agents' meetings vanished. But wartime driving restrictions slashed auto accident rates, so that claim payments were low. In spite of difficulties the financial strength of the National and Celina Mutuals grew.

Mercer Casualty never recovered from the blow dealt by the depression in its early years. Growth was minimal, and it never achieved a profit. As a result, Mercer Casualty merged with Celina Mutual in 1942 and vanished.

With the end of the war in 1945, the companies' skilled people returned. Travel restrictions faded away. The United States set off on a remarkable economic growth which was to last nearly 30 years. Business expansion, a home-building boom and increasing numbers of cars opened the market for insurance. The National and Celina Mutuals grew with the economy.

For 36 years, E. J. Brookhart guided the two insurance companies he had founded, bringing them through two world wars and a major depression. On August 6, 1950, he died after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

C. M. Montgomery was elected secretarytreasurer and general manager to succeed Brookhart. Under his leadership, The National Mutual and The Celina Mutual Insurance Companies entered a period of change, expansion and restructuring.

Historically, insurance companies wrote property insurance or they wrote liability insurance. In 1953, Ohio along with other states changed the laws so that one company could write both kinds of coverage. The name of The Celina Mutual Casualty Company was changed to The Celina Mutual Insurance Company, and it entered the property insurance business. The National Mutual started writing liability coverages. Both companies developed package policies which combined property and liability coverages.

This building on S. Main St. housed the companies from 1925 until 1962.

C. M. Montgomery

The third major management figure in the copanies' history joined the staff in 1953, when DW. Montgomery became general counsel. The sof C. M. Montgomery, he had a law degree from Clumbia University and had been an Assistant Attency General of Ohio. He was appointed a director 1961 and construction was begun on the new building.

An extensive data processing department had developed to serve the four insurance companies that were the Celina Group. It was split off in late 1966 and incorporated as Midwest Service Center, Inc., another subsidiary of Celina Financial. The name was changed to Midwest Data Systems, Inc., in 1969. Midwest solicited business from non-related insurance companies, in addition to work it did for the Celina Group companies.

Don W. Montgomery

The first generation of management came to an end November 1, 1968, when C. M. Montgomery died. Don Montgomery assumed the post of chairman of the board while continuing as president.

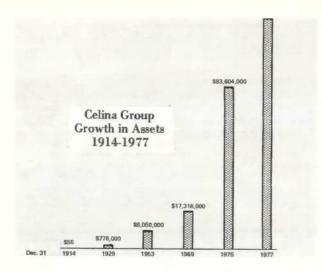

Pennsylvania's Washington County Insurance Company, which dated back to 1837, had come upon hard days. As a result, it became the fourth mutual insurance company in the Celina Group in 1969. The name was later changed to Washington and Jefferson Mutual, and the company specialized in surplus lines insurance.

The growth pace speeded as the Celina Group entered the 1970's. Frank T. Slater, Inc., Philadelphia, a pioneer in the field of data processing service bureaus, became a subsidiary of Celina Financial in 1970. It was merged into Midwest Data Systems in early 1975.

Celina Financial's second stock issue took place in 1972 to capitalize another subsidiary company, Ohio Reinsurance Corporation, Ohio's first domestic reinsurer. A reinsurance company assumes insurance from other insurance companies so the potential risk on any policy doesn't exceed a predetermined amount. Ohio Reinsurance's business activities are now worldwide.

In late 1974, a major building expansion got underway. Twenty-five percent more work space was added to the Group's headquarters, with the additional quarters occupied in October, 1975.

A fifth mutual insurance company joined the Celina Group in 1976. It was Black Hawk Mutual Insurance Company, a residential and property insurer in Illinois with headquarters in Peoria.

Another long-time associate of the Celina Group retired in October, 1976. H. C. Bowman's association with the companies dated back to 1919, when he was one of the original incorporators of Celina Mutual. He also was one of the original incorporators of Mercer Casualty and was elected to the boards of both National and Celina in 1929. He continued to serve as a director of both companies until his retirement.

Two companies providing specialized services to the insurance industry became subsidiaries of Celina Financial in 1977. National Elevator Services is the nation's largest elevator inspection service. Acme Audit and Inspection Services does premium audits and property inspections for insurance companies throughout Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

In the spring of 1978, two additional companies became part of the Celina Group. Patrons Mutual Insurance Company insures property in Ohio, with special attention to farm properties. It is located in

They assessed after the company's experience is known So after 64 years, Celina Group has in one small we returned to its origins, because the National Mut started out in 1914 under the same type of ope tion.

Another 1978 development was the establishmof Buckeye Reinsurance Company, Ltd. as a subsitive ary of Ohio Reinsurance. Located in Hamilton, Burda, Buckeye Reinsurance was set up to expect Ohio Reinsurance's overseas activities.

1978's complex of 14 companies, whose busin covers the globe, with assets of more than $103,00 000, bears little similarity to the infant automob fire insurance company which finished 1914 w $55 in assets. Yet there is continuity of direction a management that traces back to those first da There also is a spirit of growth, planning and adveture which promises more changes in the next f years than the National and Celina Mutuals expeenced in their first 50 years.

After this history was completed, an eighth π tual insurance company became part of the Celi Group. Mutual Fire Insurance of West Virginia organized its board on July 27, 1978 and affilial with Celina.

CELINA MUSIC COMPANY

The CELINA MUSIC COMPANY was formed by Paul S. Recker in 1949. In September 1956 a partnership between Paul S. Recker and Clarence B. Neargarder was negotiated. This partnership remained in effect until the death of Paul S. Recker in August 1965. Clarence B. Neargarder purchased the remaining half of the business and an individual proprietorship was formed and remains at the present time. The Celina Music Company is located midway between Celina and St. Marys on State Route 703. The company installs all major brands of coin operated phonographs (Seeburg-Rowe AMI-Rockola-Wurlitizer-Prestige), Pool Tables, Bowling Machines, Foosballs, Electro Machanical Pin Games and the latest Electronic Pin Games. These machines are installed in taverns, restaurants, cocktail lounges, bowling alleys, and etc. on a commission basis. The Equipment is owned and serviced by the Celina Music Company.

FRIENDSHIP IS A SPREADING TREE

Our "Roots" are not here in Ohio but rather in faraway Kansas and Michigan. However, we appreciate the loveliness of Ohio and its unique history. We salute the fine people who subdued this wild, swampy, quaking land with several "sink holes" or quicksand. They would be amazed to know how this area was eventually used. An early French family in Celina contributed their name to the street known as TouVelle. Countless Indian moccasins whispered paths over it, their wearers pulling travois that made the indelible pattern of later Frahm Pike. The land bears scars of busy people dreaming dreams. Down through the years it sustained life for those who lived upon it.

First use of course was for farmland. Some buildings have vanished. A buggy factory was short lived. Celina built a water tower and a rambling brick machinery storage shop. A church, a beauty shop and a grocery store served citizens. Some land for a railroad was bought for $250 and the rails ran parallel to Mill Street. Mill Street was the City/County limit line and was reputed to be the road with the deepest mud in NW Ohio. The business that flourished best was the huge greenhouse that used an entire city block. For this enterprise a 60-foot double, brick chimney was erected and later crashed down in the name of progress. Perimeter cement walls enclosed the area but they fell giving way to beautiful trees and gardens. Yes, Celina is a city of many, many beautiful trees and we are grateful.

The soil and climatic conditions now give nourishment to a great variety of trees that include: Pin Oak; Golden, ruby lace and Sunburst Locust; Fern leaf and copper Beech; Tulip trees; Chinese Chestnut; Golden Rain tree; Crimson King Maple; Pagoda; and Shagbark Hickory. A special favorite is the interesting-gorgeous Ginkgo. This tree at one time covered the entire world and is one of the oldest known fossils. It is self fertilizing — much in the manner of a human being. Loveliest of all is The Tree of Life whose name comes from Revelation 2:7. "To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life which is in the midst of the paradise of God."

CITIZENS COMMERCIAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

This brief history was taken from old records of bank. According to the best information availa-, the original meeting of people interested in hav-; a bank in Celina was held January 29, 1870. At it meeting, the "Celina Building and Loan Associ-on" was actually founded by G.W. Raudabaugh, . Godfrey, E.M. Piper, R.G. Blake, A.P.J. Snyder, ristopher Schunck, and Abner Davis.

The original location was the Richardson Build-, the area now occupied by Grapners Shoe Store. After a period of growth and favorable acceptance the public, the Celina Building and Loan Associan was sold to Millegan Godfrey and Company in oruary 1872. In 1874, ground was purchased to

On July 27, 1894, the bank building and the entire ick of Main Street from Market to Fayette Streets s destroyed by fire. It is interesting that the nk's vault proved its strength and none of the itents were effected in any way. After the fire, the ak occupied temporary quarters on the corner of iin and Fayette Streets. In May 1895, it moved o its new building erected on the present site.

n 1914, the bank again outgrew its quarters and npletely remodeled and enlarged its work area. ese new quarters were occupied in September

During the depression, in March 1933, the Presiat of the United States declared a bank holiday. banks closed for nine days and on March 15, 33, all banks which proved solvent, were permit-to reopen for business. The Commercial Bank ssed the test and immediately reopened.

The Bank continued to grow during and after orld War II and in 1952, entered the field of inllment lending. This has proved to be a needed vice to the public and over the years a separate an Department was established.

With continued growth in business and employi, in 1955, the bank expanded to the rear of the ilding to provide a new bookkeeping department, ard of Directors Room and Executive Offices.

The Commercial Bank led other financial instituns in the area by offering the first drive-in bankfacility in 1956.

n 1957, the stockholders of The Commercial nk and The Citizens Bank unanimously approved esolution to consolidate thus forming the Citizens mmercial Bank.

Before consolidation, the two banks were sepaed by the Celina Fruit Market. After the formal rger, September 3, 1957, extensive remodeling s undertaken and the three buildings were conted to form one business establishment.

After the merger, the combined assets were $10,-),000 and at the end of 1977, combined assets re $71,619,988.

As the years went by, the bank continued to expand and grow by serving the agricultural needs of Mercer County, adding new services and providing additional offices for customer convenience. In 1969-70, main office facilities were again expanded to the second floor where a new bookkeeping department, executive offices, and Board of Directors room were provided. On the 100th anniversary, an Open House was held in the newly remodeled bank.

In 1972, the Summit Street Branch in the northern part of Celina was opened. In October 1972, the Citizens Commercial Bank merged with the Peoples Bank of Ft. Recovery to establish an office in the southern part of Mercer County. And in 1974, a branch office was opened in Chickasaw to serve residents of Marion Township.

The Bank was an innovator in the area by offering two new services in 1977. A Trust Department was added in June 1977, which enables the Bank to assist in estate planning and administration. With the addition of the Trust Department, the Bank name was changed to The Citizens Commercial Bank and Trust Company. The second new service was Tabby Timeless Teller — an automatic teller machine that allows customers to do most banking transactions 24 hours a day 7 days a week. Citizens Commercial Bank was the first financial institution in Mercer County to offer these services.

The Citizens Commercial Bank and Trust Company looks forward to the future dedicated to the continuance of sound banking practices, sincere in its desire to provide the best in financial service to all residents of this great community.

THE CELINA MUSIC STORE

The Celina Music Store first opened for business in April 1949. The business was the result of a partnership formed by Norbert Bany, operator of the Bany Music Store at 130 West Fayette Street, and Paul Miller. The Bany Music Store was established in 1947.

The first store room at 130 West Fayette Street was a 25×40 area. In July 1950 Paul Miller bought out his partner and moved the business to a 18×100 foot room at 128 West Fayette Street.

Elmer Schweizer, who had formerly been Band Director at Arcanum High School for two years, and Celina Senior High School for five years was employed at the store in June 1953. In January 1954, Mr. Schweizer bought the store from Mr. Miller and continued the business as the Celina Music Store.

In September 1960 the sales area of the store was expanded to 40 x 100 feet when the entire Kinnison Building at 126-128 West Fayette Street was remodeled into a single store room.

The second generation entered the firm in June 1977 when Dean Schweizer, a music education graduate of Miami University, became store manager.

The Celina Music Store offers a complete selection of band and orchestra instruments, pianos, organs, sheet music, and stereophonic equipment. A staff of six teachers are available for instruction on all musical instruments.

W. H. DICK & SONS FUNERAL HOME

The Celina operation of W. H. Dick & Sons Funeral Home was established on Market Street in Celina, Ohio in 1937, while also maintaining the original location in Mendon, Ohio. In the mid forties, the trend of viewing in the family home shifted to viewing in the funeral home, with the services also usually there or in the church. By now, Mr. Dick's two sons were associated with him in business; Charles and Hubert, both graduates of the Cleveland College of Mortuary Science. Ambulance service, in conjunction with funeral directing was always maintained as a full time, twenty-four hour service for the community.

In 1968, a spacious, all new, modern facility, encompassing nearly eleven-thousand square feet, was built on the Market Street property in Celina. The buildings which had housed the original operation are now being utilized as private residences in Harbor Point and on Main Street in Celina, Ohio.

Thus a business which had been established sixtyfive years earlier in a small rural community was now serving a larger area in the tradition of solemn ritual and dedication to service that has always been its goal.

The Celina building also serves as the residence of the Charles Dick family.

1966, with 78 seats and originally designed as a drive-in business. It was one of the early curb services in the area.

In each restaurant we have a manager, two assistants plus relief assistants. In order to delegate more responsibility we have developed a system for team leaders. The concept is that everyone works more closely with management to maintain quality, service and cost controls. There is an extensive training program for hourly personnel and management and also a program to draft outside personnel.

As the industry was changing our image moved to a coffee shop facility in 1969 and then in a few years it became a true family restaurant. Keeping with the family restaurant concept, in 1973 the Celina Restaurant was remodeled to increase the seating capacity to 140; but the only restaurant to have curb service. Keeping with this concept, each location was changed to a family restaurant concept serving complete dinners.

Empire owns a commissary presently located at 534 Touvelle Street that was opened in August of 1967, to serve its restaurants. This plant is operated to simplify the restaurant involvement in food preparation, which also provides better control of product portions and enables everyone to serve the desired quality on a consistent basis. We are in the construction process of a new facility ten times larger than our present building and can serve thirty to forty restaurants. This new "Empire Food Processing Plant" will be federally inspected and it will enable us to cross the state line. It is located on a five acre plot at the Industrial Park in Celina, Ohio.

After graduating from Celina High School, formed partnership with father Virge Dixon, who had $2600.00 (with a mortgage of $2500.00 on his home). We went by the name of Virge Dixon & Son to operate a Used Car business in a Livery Barn at 206 W. Fayette St. My father had considerable experience in the Used car business, having left the farm in 1911 to take a 90 day course at the YMCA automobile school in Cincinnati to be an automobile mechanic. He had Garages: first in Willshire, Ohio, Bryant, Indiana and then built a garage north of Wabash, before moving to Celina in 1916. Dad made several trips with me to buy cars in Detroit and in its vicinity, then turned me loose with the check-book and I did most of the buying and he the selling. Cars were very cheap in Detroit (repossessions) during the winter months, but people around Celina would not buy many cars in the winter months unless they were at bargain prices. My father conceived the idea of the Auction Sale, so starting in Nov. through March (from the fall of 1927 to 1931) we would hold one sale a month on a Saturday and sell from 35 to 65 cars on each sale to both retail and wholesale buyers. The Auctioneers were: Floyd Purdy, Irwin Dowty and a Mr. Hirschfeld, with Herbert Schindler as clerk, we would also sell around 50 cars at wholesale and retail per month.

1927 Signed contract for Auburn Automobiles, bought and sold one Auburn. Opened a Used Car store in Piqua, a 50-50 partnership with an Uncle and went under the name of Snyder, Dixon & Co., (I did the buying and delivering (Detroit cars) and my uncle did the selling. (Dissolved in 1931)

We were a charter signer of the DeSoto franchise in 1928, and in 1928 and 1929 we sold more DeSotos in Celina than either Ford or Chevrolet.

Late in 1929 sold our DeSoto Parts and sign to Wm. (Bill) Brown, (Celina Auto Co.) In the fall of 29 opened a used car lot in Sidney and closed it after four months. 1929 to 1934 were the depression years, and we lost 75% of the money we had made up until the depression.

Roosevelt, the New Deal and NRA (under the National Recovery Act an automobile dealer had to sell his new cars at full price, not a penny discount and would have to take in the trade-in at guide book figure which was very low, this law was later declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court) this ruined our used car business in Celina. In January sold 15 cars to a dealer in New Orleans which we had to deliver. Banks and Finance compa nies had tightened up and the dealer could not pa for them. So we had to retail them from a lot at 131 Canal street, by the time we sold half of them ar placed the money in the Canal Bank & Trust Co., closed its doors and never did reopen.

In October we dissolved our partnership and m father went to Dallas, Texas and opened a Used Ca

Lot at 2222 Main street on automobile row.

My father suggested to bring the family and dozen cars to Dallas for Xmas which he would bu from me. West Texas dealers would come to Dalla and pay what had formally been retail prices before NRA. In those days Texas was like another work they were Texans and did not go or believe in NR Roosevelt, etc.

Anyway my Dad suggested we resume our par nership. I would buy the cars in Ohio and ship the to Dallas, he would do the selling on that end. Th worked fine, I would send two or three convoys or each week from Celina. No trouble finding drive as going to Texas or Calif. would be like going China today.

We did very well until July, when business suc denly stopped. The Drought of 34 had set in, an there would be no Cotton or Corn crops that year.

So we took our better cars to California, an found the market good. There were no assemb plants on the west coast and new cars sold for thre to five hundred more due to freight costs. We ha taken the wrong cars, the demand was good for Convertibles, 2 Doors and large cars. (It was to rough a go for my father so he came back to Celina but I made 18 trips (one a month) with an average (25 cars a trip from Celina to LA.

As there were so many cars coming into Cali from the east the railroads were losing so muc freight revenue, they got the Legislatures in th western states to pass laws to tax cars going throug their states for resale purposes. Cheyenne, Wyi ming alone charged $3.00 a car just to go throug their small city. Nevada $55.00 a hook-up. So I mac my last trip in Dec. 1935.

On Jan. 2nd Virge & Sam Dixon were bac 1936 together in the Used Car business, wholesale and n tail. This month we took on the Packard Franchis and sold about 35 New Packards that year. (mo than Buick & Cadillac combined.)

In August we signed the Pontiac Franchise ar opened an associate Pontiac Dealership in St. Mar-which my father operated.

That was a bad winter for me, loaded up wit New & Used Cars, Parts, receivables equipment ar low on cash.

On Xmas eve, 1936 my Landlord called me and in rough voice told me he wanted his building vaited by January 2nd (where was I to go). I went to ly Landlord on the 26th and asked him what I had one for him to treat me like this. He said nothing as wrong, that he liked me, but that he wanted fore rent. I asked him the amount and he said the ime rent for the six winter months but he wanted 20.00 more per month for the six summer months. suggested that I just pay $10.00 a month more per onth but that he give me a 5 year contract, with an otion to re-new for another 5 years. We agreed. ut he sure ruined my Xmas.

In 1916 the Federal Farm Loan Act under the supervision of President Woodrow Wilson was passed to establish 12 Federal Land Banks. The Banks were to fill a need for a long term agricultural credit throughout the nation. In 1917 the Federal Land Banks branched out into Associations, each association covering one or more counties throughout the states.

It was found that the Federal Land Bank Associations had a marked influence on the economic influence of agriculture. It provided the farmer with a dependable loan in good times or bad times and operated on a cooperative basis. The interest rates were to be kept as low as economic conditions would permit. The goal was to carefully plan a good loan to meet the individual needs of the farmer.

In Mercer County, Ohio the first Board of Directors consisted of W.E. Hendley, D.W. Hawkins, J.A. Yaney, Bernard Desch and C.G. Snyder. The first manager was W.W. Snyder. D.K. Bryan was the next manager to serve Mercer County. In 1945 A.W.

Koenig of New Bremen became manager and durir his term of office, Mercer County Associatio merged with Auglaize County Association. They be came known as Mercer Wapak National Farm Loa Association.

At the present time 1978, Bernard L. Thrush, O ville Dues, R. Richard Stephenson, Kenneth Anke man and Max McMichael are serving on the Boar of Directors. R.L. Baker is the Manager and has bee with the Association for 20 years. Assisting M Baker are Mr. Joe Mack, Assistant Mgr. and M Tom Schlenker, Field Asst. The Association is no known as The Federal Land Bank Association Celina, serving Auglaize, Allen and Mercer Courties.

It is interesting to watch an Association grow. 1928 the Board of Directors held their Annual Mee ing with 33 people present. In 1978 just fifty yea later the Annual Meeting was held with 785 men bers and guests present.

1ST NATIONAL BANK

A tradition of sound, secure and progressive banking gan when The First National Bank of Celina officially ened on July 31, 1900 as the result of the foresight of e founding directors; the Honorable Judge James H. 19, Dr. John E. Hattery, Charles Howick, William Toulle, Frank Benke (all of Celina), Michael Mooney (St. arys), and Frank Bimel (Sidney).

First National began business under the presidency of dge Day with original capital of $25,000 and one office W. Market Street in Celina. Judge Day served until his ath in 1917.

Dr. John E. Hattery succeeded Day and served until his ath in 1928. Known for his integrity, Dr. Hattery's 21 ar presidency ranks as one of the longest of any of the : First National presidents.

According to local lore, First National's third president, illiam Touvelle, had intended to defy U.S. President inklin D. Roosevelt's famous bank holiday of 1933. uvelle felt that the Bank was sufficiently solvent and ong enough to stay open while all other financial institions in the country closed in accord with FDR's midght proclamation which forbade the issuance of gold, ver or any currency. However, the Bank did close, but er observing only three days of the moratorium, reened. The popular Touvelle, who served from 1928-51, relished sitting on the sidewalk in front of the Bank lly conversing with customers and passers-by.

During the presidency of Walter Mersman (1951-1957), first full service branch office in Mercer County was ened in Mendon on July 16, 1956. Two years later it fered its first robbery, by a gun wielding Lima man. e chewing gum salesman, who said bills and debts re his motive, was apprehended a mere three hours af-

he locked the branch manager, an employee and a stomer in the vault and escaped. Fifteen years passed fore the Mendon office was victimized by a second man. The Van Wert man was eventually apprehended Florida enjoying his take. After nearly twenty years of vice to the community a spacious new office was built 1975, with private offices, a drive up window and a nmunity room.

During the next 22 years, three new offices were conucted, the Rockford Office was acquired merger, the Main Office was extensively remodd and First National became the county's first ),000,000 commercial bank.

The Plaza Office was opened in 1960 on N. Main eet, Celina. The Plaza offered a drive up window, full vice and great convenience to the growth area of Cel. Customer acceptance of the new facility proved so at that four additional drive through lanes were added 1971.

n 1972, First National received permission to build a ility in Coldwater and in the same year, merged with Rockford National Bank under the name of First Natal Bank of Mercer County which clearly indicated the iks intention of providing countywide service.

The birth of the Rockford National Bank had come as result of a group of disgruntled Farmers Bank of kford depositors filing for a bank charter in 1920. The gruntlement arose over an unsolved $100,000 theft at Farmers Bank. The depositors apparently felt that y could manage a safer, more efficient bank.

The Rockford National Bank did fare better than its decessor, as they were only robbed twice. Only a small ount of cash was taken during the first robbery, and the $1600 taken during the second was recovered hidden in the hollowed-out wooden leg of one of the thieves. For the rest of the 42 years under that name, it prospered and had deposits of $9.3 million when it merged with First National.

The Coldwater facility opened in December of 1972 in a temporary mobile office. Two years later the permanent office was completed.

As First National grew within the county, it became evident that more room was needed at the Main Office. The adjacent buildings to the East and West were purchased and incorporated into one efficient, spacious banking facility. The expansion, finished in 1972, proved to be of significant benefit both to customers and personnel as it provided a locale for quiet, confidential banking and loan service.

The history of the First National Bank of Mercer County would not be complete without mention of Russell R. Hattery and Henry A. Herman, who together represent over 90 years of service to the Bank.

Mr. Hattery, the son of founding director, Dr. John E. Hattery, joined the Bank in 1916 as a teller. After a leave of absence in the U.S. Army, Mr. Hattery was elected to the Board of Directors in 1928. In 1957 he was elected President and Chairman of the Board of Directors. Mr. Hattery still serves in the latter capacity and celebrates his 50th year in banking in 1978.

Mr. Herman was appointed Assistant Cashier in 1935. His prior employment was that of an educator in the county schools and County Auditor. Mr. Herman accepted the bank's appointment on the condition that the County Commissioners could call for his help as a special Auditor's assistant while working at First National. He continued his public service life, being elected Mayor of Celina in 1943. He also served in many civic and service organizations. Mr. Herman is still an active Senior-Vice President and will complete his 43rd year in 1978.

First National's most recent office, Westway, on W. Logan Street, Celina, was completed in August of 1977, under current President Jack B. Jackson who assumed that position in 1970. Westway was built primarily as a drive-in facility, featuring the most sophisticated equipment available. The new office alleviated the congestion at the Downtown and Plaza locations and provided greater convenience to the southern and western areas of Celina.

Authorization has been received for the seventh office in Montezuma. However, restrictions on building by environmental authorities continue to delay the project.

In October 1977, after great deliberation, the Board of Directors presented an affiliation proposal with the Central Bancorporation, Inc., of Cincinnati, to the First National Stockholders. It was believed that affiliation with a strong, profitable bank holding company was the proper course of action for facing the future. The affiliation was consummated on December 2, 1977. The affiliation broadened and expanded First National's ability to serve its market area, and consequently, to be of greater service to the community.

In July of 1978 plans were announced to consolidate the Home Banking Company in St. Marys with First National. The resultant regional Bank will have deposits of

After 78 years of banking service, the First National Bank of Mercer County has grown to six offices, $75,000,000 in deposits, employs nearly 100 Mercer Countians and remains dedicated to the philosophy of "helping people is our business."

Paul Kessler, developer of the Plaza, and Mrs. Grapner observe Mr. Grapner signing lease for the Plaza Store in February, 1961.

GRAPNER SHOES, INC.

It is strange how different factors in our youth change the course of our lives! While attending Celina High School, Eldon Grapner worked after school in a local shoe store called Coombs Shoe Company. After graduation he worked full time in the shoe business in the other Coombs locations in Van Wert and Greenville, Ohio.

For twenty years, Mr. Grapner followed other pursuits; however, when the Plaza Shopping Center was being planned, he and Mrs. Grapner arranged to open a family shoe store on August 1, 1961, carrying men's, women's, and children's shoes.

In the summer of 1964 Grapners added a second unit by buying the Bornhorst Shoe Store in Minster, Ohio, which they sold in 1968.

In April of 1966 Mr. and Mrs. Grapner moved to a downtown Celina location which had housed Kaye's Shoe Store for many years, and at this time closed their Plaza Store.

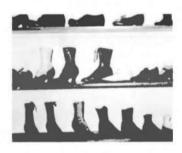

Grapner Shoes has always had a special fitting stage for children. From time to time the theme of their children's area changes: originally the theme in both stores was the "Gingerbread House."

The present theme the Celina Store is "The Jungle," comp with live parrot, treehouse and slide

The decor in their store is more of colonial loo rather than strictly commercial, with many antiqu being used in the interior and window displays.

Grapners also have a sizeable collection of antique shoes and antique artifacts which add interest to the store, and Mrs. Grapner uses these items to gittalks to organizations about the origin of show which dates back to Bible times.

Graphers have always felt that service is the most important product and have operated the store with this thought in mind in order to mapeople as comfortable as possible in their footwen eeds.

The Grapner store is now incorporated, and to Grapner son, Randall, who has had vast shoe experence at wholesale and retail levels, as well as having owned his own shoe store, has just joined the organization.

On November 3, 1978 Grapners moved their bu ness to their newly remodeled store on the corner South Main and Market Streets. This building w bought by the late Dr. R.E. Riley in 1902. Dr. Ril was the father of the present owner, Joel K. Riley, Royal Oak, Michigan.

HUFFY CORPORATION OHIO BICYCLE DIVISION

The Ohio Bicycle Division of the Huffy Corporation in Celina opened its doors in 1955 with 100,000 pare feet in the new plant, built to the specifications as planned by the Corporation. Bicycles and ower mowers were made alternately, depending on a season and the demand. Huffy's used the most odern equipment they could find and began using a latest techniques. For example, the electrostatic ray and finishing system made it possible to paint no of thousands of parts a day with flamboyant nishes that are so popular with the kids.

In just four years, the manufacturing area overowed into warehouse space. An additional 48,000 juare feet of space was added. Another addition of 7,000 square feet was made in 1964; the 1959 annex as converted to manufacturing.

The demands for Huffy's products grew. In order meet the needs of its customers, another plant as purchased in Richmond, Indiana. The mower peration was moved there in the mid-sixties.

In 1967 the Celina facility produced approxiately 4000 bicycles each day. About 600 persons ere employed at the local Huffy complex. The ant's annual payroll was in excess of $3.5 million. bout seventy percent of the work force consisted women. These women participated in every phase the manufacturing process. The women did well ith their dexterity in working with small and often tricate parts.

Within a few years, the Celina plant needed ancher addition. The 1968 expansion gave them more arehouse space, a new and larger electrostatic finhing system and space for more new equipment. here was a new railroad siding under roof for efficient all-weather loading. The Huffy plant had rown to 610,000 square feet. Some readers may ave difficulty in picturing the size of 610,000 quare feet — the plant would cover 12 football elds and still have room for the hotdog stands. This cpansion was under the direction of John Porch, ice President/Operations.

Construction of a new $1,500,000 210,000 square foot warehouse facility to service the Huffy Corporation's Ohio Bicycle Division moved into its second and final phase in June 1974. The site preparation and ground improvement were completed earlier on the southeast corner of the firm's existing 610,000 square foot manufacturing facility in Celina, Ohio. The new structure serves as a warehouse and staging area for shipment of both Huffy and private brand bicycles. The new on-site expansion provided the Division with more economical distribution of bicycles.

In December 1974, the Huffy Corporation celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the company. The theme for the anniversary was, "Teamwork makes progress happen at Huffy".

At this same time, the Company had grown to a $100 million corporation with Corporate headquarters in Dayton, Ohio, four Divisions, and a team of more than 2500 employees across the country. The Huffy Corporation maintained manufacturing operations in Delphos, Ohio, Richmond, Indiana and Azusa, California.

In 1977, Huffman Manufacturing Company changed to a new corporate name "Huffy Corporation". Along with the name change, the corporate identity symbol was also changed. Both of these changes have allowed the Company to be better identified with the "Huffy' trademark that is generally known to the public.

The Company considers itself to be the largest manufacturer of bicycles in the United States with a market share of over 33% of domestic manufacturer's shipments. There is a total of six manufacturers of bicycles in the United States.

In fiscal 1978 over 60% of the Company's bicycles were produced under the Huffy bicycle trademark and sold to over 300 national and regional chain and department stores as well as to bicycle, hardware and specialty wholesalers. The Company believes the Huffy brand of bicycles to be the largest selling brand sold in the United States. The balance of the Company's bicycle sales were to private label customers.

The entire history of Huffy Corporation has been based on growth and a spirited employee team. The Celina plant is located on Grand Lake Road, north of Livingston Street.

JONES JEWELER

In November, 1967 Mr. Harley Jones and Mr. H. M. Harris of Sidney, Ohio, purchased Voegele's Jewelry Store from Mrs. Herbert (Josephine) Voegele.

In 1976 Mr. Jones purchased all of the stock owned by Mr. Harris. In January, 1977 the name of the store was changed to Jones Jeweler.

In March of 1978 Jones Jeweler moved to its present location. There was extensive remodeling done of the former Central Savings location on Market Street (four doors east of the former location). A new front and new fixtures enhanced the looks of the store as well as the space being doubled to enable us to have adequate sales area, along with more area being available for office and repair work.

Kawasaki of Celina was first opened on June 1, 973. Since that opening, it has been located at 124. Fayette Street, in the building originally built to nanufacture buggies.

The business started with just three employees, ut now employs six people full-time and three eart-time. There is a complete service department noluding three full-time mechanics.

The store sells Kawasaki Motorcycles, Snowmoiles, and Jet -Ski, Garelli and Vespa Mopeds, Ski Doo Snowmobiles and a complete line of motorcyle, moped, and snowmobile parts and accessories.

The business is owned and operated by Chet and Eileen Rhodes. They employ a full-time sales manager, Allen Fourman, and mechanics Scott Strete, Ferry Beckstedt, Ken Zook, and Ed Krogman. The parts department is headed by Dee Rhodes and the service department head is Tom Beckstedt.

MOTEL CELINA

In 1917 William J. Brown purchased the Celina Auto Company, located at 225 South Main Street, Celina, Ohio. The original CELINA AUTO COMPANY was formed by 12 or 13 men that were auto owners. They hired, probably, the first, factory, trained mechanic in Celina to take care of their cars. This was William J. Brown, born in Hancock, Michigan.

William J. Brown was so fascinated by the new automobiles that he left the copper mines for a job in Lansing, Michigan and New Castle, Indiana working in early auto factories.

Bill married Bess Jenkins, granddaughter of Dr. Wilson, one of Mercer Counties early M.D.'s. They had two children, Eileen and William W. Jr. Brown operated the Celina Auto Company until his death in 1946. During this time he had the Buick Dealership until 1928 when he changed to DeSoto-Plymouth. At the time of his death he was one of the oldest DeSoto dealers in the United States.

After Brown's death, the Celina Auto Company was operated by his widow and son, William, Jr. In 1950, it was sold to Jared Halderman. In 1952 the entire 1/2 block burned. In 1953 Bess Brown built the Sunoco Station on the corner. William, Jr. and his wife, Jean Baumgardner Brown purchased the property around the station and built the MOTEL CELINA in 1958 where they made their home. They have two daughters, Sandy and Pat. They started with 13 units and eventually went to 17 units, 21 units and 28 units. In 1972 they purchased the Sunoco Station, tore it down and completed the Motel to its present 35 units. They average renting 9500 rooms a year which is more than the population of Celina.

THE JOHN W. KARCH STONE CO.

The roots of The John W. Karch Stone Company go back to 1880 when the Karch family began farming in southern Mercer County. In 1903, Mr. Karch began in the quarry business at the present location. Continued progress has brought the quarry to a prominent place in the Mercer County Industrial Community.

Recent expansion plans included a fluidizing dryer for the processing of agricultural limestone. After drying, the material is stored in a building constructed for that purpose.

An impact type crusher for secondary crushing along with the accompanying conveyors, screen, and bins was recently added to assist in increasing the quantity and the quality of the finished product. Inew 2½ cubic yard shovel was added to assist is maintaining an adequate volume of material to the expanded crushing and processing operation.

In 1922 a quarry 15 miles west, in Indiana, wa purchased and has operated as a complimentar business to the Ohio plant.

We take great pride in the growth of Merce County and the small part we have had in this con stant move forward.

THE JOHN W. KARCI STONE COMPANY George E. Karch

BASIC HISTORY OF THE JOHN W. KARCH STONE CO.

KARCH ROAD, CELINA, OHIO

The quarry was started for the purpose of 880 burning lime.

903 John W. Karch, a resident of Mercer County, bought the quarry. Shortly thereafter he installed new crushing equipment. Steam furnished the power for operating a small jaw crusher and for drilling the blast holes. Blasted rock was hand loaded into mule team drawn rear dump wagons. The rear of the wagons were most heavily loaded to assist in dumping.

908 A Marion model 20 steam shovel was purchased for loading newly purchased railroad cars. A mule pulled the cars to the processing plant. Changes in the plant equipment included replacing the jaw crusher with a No. 6 McCully gyratory crusher for primary crushing and adding a No. 3 McCully gyratory crusher for secondary crushing. The pattern with a new Allis Chalmers rotary 911 A Lima steam locomotive replaced the mules to pull the quarry cars.

No. 3 McCully was placed in a circular flow

923 The steam power used in the mill operation was replaced with a Buckeye oil engine.

925 A 20 HP Goulds pump was installed to keep the quarry dry.

symons cone crusher replaced the 929 McCully for secondary crushing.

932 A new product, stone sand, was added to the list of specification materials produced by the plant.

A Lima 403 gasoline powered shovel re-933 placed the Marion steam shovel.

941 The first use of electricity in the processing plant was accomplished by installing a larger Buckeye oil engine and a generator. Since electrical energy could not be widely distributed, belt power was also used from the same engine.

946 The company converted completely to commercially produced electrical energy (440 volt, 3 phase, 60 cycle).

.946-47 A major modernization of the operation was initiated. A Lima 604, 11/2 cubic yard shovel, diesel powered was placed in the quarry. Two Easton 10 cubic yard side dump quarry trailers powered by White tractors were to do the hauling from shovel to crusher. A 36 inch by 48 inch Lippman jaw crusher was installed for primary crushing. From the jaw crusher to the surge pile a 30 inch wide belt conveyor was added. Two Jeffrey vibrating pan feeders, fed surge pile material onto a second 30 inch wide belt conveyor that carried the stone to the processing plant.

A Lima 1002, 2½ cubic yard diesel driven shovel replaced the smaller unit.

1952 A lima 803, 21/2 cubic yard diesel driven shovel was placed in the quarry for primary loading. The Lima 1002 was shifted to other loading work around the quarry.

> Originally the quarry was opened with one level but this had long since been lowered to include a second level. The working face height was now 46-47 feet.

1964 Equipment was installed to reprocess material into agricultural lime. A building 60x180 feet was built to store the finished product under roof. A third level was opened in the quarry bottom. The working face was established at 30 feet. In addition the pump hole was excavated to a depth of approximately 22 feet below the third floor level.

1965 A Jeffrey fluidizing dryer was added to the agricultural lime processing plant. For increased capacity and flexibility a sec-1966 ondary crushing and screening plant was added. This included a 404 Jeffrey impact crusher for secondary crushing plus two 30 inch wide belt conveyors for in and out of the screen and storage silo section. The larger sizes are produced at the secondary plant and the smaller sizes are produced through the older plant. Either plant can be operated individually or the two can work together, each producing its particular sizes.

An additional shovel was added, a North-1967 west, Model 80D, 21/2 cubic yard diesel driven, to increase efficiency and produc-

Water must be pumped from the quarry constantly. Two pumps, a Frederick 8" diameter discharge 1600 gallons per minute at 120 feet head and a Weinman 8" diameter discharge 15000 gallons per minute at 120 feet head, carry out the pumping requirements. Normally one pump will adequately handle the task, but in wet weather it is occasionally necessary to run both.

Western Asphalt has a Barber Green asphalt plant on the premises. It serves the area for road, street, and highway building and repair. Geologically, the stone quarried is a Niagara Dolomite. It runs 12% pure magnesium and 20% pure calcium.

The John W. Karch Stone Company has a policy of constant attention toward improvements of the materials produced. Through the years many changes have been made to not only raise production but also to improve quality. We strive to make the very highest quality crushed stone that modern technology and equipment can produce. We feel we are justified in the pride we take in our products.

LOMBARDS BEAUTY SALON

For the past ten years, Lombards Beauty Salon, has been located on the first floor of Mrs. Allen's handsome home at 315 East Market Street, Celina. In 1924, Mary Allen (Lombard) opened her beauty salon above the present Treasure House Furniture Store, but most of her clients came to know her during her 40 years above the present Bair's Drug Store.

Mrs. Allen said these last years have been the busiest of her entire life and that she has never had a better crew than now: Janet Rindler, Barb Fisher, Doris Goettemoeller, Joan Pond, Vicky Thobe and Betty Ranly.

Respectable matrons along with the wilder flappers were showing their emancipation by daring to have their waist-length hair bobbed when Mary Lombard started her shop in 1924. Marcelling with a curling i on and finger waving (dried by a special lamp) were the fashion. That all-time breakthrough in hair dressing, the permanent wave, was yet unknown. Now in 1978 the permanent is definitely the fashion trend.

Through the years Mrs. Allen has continued to attend schools and shows in order to keep up with the latest in hairdressing.

At least 27 beauticians have been employed at Lombards Beauty Salon over the years. In addition to the present staff, they have included: Nadine Bruns, Esther Snyder, Rita Suhr, Marge Baer, Barb Vehorn, Gloria Jutte, Sue Mallory, Judy Bowers, Ruth Heitkamp, Janet Gehle, Deanna Dammeyer, Joan Bergman, Betty Rinderle, Roselyn Everman, Linda King, Margaret Powell, Corinne Schuyler, Betty Deitrick, Betty Zahn, Linda Droesch, Dottie Bricker, Avis Tingley, Ms. Hines, and Virginia Zumberge.

MALE FASHIONS

The history of Male Fashions dates back to Janu ary 1, 1972, when present owner Dan Schreibmar purchased what was then the Student Shop on Fay ette Street.

Dan Schreibman came to Celina from Dayton it 1957 after he married Roberta Sue Goldstein daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goldstein, owner of Goldstein's Department Store. Mr. Schreibmar was employed at Goldstein's and remained there for ten years. For the next five years he operated the Student Shop for Goldstein's. This was at the Fay ette Street location.

It was on January 1, 1972, that Mr. Schreibmar bought the Student Shop and operated it as Mali Fashions until August of 1973. At this time, he pur chased the present location at 126 South Main, the former site of the Mercer County Historical Mu seum.

Since opening, Male Fashions has carried a complete line of men's wear and a separate "Jear Shack," along with an additional Jr. Misses Depart ment.

THE MARTZ CABINET COMPANY

The Martz Cabinet Company came into being as ne Martz Cabinet Works in 1947. Its existence arted in a garage, an idea formed in the mind of ay O. Martz from his many years of association ith wood and wood products as an employee of fersman Brothers' Company; as superintendent of the Coleman Case Company; and as an engineer in business for The George S. May Company.

With limited facilities and equipment, and a rowing demand for his product, the proprietorship noved to the Mercer County fairground where a bom was used below the grandstand to construct he cabinetry.

With the knowledge that the business was going o grow, employees were hired and construction was tarted on a building at 1000 E. Market Street, Celna, Ohio. In 1947, late in the year, the new facility vas ready to open. The evening before the opening truck delivering papers to Celina, lost control and aused extensive damage to the rear of the new ruilding. With determination and hard work, repairs were made, and soon cabinets were being produced.

Under Ray's management, the business increased apidly, a finishing room was added along with nore employees. Seeing the tremendous demand or plywood used for construction, an additional building, the same size as the original structure, was constructed for the purpose of warehousing to meet he wholesale and retail needs of builders and individuals. This extra space also served as the machining room for the cabinet factory.

Mr. Martz

In 1950, Richard Mosier of Van Wert, Ohio, was hired to assist Ray in the operation of the business, and with this extra help, the area of coverage was increased to extend some 100 miles from Celina. This, plus commercial contracts with The Reynolds & Reynolds Company of Dayton, and government work from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, meant a continual growth in business.

The smooth operation on the growing cabinet business came to a tragic but temporary halt in November of 1952, with the death of Ray Martz in a traffic accident. With a committment from the employees and under the leadership of Pauline (Martz) Mosier (Ray's daughter) and Richard Mosier, the company gradually recovered, and in 1953 was incorporated as The Martz Cabinet Company.

With a reputation of manufacturing the finest in custom cabinetry, The Martz Cabinet Company is continuing to grow at its location at 1000 E. Market Street, Celina, Ohio.

Landmark

Mercer Landmark Inc., started business on January 14, 1934, after purchasing the Staeger Feed Mill located on the corner of East Logan and Ash Streets. Later on this plant was sold to Henry Amstutz, and the Palmer and Miller Elevator on West Logan Street was purchased. During the following years a new branch office and store building, fertilizer warehouse and many improvements were made. On November 11, 1977, a misfortune occurred, fire razed the elevator and office building.

A Merger with the Celina Equity Exchange had been discussed with the Directors of both Associations for approximately two years. This became a reality on January 1, 1978 by approval of shareholders of both associations. The Celina Equity Exchange Company began operations in 1920 on West Market Street after purchasing The Buckland Milling Company. They also had a misfortune of a fire on June 28, 1975, destroying their Elevator. They rebuilt the elevator with a modern feed mill at that time. Since January 1, 1978, the date of the Merger, there has been added a new 1500 BPH grain dryer with a wet grain holding bin, two elevator legs and other equipment to modernize the grain operation.

This up to date, modern plant offers a complete feed, grain, fertilizer and general farm supplies and custom application of chemicals and fertilizer to the patrons in the surrounding area.

MERCER COUNTY SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION

The Mercer County Building & Loan Association is founded March 26, 1888 and chartered March 1888. Those foresighted gentlemen responsible r founding the Association were J. W. McKee, m. Stelzer, C. C. Gable, W. J. Maehlman, Wm. on, D. H. Richardson, Val Fortman, V. Estry, A. Irtcher, B. M. Clendening, and J. B. Hoing. These en all served on the original board of directors. The first meetings were held in the mayor's office id at the court house.

The original concept of a savings and loan associaon was a pooling of money into a savings associaon. Each depositor would buy a "share" of the ock of the association. The price per share of the lercer County Building & Loan Assn. stock was 200.00, payable in minimum amounts of 25¢ per eek. At that time, the maximum number of shares lowed any one person was four, or a maximum deosit of $800.

As is still the case today, most people then were of able to pay cash for the purchase of a home. his pooling of money into a savings association enoled its members to buy a home. As more money as deposited into savings accounts (shares), more eople were then able to own their own homes.

Today borrowers pay a certain rate of interest to orrow money over a fixed period of time. During the first few years of Mercer County Building & Dan's operation, "money sales" were held. Prospective borrowers would bid on the money available. Or example, the first "money sale" for this association was held April 23, 1888. The first loan made was given to a man who bid on two shares of stock $200 per share) with a premium bid of $25.50 per hare. In other words, he had to repay $225.50 for ach $200.00 share borrowed. The average loan hade during this time was $300 to $400.

After just over a year in operation, the Mercer county Building & Loan Assn. showed total assets of 11,546. Total assets at year end 1977 for the Associ-tion were in excess of $24,889,000.

Originally the Association was open only one day er week, usually Monday, from 8 A.M. to 8 P.M. hese office hours remained this way until April 18, 940. On that date all depositors accounts were inured by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation and also beginning then Mercer County building & Loan Assn. offered daily office hours.

Mercer County Building & Loan Assn. survived he Great Depression without a great deal of diffiulty. There certainly were fewer loans made during hat time and the dividend paid on savings (shares) lropped to a low of 1% per year, compared to the original dividends paid of 4-6% per year. Also, during the Depression there was a greater frequency of oreclosure, but this was not uncommon during this period.

The first office of the Mercer County Building & Loan Assn. was located on South Main St. in Celina where the city parking lot is now located. In 1914, space was rented from the Celina Gas Company for a new office location. (It rented for $8.00 per month with heat and light included.) Then again in 1934 the office was moved to Room 20 in the Union Block, the building currently occupied by Male Fashions at the corner of Main and Fayette Streets. In December of 1938 Mercer County Building & Loan Assn. purchased its first permanent office at 130 W. Market St. for $5,200 from Fred & Margaret Fortman. Extensive remodeling was done at that time to suit the needs of the Association. Mercer County Building & Loan Assn. enjoyed the use of this location for many years until 1972 when the new office was constructed at 217 W. Market St., the present location.

In July, 1971, the Mercer County Building & Loan Assn. and the Ft. Recovery Building & Loan Assn. (founded in 1889) merged to form the new Mercer County Savings & Loan Association.

Through its 90 years of business, Mercer County Savings & Loan has had many people serve on its Board of Directors. They are: Joseph Hinders, Lee Cassel, Ed Snyder, Ford Lewis, J. M. Winter, John Schlosser, C. P. Wenslan, Joseph Sager, Newton Taylor, Charles Hess, Jacob Gerlach, Henry Tomlinson, Richard Chapman, Fred Laudahn, James Riley, J. C. Kistler, A. L. Zender, J. F. Meyer, John W. Desch, and Peter Stachler. Also, F. L. Touvelle, Frank Wolf, W. E. Reynolds, Wm. Dick, Albert Mersman, J. H. Pulskamp, Charles Gray, Henry Adams, George A. Booz, Elmer Bryson, Frank Fischer, A. D. Gemmill, R. W. Schlenker, Wm. Spieler, George F. Weber, A. W. Nickel, O. J. Maehlman, George Lutz, Zender Laudahn, Paul Remaklus, and B. A. Rodgers.

Those currently serving as directors for the Mercer County Savings & Loan Assn. are Roger L. Wilson, Charles L. Spriggs, Wm. J. Maehlman, (grandson of W. J. Maehlman, one of the original founders), Edward A. Kaiser, H. J. Franke, and Tony Link. The remainder of the staff includes Leroy Pohl, Dale B. Steinlage, Bert Slusser, Carol Mustard, Kenneth Barger, and Laura Roessner. Also, Jack Detrick recently retired from Mercer County Savings &

Loan Association.

MERSMAN TABLES

Mersman Tables, one of the country's oldest furniture manufacturers, was founded by Mr. J. B. Mersman around 1876, in Ottoville, Ohio, when J. B. produced his first piece of furniture — a table. Prior to that time J. B. was a sawmill operator. He operated sawmills in Kendalville and Angola, Indiana, and later moved to Ottoville.

When lumber began to get scarce, Mr. Mersman decided rather than sell rough lumber, it would be better to switch to a finished product, and he started producing the headboards, footboards and slats for beds. He had an ideal location midway between Toledo and Cincinnati on the Miami-Erie Canal. J. B. was doing well in his new venture, selling his beds for a $1.50, until other profit minded manufacturers came up with a wrought iron bed for a $1.00.

At the turn of the century the city of Celina asked Mr. Mersman to set up a furniture factory there. He would receive $7,500.00 with the understanding he must employ 25 people six months of the year for two years. This he did, and in 1900 the business was established. He began manufacturing beds, library tables, and dining room tables, of which the latter

Shortly after establishing the company, J. B. Mersman found there was considerably more detail and exactness involved in the manufacturing of tables than he liked, so he borrowed what he could on the business, handed the notes and the factory over to his two eldest sons, Edward H. and Walter J. Mersman, along with Henry Lennartz, a local banker, for the price of $500.00.

The deal was completed with the understanding that Albert Mersman, the youngest son, would be taken into the firm when he became of age. J. B. Mersman then left for Arkansas where he reentered his first love, the sawmill business. Shortly thereafter he contracted malaria and returned to Celina where he passed away in 1904 or 1905.

The company was then known as "Lennartz and Mersman Brothers", and they continued the manufacturing of dining room and library tables.

On May 18, 1906, the Mersman brothers along with Edmund Brandts, a Prussian-German immigrant who came to America in 1904, bought Henry Lennartz's interest in the firm, and the business became known as "Mersman Brothers and Brandts Company".

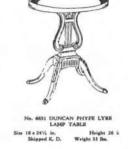

On August 29, 1906 the business was incorporated under Ohio law. Mersman Brothers Brandts Company employed 125 men in the factory year round, along with ten traveling salesman. Shipments of medium and high grade dining tables were made to nearly every state and Canada.

On October 24, 1927, Walter J. Mersman, the president of the company, requested an amendment to the company charter, and the company became known as "Mersman Brothers Corporation"

During the depression of the early 1930's, Mersman Brothers became involved in the manufacture of case goods, which consisted of bedroom suites and dining room tables and later went on to Radio Cabinets.

When WWII came along, the company went into war work as far as possible. They were limited because the number of wood items used were quite limited. Mersman Brothers manufactured desks for the Treasury Department, mess tables and benchi for the Navy, mobile repair units for the Air Forc and plywood for the Lend Lease program. Short before the end of the war, Mersmans got into i present line, living room tables.

In 1963, Mersman was acquired by Congoleur Industries, and was a member of the corporation home furnishings group until October of 1977. A that time it was purchased by the Somers Corpora tion, a group of private investors, headed by M Will Somers and headquartered in Highlands, New Jersey. Mr. Somers is currently the president of wha is now known as Mersman Tables. The company Vice President and General Manager is Don Vande Horst, who has been with Mersman since his fire days as a sales trainee in 1950.

Mersman Tables is currently manufacturing Oc casional Tables along with correlated wall units an curios, in three separate facilities. The main plant i Celina houses the main offices and factory in a area of nearly 500,000 square feet where it employ over 570 people. A smaller facility, also in Celina handles specialty items and employs about 20 peo ple. The company also operates a southern plant is Eupora, Mississippi, which allows Mersman to bet ter serve customers in that region. The plant cover 200,000 square feet and employs 180 workers.

To date, Mersman has manufactured close to 3 million tables for the world's homes and has alway enjoyed a fine reputation of quality. Reasons for thi are that each individual part of a table is inspected before it leaves its department, and is inspected again upon completion.

The factory's ideal midwest location allows good shipping service to all of the Continental United States. To further insure good service, Mersman started a fleet of Company trucks in 1965. This aid the retail dealers with moderate freight rates and fewer damage and claim problems. A sizeable per centage of Mersman's shipments are also made by rail and Public Truck carriers from each shipping

Mersman Tables overall plan for the upcoming years is to reaffirm its position as the leading manufacturer of Occasional Tables in the country. The Somers Corporation has vowed to once again make Mersman a household word. The company's experienced manufacturing and sales people are dedicated to continuing the high standard of quality and service it has given throughout the years.

OWEN HALL AND ASSOCIATES, INC. 1947-1978

Hundreds of Mercer, Auglaize, Darke, Van Wert and Allen countians know Owen V. Hall and his associates as the Realtors who got them started on the road to business, farm or home ownership. Thousands of sales goers see him and his associates as lightening-paced and compelling auctioneers. Others know Owen V. Hall as a man interested in community affairs and community growth and who gives generously of his time helping his professions on the local, state, national and international levels.

Owen V. Hall became an auctioneer at 18, a real estate salesman at 19 and established Owen Hall and Associates, Inc., a real estate brokerage company, in 1947. In 1953, Hall and his father, along with Don Montgomery, founded the Western Ohio Livestock Exchange. The same year Hall, and then county extension agent Al Baxter, established the Mercer County Junior Fair ... one of the highlights of the annual county fair. In 1954, in conjunction with his real estate company, he became sales manager for Kessler Builders and maintains that position. At the same time, he served as president of the Ohio Auctioneer's Association of which he remains a board member and as a director and life member of the National Association of Auctioneers. He was appointed by two Ohio Governors as one of the three man Ohio Auctioneers Commission of the Department of Commerce. Hall was selected as Ohio Realtor of the Year in 1971.

In 1975, as president of the Farm and Land Institute of the National Association of Realtors, Hall attended the International Real Estate Federation convention in Europe which is made up of representatives from all free countries. During 1976 Hall served on the executive boards of four real estate organizations: The Auglaize-Mercer County Board of Realtors, The Ohio Association of Realtors, The Farm and Land Institute of the National Association of Realtors (all of which he had served as president) and the National Association of Realtors, of which he is currently regional vice-president f Ohio and Michigan.

During Hall's service to his professions he h managed to be active in the Neptune, Ohio Churc of God, be a long time member and past preside of the Celina Lions Club and serve as a director of the Citizens Commercial Bank and Trust Compar heard.

Over the years, Hall has acquired a number pronounced ideas about the real estate brokeray business which are put into effect at the well d signed offices at 109 East Forest Street in Celina, tl Marchal-Hall, Inc. offices at 219 Sycamore Street Greenville and the Stinebaugh Real Estate, Inc. o fices at 129 East Spring Street in St. Marys and 20 West Auglaize Street in Wapakoneta, Hall mail tains an interest in each of these affiliated offic and works with the sales counselors and staffs of 3 people. For the most part all of his associates a full-time sales counselors. 12 are brokers and Ha insists that each be a well trained and fully qualifie sales person. 9 have Graduate Realtors Institu (GRI) accreditation after completion of 180 clas room hours. The real estate brokerage business changing so rapidly that each sales person is r quired to spend a minimum of one month's tin each year in meetings, seminars or classes to up grade their abilities.

The entire Hall family is real estate oriented. Mr Madonna Hall and sons, Jon and Jerold are a brokers with GRI designations and all work with the corporate structure. Daughter Janette is considering the real estate field as a career after her gradu

Reflecting on the developments in real estate the past 30 years, Hall termed the appreciation "unbelievable." "It's wonderful that so many your Americans have been able to enjoy home owne ship. Although some buyers have objected to it creased interest rates, actually interest rates have n increased as rapidly as most other commodities over the years, loans are available. Throughout the entition of year period, home ownership has been a ver very good buy," Hall commented.

FIFTY YEARS AT THE PENNEY STORE

ifty years ago times were slower, prices were lower, I men's chambray workshirts cost 49¢ at the new JC mey store at the corner of South Main and Fayette eets.

March 21, 1929, JC Penney came to Celina with a big nd opening. A large ad in the Celina Daily Standard day before headlined Penney's commitment "To Pack ry Customer's Dollar Full of Value and Satisfaction". Special day-in-day-out values included men's broadth shirts, $1.98; Boys Spring suits (with 2 pair of knick-or longies), $9.90; men's ties at 98¢; all silk natural ngee at 39¢ a yard and ginghams for 10¢ a yard. The hion conscious woman could purchase a new Spring at for $14.75.

In March 1979 the Penney Company will celebrate fifty ars of service to Celina. Times have changed and the ce is much faster, but the standards of quality, value, vice and friendliness established back in 1929 con-

In 1929 the new store was the 1,030th to become a part the national department store firm and its establishent was part of a period of rapid expansion for the late mes Cash Penney's 27-year-old company. Beginning in emmerer, Wyoming in 1902, the company first estabhed itself in the West, then began moving eastward, ith a boom of hundreds of new stores opening in the 120's.

As Celina and the surrounding area grew, so did the slume of business in the JC Penney store. In 1939 the ore was relocated to 106 North Main Street. In October 770 the business expanded again, moving to its existing cation at North Main and Summit Streets. The store DW contains 92,358 square feet of space.

As the local store flourished, JC Penney did as well. oday the Company is the world's largest retailer of othing with more than 2,000 retail operations at the end f February in the United States, Puerto Rico, and Euppe, reporting $9.3 billion in sales last year.

"Despite this tremendous growth, we have kept our mphasis on high quality, dependable merchandise that eople can afford to buy. That's been one of the key inredients in our success," comments store manager, D. B. lahle. "We plan to keep it that way for the next 50 years, po."

Merchandise lines have expanded from clothing and ome fabrics to include everything from tires to dianonds in the larger stores. The JC Penney Catalog, established in 1963, now shows more than 100,000 items on over 1,300 pages. Subsidiaries of the company include Thrift Drug stores and the JC Penney Insurance Companies.

The Celina store has had twelve managers in its 50 year tistory, beginning with F. F. Zimmerman, who opened he store in 1929. He was followed by E. Day, Frank Long-ellow and James Burchfield. In 1935 F. C. Massareck took over and managed the store for the next 19 years until replaced by G. R. Castetter in 1954 who ran the unit until 1958. A. M. Bills then managed the downtown store until 1970 when the store was moved to its present location. The new unit has had five managers in the past eight years, William Pfeiffer, Joseph Stattler, James Rush, Robert Steinmetz, and Daniel Kahle, the present manager.

In hundreds of cities and towns throughout the United States, IC Penney stores serve the needs of the consumer with a variety of merchandise and services tailored to the lifestyle of modern America. In 1977, the Penney Company did more than $9.3 billion worth of business.

Founded as a small dry goods store in a Western frontier town, the Company has grown into one of the retailing giants of the 20th Century.

In 1902 James Cash Penney opened a cash-and-carry store in a little frame building in the frontier coal mining town of Kemmerer, Wyo. He invested his entire savings of $500 plus $1,500 he borrowed to buy one-third interest in the 25 by 40-foot store.

Mr. Penney called his store the "Golden Rule". His idea was to apply the Golden Rule philosophy to business. Mr. Penney died February 12, 1971, after witnessing his idea evolve into the unique business that J. C. Penney

Company is today.

Although the Company serves the consumer principally through its nationwide chain of more than 1,700 JC Penney department stores and its rapidly expanding catalog service, it is also the trusted druggist of millions of Americans through its Thrift Drug subsidiary; insuror of hundreds of thousands of others through its JC Penney life, health and casualty insurance companies; and operators of 37 The Treasury discount stores.

In addition, Penney has extensive retail operations in Belgium under the name of "Sarma".

Mr. Penney called his store the "Golden Rule". His idea was to apply the Golden Rule philosophy to business. He knew it meant pioneering a new merchandising idea, radical in the cut-throat competition of the early 1900s.

He determined to sell merchandise at prices as low as possible and introduced the then novel idea of one price to all. Many sales at small profits, he reasoned, were better than a few sales at large profits. Quick turnover of merchandise gave him a continuous flow of working capital to buy merchandise.

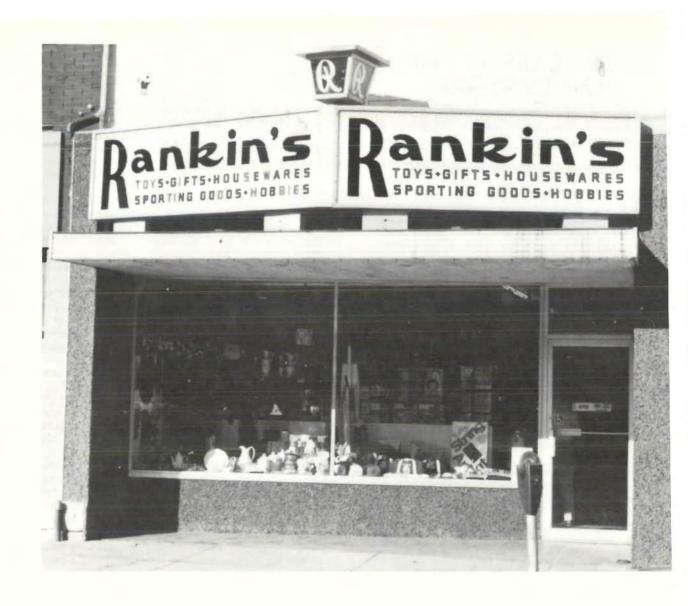

Mr. Penney's first customers soon learned they benefited from his idea — values at the "Golden Rule" were better, prices lower. In the first year in that little store, homemakers bought $28,898.11 worth of merchandise, a remarkable amount for a store of that size at the time.

From the first, Mr. Penney hoped to spread his unique ideas of storekeeping to other small communities. He wanted to build a small group of Penney stores operating under Partner-ownership. He hoped eventually to build "not a chain of stores, but a chain of men held together by an idea".

Key to the Company's phenomenal growth has been its basic policies and operating methods. The Penney Company uses all its know-how to pack the customer's dollar full of value, quality and satisfaction; ask a fair profit and not all the traffic will bear. The Company continues to reward its men and women — who are called "associates" rather than employees — through participation in the profits of the business.

While each store adapts itself to the needs of the community it serves, the Central Office in the JC Penney Building on New York's Avenue of the Americas is geared to provide whatever a Penney store needs.

Both the JC Penney buying offices and the Company's Merchandise Testing Center keep close tabs on new developments. As fast as desirable new products are developed, they are tested and checked — and offered to Penney stores. In this way, individual store management is relieved of the searching and researching required in the operation of a modern department store.

RANKIN'S

On May 10, 1955, Bill and Anna May Rankin moved to Celina and purchased Bair's Appliance, which formerly housed the Lake Theater. Since their 1955 opening, Rankin's has undergone a slow transition from the appliance store to the present store, with a wide selection of gifts, sporting goods, housewares, toys, and hobby and craft items, which makes for easy shopping for the entire family.

No major remodeling had been done to the storefront since 1955, when the store was opened, until one interesting incident did provide the need for a facelift. On May 10, 1974, early in the morning, motorist made a miscalculation and car and drive entered the store through the front window instea of the door. Since this was the Friday before Mother's Day, it made for a hectic clean-up operatio which saw the store open late that day.

When the Lake Festival Parade was revived o July 28, 1961, it marked the first time the parade habeen held since World War II. It was also on th date that a son, Jack, was born to the Rankins. Jac has recently joined the business and plans to mak Rankin's a second generation business in Celina.

NCS

N C S was incorporated on April 9, 1974, and the ant was then built in 1975. It was built for Marcus reicher and is in use as a machine shop where so-tisticated equipment turns out precision parts for a imber of local and not-so-local companies. The rel building houses a 60' x 100' shop and a 25' x 50' ing for offices and storage. It is located at the interction of West Market Street and Meyer Road in relina, Ohio. Paul Weaver is the general manager in it employs approximately six people.

N C S is a retirement project for Marcus Speicher. cept for remaining on as board member and conlitant, he actively retired in 1974 from Speicher others, Inc. in Celina, a company founded in 1959, Mark Speicher and his brother, the late Carl Deicher.

The machine shop also serves as a garage and orkshop for a "trademark" by which most Celinius know Speicher best — his "far out" cars. Here a can take his time and work at his hobby when the mood strikes.

SPEICHER CORPORATION

Speicher Corporation began in 1935 as a small elding shop which was operated by Marcus seicher at his home in Geneva, Indiana. In 1936, arcus rented a space in the Stauffer-Lehman Gage in New Corydon, Indiana and continued operan of the welding shop there until 1937.

On April 1, 1937, he moved his shop to the Hinn & Smalley Maintenance Building in Celina, hio and again continued to repair and fabricate etalwork for the area farmers. At this time, Maris established himself in the Celina area as The elina Welding Shop.

In 1939, with the cooperation of his father and his other, Carl Speicher, a new facility was conructed at 308 Portland Street in Celina. It was at is time that Carl Speicher entered the business as a equal partner.

During the years of 1942-1946, the company lay rmant while both Marcus and Carl served in the ilitary service. In 1946, upon their return from the war, the company was re-established as Speicher Brothers. From 1946-1954, the partnership was engaged in general welding and repair work. It was during this period that the company also manufactured grain elevators and loaders. In 1952, they constructed the proto-type trencher which was later to become its main line of production. This machine was the "brainchild" of Mr. Nathan B. Shimp, who had tested the idea of rubber tires on his own trenching equipment. In 1953, the first Tandem Traction Trencher went into service. Other contractors saw the machine perform and wanted one and the trencher production soon became a full-time operation.

For five years the two Speicher brothers and Nathan Shimp produced and sold trenchers in and around Ohio. The Tandem Traction Trencher had become big business, so by 1959, a more formal arrangement was sought between the two brothers and Nathan Shimp. The result was that Speicher Brothers, Inc. was to build the machine and Anchor Sales Corporation was to sell them. This remained the same until November of 1963, when Carl and Mark assumed full control of the company and the partnership with Nathan Shimp was dissolved the following year. At this time, Carl W. Marsee joined the company as Sales Manager. More and more machines were built each year and the company received numerous requests for auger backfillers, which the company began to manufacture in 1961. Carl Marsee became Vice- President of Anchor Sales Corp. in 1968 and was named President four years later. Marcus retired from the company in 1974 and established a new company, N.C.S., Inc., which supplies short run machined parts to many industries. While he is no longer involved in the day-to-day operation, Marcus still sits on the Board of Directors and acts as a consultant. In 1975, Carl Marsee took on the role of President of Speicher Corporation. Mr. Terry A. Marsee joined the office staff as Vice-President of Speicher Corporation in 1976. Carl Speicher retired from the company in August of 1976.

Demand for Speicher products forced the capacity of the original 1939 plant from a mere 3,024 square feet to 24,000 square feet including offices in 1972. This still, however, was not enough and space to expand was gone. In 1976, Speicher bought another factory, the former Celina Manufacturing Company facility. The thirteen acres of land ensured room for efficient production and space to expand. The factory space plus the office now totals 70,000 square feet. The company also has Parts and Service Depots in Illinois and Iowa and distributors in Canada, Michigan and North Carolina.

THE STANDARD PRINTING CO., INC.

Publishers of the Daily Standard

Some confusion exists as to the early ownership of the Western Standard — the predecessor of the present Daily Standard. According to the S.S. Scranton Mercer County history of 1907, the paper was established August 4, 1848 by J. S. Miller, printer, and L. C. Smith, Publisher. In 1850, however, the paper was sold by Hunter, publisher, and Barrington, printer, when Barrington went on the California gold rush via a walk across the Panama Isthmus to W. L. Blocker and S. S. Snyder, both of Bellefontaine. No account is available to the 1848-1850 ownership, other than that two sets of partners are mentioned, in different old histories.

Snyder's younger brother, A.P.J. Snyder, came to Celina March 17, 1851 on a horse and worked as a compositor until 1854 when he bought out Blocher's interest — since Blocher then was a judge. Snyder was the first initiate into the Masonic Lodge in Celina, in 1853.

During the Civil War, the Standard was the only Ohio paper to face Union muskets (manned by soldiers on furlough in St. Marys) for its opposition to the war. When the soldiers saw the hoard of Democrat farmers and townsmen with deer rifles pointed at them, they returned to St. Marys.

In 1865, after bitter Civil War experiences, the Snyder brothers sold the paper to D. J. Callen. A year later, A.P.J. Snyder, (crying daily because of a life without type to set) bought back the paper from Callen. His brother Seth began a long political carreer.

In 1870, the building currently housing the Style Shop was constructed, the second floor having been built to hold the printing plant which received water born freight via a creek at the rear of the building, from canal boats. While in this location, A.P.J. Snyder's only living son, Frank A., was apprenticed there in 1883, on a Washington hand press. Eventually the paper moved across the street, and was above the Commercial Bank, when the fire of 1894 destroyed the west half of the business section. The elder Snyder was never able to speak after the fire — and he died in 1901.

location following the fire — and a few years late went through a sheriff's sale in bankruptcy — duing which the sheriff fired a revolver at Frank & Snyder, when Snyder intentionally insulted him, t gain time for his oldest sister to see John DeFord & the Citizens Bank, for a loan. (See four paragraph below). The loan was made at the last minute, an the paper continued.

F. A. Snyder took over management of the pape and in 1904 heard in a barber shop that the Demo crat — a paper largely controlled by the Democrati party organization, was opening a daily paper — bu had lost its shipment of paper in a rail car.

On two days notice, Frank A. Snyder began th Daily Standard — as an intown experiment, an with no typesetting facilities, other than handse type. To Snyder's surprise, some farmers bought th daily newspaper — and in 1909, he bought the fire Linotype for the paper — which will eventually be displayed in a show window at the East Marke Street plant. The weekly paper was discontinued in the mid-1930's.

Throughout its 130 years of life, the Standard (a it is more affectionately called) has achieved a we balanced measure of notoriety and acclamation.

A.P.J. Snyder's eldest daughter, Lizzie (McKim) was born in 1860, and was the first person to gradu ate from Celina high school — when John DeForwas superintendent. As early as grade school, sh rted writing for the paper, and did much of its edrial management until her death in the mid 20's. Her two younger sisters — Cora and Carrie, to were twins, set type, and helped with business inagement, as young girls. All three of the women voted their entire lives to the paper, and none had ildren that lived.

Despite his hatred of wars, A.P.J. Snyder allowed son Frank to accept a commission as a first lieuiant, during the Spanish-American war in 1898. hen the then young Snyder found out that a Reblican youth had been commissioned a captain, tore up his commission, reportedly on the Court use lawn, and never reported for military service. During the 1920 period of Ku Klux Klan activity, 2 Standard publisher and his family were threated with death because they opposed the Klan.

The 1936 Democratic primary race between arles Sawyer and Martin L. Davey brought praise m Davey, when he spoke at the Court House ainst Judge Henry Miller, and the Standard. He oclaimed the Standard the best paper in Ohio th which to wrap garbage — and the worst to id. When he was defeated, the Cincinnati Enirer account said that Davey had lost only two rucounties in Ohio - and that the Standard was ponsible for his collapse in Mercer County. This eased the Standard almost as much as the garge-wrapping award.

Eventually, the Standard re-acquired the half ock on Market, from Ash Street west to the alley, iich A.P.J. Snyder had bought in 1855. Some day, old Snyder homestead, to the east, will be rered, and a press room addition is planned for the st behind the home.

In its 130 years, the paper acquired some nostalgic es, other than Governor Davey's praise. In the 90's, when A.P.J. Snyder and his four children opited the plant, it was called "The Family Organ" its many detractors. This followed through wever, and about a decade ago, it was listed as the cond oldest family owned paper in the United Statistically, the Standard allegedly has the largest culation, for a town the size of Celina, or a county size of Mercer County, in the state of Ohio.

And a year ago, International Paper Co., the rld's largest maker of newsprint, said that the indard's paper consumption was the largest, for circulation of any paper it had identified in the dwest United States. The paper follows a policy of uble the column inches of news, to the inches of vertising.

Following the death of F. A. Snyder in 1944, manement of the paper was taken over by his two ildren, Joy A. and Parker R. Snyder. Miss Snyder, 10 handled most of the personal news for many ars, died in 1970. Parker Snyder currently manes the paper. Three of his children, Frank, Adele telser and Lillian Schoch work at the plant. The indard's current press was started, on its first run, Adele when she was less than a year old. The ess is now over 75 years old.

The Standard is the oldest business in Mercer

The Daily Standard Received two United Press Innational Ohio Newspaper Awards for Journalistic cellence; one to Joe Lersky for First Place, Best Edrial, 10,000 to 20,000 circulation in 1978; the other Steve Fought for second place, best sports story or lumn, 10,000 to 20,000 ciculation, in 1978.

STATE FARM INSURANCE

State Farm Mutual Insurance Company was founded in 1922, by a retired Illinois farmer. Originally farmer's autos were insured through a mutual organization by the policyholders. By 1942, the Company was the nation's largest auto insurer; State Farm has been number one since then and today insures approximately nineteen million vehicles.

State Farm Life Insurance Company, founded in 1929, today ranks as the eighth largest life insurer. It had approximately thirty-one billion total life insurance in force at the end of 1977. This growth is tremendous considering that State Farm Life has passed many life insurance companies that have been in business for a hundred years.

The expansion did not stop there; in 1935, State Farm Fire and Casualty Insurance Company was started. Today State Farm insures more families' homes than other insurer, and more pleasure boats than anyone else.

The Company added health insurance in 1965, and today more than four hundred forty-two thousand health insurance policies are in force.

State Farm did not enter the Ohio market until the early 1950's, and did not enter Mercer County and Celina until 1973. So, although many people in this area have heard of the State Farm name, only recently has State Farm been locally available and locally promoted and serviced. The current State Farm office has been at 114 N. Main St., Celina, since November of 1974. Since July of 1975, Bob Nuding, a Celina native, has been the local agent. During this time, the local agency has expanded much like the State Farm Company has elsewhere, by telling the State Farm success story about all kinds of family protection. The Celina agency has gone from one employee to three, due to the successful growth of the quality products State Farm offers.

VIC STEINKE BUILDERS

The origin of Steinke Builders actually started back in 1949 while I was working as an apprentice cabinet builder for Martz Cabinet Shop. After three years of cabinet building, my experience was broadened by building houses for eight years for Lawrence Fifer, a local contractor. During these eight years of house construction, the evenings were spent building cabinets and doing small remodeling jobs for friends and relatives. After Mr. Fifer retired in 1960, I decided to go into business for myself.

We maintain a work force of twelve men the year around and specialize in cabinets, custom building and everything connected to the building trade; such as: plumbing, heating, electrical, painting, etc. At the present our regular customers number nearly five

Some of the homes we have built are: Lowell Gagle home — Meadow View Dr., Olen Amstutz home — Magnolia St., Dr. LeRoy Weber home — 117 Brandon Ave., Dick & Son Funeral Home — 218 West Market St., Ron Liette home — Menchoffer Woods, Billy Harvey home — Mooring Line Dr., and the Jerry Smith home — Melody Drive.

TOTAL ELECTRIC

Total Electric had its beginning on December 20, 1972, when John Brown and Roger Spohn opened the shop to provide the area with residential wiring, electric heating, and insulation service. At that time seven people plus a bookkeeper were employed.

In 1975 Roger Spohn sold his interest to Tom Robbins and Tom and John remain as the present owners. The business has been expanded to include all types of residential and commercial electrical work. With the increased demand for heat pumps and the concern with home insulation, Total Electric is meeting the needs of the energy conserving customers. The business is operated out of its own building and serves its customers with five vehicles.

The current employees of the business besides John and Tom are: Marce Nietfeld, Stan Brown, George Tester, Kent Hinton, Tom Cole, Dave Russell, and Marjorie Bruggeman.

TRACTORS, INC.

TRACTORS, INC. opened for business May 1, 1959 in a leased building at 230 E. Market Street, Celina, Ohio with eight employees. The primary business was and still is repairing and rebuilding the undercarriage of crawler type tractors and cranes. The rollers, idlers and tracks are rebuilt by submerged arc welding process. Hand welding is used for sprocket rims and other parts. A track press is used for turning or replacing pins and bushings. We also stock a complete line of new undercarriage parts for these tractors including hardened bolts and nuts.

In 1971 the company purchased and renovated the building currently used at 215 W. Fayette Street, Celina, Ohio. Also, at this time we added a new completely automatic welding machine for rollers, the only such operation in this immediate area. In 1972 we purchased the house and lot to the west of our building, razing the house to use the lot for storage and parking area.

We service customers from the state of Ohio, Indiana and lower Michigan. We now have fifteen em-

WINKELJOHN PRINTING & OFFICE SUPPLIES

In 1935, Fred and Ida Gilberg received information concerning a small lithographing machine and decided to investigate. Fred had been a printer for a number of years, having been associated with his Father, A.C.F. Gilberg in the publication of the former Mercer County Observer. This was a weekly Republican newspaper issued here for many years, but ceased publication in 1925. Fred had also worked with printing companies in Cleveland and had also edited the Coldwater Chronicle for some time.

Lithographing was a rather new process in 1935, but Fred Gilberg decided to purchase the small machine and start a new business venture, known as Gilberg Printing.

After a few years and much endeavor and promotion work, the business became moderately successful, and several letter press machines were installed together with a linotype, also hand set type. The two methods of printing worked well together and permitted the plant to take on a more variety of orders.

During most of these years Herb Winkeljohn, starting as a high school student in the shop and became knowledgeable in the production work.

In 1946 Fred and Ida Gilberg purchased the present building at 212 N. Main St., occupied by Winkeljohn Printing & Office Supplies and moved all equipment to that location.

The retail office supply business was incorporated into the venture in 1948.

In 1961, the business was sold to Herb Winkeljohn who together with his wife Esther operates it today. Herb had been reemployed by Gilbergs after his discharge from the service in 1945. During his 4 years with the Army Engineers, his duties were setting up and operating similar lithographing equipment from island to island in the Pacific, where he became a Master Sergeant. New equipment has been added and the office supply division expanded into its present successful business. Harold Heitbrink and Randy Winkeljohn are associated with Herb and Esther in conducting the production and sales.

WOLFF TIRE SERVICE,

Wolff Tire Service was started in 1939 by J Wolff as a gasoline station. The business and r estate was purchased in May of 1953 by Carl a Leo Schockman, who ran it in the beginning as four man operation.

During the years, the people from a wide as have come to depend on Wolff Tire Service to hat the tires and service they need. Whether it be golf carts or huge farm tractors, or something in I tween, they know they can count on Wolff T Service.

In May 1978, Wolff Tire Service celebrated 25th anniversary. At that time, the company seliced a wide area of retail customers, and its' who sale trucks covered a wide radius of up to 100 mil Their main line of tires and tubes was Firestone, It they also stocked and sold Michelin, Astrostar a Triumph tire lines. Their service includes "in the shop and on the farm" service, highway tire service, brake work, and exhaust system work. The now have 18 employees.

Early in the life of the business, Wolff Tire Serice started installing seat covers. This has develop into a full line Trim Shop for repairing and restorithe interiors of most all types of automobiles a trucks.

THE ALTRURIAN CLUB

Drigins of the Altrurian Club date back to 1899 en ten friends met at the home of Judge S. S. anton to organize a women's club. Those women Martha Scranton, Alice Brownless, Jessie Rauda-1gh, Laura Dysert, Ida Stubbs, Anna Howick, zabeth Feldheiser, Addie Vinning, Sue Rauda-1gh, and Alverda Shipp — became charter mem-

s of the Altrurian Club of Celina. The name of the club was derived from the Latin rd "altar" which means regardful or devoted to iers. This seemed appropriate, as the prime purse of the club was to be the study of literature and fine arts, and devotion to community betterint. The club's first president, Ida Stubbs, wrote fe gives back to us in kind what we put into it.' Minutes from as early as 1904 document the time d effort devoted to Altrurian Club activities oughout the years. Weekly meetings typically ntained presentations of papers prepared by imbers. Often an entire club year was devoted to study of a particular country, such as Germany Japan. In each case, reports were prepared by embers on the history, culture, art, music, famous nilies, and other interesting features of the coununder study. In addition, many programs fosed on authors, poets, and musicians. Discussion current events have also been a regular feature of ograms since early in the century. In 1915 a spird report on the topic "Should Women vote as eir husbands do?" was typical of the interests of 2 club members.

In 1908 Margaret Rice began what would become ty-seven years of contributing her musical abilities the club. Music was an important part of the club d amateur theatricals and musicals were presented ch year. These were first presented on an informal sis in the members' homes, and later at ST Paul's ethodist Church to accommodate the large audice. Especially active in preparing the early enternments were Mary Bess Kreimendahl and Eva

Since 1954, Dorothy Brookhart and Quinn Schiner have entertained the members and guests with eir "Afternoon at the Theater".

The Altrurian Club boasts a long history of comunity service. One of the first efforts was when idrew Carnegie gave ten thousand dollars to the ty of Celina for the establishment of a public grary. It was necessary for the people of Celina to ovide a site for this library. (The town was being rived at the time by a small library in a room of the y building. This was maintained by the Shakeere Club.) The project was promoted by Grace lyder and funds were solicited by women of the lakespere, History and Altrurian Clubs. Subselent gifts to the library followed through the years, d today the club places books in the library as emorials to deceased members.

In its early years the Altrurian Club raised monies for buying milk for school children, donating baskets of food to the needy, and the improvement of North Shore Park. They sponsored the "I'll Try" club for school girls and organized and sponsored the Girl Scouts of Celina. Club meetings were suspended during World War I as members gave their time to the Red Cross.

The Ohioanna Library, which recognized the works of Ohio writers, was sponsored by the club.

Since 1928 club members have purchased articles made by blind persons upon request of the Ohio State Commission of the Blind.

In 1914 the Altrurian Club joined the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and has contributed to such worthy projects as the Pan American Scholarship Fund, The Penny Arts Fund and the Memorial Forest. On a local level, the club annually presents the National School Choral Award and the Chopin Piano Award to superior music students at Celina Senior High School.

Altrurian Club activities were generated from meeting in the homes of members until 1946, when the meetings were moved to the Richardson-Bretz

Memorial Building.

Currently there are thirty-five active members, twenty-four associate members and two life members (fifty years active membership) in the club. The life members are Hannah Hattery and Belva Stubbs. In September 1919 a charter was granted to ninety-four (94) charter members, all veterans of World War One.

After four years of trying to carry out the programs of the American Legion, the programs being: Child Welfare, Rehabilitation, Community Service and Americanism, they decided they needed the help of an Auxiliary. They invited the Wives, Mothers, Sisters and Daughters to form a unit to their post using the name Celina Unit 210. In 1973 Granddaughters was added to the eligibility list.

In February 1923 a charter was issued to Celina Unit 210 by the Department of Ohio Auxiliary. One hundred and one (101) women became charter members. All dedicated themselves to assist in carrying out the programs of American Legion in carrying for children of Veterans and Veterans themselves. The care of the Veteran and his family was the first obligation of Legion and its Auxiliary.

Community Service and Americanism were the second obligation of the group. As the years passed, other programs were added, such as Legislation, Buckey Boys State and Girls State, where High School Juniors are taught about Government.

GIBBONS HOSPITAL

In 1935 Gibbons Hospital was chartered by state d federal statutes as a non-profit institution with original board consisting of Dr. and Mrs. John T. bbons, Raymond Younger, and Harry Winkel-

John T. Gibbons, M.D., a graduate of the 1915 ss of the Starling Ohio Medical College which ortly afterward became the Ohio State University edical College, moved to Celina July 26, 1916. One ar later he was called to serve in the army. Upon return he entered into a partnership with Dr. J. E. Ittery but in 1921 he purchased the lots of 117 and 9 East Fayette St. and had an architect draw plans a thirteen room office building. He moved into is new office in 1922. The new offices consisted of waiting room, x-ray room, treatment room, conltation room, business office and two rooms were used to Dr. Guy Bryson, Dentist.

Dr. Gibbons married Ruth Catherine Crampton d their home was built on the lot just east of his fice.

In 1925 another room was added to the main tilding which would accommodate two beds for patients and in 1931 a second floor was added nich provided nine additional rooms plus a surgil suite. At this point it is interesting to note that e first babies born (a total of four) in 1933 were all r Caesarean Section. To date (8-1-78) there have een a total of 13,422 liveborn babies with only one aternal death (that being in 1939 before the disvery of antibiotics).

The rear half (two stories and basement) were ded in 1938 and in 1946 the home structure was nverted into a maternity unit giving the commuty a total of 35 beds of which 10 were restricted to e maternity department. In the years 1947-51 the spital averaged 809 births per year. In 1957 a cometely segregated maternity unit was added which as also built to include both a doctor's and dental fice. The hospital capacity had now reached 44 ds and served the area as short term general hostal including surgical, medical, and obstetrical, and boratory, emergency, and x-ray services.

Dr. Gibbons served also in the 2nd world war unhe suffered a heart attack in France. His son John C. assumed the position of hospital administrator in

The hospital has had an all time high of 115 employees and had on its active staff long time area doctors: Benning, Helfich, Barton, Chrispin, Adkins, Slusser, Schmidt, Willke, McIlroy, Fox, and Gibbons.

The present active medical staff are doctors: P. Beare, R. Dobbins, L. Finkelmeier, D. Fox, G. McIlroy, and J. Otis.

Gibbons Hospital is unique in being one of the few completely self-supporting hospitals with but one major donation (by the Ford Foundation in 1956). It has been a member of both the American Hospital Association and the Ohio Hospital Association. The present hospital board is as follows: Jared Halderman, Pres., Bill Toms, V. Pres., Harry J. Winkeljohn, Secy. Treas., Tom Green, Ferd Winkeljohn, Donald Fox, M.D., and Atty. John Hinders.

CELINA HISTORY CLUB

The Celina History Club had its beginning in the fall of 1892, when Mrs. Charles (Lizzie) McKim called together eight ladies for the purpose of studying and becoming more familiar with our country's first 400 years. This study was inspired by plans for a World's Fair to be held that year in Chicago (and actually opened in 1893).

The eight members of this first study club were Lizzie (Snyder) McKim, Adarene (Blake) Landfair, Lura (Freeman) Mitchell, Anna (Blosser) Struckman (later Murlin), Belle (Smith) Doron, Harriet Smith, Agnes Snyder and Flora Harter. They met regularly and lessons were assigned each week for the following week's study.

The membership increased to twenty, but we have no written records until 1897 when they organized formally with the following officers: Lizzie McKim, president; Lura Mitchell and Grace (Harring) Deatrick, vice-presidents; and Bertha (Strickler) Wyckoff, secretary and treasurer. The Club still carries the introduction to that first constitution, "For the purpose of mutual improvement, believing that close and careful study and interchange of ideas will prove a great benefit, we organize under the name of History Club of Celina." Their motto: "They build too low who build beneath the stars."

From the bi-weekly Mercer County Standard, October 16, 1897: "... the club decided to adopt a course of study which will include the historical dramas of Shakespeare, with a review of English history and outline questions on English dramatists and authors, for the first half of the year, the concluding months to be devoted to general literary

Mrs. McKim was a devout student of Shakespeare and memorized a number of his plays, often taking all the parts and presenting entire acts before the Club. She served as president until 1906 and it is said that she ruled with an iron hand. For years there were only active members and there is note in an early secretary's report of two members who asked to resign and their resignations refused!

For a number of years and within the memory of some present members of History Club, members were assigned for each program to give a critical review of the program, in the use of words, delivery, enunciation and pronunciation.

However, not all was study. During the early years members held three or four "social sessions." Once a year they had an elaborate banquet or party, sometimes held at the Mercelina Park Hotel, and to which their husbands were invited. Apparently, they felt the husbands should return this favor, for in the minutes of April 7, 1904, there was a motion made and carried that the Club husbands take their wives by trolley to St. Marys or Lima and treat them to supper!

Later, the serving of refreshments was discon ued and during the 1940's the number of meeti was changed to twice a month.

In time also, the membership increased to 30 an associate membership list was formed for in tive members. About 1950 an honorary members designation was created for those members who I been active for 30 years or more. At the time of twriting, two members are eligible for this honor, cille (Netts) Younger and Myra Jane (Whitlo Wallace, although Mrs. Wallace prefers to rem an active member.

Celina History Club became a Federated Wo en's Club in 1900. While it is interested in and concerned with the betterment of the community, is primarily a study group and holds few monomaking activities. From its membership dues it pare Federation dues, contributes yearly to the Ol Memorial Forest and donates an American Heritasubscription and other books to the library.

Without doubt, its outstanding contribution to t community is the part it played in the establishme of the Celina Public Library. A library was fit opened in 1899 in the City Building by the Shak spere Club. History Club donated books at attended fund-raising events the Shakespere men bers sponsored to support their project.

History Club then assumed responsibility raising the money ($2200) for the present site of t Mercer County Library, formerly the Botkins I They held bake sales, shows, lectures and recetions, and in 1902-03 they published a cookbook "Choice Receipts" which sold for 35 cents. Throu these efforts they raised $1100 and then solicit merchants and individuals for the remaining $1100.

They also appealed to Andrew Carnegie for he which amounted to $12,000 for a building fund. T Celina Public Library was dedicated and forma opened with a paid librarian in 1907. Actual cost w $18,219.73 for the building and $2200 for the lot.

For years History Club meetings were held members' homes, but since 1945 many have be held in the Richardson-Bretz Memorial Building, is traditional, however, that the last meeting of the year be held in the home of the outgoing presider Since 1972 meetings have been held once a mont usually starting the club year in September with luncheon meeting. The Christmas Tea on a Saturd, in December is also traditional.

Lizzie (Snyder) McKim, founder and first pres dent of History Club, was also the first graduate Celina High School in 1878. She worked for years the Daily Standard and was always interested ar energetic in the betterment of her community. Sl died in 1928. The gavel still in use today was mad and presented to the Club on October 17, 1912, I

Mr. McKim.

CELINA LODGE #241 FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS

No one knows just when Masonry began. It has en written that Masonic emblems were found in e tomb of King Tut of Egypt. Masonry is not a reion, but it is religious in nature. It is monotheistic, belief in one Supreme Being, which explains why asonic Lodges exist in every country in the world th the exception of two - Russia and Spain. It atters not if the one Supreme Being is called God, onfuscius or Allah.

Free Masonry - conceived as "A system of Mos" - came to Celina on May 28, 1853. The first eeting place was on the southeast corner of Main d Livingston Streets in the third floor of the old is Hotel. A mammoth stone, dredged out of the iglaize River, properly engraved, still marks the ot.

Throughout the years the location of the Masonic mple has changed several times. They now own e Riley Building, deeded to them by Zura and na Riley, with Nickel Hardware occupying the ound floor and the Masons using the second and

A number of signal honors have been conferred on members of Celina Lodge #241, Free and Acpted Masons. The most distinguished Mason was dge Raymond A. Younger who served as Grand aster of Masons in Ohio in 1948. The thirty-third gree which is an honorary degree conferred by the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, Valley of Dayton, has been conferred on Raymond A. Younger, J. Ralph Murlin and Hugo D. Smelser. Six District Deputy Grand Masters who are charged with inspecting and providing leadership to the fifteen Lodges in four counties have been appointed from among our members: W. T. Palmer, E. J. Brookhart, Raymond A. Younger, J. Ralph Murlin, Hugo D. Smelser and Harold W. Kinnison. These honors speak well for the quality of the citizens of Celina.

The first Master of Celina Lodge #241, F. & A. M., was Smith H. Clark. The present Master — 125 years later - is Dean H. Morr. The first Master Mason raised by Celina Lodge was A. P. J. Snyder, grandfather of Bro. Parker Snyder, owner and publisher of the Daily Standard. Between the first and last Master are many names, too numerous to mention, who have served the Lodge as Master. These are names which are familiar to citizens of Celina names like Snyder, LeBlond, Godfrey, Wyckoff, Loree, Chapman, Brookhart, Palmer, Sharp, Bryson, Riley and Younger.

Affiliated organizations meeting in the Masonic Temple are:

ROYAL ARCH MASONS — The charter for this organization was granted on September 14, 1870. ORDER OF THE EASTERN STAR — The charter for this organization was granted on October 14, 1898. Membership includes Masons and the wives, sisters, Mothers, or daughters of Master Masons.

ORDER OF DEMOLAY - The charter was granted March 29, 1961.

ORDER OF THE RAINBOW FOR GIRLS — The charter was granted April 24, 1968.

THE CELINA LIONS CLUB

In Chicago, Illinois, a small group of businessmen were meeting each day for luncheon when Melvin Jones conceived the idea of organizing the group and extending their interests to the needs of the community and their fellow men. Little did Melvin Jones realize that his vision would develop and reach world wide dimensions.

In 1917 under the leadership of Mr. Jones, The International Association of Lions Clubs was formally organized with a creed of "Loyalty, Intelligence, our Nation's Safety". The primary interest was conservation of Sight and Hearing, along with the betterment of our communities and fellow men with no restrictions as to creed, color or race.

The acceptance of these principles has been phenomenal for as of May 31, 1978, Lions Clubs International had 1,250,180 members in 32,184 clubs and in 149 countries and geographic areas. Sensing the need and benefits of a service club for the community, a group of Celina men organized and received a charter from the Association of Lions Clubs. The twenty-one charter members were:

During the early years to survive, many struggles and trials arose, but thanks to the perseverance and determination of a few leaders the club emerged from the depression of the 1930's and World War II into the strongest service club in Celina.

Our present membership is 65 and consists of professional men, businessmen, farmers, and laborers as well as several retirees. Several of our members have over thirty years of service. The active member with the longest service is Walter Bernard, who joined our club in 1934 and held various offices including the presidency of 1938-1939.

The vitality and strength of the Celina Lions Club has been maintained through the 50 years by the interest and devotion of many members, some with over 30 years of service. The records indicate the following served as President and Secretary.

It is not possible to relate all of our activities rough the years in this short review, but we will int out just a few. The purchase of eye glasses for edy children in our own local schools. Several ousand dollars contributed to the public library id our club has been honored with a bronze plaque the library wall. We have assisted Cheryl Ann hool, furnished playground equipment, sponsored little league ball team annually. Each year we more the outstanding graduates of our local school ith a dinner and special program. We sponsor the inual Halloween parade with prizes. A major active each year is the lake festival with a candidate for e Queen contest and a float in the parade, boat ces and assistance with the Lake Booklet.

We organized a Boy Scout troop and during /orld War II contributed to U.S.O. and maintained service center for the soldiers. Our club sponsored w clubs in Mendon, Coldwater, and Ft. Recovery. Our club ranks high in our District consisting of 2 clubs earning the third place Governor's trophy under the leadership of Robert Barger as President 1964-65, first place under Vernon Enyart 1972-73 and second place under William Maehlman 1973-74.

In support of these many activities our club has conducted white elephant sales, chicken barbecues, sold bathroom tissues, citrus fruit, brooms, put on minstrel shows and had concession stands at the boat races. In the entire history of the club there has never been a raffle or any game of chance. Full value has always been given; a record of which we can be proud.

The achievement of our club would not be possible without the full support and desire of our members to serve and the full cooperation of the public which is truly appreciated.

Mercer County may well be proud of its Lions Clubs, but we cannot rest on our past accomplishments and experiences; they should serve only as bench marks and guides for greater things in the future.

HOPEWELL GRANGE NO. 2688

On February 27, 1874, a dispensation was granted to these people to organize and hold a subordinate grange "in the town of Hopewell, county of Mercer, State of Ohio, to be known as Hopewell Grange No. 623". The names of the applicants were: John Snavely, Margaret Snavely, O. Now, Margaret Now, Joseph Miller, Emily Miller, George Snavely, John Hellworth, M. A. Hellworth, Stephen Zimmerman, H. W. Crouch, Christina Now, M. A. Crouch, A. C. Crouch, A. P. Garman, John Fetters, Charles Stephenson, John Tilton, Sidney Tilton, Benjamin Stephenson, John Miller, Mary Miller, M. A. Hair, Margaret Hair, Pheba Sexton, and William Hair.

The Grange was organized and approved by I. B. Robbins, Mendon, Ohio. The Master of the new Grange was John Snavely and the Secretary was Joseph Miller. It is not known how long this Grange was active.

In 1941, during a conversation between Brother John Now and Brother Albert Harrison, the Grange was mentioned. Brother Now expressed a desire that a Grange be organized in Hopewell Township.

Brother Harrison, being the Deputy Master of the state of Ohio for Mercer County, asked Joseph W. Fichter, Master of the Ohio State Grange for assistance. He delegated Special Deputy Frank Coppas, Ansonia, Ohio, to help. Brother Harrison as Brother Now organized a grange. They soon a ceived 33 applicants for membership. They enter into an agreement with the township trustees to u the Hopewell Township House as a home for t Grange, Hopewell Grange No. 2688. The chart members were: John Now, Nettie Now, James No Naomi Now, Charles Nuding, Carson Fast, Lorel Fast, Ivan Miller, Vera Dull, Russell Fetters, Oc Fetters, Orville Now, Mrs. Orville Now, John Smi ser, Ina Smelser, LeRoy Wilson, Pauline Wilso Beulah Miller, John Hellworth, Lela Pierstorff, C ville Weir, Clarence Weitz, Margaret Weitz, Ral Zimmerman, Elsie Zimmerman, Fuhrman Miller, J Now, Mrs. Joe Now, Josephine Nuding, Edson Pie storff, Mary Ellen Pierstorff, George Hellworth, at L. It is now known as a Junior Grange.

The grange is interested and active in communi betterment. Feeling the need for a home of the own, where they could be of more service to the community, a committee was appointed in Decer ber 1953 to investigate the possibility of relocating In 1955, the committee secured permission to loca on the Mercer County Fairgrounds. The Grange entered into an agreement with the Mercer Coun Commissioners for a 99 year lease on a plot ground to build a new grange hall. This Committee consisted of Lawrence Koontz, William Hoenie, ar Walter Pierstorff. The building committee consists of the above committee along with Arlie Baucher, M. Davis, and John Now. The first meeting was he in the new building on August 8, 1955. On April 1 1965, it was dedicated, with Worthy State Maste Byron Fredrick, as dedicating officer.

The Hopewell Grange Hall is in great demand the public. The Grange has supported many worth while projects: contributed to Cheryl Ann School Junior Fair Building, and various other drives.

In 1969, by vote of the members, a nurses Scho arship of $600 was established. Three local girls have received the scholarship: Pam Piper, Sheryl Crattree, and Janet Siegrist. The scholarship has bee changed, to be used by any grange member regardless of field of education.

Past Masters of the Grange are: John Smelser, Forter Archer, Lawrence Koontz, Clarence Weitz, Lawrence Petrie, William Hoenie, James Vining, an n 1915, the Supreme Council of the Knights of lumbus awarded a charter to the Celina Knights Columbus, Council 1800. This act set up the first incil of the K of C in Mercer County. The first ular meeting of Council 1800 was held on June 8 the same year and John Wenning was elected and Knight. Fifty-four members' names were litten on the charter that still hangs in the present incil home.

Council 1800 was made up of men from Catholic ishes in Mercer County and the first few years re a time of rapid growth. Within a short time, to fee K of C was recognized as an influential body of n in the community. The fledgling group was ed with two major problems very soon after it sorganized. The first was the construction of a w parochial elementary school. All Catholic relius groups have the major purpose of supporting d contributing to the extension of the Catholic th. The Knights of Columbus lent widespread pport to the parish and took an active part in the Inning, building, and furnishing of the school ilding, completed in 1918.

The second and more severe problem facing uncil 1800 was the first World War. K of C memrs across the nation took up arms in support of eir country. Those not able to bear arms played ually important roles. K of C headquarters were up in military camps and they provided wholeme recreation, reading and entertainment to orld War I troops.

After the war, membership increased dramatilly. Realizing the importance of Catholic life in a mmunity, members of Council 1800 from Colditer organized their own council in Coldwater in 19. A few years later, in 1927, the St. Henry counwas formed, and still later, in 1950, the council in Recovery. There are now four councils in Mercer ounty and over the years all have grown in memrship, have worked together, and have enjoyed a ost cordial relationship.

Just as it affected the nation, the Depression of e '30's crippled Council 1800. In 1933, the mem-rship had dropped to 142 men. In 1934, the initian fee was reduced but still by 1937 there were ly 97 members. However, the spirit of brotherod that exemplifies the Knights of Columbus purished. Once a month area councils met and ch month a different council provided entertain-ent for the guest councils.

Soon after the Depression was over, conditions proved. But history struck another blow on Dec. 7, 41. Again, men were called to take up arms, this ne not only in defense of their country, but more portantly in defense of morality. Again the war cord of the Knights of Columbus is a distinguished ie. From lending support at home to giving their res in battle, the Knights service was impressive.

When the war ended, the young men returned home and Council 1800 again started to grow. Uninterrupted membership grew to the present 400 members, a long way from the 54 names on the charter written in 1918.

The home of Council 1800 has changed many times. On June 11, 1915 a lease was signed between Council 1800 and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. This lease allowed the K of C the use of an assembly hall and two rooms, now the eastern part of the First National Bank Building.

In the early '20's, the Ku Klux Klan was strong in this area. They needed a meeting hall and the place they wanted was the one occupied by Council 1800. Since the KKK could afford to pay more money, they got the hall and the K of C moved to the auditorium of the Catholic elementary school in 1923.

In 1926, Council 1800 rented the third floor of the Riley building on Main Street. The quarters were fine and the rent reasonable and membership grew until the depression. With the post-war rise in membership, it became necessary again to obtain a new assembly place. Since the parish owned the Lennartz home just north of the high school, the Knights were permitted to use it as their hall starting in 1954. This house, however, was soon to come down and in 1958, the council purchased a building on the corner of Sugar and Oak Streets. Again increasing membership presented growing pains. Under the guidance of Raymond Grothause, the president of the Home Committee and an active member of Council 1800, the K of C purchased the old P & B supermarket building on north Vine St. After extensive remodeling, the store was converted to house Council 1800. It consists of a large hall, a smaller meeting room, a comfortable lounge area, roomy kitchen, and small office areas.

Services provided by the Celina council are many and varied. However, as varied as they are, they all follow the major purposes of Knights of Columbus the world over; the defense of morality and propagation of the Catholic faith. Council 1800 has come a long way from the handful of men who got together on June 8, 1915. But the drive is still as strong as it was then. To be sure, there have been trials and tribulations, but all have been weathered by faith in God and faith in the universal fraternity of man.

CELINA'S COMBINED SERVICES APPEAL

Many years ago (prior to the memory of any past presidents), the Celina Chamber of Commerce organized an annual fund drive on behalf of local charitable organizations. It was the intention of the Chamber to provide a vehicle by which worthy local charities could combine their efforts and talents in a joint effort of one annual fund-raising drive.

Over the years, this combined charity drive was not given too much consideration by the Chamber and, unfortunately, often times lacked proper organization to complete its goals. The various organizations would provide volunteers for the solicitation, however, ongoing effort never seemed to material-

In 1972, the officers of the Chamber of Commerce felt the combined charities should be an organization of its own and not affiliated with the Chamber, as it had been in the past. At this time, efforts were made to organize existing combined charities and a steering committee was appointed for this purpose. Since then, the combined charities has been a self-sustaining organization, whose sole purpose is to collect funds for worthy charities in the area. Needless to say, one of the major reasons for the joint effort was to cut down on expenses of raising funds locally, and anyone close to this organization has to be impressed with the minimal amount of dollars spent to generate the large volume of contributions.

The changeover effort continued through the 1976 drive. Although the campaigns up to this point were relatively successful, no one drive ever went over the goal. In 1977, Bob Engle, John Porch & Jared Halderman spearheaded a reorganization of the yearly drive under a new name and structure, the Celina Combined Services Appeal. With a goal of $60,000, John Porch chaired a campaign which realized $81,848 for 13 service organizations.

In 1978, the Celina Combined Services Appeal was incorporated, and this campaign was even more successful. With a goal of $75,000, over $104,000 was pledged to 11 organizations:

Boy Scouts Cancer Society Crippled Children Girl Scouts Heart Association Historical Society Mental Health Multiple Sclerosis Red Cross Salvation Army Senior Citizens

Of this $104,000, less than 1% was paid out for campaign expenses. During the 1977 drive, 1.8% was paid out for expenses. In other words, about $22,000 more was raised in 1978 and expenses were cut by a little more than half! At the time this history of the Celina Combined Services Appeal was written, Steering Committee members included:

John Porch Dick Oman Jim Hogan & Ed Kuenning

B. J. Swonger Don VanderHorst Lucille Pulskamp Dee Michaels Tom Saddler Chairman of the Board Drive Chairman

Retail & Wholesale Chairmen Services Chairman Industrial Chairman Residential Chairman Publicity Chairman Finance Chairman Other key volunteers included:

Jared Halderman Marjorie Heckman Drive Administrator Penny-An-Hour Chairman Advisors

Bob Engle John Fawcett Mike Hull Bob Gibson Ron Davis Bob Carr

In the year 1979, the history of the Celina Combir Services appeal still lends itself to a perfect humistic slogan People Helping People!

CELINA FLOWER AND GARDEN CLUB

On March 12, 1936 Mrs. Ray T. Gregg, vice pre dent of the State Flower and Garden Club met at t Celina Public Library with a small group of citize to discuss the possibility of organizing a gard club. The Club has lant sales each Spring to make money for projects.

For their programs the club has speakers, such as, ctension agents, horticulturists, professional flower rangers, world travelers, and professional landscaers. Book reviews and magazine articles on gardening are given. Slides pertaining to gardening and onservation are educational for the club.

A future accomplishment of the club is to secure est rooms at the Park Shore Dr. Park and to accomlish more landscaping in Celina.

GIRL SCOUTS

Celina, Ohio Girl Scouts are part of the Appleseed idge Scout Council and are known as Neighborood 30. Appleseed Ridge Girl Scout Council covers ten county area and is currently serving more than 1,000 members.

Girl Scouting has been an active community reource in Celina for many years. Countless girls ave taken advantage of the opportunities Girl couting offers to girls in the 1st through 12th rades. Many girls after completing the Girl Scout rogram wish to continue as adult Girl Scout memers and go on to become dedicated volunteers.

Literally thousands of volunteers have been active the Girl Scout movement in Celina over the years. hese volunteers are the life blood of our organization and because of their selfless dedication and ervice, Girl Scouting has continued to be a vital ource of girl development in the Celina area.

The Girl Scout program has four major emphases thich are: deepening self-awareness, relating to others, contributing to society and developing values.

These emphases are found throughout the proram which is divided into five worlds. The concept f the five worlds insure that a well-rounded proram is available to every Girl Scout. These worlds re:

The world of out-of-doors which expands on the aditional Girl Scouting involvement with camping, ature and conservation.

The world of today and tomorrow in which the irls are introduced to the metric system, and carentry in addition to basic scientific experiments nd insights into what the future can hold for them s working women.

The world of well-being highlights physical and emotional health, nutrition, the home, safety and consumer awareness among other topics.

The world of arts includes activities in the entire range of visual, performing and literary arts.

The world of people focuses on groups and individuals with citizenship projects geared to developing appreciation of differing cultures and developing pride in one's own heritage.

Incorporated throughout the worlds are certain basics that have made Girl Scouting unique and have withstood the test of time, such as the principles embodied in the promise and the law, the concept of service and international friendship.

Girl Scout troops meet in many places with facilities provided by many community, religious and educational groups including St. Paul's United Methodist Church, East Elementary School, Immaculate Conception, Bethany Methodist Church, VFW Hall, St. John's Lutheran, 1st Church of God, West School and the Presbyterian Church.

Two Celina women, Margaret Riley and Mary Morgan, currently serve on the Appleseed Ridge Board of Trustees and have been strong and supportive members of the Girl Scout movement for many

Leaders during the 1977-78 scouting year were:

Mary Hoelscher

These women have experience in Girl Scouting ranging from a few months to more than 20 years. Regardless of their background, these women have a sincere belief and dedication to the Girl Scout movement and a real concern for the development of todays' girl and tomorrows' woman.

These are the women who keep Girl Scouting alive in Celina — who are the loving friends of all Girl Scouts and who help to instill in girls the value, understanding and belief in the Girl Scout promise and law.

The Promise:

On my honor, I will try:

To serve God,

My country and mankind,

And to live by the Girl Scout law.

The law:

I will do my best:

To be honest

To be fair

To help where I am needed

To be cheerful

To be friendly and considerate

To be a sister to every Girl Scout

To respect authority

To use resources wisely

To protect and improve the world around me To show respect for myself and others through my words and actions.

SHAKESPERE CLUB

The Shakespere Club was founded in 1894 for the purpose of studying Shakespeare. In the beginning it was not a woman's club at all, but had members of both sexes. The following were the Charter Members: Elizabeth Crockett, Ella Raudabaugh, Kate Crockett, Grace Riley, David Crockett, Samuel Raudabaugh, Hibbard Jewett and Ashley Riley.

In 1897 membership was increased to twenty; a constitution was adopted; and programs of the year's work were printed. In 1900 the club became feder-

The highlight of the club history is the founding of the Celina Public Library. It had its beginning in 1899 when forty volumes of Bancroft History of the United States, donated by E. M. Ashley of Denver, Colorado, became the nucleus of the Shakespere Public Library. During the next eight years the club's main project was the maintenance and management of the library until it was incorporated in December 1906 and became the Celina Public Library.

The success of the project was due to the cooperation of the members of the History Club, Altrurian Club, Shakespere Club, professional people of the community and the community at large. The Shakespere Club's chief source of revenue for the library project was the management of the annual lecture course. These courses were initiated in 1900 and terminated in 1932. It was considered a courageous undertaking for a woman's group at that time.

The club has supported various civic and charitable organizations, and has contributed to various causes such as Girl Scouts, "I'll Try" Girls, Books for Women's Reformatory at Marysville, Girls' Industrial School, Blankets and Layettes for French children, Belgian Relief, Loan Scholarship Fund, Ohioana Library, Child Feeding Fund, Christmas donations, Red Cross Flood Relief, National War Fund; in recent years Heart Fund, Cancer Fund, and Christmas baskets for the American Legion Auxiliary. Through the years the club has sold articles made by the Ohio blind.

The study programs have covered a wide field. The intellectual fare provided through the years has been varied and profitable. Programs consisted of music, travelogues, American poetry, English literature, Consumer's education, book reviews, a study of our American Heritage, miscellaneous programs planned around a central theme, and occasionally a bit of Shakespeare.

Club life was not all work and no play; quite the contrary. Even during the strenuous years of managing the library the members had their good times—their frivolous moments. Now the club has several dinner parties during the year and guest night when friends and members of other clubs are invited.

During the eighty-four years of its existence the club has had a membership roll of one hundred forty members which has included nurses, librarians, business women, teachers and musicians.

The present officers are: Nell Wiley, president, Rema Barber, vice-president, Melissa Kable, secretary, Doris Barber, treasurer. At the presenttime there are twenty-four active members, seven associate members and one honorary member.

SIGMA CHAPTER OF ALPHA DELTA OMEGA SORORITY

Sigma Chapter of Alpha Delta Omega Sororit was organized in May of 1954 under the guidance of Alice Grothouse, a former member of Lambo Chapter. Sixteen girls were initiated and became as tive members when the chapter was installed in Jun of the same year. Members of the chapter were Mrs. George (Ruth) Weidman, Mrs. Wilbur (Alice Stein, Mrs. George Kalal, Mrs. Richard Mosier, Mr. Charles Blain, Mrs. Charles (Betty) Dick, Mrs. Keit Dull, Mrs. Lyle Krogman, Mrs. Robert Nimmon Miss Carolyn Baucher, Miss Oressa Bailey, Mrs. Sam (Janet) Dixon, Mrs. Don Peters, Mrs. Eugen Firestone, Miss Betty Hay, and Mrs. Raymond (Alice) Grothouse.

The purpose of this sorority is to promote learr ing and engage in the cultural education of its mem bers, to foster friendship, loyalty and goo fellowship and to aid and assist those who are i need

In the beginning members of Sigma held rum mage sales, bake sales, parlor auctions, sold variou items and held a Halloween Masquerade Ball to se up a charity fund for the retarded children (one of their main projects.) Thru the combined efforts of Sigma Chapter and other organizations in the community the class for the retarded children was finally in operation.

The sorority has had as projects sponsoring a wor thy girl scout at summer camp. It has contributed generously to the Combined Drive, had projects fo the elderly at the County Home and at nursing homes, adopted needy families especially at Christ mas with food baskets and gifts and it has helped each year with Daffodil Days (a project of the cance)

To raise even more money for its charity fund the group has sponsored annual card parties, made up and sold cookbooks and were responsible for "Holiday Tour of Homes." With the renewal of the Grand Lake Festival, they sponsored a street dance a rock dance for the young people and for several years the Grand Lake Festival Ball. It entered float annually in the festival parade and sponsored queer contestants.

A scholarship fund for prospective teachers to at tend our local college, Western Ohio Educationa Foundation, is one of the sorority's newest endeav ors. It was begun in 1964. An emergency loan fund has since then been started.

Of the original sixteen charter members, six o them are still active in the sorority. They are: Betty Lou Dick, Jan Olding, Oressa York, Ruth Weidman Alice Grothouse, and Alice Stein. Other members are: Carol Amato, Jackie Badger, Jo Ann Baker, Jear Cron, Barb Dabbelt, Becky Davis, Jeanne Gebele Madonna Hall, Martha Hecht, Donna Hilbert, Barbara Hill, Charlotte Hennessey, Rita Maehlman Esther McCoy, Mary Lou Menchhofer, Joan Noren Phyllis O'Brien, Nancy Richards, Bobby Sue Schreibman, Bea Stauffer, Pat Stoel, Jan Temple Gary Wilson, and Betty Young.

Dr. L.M. Otis

OTIS HOSPITAL, INC.

Dr. Lloyd M. Otis came to Celina in August of 14. He was a graduate of the U. of Michigan, an structor in anatomy, and assistant to the chief of Irgery at the U. of Michigan Hospital. He came to lend the summer, loved the village, the people and ecided to make Celina his home. He purchased the hn P. Schuyler home on 115 N. Walnut St., used 5 dining room as a surgery and immediately built 1 office connected to his home. His rock porch and lock garden behind his home were collected in elds, along side roads and all over the country when 2 made house calls in the country.

Dr. L. M. Otis conceived the idea of building a ospital, and being a man of action he purchased ie Carlin Property at 441 E. Market St. in the early oring of 1915, immediately remodeled it and was ady to receive his first patient in Sept. 1915. The ospital boasted two private rooms and one double om. Four patients and of course his surgery. The rst hospital in this area and the next year it was enrged to accommodate twelve patients. The first aff taught by Dr. L. M. was Clay Shaner, an orerly, Miss Mary Wooten, Miss Slusser, Maude rawford and Ida Moore. These dedicated people ong with Angeline Heyne were the nucleus of the ospital. These people worked twenty-four hours a ay, six days a week. They stretched out on a cot bede the patient to get a little rest at night. During Vorld War I Dr. L. M. was in the U. S. Cavalry. At is time he studied Roentenology (radiology) beime a member of the board of Roentenologists and hen he returned to Celina he installed the first xıy in this area in Otis Hospital. In 1921 he enlargd ne hospital making it a 25 bed hospital with six basnets. At this time Celina had the most modern ospital in this area and this helped Celina to beome one of the most progressive communities in ie state. The architect who drew the plans for the 921 renovation was Lyman Strong of Lima, Ohio. Il the obstacles and prejudice that beset any progessive idea or change were overcome and Otis Hosital was here to stay.

Dr. James Otis joined his father in practice in their ome office in the early 1940's. Finding their office so small they built a new office just south of their home office on 115 N. Walnut Street. Dr. James Otis continues to practice in this office building today.

Open house was held in January 1956 for the public to see the improvements at the Hospital including extensive interior remodeling and a new addition. A new emergency room used primarily for emergency and accident cases but was equipped to handle major surgery if the main surgery was occupied. The front porch was enclosed to handle more office space and a more comfortable waiting room. The new east wing contained two three bed wards and two new baths for the patients. The original floor which was marble was covered with asphalt tile. The patients' rooms were all equipped with wider doors.

In the enusing years a new sprinkling system was installed throughout the hospital. A new general electric x-ray was installed in the seventies, a new laboratory and a new kitchen were installed.

Within the last 15 years the state of Ohio and the federal government went from a lack of interest in its hospitals to an overinvolvement in every facet of hospital procedure. With these over-zealous demands the cost of hospital care rose to ridiculous proportions but Otis Hospital never received any tax dollars from the day it opened till the day it closed its doors. Dr. L. M. Otis cared about his fellow man and because of this he opened a hospital. He worked and he studied, listened and was interested in each of his patients. He dedicated his life in the service of others. His son Dr. Jim, followed his course of direction. Dr. Jim Otis has continued his office practice in the office they built together. Dr. Otis continued on with Otis Hospital as a non-profit hospital until he closed its doors in the winter of 1978. Three score and three years the Otis Hospital has served Celina and Mercer County, it will be sorely missed and it will be hard to match the quality of care given the patients who entered the doors of Otis Hospital over the years.

Dr. Lloyd M. Otis, a descendant of James Otis (Legislator during the Revolutionary War and one of the authors of The Declaration of Independence), was born Nov. 28, 1888, in Hicksville, Ohio, son of George Knox Otis and Minnie (Cutie) Cowick Otis. After graduating from Hicksville High School, he went to the University of Michigan, where as an undergraduate, he was the only cheerleader (yell-master) at the football games during the era of Fielding Yost. While he was in Medical School, he met Barbara Audritsh, a student in the School of Music and they were married in Green Springs, Ohio, following his graduation from the University of Mich. School of Medicine in 1912.

Their son James was born in Ann Arbor, Mich., where Dr. L. M. taught Anatomy and was assistant to the Chief of Surgery at the Univ. of Mich. Hospital. They moved to Celina in 1914, where there were 11 physicians. He loved the village, the people and decided to make it their home and started Otis Hospital in the spring of 1915. Their second child, Betty Ellen, was born in Otis Hospital Sept. 18, 1915.

Dr. Otis was a member of the Celina Board of Public Affairs in the early twenties. He was instrumental in the hiring of Roy Cook, a talented engineer, to refurbish the broken down powerplant and to revitalize electric service to the village. Celina's credit was so poor that no supplier would furnish the materials and the Celina Banks refused to advance money that they felt would only add to the communities bad debts. Despite general opinion that the plant was a dead horse, Cook realized its potential and asked Dr. L. M. to join him in loaning personal money to the town to buy wire and Dr. L. M. agreed. The service to the community improved so a cordless engine was purchased and within a few years the plant went into the black and the men were reimbursed for their loans.

Dr. Otis was a member and officer of the Mercer County Medical Society, Ohio State Medical Assoc., American Medical Assoc. and the American College of Surgeons. He was a Mason, York Rite, Shriner of Antioch Temple and a member of The First Presbyterian Church. In 1938, he became a member of the American College of Surgeons, an honor bestowed on few men of family practice. He received Honors from Great Britain conferred upon him for research and success in the treatment of lobar pneumonia with the use of long wave diathermy, before the days of sulfa or antibiotics.

In 1938, Dr. L. M. married Elizabeth Dabbelt of Coldwater, Ohio. She received her degree in Nursing from St. Rita's Hospital, Lima, Ohio, and was employed at Otis Hospital from 1933 to 1938. Dr. L. M. and Eliazbeth had two daughters, Gwendolyn and Nancy, both born at Otis Hospital.

To commemorate the GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY of the CLASS 1912, the Univ. of Michigan Medical School conducted a reunion and sent the eight surviving members old photographs and addresse This inspired another graduate of 1912, Dr. H. Wi gins of Omaha, Neb., to write a letter to Dr. Ot The letter was opened by his son, Dr. James Ot since Dr. L. M. had been inactive after suffering stroke in 1953. This was the contents of the letter:

Dear Dr. Otis:

Because of illness, I was unable to attend o Golden Anniversary of the Class of 1912. A pi ture of our class was sent to me and when I sa your picture, an incident came to mind which know you have long since forgotten. We ha assembled at the Medical Building on campi prior to our march to the auditorium where v were to receive our degrees. As the processic began to form, some of my classmates were little squemish about walking with a Negr You were behind me and you sensed the awl wardness of the situation and left your partne to step forward and walk with me. True, it wi a small act, a friendly gesture, but the motive tion bespoke a spirit that is so lacking in or world today. So when I saw your picture, I felt should write and tell you I have still not forgo ten. I sincerely hope that time has dealt kind with you these last 50 years ... Hamm of Kansas City and they presently reside in Shawnee Mission, Kansas.

Jim Otis, St. Louis Cardinals, Football

JAMES LLOYD OTIS

James Lloyd Otis, only son of Dr. James and Betty Otis, was born at Otis Hospital in 1948. While attending Celina Senior High School, he became proficient on the football field as a fullback. He broke all existing rushing records of the school and was named to the Ohio All State Team in 1966. He continued his football career at Ohio State University and was a member of its National Championship Team in 1968. In 1969, Ohio State was invited to the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, California. Jim distinguished himself by being the leading rusher of that game. The same year, he was selected as an All American and starred in the Coaches All American Game when he established a rushing record which still stands today. He also played in the Shrine East-West Game, the Lion's All American Game and the Hula Bowl. After his graduation from the School of Business at Ohio State University, Jim began his professional football career with New Orleans Saints. He later joined the Kansas City Chiefs and is now playing with the St. Louis Cardinals.

In 1975, as a Cardinal Back, he led the National Football Conference with 1,076 yards gained by rushing. This record qualified him for induction into the Thousand Yard Club. He was the 31st football player ever to earn this honor. In 1978, Jim became the All Time Leading Rusher for the St. Louis Cardinals, breaking this record with a Cardinal career total of 3750 yards rushing.

Jim married Janet Dwyer of Kansas City in 1973 and they now have two daughters; Jodi Ellen and Christine Rene. In the "off season", Jim is employed by the Edward K. Love Company, a mortgage and banking firm in St. Louis. The family's home is in Chesterfield, Missouri.

Jim's name is listed in the 1972 book of Outstanding Young Men in America and in the 1978 book of Who's Who in America.

Jim is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity.

CARL H. ANDREWS FAMILY

Franklin Pierce Andrews, the son of Charles W. and Christiana Hinderer Andrews, was born April 11, 1859 and died on October 31, 1941.

On March 19, 1891 he married Ellen May McGee, the daughter of John and Mary Buxton McGee. She died on March 14, 1958.

Mr. Andrews made and burned the brick for a seven-room house which he built for his bride. It had a double wall and a single wall with a four-inch air space between, and required 48,000 bricks in its construction.

Three children grew to adulthood, Carl Homer, Carrie Ellen, wife of Whitridge Adams, and Pearl, wife of Willard R. Stoner.

Carl Andrews was born in West Jefferson Township, Mercer County, June 8, 1892. He attended Elm Grove, a one-room school, Celina High School and Celina Business College.

On October 9, 1918, he married Elsie Leah Barker, daughter of Orlington and Laverngie Walmire Barker. She was born on April 16, 1898 and died on April 27, 1930. To this union were born three children: Pauline, who was born on December 26, 1922, and died at the age of six days; Donald Wilson, who was born on May 24, 1925, and Miriam Jean, who was born on February 29, 1928.

On March 25, 1932, Carl married Hope Scarborough, who was born in Champaign County, near West Liberty, Ohio. She graduated from West Liberty High School and Wittenberg University. She attended Miami University for one year and attended summer school at Ohio State and Columbia University. She taught school for twenty-two years, two of which she was principal of the high school at Castalia, Ohio. After her marriage she was a proof-reader at the Daily Standard for sixteen years.

Carl with his father and later with his son, owned and farmed 200 acres, three miles southwest of Celina. They did general farming and raised Registered Shorthorn cattle. They had a blacksmith shop and did their own repair work. Mr. Andrews installed a hot water heating system and a Delco lighting system, doing his own electric wiring in the brick house with nothing but books of instruction as a guide. For more than twenty years he kept accurate farm records which were summarized annually by Ohio State Agriculture Department. For fifty years he was an active member of the Mercer County Farm Bureau, and worked with the Agriculture Soil Conservation Program for several years.

In 1948, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews moved to Celina and Don took over the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews are members of the St. Paul's United Methodist Church; the Senior Citizens of Mercer County and the Mercer County Historical Society. Mrs. Andrews is also a member of the Mercer County Retired Teachers Association and of the Shakespeare Club.

Mr. Andrews donated more than one hundred articles to the Mercer County Historical Museum, the most notable donation is several mastodon teeth which were found on a farm south of Celina by a relative of his first wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews enjoy their retirement years with their six grandchildren and their six great-grandchildren. Carl H. Andrews

A WAY OF LIFE

From the beginning - talks with my grandmother - who was part Miami - through history classes in school these forty some years have been very rewarding! Among the first were my trips to the Western states where in Kansas it really all started. From there on these names and places stand out — the Ogg's and Lanes from Kansas — the Everett's from Arizona — the Taylor's from Texas — the Rowland's from Colorado - all descendants of the early pioneers. There were the Indians too - the Sioux — the Shoshone — the Crow — the Kiowa with personal friends such as Shasta-Bear-Step -Red Cloud — Lame Deer — and above all Yazzie! Sgt. Yazzie and I served together as paratrooper scouts during W.W. 2, and from that friendship I have been fortunate to go out and visit with these people. Go to places where I doubt not too many pale-faces have been! Having just recently returned home after another rewarding visit, my wife and I find ourselves looking foward to another visit. We sum all of this in these words and thoughts - You don't have to be rich to do it. All you need is an inborn love of history, and mother nature! We are proud of what we are and not pretending to be anything we are not. We are living the kind of life we love — today! It is more than a hobby — it is a way of life. Anonymous

William Anthony Home, 616 N. Main, Celina, Ohio

THE ORIGINAL WILLIAM ANTHONY HOME

During the late 1880's, William Anthony of Fort Recovery married a Miss Meinerding, also of Fort Recovery and moved to Celina into a large two-story brick home at 409 East Livingston St. There apparently was a little money in the family, but they added to it by opening a dry goods store located at 104 N. Main St.

To the couple were born five children. Wencel. (Wesley) was the oldest, followed by William Jawho became a priest and was temporarily with the Pope in Italy. Third was Mary, who after 2 years the Immaculate Conception High School, went on the Clifton Sacred Heart Academy in Cincinnat which was operated by French Nuns. The fourt child, Bernadette, who is still living, is in Cincinnat She attended I.C. Schools and furthered her education at the Cleveland Academy for girls. The lachild Edwin became ill at an early age with sleepin sickness. He laid in somewhat of a coma for fort years before his death.

In 1897, they built the magnificent home at 61 North Main St. At that time, there were only a fer homes in the area; so there was plenty of room for the livestock, barns, and carriage house. The famil had toured Europe and other countries almost con stantly. As a result, all the finer things in the hom were imported from abroad. The onyx fireplace is the living room was hand carved in Germany. Th backwall of the mantle is one solid piece of oak which must have taken years to carve. The origins o the entrance fireplace and the master bedroom fire place are unknown. The fireplace in the dining roon was imported from Scotland. The buffet in the din ing room was made in Italy to match the fireplace The Anthony's spent so much money on traveling and imported labor and material to make their home into a palace that they went financially broke They were forced to sell their home, which was pur chased by Theodore Brandts of Heidelburg, Ger many. He still has ancestors in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandts lived in the home until 1928 when they sold it to Carrol and Belva Stubbs, who had lived there for the next nineteen years during which time there were many changes made, such as new bathrooms, kitchen and attached garage.

In 1947, the Stubbs sold the house to George Smalley and family who lived in the house for ap-

The house was then sold to Klayton Kuck, who lived in it for a few years and then moved to Arizona. At this time, the Kucks were unable to sell the home for a while, so they ended up renting it to a number of various tenants. During this period, the house took much abuse and began to deteriorate. One of the tenants had stolen some of the furniture when he left. There was a large dining room table which would seat eighteen people and fourteen chairs and a china cabinet all carved to match the dining room buffet and fireplace. There was also a large wardrobe in the master bedroom which disappeared.

On December 27, 1973, the house was sold to Vic Steinke, a local contractor, who began to restore the house to its original beauty with the help of its tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Clark. Before the restoration was complete, the house was again sold to the present owners — Denny and Karen Franks, a local car dealer — on Nov. 1, 1976. The house is now completed and is a real showplace.

THE DESCENDANTS OF PHILLIP BAKER

Phillip Baker died before April 4, 1796, the date the marriage bond was signed, uniting his daughter Elizabeth and Mr. George Ransbarger. We do not know what became of Elizabeth, but Phillip Baker also left several other children:

 Samuel, who moved to the Indiana Territory about 1805; married Barbara Shirley, daughter of Valentine and Catherine (Baer/Bear/Bier) Shirley; many of their descendants live today in Washington County, Indiana.

2. John, who spelled his name on older documents "Jhonas Becker"; born 1754 and died 1833; married Anna Whitmer and bought a farm in 1787, near Mt. Crawford, Rockingham County, Virginia; some of their descendants still live on that farm.

Phillip, about whom nothing is known.

4. Jacob, and 5. Henry, who were early pioneers (arriving around 1814) in German Township, Clark County, Ohio. Jacob died in 1821, and is buried in the Lawrenceville, Ohio, Cemetery.

Conrad, about whom nothing is known.

7. Martin, who was confirmed April 24, 1791, at the age of 21, in Freidens Reform Church in Rockingham County, Virginia; the Rockingham County Court session of May, 1857, recorded the partition of his land according to his will and it is thought that the following heirs named in the will are also his children (his wife's name was Mary): William Baker; Catharine Carrier; Martin Baker, Junior; Ann Smith; Sally Baker; Mary Lee; Helena Ransbottom (also called Magdalene); and James Bolton (probably not one of Martin Sr.'s children).

Of these children, two are known: a. Martin Baker, Junior, married Elizabeth King Sailor (or Saylor), the widow of Christian Sailor; they emigrated to Clark County, Ohio, no later than July 27, 1830; they lived out their lives in Clark County and left many descendants there. b. Helena (or Magdalene) Ransbottom was the wife of Thomas Ransbottom; their marriage bond was signed February 11, 1812, in Rockingham County, Virginia. ROBERT BRUCE BARBER

Robert Bruce Barber, the youngest of six children of Walter and Celia Brewer Barber, spent most of his life in his native county. He was born in Union Township on March 24, 1909, grew up in that area and completed high school in Mendon.

In January 1935 he was appointed deputy sheriff by Sheriff L. M. (Mac) Davis. On December 21st of that year he married Rema Purdy, daughter of Iva and Lessie Lee Purdy. She was born December 23, 1910 in Dublin Township and graduated from Rockford High School. With a two year degree from Bowling Green and a B.S. and M.S. in Education from Miami University, she became a teacher in the county and Celina schools. She retired in 1974 after teaching 38 years.

In 1940 Bruce was elected sheriff for a four year term. However, in March 1943 he volunteered for military service in WW II and served two years and six months in the Military Police of the United States Air Force with the rank of Sergeant. He was a part of D-Day and helped hold the Normandy Beachhead that summer, and continued as far as Anaheim, Germany before the surrender. He was discharged October 31, 1945. During that time his wife served as acting sheriff. They then had one daughter, Barbara Lee, born March 10, 1939 in Celina.

After three and a half years in the Phoenix, Arizona area, due to the health of their daughter, the family returned to Celina, Ohio. Two more daughters were born during their sojourn in Arizona — Karen Sue, May 27, 1946 and Cynthia Ann, September 12, 1948, both in Phoenix. While there Bruce took training and apprenticeship at the Phoenix Technical School and became a journeyman plumber. He continued this work in Ohio.

In 1952 he was re-elected sheriff and again in 1956. In 1958 he was named "Sheriff of the Year" in Ohio by the Fraternal Order of Eagles as a result of a very speedy solving of a bank robbery and the apprehension of the subjects involved. He was dubbed

"The Matt Dillon of Mercer County."

After leaving the sheriff's office in January 1961, he completed eight years as investigator for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio in the trucking distant

Barbara Lee Barber married John Purdy in 1958 and they have two children, Jon, born June 2, 1959 and Jan, born February 28, 1963. Karen married Don Fredenburg in 1966 and they have Jennifer, born 21 November 1973, Jeffrey, born 1 January 1975 and Amey, born 6 September 1977. Cynthia Ann married Walter D. Harris in 1975 and they have Frances Elizabeth Harris, born March 6, 1977.

The Barbers were, and some are, members of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Celina. Bruce was active in Republican organizations and was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Mendon.

Bruce retired in June 1971 due to ill health and died February 11, 1975. His wife survives and resides in Celina, Ohio.

During his terms in office, Bruce strove constantly to expand and improve the services rendered to his county. Janice B. Reddin, Findlay, Oh. 45840

Everett Burdell Barker and Mary Ellen Brookhart were married on June 8, 1921, and lived mainly in the Rockford and Celina areas. He died in August of 1978, while Mary continued to live in their home at 509 E. Fulton St., Celina, Ohio, which they purchased in 1945.

Arlie was a farmer, also operated a threshing machine in the early thirties, for several threshing rings, which was a group of farmers who went from farm to farm helping one another, while the neighbor women helped each other cook meals. When combines came out he did custom combining. In the forties he bought a truck and started trucking, hauling grain, fertilizer, etc. for farmers, then later for

Landmark.

In 1943, we bought the eighty acres where we moved when married, from his father, who moved there in 1903 from a farm in Liberty Township and had moved to his other farm near Celina on Mud Pike where he died in 1948 and his mother died in 1969.

Arlie was born and lived his entire life on that eighty acre farm and died there August 23, 1968, of a heart attack. It was the same place but a new house. The original one, a big red brick house, burned January 18, 1948. In four months, we were in the new house, built on the old foundation, with the help of good neighbors, family, friends and a hired carpenter.

The family attended Pleasant View (Miller) Church of God their entire lives. Since marriage three daughters attend elsewhere. Also are members of Hopewell Grange.

In 1977, nine years after Arlie's death, I Laveda sold the house and half the farm to daughter Marjorie and husband and I moved to Celina where I now reside.

MABEL ANDREWS BEACHLER

I, Mabel Andrews Beachler, am copying this article written by my Aunts Flora Andrews Hoel and Emma Andrews Younger.

Their father was Charles W. Andrews, who was born on Dec. 17, 1822, at Mt. Air in a white frame house overlooking the Olentangy River. The interior was very nice with a walnut ornament in the center ceiling of the living room and a walnut mantle. It had two stairways, an open one from the living room and a back stairway. His father and mother, Timothy and Ruth, were from Connecticut - Yankees. They had five children: Cyrus, Charles, Wells, Edith and Flora. Flora graduated from the Girls School at Worthington and taught school for a number of years. While visiting her brother Cyrus and wife in Omaha, Nebraska, she met Johnathan Quarton (Cyrus's wife's brother) whom she married. They lived in Alton, Illinois. Timothy Andrews and family attended the Liberty Church and are buried in the cemetery there.

Charles W. Andrews and wife Christianna were married and lived with his father and mother until Frank, the third son, was six months old. They moved to the Andrews farm about three miles south of Celina near Coldwater Creek in a two horse wagon with all their belongings and three boys. They moved into a log cabin on an 80 acre farm with only 20 acres cleared. They had an orchard which Charles planted while clearing the 20 acres before they moved.

Gottleib Hinderer was a bachelor in Germany. He married a widow with four children by the name of Wheeler. Her maiden name was Henrietta Genuine. They were natives of Amherst, Wertenberg, Germany. They came to America with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Garver, and lived in Columbus, Ohio. Coming over, the baby boy died and was buried at sea. They were on the water six weeks. Three daughters were born to them in Columbus: Christianna, Barbara (who married John Maher), and Louise (who married Abner Knight).

Gottleib Hinderer was a turner by trade. The family lived on East Broad Street where the old Governor's Mansion was located. They owned 13 acres there. Then they moved into the large two story frame house opposite the old mill that Gottleib had bought on the Olentangy River.

This frame house is where Christianna lived until she married. She was married in the house, and when it burned, a stone house was built up the river. Christianna and Barbara were confirmed and were members of the Lutheran Church, where they sang in the choir. Their mother passed away at the home of her son Fred Wheeler on East Broad Street where she was making her home. She is buried in Green Lawn Cemetery. Gottleib Hinderer passed away at the home of his daughter Barbara Mayer and is buried near the Lutheran Church where Barbara and family belonged, near Hume and Cridersville. Mabel Beachler

CHARLES AND CHRISTIANNA ANDREWS

Memories of Grandfather and Grandmoth (Chas. and Christianna Andrews). They were the parents of eight children; two deceased and six where we maturity and died of old age. They lived in frame and brick house on a farm along Coldwath Creek. A gas well was on the farm near the house and a perpetual gas light was burning by the drive way. The house was heated and lighted by gas. A one entered the dining-living room, grandfather rocking chair was in the corner and back of it stoo a shot gun which grandfather would go outside an shoot in the air if the dog barked as a prowler might be about.

We always celebrated grandfather's birthday o Dec. 17 by having a carry-in family dinner. The ta ble was lengthened and food put on centere around a bowl of oranges. Grandmother and Granc father, six adult sons and daughters and wives an husbands all enjoyed the meal; while boys playe outside and girls loafed in the kitchen. One time remember seeing a crock full of something white. stuck in my finger and put it in my mouth — only t discover it was lard. I rushed outdoors to spit it ou much to the hilarity of my cousins. About time to g home, grandfather would go into his little privat pantry and bring out a canister of mixed hard cand (peppermint and hoarhound drops). The childre: would reach in and get candy. Sometimes grandfa ther would say, "Not so many!" Then he would bring out a bag of money — give the children small priceless.

Grandmother used to tell about when she was little girl in Columbus. They would walk down to High St.; look through knot holes and cracks be tween boards and watch the prisoners (who worstriped uniforms) help build the capital building She loved music and the family was exposed to music. She loved flowers and always had pots of gerani ums, begonias, fuschia and an oleander tree. She lived to be ninety years of age; raised her own family and helped raise Joe Andrews' family of 10 chil coins and gold pieces of $2½ or $5 to the adults. M father turned his into the government at their re quest in 1918. My brother Jim, who has a coin col lection, says if he only had them now. They'd b

The deed to 1 acre of land east of cemetery was written by Franklin Linzee and Oldtown School was here for years. The deed says "As long as waters flow and winds blow this land is to be used for school purposes." How providential that this land is continuing to be used for education.

In September, 1972, when Dwyer Hall was dedicated, this letter was handed to Mr. Stauffer -Dean of College:

Dear Mr. Stauffer,

We have a statement to make concerning the dedication of Dwyer Hall and the land on which it stands. Our greatgrandfather, George Jacob Kumph, purchased this land from the state of Ohio more than a hundred years ago. It has been in our possession for more than four generations. We consider this land our birthright and we treasure it. There were six children in our family. All were teachers. Our father was a teacher. Our grandmother was a pioneer school teacher. She was born and raised on this land, grew to young womanhood, became a teacher, met and married Francis Broadus Trenary - hence the name Broadacres. Our family believes in education, hard work and dedication. We are happy to dedicate this land on which this beautiful building stands to Education, Good Citizenship and a better America.

RALPH BIHN

Ralph Anthony Bihn, adopted son of Albert and Rosa Haury Bihn was born in Cleveland March 7, 1911 — years later the family moved to Sharpsburg, Ohio where they owned and operated a chicken hatchery.

Ralph was married to Lucille M. Potterf, daughter of George H. and Irene (Sutton) Potterf. George Potterf born in 1868 came from Preble Co. to Mercer, O., working on the old C.H.D. railroad which ran through Mercer. Here is where he met Irene born 1872 who was post mistress of Mercer. They were married in 1898, after a few years they purchased the home farm on Stringtown Rd. one mile from Mercer. I can recall my mother telling how, when she was a little girl, the Indians would water their horses at a Spring on the edge of Grandmother's farm, close to the house and as she was a widow at the time, how frightened she would be, even though they never caused any trouble.

To this union four daughters were born, Julia; Agnes; Lucille and Mary Evelyn who died at the age of four. The girls all walked the mile to school in Mercer.

In 1916 the family moved to a smaller farm in Blackcreek Township because of poor health, here less than a year later George Potterf died at the age of 49. (The year of the record snow, and Flu epidemic) After the sale of the farm and machinery Irene moved to Celina to be near two of her sisters. Julia married to Vern DeWeese, of Dayton died December 1975; Agnes, married Carl M. Weist of Mendon, who is deceased. Lucille to Ralph A. Bihn. Ralph came to Celina in 1929 where he found employment with the Mersman Bros. Corp. This is where he met Lucille who was also working there as Secretary to Walter J. Mersman. Ralph continued to work for Mersman's, advancing to a salesman position, until the time of his death in 1966.

Born to Ralph and Lucille were twin daughters Mary Ann and Margaret Ann and Jane Millicent.

Mary Ann is married to Lawrence Duane Miller of Celina who owns the Miller Sporting Goods Co., Celina. To this union was born Kimberlee Jane Miller, now married to Keith Laux who have a son Joshua Duane; Kevin Scott and twin sons Keith Edward and Kraig Steven still at home.

Margaret Ann married Theodore Norbut of Chicago, now of Dayton employed by Wright Patterson as a civilian. They, too, have four children: Timothy, Cynthia, Mark and James all of school age.

Jane Millicent married to Wm. B. Bentley also of Dayton and employed at Wright Patterson as a civilian; to whom were born four girls Lisa Marie; Lara; Diane and Elizabeth Allyson; all at home. Mrs. Ralph Bihn ephone.

Dlen and Helen are the parents of James (1945i8) who served in Vietnam, and shortly after rening home was killed in a car accident, Mary e, and Helen Jean (James) Hileman. Grandchiln are Lisa and Scott Hileman. Olen was emyed at Celina Manufacturing and has farmed for eral years.

Dale and Carolyn are the parents of Michael Dale, et Elaine Adams, Kenneth William, Mary Evelyn, ven Herbert, and Ellen Kay. And they have one ndchild, Ann Reneé Adams.

Van was the youngest son of James C. (1849-11) and Caroline Byers Brandon (1853-1914). The ier children being Mary (Lewis) Gaus, Charles, Iliam, and Elsie (Earl) Hole, who is the only one

ames C. (father of J. Van) bought 80 acres in Jefson Twp. in 1876. He cleared the land and built home and the other buildings. Later the original s replaced, building a barn in 1893 and the house 1903. These buildings are still standing and in a od state of repair. The original house was a and-log house. J. Van was born and lived all his on this farm. After the death of his mother, he ught the farm and married Mollie Cook in 1914. lames C. and Caroline Brandon were charter members of Beaver Chapel Church.

J. Van's grandparents John (1819-1890) and Mary Byers (1821-1884) were born and married in Germany and came to America when Caroline was about 6 years old (1859). They attended Burntwood Church and are buried in the church cemetery.

Mollie Cook - wife of Van Brandon was the daughter of Elmer (1861-1949) and Martha Hoenie Cook (1867-1915). Mollie's grandparents' Nathan (1827-1896) and Mary Snyder Cook (1831-1912) came to Mercer County in about 1864 from Hocking County and settled on what is now the Orville Crouch farm across from Eden Haven Park. This farm is in the process of becoming a park also. Mollie was born and reared on this farm.

Martha Hoenie (Mollie's) was the daughter of Henry (1838-1914) and Sarah Good Hoenie (1842-1905). Henry Hoenie was the son of John (1808-1888) and Margaret White Hoenie (1808-1888) both born in Hanover, Germany.

Mollie Cook Brandon had two sisters, Pearl (Sim)

Highley and Flossie (Walter) Vireck.

Van and Mollie spent most of their lives tilling the soil. Farming was more diversified then; having about four horses, five milk cows, three brood sows and a few chickens. They raised wheat, oats, corn, hay and an acre or two of tomatoes, just what the family could harvest.

Other than general farming Van often drove a team and wagon helping in area construction: he hauled brick from Celina to Coldwater that was used in building New Idea. Often he hauled four foot wood (from a neighbor's) to a tile mill that was located across from the Catholic Cemetery. Most of his hauling however was crushed stone from Karch Stone Quarry used in building area roads.

Many family gatherings and reunions were held at the Brandon farm and a lot of homemade ice cream was enjoyed by relatives and friends.

After Van passed away Mollie moved to Celina and was employed at Gibbons Hospital. She was active in the W.C.T.U., T.B. Board, Beaver Chapel Church organizations and a charter member of Celina Senior Citizens.

J. Van and Mollie lived a quiet but good life. They were both members of Beaver Chapel Church. Mrs.

JOHN BRANDON FAMILY

The Brandon family were of Scotch-Irish origin from Ulster, Northern Ireland, emigrated to the United States about 1730 and settled in Pennsylva-

John Brandon and wife Mary had the following children: Thomas, John, Jane, William, Alexander, James, Walter, Richard, who married Mary Gribble, Jonathan, Mary and Joseph.

Four of the sons of John owned land in Monongalia and Preston Counties, West Virginia, these were Alexander, Richard, Jonathan and Joseph.

The Brandons migrated from Pennsylvania, into Virginia, Kentucky and then into Ohio. Some descendents migrated from Ohio into Indiana, early to Wisconsin, later west farther to Kansas and Nebraska.

In Ohio they started at Hamilton County, then to Butler County, to Warren County, to Darke County and later to Mercer County.

Richard Brandon (1751-1835) married Mary Gribble (1753-1821). Their children were: Walter, Jonathan, John, who married Suzanne Kell; David, Richard, Joseph, Vincent Gribble, and Mary, who married James Hole.

John Brandon (1782-1842) married Suzanne Kell (1789-1862). Their children were: Joel K., Lewis, Mary Ann, Lucinda, who married John Hole; Ma-rinda, John, Louisa J., Lot A., and Harrison.

Lucinda Brandon born in 1823, married John Hole. Upon moving to Celina established a home at 311 South Main Street. Their children were: Sue, Sarah Elizabeth, William Granville, who married Elizabeth Trenary, and Effie. John Hole died in 1882 and Lucinda in 1884.

William Hole joined in his father's milling business. He married Elizabeth Trenary, they had nine children: Sarah, John Trenary, Harriet Lucinda, married Marion Heindel; Jesse William, married Daisy Brookhart; William Carl, married Bertha Deiner; Raymond Granville, married Golda Piehl (parents of the author); Oriel Beatrice, married Ted Hoyt; Floyd, and Mary Onilee, married Chauncey Miller.

After the death of his father, William Hole continued in the grist mill until severely burned when a boiler blew up. Their home was near the corner of Walnut and Warren Streets, facing Walnut, where they lived until August 1906 when they moved to a farm one mile west of Celina on the Mud Pike in Jefferson Twp. Death came three months later but his wife Elizabeth continued to live on the farm and rear their six living children and four grandsons, Victor Theodore, Robert Lowell, Charles Lester, and Harold Eugene, after the death of their mother Harriet Heindel.

Raymond Granville the youngest living son stayed on the farm and helped his mother. In 1912 Raymond married Golda Piehl and they had one daughter, Alberta June, born in 1925. A few years before his mother's death Raymond bought the farm and

In 1946, Alberta June married Fay Delbert Stiverson, born in 1922. They lived with her parents and two years later Edson Ray was born. Fay and Alberta built a home in the woods on Fairground Road, living there until the time of Raymond's death. Then the Stiversons bought the farm and moved back into the house where Alberta was born, and her grandfather had built before moving to the farm from town. Here the Stiversons cared for Alberta's mother and raised their children: Edson Ray, who married Sandra Sue Evans; John Floyd, who married Gail Parry; Cecil Fay, who married Marianne Kistler; and Dawn LuRae, who married Wayne Feece.

In 1974 Natasha Kolleen was born to Edson and

The farm has been in the family for four generations to the date of this writing. There has been three generations of children raised in this same house.

THE BROCKS OF BEAVER CREEK

WESLEY BROCK, born 7 August 1809, Mon gomery County, was the youngest son of twelchildren of Francis Brock (born c. 1760), who ha migrated from Stokes County, North Carolina. Sina grandson of Francis wrote, "Although my ance tors had lived in America for generations, I alway understood they were of English, Welsh, Scotch ar Irish descent", it would appear this Brock fami may have come to America before 1700. Francis die in 1820, soon after moving to Fayette County, Ind ana, and was the first person buried in the Mt. Zic Methodist Church cemetery.

Wesley Brock returned to his native Ohio aft his first wife died, being admitted to the Ohio Metl odist Conference in Hardin County, Novemb 1834, and during his ministry endowed a scholarsh at Ohio Wesleyan University to assist its fund rai ing activities. Reverend Brock and his second wif Zerilda, daughter of Hazzard and Betsy (Malcon Hopkins, of Logan County, were the parents of seven sons born in seven counties. One daught died in infancy. By 1849, Brock had begun buyir land in Mercer County, and when he died in 185 owned 480 acres in Section 9, West Jefferson town ship. Several members of this family taught at th old Brock School across the road from their hom including Wesley, who found it necessary to suppl ment his salary from the church by teaching ar

Only two of Brock's sons settled permanently Ohio, Leonard Gurley (biography in the 1907 Hi tory of Mercer County) and Orlando.

ORLANDO HOPKINS BROCK, born Lora: County, 8 February 1847, became the father of eigl sons, several of whom drove the old Durbin Stor huckster wagon, selling to farmers in nearby town ships. Ira and George L. ("Lem") later owned grocer and meat businesses in Dayton. George Lemu married Della, daughter of John Fetters. John Ora (married first, Lenora White; second, Rosa Koc Smith) worked at the Celina Furniture Factory, late following the same trade in Michigan. Two grand children, Edwin Hoenie and Lela McMillan, still liv in Mercer County. William Walter married Grac Cromer and died the day before their only child wa born. Grace and her daughter also moved to Mich gan. Lloyd Clement was the father of Paul and Ker neth Brock of Celina. Virgil Prentiss, evangelist an gospel song writer, married Blanche Kerr of Indian Clarence Asa married Althea McCoy and was farmer and member of the Celina Fire Department before moving to Dayton. However, he frequently visited friends and relatives here and died as the re sult of an unfortunate automobile accident near Co lina in 1964. Charles Glenn, youngest of Orlando sons, enlisted in the U.S. Navy as a young man an rried in California where he settled.

The remaining sons of Wesley Brock followed erse paths. Sylvester (1839-1910) married Cathae E. Shaffner, homesteaded in Oklahoma, operd a general store, and was Postmaster of Lawson. In Wesley (1842-1907) married Phebe Daniels, steacher-missionary to the Indians near Yakima, ishington, and was one of the early presidents of w) Whitman College, Walla Walla. Francis 44-1914) married Barbara Robb of Illinois, bene an itinerant Methodist minister and died in Insylvania. KENNETH BROCK

S. KENNETH BROCK was born in Celina, Ohio, 5 April 1916, to Lloyd Clement and Florence Irene Gales) Brock. In addition to farming and apple prouction, Lloyd Brock taught at the Bunker Hill chool adjacent to his farm in West Jefferson Township and at the Scudder School at Mount Carmel and also worked as a rural postal carrier.

Kenneth Brock attended Celina High School and has made education a life-long experience, continuously taking part in industrial and governmental training programs and seminars, both as a journey-man mechanic-machinist and as a supervisor. During World War II, Mr. Brock served in the 1452nd U.S. Army Air Force Base Unit, Alaskan Wing, Air Transport Command.

On 29 June 1949, he married Lavene Sanders, daughter of Will Franklin and Vida Leota (Teeters) Sanders. Although Mrs. Brock was born in Jay County, Indiana, her mother was a native of Mercer County and returned here when Mrs. Brock was five years old. In 1953, the Brocks built their home at 437 Johnson Avenue where they live with their two children, Rebecca ("Becky") and Kent. Rebecca graduated from Celina High School in 1978 after carrying a heavy schedule in order to accomplish this part of her education in three years. Kent takes a great interest in sports and plays the trumpet in the Celina School band. The family are members of St. Paul's Methodist Church, where Rebecca and Kent sing in the choir and are members of MYF and Mr. Brock is currently chairman of the Board of Trustees. Mr. Brock is a 30-year member of the Moose Lodge and takes part in community affairs, serving at times on the mayor's Citizens' Committee for both sewage disposal expansion and city income tax. For the last 31 years he has been employed by New Idea in Coldwater, where he has held a supervisory position in the Plant Engineering Department since 1957 and is active in the Foremen's Club.

Lloyd Clement Brock was the fourth of eight sons born to Orlando H. and Elmira M. Brock. Lloyd's brother, Dr. Virgil P. Brock, will be remembered by oldtime Mercer County residents as a Christian Church evangelist and the composer of more than 500 gospel songs, including the popular "Beyond the Sunset." Dr. Brock had been reared in the Quaker faith, for although his family had a Methodist heritage for at least three generations, his parents united with the Friends Home Church about 1889 when they moved from Washington township to West Jefferson township near Durbin. Dr. Brock's mother was a zealous religious activist, and the family moved again about 1896 to Section 35 in Liberty township to be within walking distance of the

Although Dr. Brock worked out of Winona Lake, Indiana, he returned to Mercer County from time to time to speak at the annual Durbin Bean Bake. He also was the author of a book of memoirs, You Asked For It, published in September 1976. A copy is available in the Mercer County Historical Museum library, and the first two chapters contain interesting descriptions of the Orlando Brock home and family life at Durbin around the turn of the century. Dr. Brock died at age 91, on 12 March 1978, in Rives, Michigan, where he had been devoting his final years to assist with the work of a mission for disadvantaged children. Kenneth Brock

PAUL BROCK

PAUL DALTON BROCK, 802 Holly Street, Celina, was born 5 September 1912, on a 50-acre farm

Elmira (Harris) and Orlando H. Brock

in Section 31, West Jefferson township, which had once belonged to his grandparents, Orlando H. and Elmira M. Brock.

ORLANDO HOPKINS BROCK was in the lumber business with two of his brothers from 1866 to 1875. At that time, he turned to farming and married Elmira Malisia Harris, daughter of Jonathan P. and Susanna (Kennard) Harris. Mrs. Brock had been reared by her maternal grandparents, Reverend George and Malinda (Routson) Kennard, as her own mother had died when Elmira was but three years of age. Reverend Kennard was a farmer who became a Methodist minister late in life. He was born in 1815 in Perry County, Ohio, the son of William Kennard, whose father John Kennard, a shoemaker by trade, served in the New Jersey line for five years during the Revolutionary War and received a medical discharge in Pennsylvania.

LLOYD CLEMENT BROCK, father of our subject, was born in 1884 and died after moving his family to Section 2, West Jefferson township, leaving his widow with a 23-acre farm to maintain and four young sons to rear, Paul Brock being the eldest at age 13. Paul's brothers are Robert, of Anderson, Indiana; Kenneth, of Celina; and John, of St. Marys.

PAUL D. BROCK worked as a farm hand, in a grain elevator, in a feed mill, and in the construction business before joining New Idea in 1949. At the same time, he maintained the home farm, raising feeder pigs, chickens, cattle, and quarter horses. He was converted in the Friends Church at age 27 and has been active in the Sunday School ever since, having served as Superintendent and still teaching part-time.

A Republican, Mr. Brock served on the election board from West Jefferson township from 1940 through 1958. He helped organize the Northwest Ohio Feeder Pig Association in 1964 and was its first chairman. He retired from New Idea in 1977 and is now working as a licensed real estate salesman, continuing his education in this and related fields.

Mr. Brock married 25th October 1941, Della Mae, daughter of Howard and Stella (Webb) Long, and they have reared three children: Donald Lee, Betty Jane, and Nancy Kay. A daughter, Ruth Ann, died in infancy. After graduating from high school, Donald served two years in the Armed Forces, was a member of the St. Marys Police Dept. for a year and has since been employed at New Idea. He married Patty Sue Wicker in 1970 and lives on Woodward Avenue in Highland Park, Celina, with his wife and their three children, Jennifer Ellen, Robert Nathan, and Ryan William.

Betty Jane graduated from Elkhart Technical School in Indiana and is a technician at Gibbons Hospital. She married Joseph R. Crimble in 1966 and is the mother of three daughters, Teresa Lynn, Margaret Ann, Kathryn Marie. A son, Charles Richard, died in infancy.

Nancy graduated from Bluffton College with a

B.A. in social work and directed the Hot Line in (lina until that office closed. At present, she is ocpied as housewife and mother. She married Steph B. Wallace in 1975 and has two daughers, Nicole F and Angela Marie. Paul D. Brock

THE BERT BRUNS FAMILY

W. R. (Bert) Bruns was born in Jan. 1901 to Joseph and Kathryn (Hemmelgarn) Bruns in St. Wendaline, O. Joe later moved his family to Philothea, where he worked as a carpenter and Kate ran the general store. In 1914 they moved to Celina. Bert's entrepreneurial flair cropped up early, and as a boy he sold popcorn and newspapers to passengers on the Nickle Plate trains which stopped in Celina, seined minnows from Grand Lake and sold them to fishermen. Later he worked at the Lake theatre as a projectionist, sold refrigerators and radios for Bud Hayes, clerked at the Wyckoff Drug Store and worked a short time in Toledo. During the Depression Bert employed a crew of men and conducted cosmetics sales in drug stores in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, and sold Fuller Brushes on the side.

On July 27, 1930 Bert and Nadine Smith (Carl and Bessie Schultz Smith) of Rockford were married, establishing residence in Celina. Nadine, having studied cosmetology worked as a beautician at the Mary Lombard Shop. She later opened her own shop on North Main Street, Celina. Nadine had a fine soprano voice and sang for many weddings during the

In 1932 Bert joined his brother Al H. Bruns in the general insurance business, and they named the agency Bruns Brothers. The firm remained under that name until 1957 when Bert sold his equity to Chas. Gant. The agency is now Bruns, Gant, Toms.

In 1949 Bert and Nadine, with Bill and Bertha Guyer built the Northmoor Motel between Celina and St. Marys. The Guyers sold their equity to Bert in 1954 and Bert continued to run the motel until 1963. In 1958, Bert, Nadine and son Dick founded the Northmoor Marina. Nadine passed away in March, 1965. Bert remained active in the Marina until just prior to his death in Jan. 1975.

Bert and Nadine Bruns had four children. Donald (1932) died an infant. Dick Bruns (1934) married Patricia Feltz. Children are Mike, Leslie & Tracy Nadine. (See Hugo J. Feltz) Dick manages Northmoor Marina. Denny Bruns (1936) married Deniese Arditi in New York. They now live in Paris, France with sons Eben and Danny. Denny works for American Express Company in Paris. Linda Bruns (1938) married Dick Whyte. Children are Julie and Liana. From 1959 to 1975 Linda and Dick lived in Iceland, Newfoundland, Key West & Boston where Dick was a Naval Air Traffic Controller. Linda now lives in Celina and is a claims adjustor with Celina Group. THE BRYSON ESTATE

The story began in January 1950, when the will of the late Ed L. Bryson, a prominent Celina Attorney, was filed in the Probate Court of Mercer County, Ohio, in Case No. 12419, and admitted to probate on January 17, 1950. The will allocated funds for the establishment of an estate to benefit the youth of Celina, the fund particularly was designated "for use and benefit of public playgrounds in Mercelina Park or to assist in the construction of a public swimming pool."

Roscoe D. Riley of The Citizens Commercial Bank, Celina, and Gertrude Einfalt, Bryson's Secretary, were named to administer the estate and then to act as trustees for the benefit of the immediate heirs, before it passed to the City of Celina, Carroll Stubbs was chosen legal advisor.

The inventory and appraisement filed in said Case on February 16, 1950, shows the entire estate valued at $307,002.00.

The said bequest was subject to a provision for the care of testator's relatives, Elmer Bryson, a brother, who predeceased testator, dying in 1949, Mrs. Lela Thompson a sister, who died on March 6, 1954, and Guy Bryson, brother, who died August 17, 1959, freeing the estate for recreational purposes and to become a charitable trust for Celina on June 30, 1960.

According to the terms of the bequest, the recreation money was to be administered by The Commercial Bank Company, Celina, Ohio, now The Citizens Commercial Bank, but since the Bank did not have trust powers, the bank directors requested and the Court agreed that Riley and Einfalt should continue as Trustees.

Since the will mentioned Mercelina Park as the site for recreation, the trustees immediately sought to purchase recreation area from the Brandts Family (owners of the Park). After several meetings of the interested parties and it was seen that a price agreement could not be reached, the matter was dropped.

The Trustees along with City Administrators felt the "Mercelina Park" clause in the Bryson Will was subject to closer scrutiny. They took the will to the Probate Court, Case #14621 in search of clarification, and in July 1960, received a verdict from Judge Homer Hinders that declared "the general intent of Ed. L. Bryson was to provide wholesome recreation for residents of Celina." Judge Hinders in effect ruled that the "Mercelina Park" clause was not meant to rule out the spending of the Bryson Estate Money for recreational purposes at other Celina sites. He pointed out that conditions had chang since testator's death in 1950, far more than testal could have anticipated. He noted the population i crease, the vast numbers of children, the add schools and declared: "all these things and contions, the testator, although possessing a broad sion, could not, nor could any of the citizens of C lina in 1950 have anticipated the population of t late forties and past fifties."

Judge Hinders in his decision also mention "while this is a large sum of money, but not an ine haustible amount and should supplement the pr grams of the service clubs and the city rather than replace them."

The Bryson estate has contributed hundreds thousands of dollars toward financing the city's re reation programs since 1960.

The estate's largest contribution, however, h been its large-scale improvement and renovation work at Eastview Park. Some thirteen acres of Eastview, approximately one-third of its area was purchased by the estate and donated to the city. The tract together with a 17½ acre piece adjoining donated to the city by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stubbs, give Celina a recreational area of approximately thir acres and the improvement and renovation of the 30 acre tract is the responsibility of the Bryson Etate.

The original trustees have administered the esta since testator's death, except because of the illne of both trustees in April 1972, the court appoints David K. Riley and B. L. Wurster, additional tru tees. The said B. L. Wurster resigned as trustee August 1976, because he had removed from tl state. The said Roscoe D. Riley died on August 1973. The remaining trustees, Gertrude Einfalt at David K. Riley filed their application to resign trustees in September 1978, and said resignation were accepted by the Court and at the same tin The Citizens Commercial Bank and Trust Compar of Celina, Ohio, now having been granted tru powers and to comply with testator's will, filed a plication for appointment as trustees, and the cou issued letters of trusteeship to said bank.

Carroll A. Stubbs was attorney for said estate us til his death on December 5, 1965, and since th time William Meikle has been the attorney.

HENRY BUELTEL FAMILY

Henry Bueltel, who resided in Celina, Ohio, virtully all of his adult life, was born in Seneca, Kansas, n February 14, 1907. His parents, Herman and lary Winkeljohn Bueltel were born near Emsburen

Pro Hanover, Germany and came to America while still in their teens - about the year 1874.

Henry's parents were married in Cincinnati, Ohio, and shortly after moved to a farm five and one half (5½) miles from Seneca, Kansas, where they lived until their demise, both attaining eighty some years of age. The children of this union were Joseph, Leo, Cecelia, Frank, Ann, Vincent and two Henry's. One named Henry passed on at the age of two years. All the children attended the Seneca parochial schools via horse and buggy except in the bitter winter months when they walked approximately two miles to the one room country schoolhouse.

Henry completed his schooling at St. Benedicts College, located on the Missouri River in Atchison, Kansas, and shortly thereafter became associated with the Mersman Bros. Corporation of Celina, Ohio, manufacturers of tables for the home — claiming to be the largest tables maker in the world. He continued an uninterrupted service with Mersman and after forty four years, retired in 1971. At the time of his retirement, he held the office of company comptroller.

Henry Bueltel married Madonna Pulskamp on October 8, 1938. Born March 25, 1911, she was an only child of Fred H. and Mollie Beachner Pulskamp. Fred was a life long resident of Celina and was engaged in the retail furniture business and also operated a funeral home. Mollie was originally from Tiffin, Ohio. Madonna, a registered nurse, graduated from Saint Rita's School of Nursing, Lima, Ohio. She pursued her nursing career until raising a family became important.

From this union, six children were born — James, Gary, Tom, Mary Ann, Rita and Karen. The children all attended Immaculate Conception School in Celina and all attended colleges. All six children are married and as of April 1, 1978, proudly present ten vigorous grandchildren, which makes for an exciting annual family picnic.

In addition to his association with the Mersman firm, Henry served the city of Celina as an elected city councilman and is presently on the Celina Zoning Board of Appeals. He is a Past Exalted Ruler of the Mercer County Elks, past district deputy of the Knights of Columbus and treasurer of the Celina Senior Citizens. Some years back he was active in promoting scouting. THE CELINA STEARIC ACID CO.

The Celina Stearic Acid Co. became a new employer in the community in 1907 when August J. Spieler, formerly of Cincinnati, came to Celina and decided to locate at the 5 acre site of the liquidated Haneke Iron Works, 410 S. Ash St. The corporation was composed of August J. Spieler, President, and Henry Pulskamp, Secretary & Treasurer, and John Pulskamp, Director. Later William H. Spieler (younger brother of August) joined the firm and became Technical Director & Secretary. Ed Pulskamp joined as Equipment Maintenance Specialist. The stock was closely held among the Spieler and Pulskamp relationship and friends.

August Spieler brought all the technical knowledge he had gained thru employment at Emery Industries of Cincinnati where he worked under Dr. Twitchell who pioneered in the fat splitting industry. Here the Dr. introduced the "Twitchell Process" with his patented "Saporiefier". Emery Industry sold the product to the industry.

From Emery, August went to Joshlin & Schmidt of Cincinnati, where as a chemical engineer he set up plants to process chemicals and fats.

Bascially, the Celina Stearic Acid Co. purchased tallow and grease, packing house by-products, and with heat/cold, pressure/vacuum, and catalysts split these fats into their component parts - namely: Oleic Acid, Stearic Acid and Glycerine. The Oleic Acid, as made in Celina, was an unrefined combination of fatty acids that was called "Saporiefied Red Oil" and was sold to the woolen mills in New England. Its purpose was to lubricate the wool in the carding process and to become the base of a soap used to scour the wool. Approximately 90% of the product shipped was "Red Oil" and the remaining 10% was composed of about 8% Stearic Acid and 2% Glycerine. The Stearic Acid was a refined product and was sold to the Drug Compounders, Cosmetic Makers, Paint Manufacturers and Candle Makers. Glycerine was also refined and was used in drugs, cosmetics, paint and explosive manufacturing.

There were technical changes in the industry between 1907 and 1962 when Celina Stearic Acid Co. ceased operation. At the beginning processing tanks were actually vats constructed of all "heart" Cypress and Sulphuric Acid. Washing was done in lead lined tanks. As alloys and welding developed, heat and pressure of processing was increased and steel pressure vessels were replaced with Inconel Clad Steel. Cypress was replaced with aluminum or inconel or Stainless Steel depending upon the processing done in the vessel. Shipments were all received and made in barrels at the start with the exception of a few tank wagons or tank cars. Later steel drums took over and finally everything came in and went out in tank cars except the stearic acid (a solid) in cartons or bags and Glycerine in drums.

Celina Stearic Acid Co. ceased operation in 1962 because it lost its 90% customer, American Woolen Co. American was merged into Textron who decided to close the mills in New England and move the equipment to the South where one employee could tend four looms compared to one on one in New England. Textron also switched from wool to synthetic fibre which did not require our major product Red Oil. We sold our glycerine refinery to a firm in the Philippines and the bulk of the balance of the processing equipment to Hunt Foods, Oil Division, Memphis, Tenn.

Hawk Construction Co. purchased the plant site and removed the older buildings and converted the newer buildings to rental storage space. The office continued to be used as rental office space partly used by Hawk Construction and later all by National Farm Organization.

CURRY

Wilbur (Bud) W. Curry, son of William and Emma (Paulin) Curry. "Bill" Curry was a furniture designer who came to Celina from Findlay, Ohio at the request of Walter Mersman. He was with the Mersman Brothers for over fifty years. His father, John Curry of Springfield, Ohio was a carpenter, his mother's name was Emma Fenstemaker. Emma Paulin Curry was the daughter of Joseph Paulin, a casket maker, and her mother's maiden name was Staum. They were residents of Findlay. Bill and Emma Curry were parents to Florence (Secrest), Mabel (Elder), Catharine (Ballinger), Richard, Thelma, (Colby), Wilbur, and Dora (Carter).

Bud Curry and Virginia (Jinny) Peak were married on May 22, 1947. Both are life long residents of Celina and graduates of Celina High School. Bud worked as an auto mechanic for many years and is presently shop man at C.B.S. Auto Supply. He spends as much time fishing as possible and enjoys hunting. He is a charter member and past commander of V.F.W. Post 5713. He served with the 8th Air Force in WWII, and spent two and a half years

Jinny Peak Curry is the daughter of Russell Peak and Etta Smith (Later married to John F. Yahn). Her great grandparents, Isaac Peak and Sarah Wycuff Peak came to Celina from New Jersey in the 1800's, Ike to work on the Grand Reservoir. They had one son, Edward, who married Rose Muether. Their children were Carl, Louetta, Edward, Wilhelmina, and Russell. Isaac and Sarah, at one time operated a hotel at the reservoir edge, for canal boatmen. They served food and boatmen could find overnight accommodations. Edward, Sr. operated one of Celina's early saloons. He was well known as a baseball player and sportsman. He, as well as his sons, fished the Grand and took many ducks and geese as well. Sarah had many stories she told her great grandchildren and often repeated that a "lady" didn't walk on the side of Main Street where the saloons were located. She never went outside without a sunbonnet (even at age 90) because the sun would freckle her skin.

Etta's grandfather was Lewis Smith. Lewis Smith was born in Germany and when six years old was sent by his parents across the ocean to the United States with a chest of drawers that held all his belongings. He served in the 71st Regiment of the Ohio Volunteers Infantry from 1861 to 1865. He married Wilhelmenia Frahm who was also born in Germany. They had five children, William, Charlie, Frank, Albert, and Ferdinand.

Ferdinand married Anna Lucinda Heckey (mother's maiden name Duncan). They were owners and operators of the Tama Store for several years. Ferd drove a huckster wagon around that area. Later he was a fireman for the Celina Fire Department. They were parents to Alvena (King), Mabel (Shinn), Verna (Dibble), Etta, and Russell.

Etta and Russell Peak were parents to Virginia (Curry), Marilyn (Niemeyer), Patty, and Ferd.

Jinny Peak Curry was employed as a bookkeeper at the old Heckler Hardware Store prior to her marriage. She began college at Ohio Northern University in 1959, and graduated with a B.S. in elementary education. She has taught at East Elementary School for 17 years. She is a sometimes fisherman and enjoys the Grand. Photography, gardening and travel are favorite pastimes. The Currys have traveled in 49 states, all except Alaska.

The Currys are parents of Wilbur R. (Rick) Curry, married to Margory Schoenlein of Coldwater. Rick and Marge are both graduates of Miami University of Oxford, Ohio. They reside in Cincinnati. Beth Ann Curry married Greg Kroft and they are parents to Benjamin E. Curry Kroft and Bradley A. Curry Kroft. Beth Ann is a graduate of Nationwide Beauty Academy. The Krofts reside in Celina. Patrick L. Curry married Debra Brown of Willshire, Ohio, they are parents to Erin Michelle and reside in Willshire.

Both Bud and Jinny are members of the St. Paul' United Methodist Church where Jinny taught Sun day School for twenty-three years. Virginia Curry, Ce ina, Oh. 45822

He assisted in the construction of the early Mersman Brothers assembly and transfer conveyor lines. Hugo filled many of his retirement hours with fishing and organic gardening. He died on July 11, 1977. Hilma Feltz, Celina, Oh. 45822

Milton Jasper Freeman

Milton was the son of Granville Freeman whose history appears in the "Record of Mercer and Van Wert Counties, Ohio", by A. W. Bowen and Co. of Chicago — 1896.

This history reports Milton was born on a farm in Washington Twp., Mercer County. Relatives remember he was born on leap year, Feb. 29, and his gravestone places the year as 1852. His early years involved several moves: to Highland Co. for two years, near the home of his mother's relatives, then to Fayette County during which time his father, Granville, enlisted into the Ohio Volunteer Infantry, 168th Regiment. In 1865 his father was honorably discharged and the family moved back to Mercer Co.

Milton married Mary Anne Fetters, daughter of Chris Fetters, March 25, 1876. Mary Ann was born

April 18, 1858 in Liberty Twp.

Milton and Mary Anne acquired a farm on Carmel Church Rd. in Jefferson Twp., where in addition to farming Milton was a self-taught veterinarian and was highly regarded in the community for his success in curing animals. For a hobby he liked guns and was reported to be quite proficient in their repair.

While living at this farm their 8 children wei born as follows: Anna Mary Lizzie Belle (Nov. 2 1876), William Henry (July 21, 1878), Charles Leva (Nov. 18, 1881), Arthur Dallas (Oct. 5, 1884), Laui Ida Torresia (Oct. 21, 1886), Walter Edward (April 1893), Maud Leona (Aug. 17, 1895), and Milton (July, 1897). The first five children grew to adul hood, married and had children and will be liste later. Walter Edward lived 7 months to Jan. 21, 189 Maud Leona lived 1 year to Sept. 6, 1896. The birt of Milton J. is not recorded in Mercer Count records; however surviving relatives tell of his birtl shortly after which his mother, Mary Ann, died o Sept. 13, 1897. Relatives and neighbors cared for th child until a business man, Schneider, from Colun bus, Ohio, asked to adopt him. Although adoptic papers were never completed, Milton J. went to liv with the Schneiders and they renamed him Willian Peter. Several years later, they reported Wm. Peter died during his school years.

s. Hilda and Orlan . Geroux in 1973

DR. ORLAN W. GEROUX AND THE LATE DR. HILDA G. GEROUX

Dr. Orlan W. Geroux, 3405 Shore St., Highland ark, is one of the few Mercer Countians who remembers the Depression of 1893. He also rememers the Panic of 1907 and the Recession of 1914 hich was stopped by the first World War, not to cention the Great Depression after the financial rash in 1929.

A chiropractor who has practiced in Celina since 924, Dr. Geroux, the son of a Civil War veteran, as born July 24, 1886 in Berrian County, Mich. He as reared on a combined stock and fruit farm and tended the district and Galien High schools. He orked at farming, but because of ill health made orse by overwork, he went to Oklahoma in Februry, 1904, and worked as a surveyor in the Iklahoma and Texas Panhandles. He assisted in Irveying most of Hooker, Okla., and several other two in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, as well as rospective rail lines.

Back in Michigan in 1905, he worked as an engineer for the Michigan Central and Pierre Marquette Railroads, later taking over the farm and training horses until his father's death in 1910.

He then worked as an auctioneer, continuing to train horses, and remembers well the winter of 1911-12 when the temperature dropped to 40 degress below zero in Michigan. In the summer of 1912, he moved to Nappanee, Ind., where he engaged in the livery business. While in this business, he met Hilda G. Miller, a widow with two sons, whom he married in November of 1915 in South Bend, Ind.

During 1917, he assisted in the installation of the early Westinghouse back-geared turbo generators, and then served until early 1918 as engineer at the Nappanee Municipal Power Plant. He then moved with his family to a farm between Bremen and Bourbon, Ind. He was a charter member of the American Farm Bureau in Marshall Co., Ind.

Through the ill health of both Orlan and Hilda Geroux, they became acquainted with chiropractic, and having benefited greatly from this relatively new science, they decided to become chiropractors themselves. They were graduated from the Bremer

Chiropractic College in 1923.

After seeing Grand Lake-St. Marys on the map, the Drs. Geroux visited Celina, and finding the lake beautiful and noting the productive farmland, set up practice in a house at 403 North Main. Later they moved their offices to the building now owned by the First National Bank, and for 18 years, 1927-1945, practiced in the Wyckoff Building. In 1945, they purchased the home at 213 East Market St., remodeled it, and used it both as living quarters and office until 1967 when they retired to the lakefront home they had purchased in 1929.

Upon setting up practice in Celina, the Drs. Geroux found that hundreds of Mercer Countians were eager to avail themselves of chiropractic care and almost all remained loyal over the years.

The Drs. Geroux maintained that chiropractic should be recognized as a separate and distinct science. Because Ohio law defined chiropractic as a limited branch of medicine and surgery, and chiropractors were controlled by the Ohio State Medical Board, neither ever attempted to get what was known as a limited chiropractic certificate. During the 1975 session of the Ohio legislature, the old law was repealed and a new law passed which created a State Board of Chiropractic Examiners in Ohio.

In 1925, the Drs. Geroux, along with three other Mercer County chiropractors, were arrested and confined to the old Mercer County jail for 42 days, charged with practicing medicine without a license. Over 1,200 Mercer Countians came to the jail to protest. A number of other actions and arrests followed, but due to the concerted action of Drs. Geroux and the work of attorneys Judge Frank V. Short and Burl Myers, the law was nullified and the chiropractors were acquitted in most of the following cases.

Again in 1959, Mercer County chiropractors were arrested for practicing medicine without a license, but the cases were all eventually dismissed.

Dr. Orlan Geroux has been active in community affairs through his life in Celina. He served as chairman of the utilities committee for the Celina Chamber of Commerce for several years and has always taken an active interest in the power plant. He advocated improving the old plant, rather than building the present inoperable plant. He served as Sunday School teacher and instructor of the adult forum at St. Paul's United Methodist Church for many years, and as a Celina City Councilman during 1962 and

An active foe of fluoridation of water, Dr. Geroux has written an extensive study of fluoridation. His writings also include a comprehensive history of chiropractic and a number of essays and poems.

For 22 years, Dr. Orlan Geroux served on the board of directors of the Ohio State Chiropractic Society, including terms as president and vice president. In 1956 he was named Ohio Chiropractor of the Year. For a number of years he was representative assemblyman from Ohio for the International Chiropractic Association and also served as a board member and president of the National Committee for Chiropractic Education. Dr. Geroux also has been the recipient of a number of awards from state and national associations.

Dr. Charles Y. Amato, Celina, the late Dr. Herald L. Miller, and Dr. Noel T. Miller, Van Wert, were associated with the Drs. Geroux in the Geroux Chiropractic Clinic for several years.

The greatest achievement of the two Drs. Geroux, however, lies in the regained health of literally thousands of area persons through their administering chiropractic care.

The Drs. Geroux enjoyed a tranquil retirement after an earlier life with perhaps more sadness than most: their sons Floyd and Dr. Herald L. Miller had died in 1930 and 1962 respectively. Due to an injury, an 11-year-old grandson died in 1941. However, Dr. Orlan Geroux' life is enriched by his daughter-inlaw, Ronda G. Miller, three grandchildren, 11 greatgrandchildren, and two great-great grandchildren.

Dr. Hilda passed away on Oct. 13, 1976. Dr. Orlan

Geroux remembers her with these lines:

She walks down the valley of silence; Down the dim voiceless valley alone, And she hears not the fall of a footstep, Around her, save God's and her own, And the hush of her heart is as holy, As hovers where angels have flown.

In the hush of the valley of silence, She dreams all the songs that she sings And the music floats down the dim valley, Till each finds a word for a wing, That to us, like the dove of the deluge, The message of peace she may bring.

These words are written in the Name of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ through whom shone the Shekinah Glory. Amen. Dr. Orlan Geroux, Celina, Oh. 45822

GEORGE EDWARD

G. Edward Glass was born in Mercer County in East Jefferson Township Section 36, on April 16, 1910. This farm was formerly a part of the sizeable John Morgan estate.

Edward's grandparents, August and Elizabeth (Weber) Glass, were married in 1849 in Rotenbach, Germany. They migrated to the United States in 1852, by way of sailing vessel, which spent many months enroute.

They settled first in Cincinnati, later moving to Richmond, IN, and then to Auglaize County. They were the parents of ten children. The youngest son, born in 1869, was George Frederick Glass, father of Edward Glass. The family was Protestant, and attended the German Reform Church. August fought in the Civil War, having been hired to serve in place of someone else.

George Frederick married Mary Fast in 1892, and they, along with an infant daughter, moved to Mercer County in the early nineteen hundreds. George's occupation was farming, and he purchased land in East Jefferson Township. In 1906, his wife passed away, leaving him with two children, Florence and Floyd.

In 1909, Mr. Glass married Demie Gates Stewart, of Darke County, daughter of Harvey B. and Alice (Bertsch) Gates. To this union were born four children: George Edward, Ivan, and twins Elizabeth (stillborn), and Alice. Shortly after the birth of the twins, he was again bereft, when his second wife died, leaving him with these three children and two step-daughters, Imo and Ethel Stewart.

The log house in which Edward was born was replaced in a few years. The house and barn which were erected at this time are still standing.

Edward received his education in the Four Turkey School, located on Four Turkey Road, near what is now State Rte. 703. He walked 134 mile to school each day. All of this was mud road except for 1/2 mile. He attended high school in St. Marys. From early childhood Edward attended the East Old Town Church of the United Brethren in Christ. He began teaching Sunday School in his teenage years, and has continued teaching for about fifty years to the present time. He was also church song leader for many years, as well as being Sunday School Superintendent for a number of years. The East Old Town Church relocated in St. Marys in 1962, and is known as the Hillsdale Church of the United Brethren in Christ. Edward is now lay leader of this church.

In 1934, Edward married Anna Lucille Rider, daughter of Thomas and Noretta (Sweigart) Rider. Following his father's retirement, they moved onto the farm where he was born, which he purchased in 1938. He later purchased the B. F. Sweigart and the D. D. Wolf farms.

Edward and Anna took an eleven year old boy, Thomas Edward, into their home in August of 1956, with plans to adopt him. However, tragedy soon struck, when Anna died as the result of a fall.

In June, 1958, Edward was married to Myrna Shively Emans, daughter of Lee and Effie (Smith) Shively. They adopted Tom in July 1959. In addition to Myrna's daughter, Nancy Emans, they took a foster daughter, Gerry Kellermeyer, into their home in 1966.

Edward retired from farming in 1968, and moved his family into a new home on Oldtown Road, built on the former B. F. Sweigart farm. He took employment at the Carter Lumber Company, where he is still employed.

In 1969, Edward acquired a log house, which he dismantled and moved into the woods near his home. This cabin is of unusual construction, and is believed to have been built by Indians about 1840.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass have procured a number of antiques, including many antique farm implements and hand tools. They have enjoyed showing this museum to several thousand people in recent years.

Mr. Glass has a hobby of woodworking. He makes many beautiful and useful items for family and friends in his workshop. Edward Glass

GRANDLIENARD

Kenneth Grandlienard, born in 1925 in Wells County, Indiana, married Mary Jean Stillberger of Jefferson Township in 1948 and began residence on St. Rt. 118, south of St. Rt. 29, near Beaver Creek, on the John Stillberger homestead.

Kenneth and Mary Jean moved into the 3rd house on the farm, address 6498 St. Rt. 118, Celina, Ohio. The first house was built 60 rods east from the road. A second house, situated just north of the present home was destroyed by fire in 1934. The present home was built by Lawrence Maury, a Celina contractor and was remodeled twice in the next 25 years. Three large barns have been erected; the first burned by supposedly convicted chicken thieves and the second burned after being struck by light-

Kenneth and Mary Jean had five children. Lorraine, born Jan. 8, 1951, a graduate of Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., is marred to Max Amstutz of Berne, Indiana, the pastor of Faith Missionary Church in Peoria, Illinois. They have two daughters, Sheri and Amy. Diann, born March 1, 1952, a graduate of Ft. Wayne Bible College, is a secretary in Ft. Wayne, Indiana. Dan, born March 17, 1953, a graduate of Purdue University, is married to Jody Harrison of Chicago, Illinois, a piano instructor in colleges in Ft. Wayne, Indiana and in their home. Dan, after college graduation, entered into a partnership with his father in the dairy farm operation. Paul, born February 29, 1960, will enter Purdue University to study agriculture. Carol, born Jan. 4, 1966, will be a Jr. High student at Celina, Ohio.

The farm operation has included chickens, cows, and hogs plus field crops. In 1970 the poultry operation was disbanded to allow for expansion in the dairy operation. The Jersey herd was designated registered in 1978 and consists of 72 milk cows, 45 heifers and calves. Also raised is 25 beef cattle and 110 hogs. For variety and enjoyment, peacocks have been raised on the farm. Mary Jean Grandlienard

Larry and Janice A. (Knapke) Gruebmeyer of 213 Wayne, became Celina residents in 1975 — both elected descendants of the German forefathers that esplished western Ohio's farming heritage. We both the born at Gibbons Hospital in 1940's.

Jan's great great grandfather (Bernard Henry napke) arrived in Baltimore on October 10, 1842 th St. John, Ohio as final destination (where three tapke cousins had already settled in 1830's). The mily name has been further traced back another 5 nerations to Herman Knapke, 1647-1709 - who sided Neuenkirchen, Germany (near the south-stern boundary of the Grand Duchy of Oldenrg). Bernard Henry Knapke acquired 40 acres in ction 23 Marion Township in 1844 and acquired a d 40 acres in 1849, he married Catherine Kramer nuary 18, 1849 at St. John, Ohio and they became e parents of two sons and a daughter. On Novemr 22, 1877 the oldest son (Henry) married Theresia itz. They had 8 children and the second oldest rank Joseph) married Philomena Pohlman — they itially were farmers near St. Henry and then purased a farm on Wabash Rd. near Ft. Recovery. n's father (Adolph) is a forty year employee at vco New Idea and is the third oldest of six sons id one daughter raised by Joseph and Philomena. ne 15, 1938 - Adolph married Francis Jutte (the tte's being land neighbors on corner of Wabash 1. and Rte. 219). They now reside at 809 Parkview rive South in Coldwater. Jan has 5 brothers and 3 sters. Jan and her first husband (Gerald Gobrecht) oth worked for TWA and L-K Restaurants in Dayn and Hebron, Ohio prior to his death in 1974. In ne 1978, Jan resigned from office manager for Drs. tuer, Webb, Fowler, McFarland to become the Resurant Manager at Lake Front Raquet Club - Cena, Ohio.

Larry is the oldest of three sons and one daughter - the children of Wilbert and Gladys (Brockman) ruebmeyer — raised on general livestock farm on ock Two Road, German Township (Auglaize ounty), northwest of New Bremen. This 80 acre rm was acquired in 1890's by Conrad Gruebmeyer reat grandfather) who accomplished the purchase om secondary income they were receiving from 3 il wells on his original farm (that farm passed to the youngest son — Henry; and it sold from Henry's state on 9-16-78 for $2640. per acre to Way International — the land being on Botkins Road, southeast I New Knoxville). Conrad left Bremen, Germany n April 27, 1867 for New York. He was born in Bruchhagen in 1843 and had a younger brother, Carl, who also came to New Knoxville, Ohio but never married. Their German father was William Gruebmeyer (spelled Grthupmeyer) and he married —?— Koeper (descendants of her Koeper family are now neighboring farmers in German Township plus Koeper in-laws are also found in the Brockman family — this being Larry's maternal grandparents (Benjamin and Evelyn Rump Brockman) who owned and farmed 240 acres in Marion Township (Mercer County).

Initially Conrad worked as general laborer in Miami County for 7-10 years and recorded his citizenship in Troy, Ohio on October 4, 1872. In 1880 he married Anna Catherine Sunderman and they became the parents of 12 children. Fred Gruebmeyer (grandfather) was the oldest son and married Flora Wehrman, they then acquired Conrad's New Bremen farm and made it their only home - reaching 50th wedding anniversary together on the farm in 1958. (After Conrad's death in 1916 - Anna first lived in New Bremen and then returned to the farm until her death in 1951 at age 91.) Thus the farm became a family gathering place for their respective brothers, sisters, sons, daughters, and grandchildren. Wilbert (father) had purchased a neighboring farm and merged it with the home farm following Fred's death. The large barn, numerous farm buildings, the brick/stucco house, and productive fields form a picturesque view and appropriately depict the family heritage.

Larry was active in 4-H and F.F.A. programs including 1964 Ohio FFA State Farmer Degree and was then President of Auglaize County Junior Fair Board (the County fair participation included one showmanship award and one Grand Champion). A graduate of New Bremen High School and then graduated from Miami University in 1968 with B.S. Degree in Accounting. Purchased first home in Troy, Ohio while working for Hobart Corp. and then employed three years as financial accounting and internal audit for Danis Industries in Dayton, Ohio. Since April 1974 has been employed as Manager of Finance and Accounting for Empire Family Restaurants — responsibilities include organizing the financial and administrative aspects of Empire's restaurant expansion. Became a licensed Realtor in 1970 and joined Paul Clark Realty — Better Homes and Gardens when their Celina office opened in

We have three daughters: Robin M. Gruebmeyer born in St. Marys on January 4, 1967, Geri Ann Gobrecht born in Dayton on July 2, 1967, and Ronda L. Gruebmeyer born in Troy on July 8, 1969. Larry Gruebmeyer, Celina, Oh. 45822

GRUNDEN

Gail J. Grunden, the son of Roy and Stella Monroe Grunden, was born March 30, 1938, in a farm house on It's It's Road west of Montezuma, Ohio. The family lived there until Gail was 15 years old then they moved to Montezuma, Ohio where his mother still lives. His father died October 9, 1970. Gail attended Franklin school in Montezuma for 8 years then went to Celina High School where he graduated in 1956.

Doris Jean Grunden, the daughter of Arlie and Laveda Now Baucher was born June 17, 1932, at their home 3 miles west of Celina on Mud Pike. She attended Lincoln School at the corner of Mud Pike and State Route 118 for 6 years then the school was closed. She finished her schooling at Celina Junior High and Celina High School where she graduated in 1950.

Gail and Doris were married November 19, 1960. After their marriage they lived at Park Grand, East of Montezuma for 5 years, then they bought a 30 acre farm on St. Henry-Burkettsville Road and lived there for 5 years. In 1970 they bought the house in Celina at 813 Elm Street, where they now reside.

Gail was a plasterer for a number of years, a volunteer fireman at Montezuma and Celina and is now employed as a firefighter for the City of Celina. After Doris' graduation in 1950 she worked three months for the A.S.C. Office in Celina then started working for Celina Municipal Utilities where she is still employed.

They have two children, Matthew Jay and Melissa Kay, both students in Celina High School. Matthew plays football and has a part-time job at Poppa Arties. Melissa is in the band and a majorette. Matthew was born September 16, 1961 and Melissa was born December 31, 1962. The family attends Montezuma United Methodist Church and is active in Grange. Gail Grunden

MICHAEL DAVID HALL AND FAMILY

Michael David and Karen Kay (Anderson) Hall moved from Lima to make their home in Mercer County in January of 1973. They reside at 3057

Kuhn Road, Jefferson Township, Section 7.

Karen's maternal great-grandparents, Charles and Brittie (Gray) Beougher, purchased and built the existing house and outbuildings in approximately 1914. The accompanying photograph shows the barn and granary in the background. The interior hand-hewn timbers remain in excellent condition. Older neighbors have mentioned the property as being one of the more attractive homes in the area at that time. The house was among the first to have indoor bathroom facilities.

Charles' father, Harvey, was the first in the family to make his home in Mercer Co. He purchased 80 acres of uncleared land in Jefferson Twp., Section 11, and moved his family here from Hocking County. Further information on Harvey Beougher is contained in the 1907 Mercer County History and Biography book. After Harvey's death, the farm was sold to Joseph McGee for $150 an acre. The proceeds from the sale were split among Harvey's children. With his share, Charles then purchased 40 acres in Jefferson Twp. Sect. 7. Adding further purchases, it now makes up the farm that Michael and Karen live on. The land is presently owned by Charles' daughter, L. Berneice Sibert.

Michael was born in Lima, November 23, 195 the son of David and Betty Jeane (Elston) Hall. The still reside in Lima in Bath Twp. Michael has two siters. Lynda D. married Richard Hensley and lives Lima. Susan J. married Dane Bowers and they live Wauseon with their daughter Courtney.

Michael's maternal great-grandmother, Ida Bel is believed to be among the first in his family to li in Mercer Co. She was born in Mendon Twp., Ja 11, 1878, to Christopher and Jemima (Sutto Emans. Her parents' birthplaces are not known. It Belle married John Gregg Taylor and they later live.

in Lima until their deaths.

Michael attended schools in Lima and graduate from Bath High School. He also attended Pen Technical College.

Karen was born in Mercer Co. in Washingte Twp. on July 8, 1952. Her parents, Richard Lee ar Evelyn Ann (Sibert) Anderson, were both born Mercer Co. Her father died August 14, 1977, in Po Richey, Florida. Evelyn, an accomplished artist, h won several awards in area art shows. Her secor husband, H. Eldon Akerman, is the pastor of Fir English Lutheran Church in Wapakoneta, Ohi Karen's brother, Robert M. McShane, is currently student at Ohio State University in Columbu Ohio. He legally changed his name from Robert Anderson in 1975.

Karen attended schools in Fremont, Maumee, an graduated from Shawnee High School in Lima. Shalso attended Bowling Green State University. M chael and Karen were married September 2, 1972, i Lima at Shawnee United Methodist Church.

Attracted to a life on the farm, they made the move to Mercer Co. shortly afterward. Michael ha previously farmed part-time in Lima with his mater nal grandfather, Fay P. Elston.

Beginning the slow process of building a line of farm equipment of their own, Michael and Kare rented increased acres of land each year from Kalen's grandparents, Clarence A. and L. Berneice S bert. Clarence died March 28, 1975.

In addition to farming, Michael spent four year selling and erecting grain bins. In 1974, his sales fo Superior Equipment Mfg. placed fourth in the stat of Ohio.

In the spring of 1977, Michael began farming full time and took on a dealership in Super Crost see corn. He will farm 240 acres of rented ground from Berneice.

Michael enjoys playing lead guitar and singin with a local country band, "The Originals." The are a popular choice for wedding receptions and club dances. He has been playing guitar seriously since 1963.

On December 13, 1977, Michael and Karen be came the proud parents of a daughter, Amanda Karen. She becomes the sixth generation on he mother's side to live in Mercer Co. An interesting fact is that Amanda, her mother Karen, and grand mother Evelyn, were all born on adjoining farms.

Karen worked four years as a senior draftsman for Avco New Idea in Coldwater until Amanda war born.

In June 1978, Michael and Karen purchased a 33.56 acre farm on Swamp Road, Jefferson Twp. Section 6. Their future goals include additional land purchases, and a livestock set-up. Michael Hall

CELINA RURAL CARRIER RETIRED

On Sat., March 30th, 1935 I was retired as rural tter carrier on Route No. 2, after serving thirty-one ears and seven months. Many changes have taken ace during those years.

I wonder if the patrons on rural routes know who eserves the credit for the establishment of the first rur routes out of Celina. The late Marion Dick, a rmer living nine miles northeast of Celina, read a ewspaper clipping stating a rural route had been stablished from their town. This was in the fall of 902. Mr. Dick came to Celina and showed the cliping to Chas. A. McKim, postmaster at that time. Ir. McKim wrote to the postoffice department asking how to secure rural routes. Soon instructions ere received, stating a route should be laid out, 25 illes long and with at least 100 families living on it. hey were to also circulate a petition and have the irmers sign it, asking for a rural route.

The local newspapers were told how the farmers ould get their mail and soon four routes were laid ut.

Mr. Dick came to our home and said he wanted ne for their mail carrier, and suggested I see Mr. IcKim. I did and he said as soon as he learned how carrier was secured he would notify me. In Jan. of 903, I received a notice that a civil service examination would be held in Celina on February 15th. When I got to the postoffice that A.M. it was 11 derees below zero.

In July, same year, Arch Wagner, Wesley Steele, lobert Bowland and myself were notified we had een appointed carriers on routes No. 1, 2, 3, and 4, nd were to report for duty Sept. 1st. Mr. Bowland vas 55 years old at that time. We all ordered mail vagons from Butler, Ind.

I was the first to report that September morning. The postoffice was in the Lininger building at that ime. Those red, white and blue mail wagons caused nore excitement than a fleet of airplances would ow. The sidewalks were crowded with people looking them over. Among the crowd was a Mr. Gordon, hen manager of the gas office, who said "Whoever wilt these wagons must have taken a pattern from

'ete Heyne's milk wagon."

We reported at the office at 7:30 A.M. and left at 8 A.M. Mr. McKim had gotten four wooden boxes bout four feet square and with a lead pencil narked the No's 1, 2, 3, and 4. This served as our asses until our desks came later. The mail for each oute was thrown into those boxes. At 8 o'clock we tarted on ouv routes. I had 12 letters, 3 cards, 2 omfort magazines and 1 Cincinnati Post for the late oe Nuding. I reported at the office at 2:30 P.M. I had ollected 4 letters, 1 post card and sold 14 cents vorth of stamps.

My largest delivery of mail was in 1929, when I

I still have two straps from my first set of harness hat was used all of the time I drove horses. I served luring Route three for seventeen years. I owned 16 lifferent horses during this time and I drove them 140,000 miles. In June 1920, I was transferred from Rt. 3 to Rt. 2 with a longer route. Seven years later he route was extended to 33 miles and in November 1928 the route was again extended, making 46 miles.

In 1930 I started using a car, driving a Chevrolet. I had four different ones, two worn out when I got them. These cars have traveled a distance of 216,936 miles. With horses and cars I have traveled a distance of 356,936 miles. The Chevrolet coach that retired with me had been driven a distance of 126,924 miles, the only car leaving the Celina postoffice with such a record and is still going strong. A Pontiac has the next best record, it was laid to rest at 113,000 miles.

The most discouraging trip I ever made was in March, 1904. I drove two horses, one gave out on the mud road east of the Mt. Tabor Church. I unhitched the horse and tied her to the back of the mail wagon and came in with one horse hitched to the tongue. When I got in town the postoffice was closed. Those were the good old days when the farmers had the money and the mail carrier had a job.

There was something funny always happening. One thing I remember especially well. Mr. McKim called Mr. Bowland and told him a letter had been mailed at the office for a lady on his route and hadn't been received for three days, he asked why the delay. Mr. Bowland picked up the letter and pointing to it said: "Now see here McKim, see what it says?" After ten days return to the sender. I have ten days to deliver that letter.

There are only eight couples living on Rt. 3 who were living there when the route was established. They are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Younger, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wurster Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bogart, Mr. and Mrs. Issac Snavely, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Meiers and Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Willcutt.

There were 16 Civil War veterans. They have all passed on. In all there were 87 deaths during the 17 years I traveled the rt. In this time nine houses burned, five were moved away, 11 razed by fire and

As times have changed so have the lengths of routes and the salaries have changed. When first we started carrying our salary was $600 each per year, regardless of length of route. Now the salary is paid according to the length of the routes with an additional equipment allowance.

The carriers earn every cent they get. If you doubt this just try making the trip, stop at every farm house, shift gears three times at each stop and then you will realize what the job is.

The patrons on Rt. 3 always treated me fine and I will never forget the many good things to eat they gave me, especially at Christmas time. I also want to thank my friends on Rt. 2 who have remembered me often.

The carriers who were lucky in getting my route in this consolidation, will find the people to be the finest in northwestern Ohio. I shall miss them and their friendly greetings. I wish them all good health, happiness and prosperity. Lee Ivan Hamilton Mrs. Joseph C. Fischer, Celina, Oh. 45822

THE HAMILTON FAMILY

Among the first pioneer families of Union Township, Mercer County, were Justin Hamilton, 1796-1863, and his wife, Eliza Jane Rhodes Hamilton, 1798-1887, who was originally from Conn. Justin Hamilton, originally from Mass., was the State engineer who made the original survey of Lake St. Marys before its construction began. He was four times a State Representative, and also served as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

The Hamiltons' frame house was on a hillock on the former Hamilton Road, and drew pioneers' attention to its New England type construction done in black walnut. Justin Hamilton had over 300 fine books that he loaned to pioneers. His law office was virtually the first free lending library in Mercer County.

Eliza Jane Rhodes Hamilton was a woman of culture who delighted in serving refreshments on Limoges china to travellers and guests. A gracious helper, nurse, and friend to all, including many Indians, she was also an expert rifle shot who landed squirrels and turkeys with one shot each.

Justus Hamilton, 1823-1901, was one of the eight children of the Justin Hamiltons, and married Mary Jane Panabaker, daughter of the Mercer County minister, Adam Panabaker and Margaret Severns Panabaker, both from Virginia. Mary Jane Panabaker Hamilton was truly a great beauty whose extraordinary culture was beyond the expectation of many who received her benefactions.

In Virginia, Adam Panabaker secretly educated his slaves to manage a farm alone; then further broke man-made law by freeing them about 1840. He gave each man 40 acres of land in New York State. Rev. Panabaker's father was a descendent of James du Verdier, a Huguenot who had been a Court Page at Versailles during the reign of Louis XV, and who later lived in South Carolina and Vir-

The eight children of the Justus Hamiltons included Harriet Hamilton Gilberg, of Celina, and Moses Silas Hamilton, a Mercer County farmer, whose son Lee Ivan Hamilton married Ada Hall, of Mercer County, whose father's lineage was in the same New York Hall family as that of the mother of Eleanor

Justin Hamilton's lineage began in America with Hugh Hamilton, 1673-1763, who came from Ulster, Ireland to Massachusetts. His family had gone from the lowlands of Scotland to Ulster. His children included John Hamilton, 1716-1779, who was a Captain during the American Revolution. John Hamilton married Sarah Blair, 1722-1779, and among their children was David Hamilton, 1742-1817, who married Mary Knox, 1752-1778. Lieut. David Hamilton was one of the famed American Revolution Minute Men at Lexington, Massachusetts. Mary Knox was the daughter of John Knox, 1720-1800, who was also a Minute Man at Lexington.

The thirteen children of the David Hamiltons included Hugh Hamilton, 1770-1851, of Blanford, Massachusetts, who married Isabella Knox, 1772-1856. The seven children of these Hugh Hamiltons included Justin Hamilton, 1796-1863, who married Eliza Jane Rhodes Hamilton.

The descendents of the foregoing Hamiltons are very numerous, and many of them have contributed to the public welfare of their country. Justus A. Gilberg

HELLWARTH

On August 23, 1876, Hettie Elizabeth Clay was orn to Kathryn Krugh Clay at the home of a relare. Hettie's father, William Clay, had died a few onths earlier, so Kathryn with baby Hettie lived ith Kathryn Clay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. rugh, in Celina for three years. Then Kathryn Clay arried Christopher Now, a farmer in Mercer bunty, and took over the care of the children of Ir. Now. The family of Christopher Now and Karyn Now included Hettie, Martha, Alice, William, seph, John, and Mary De Hays. Mary, Joseph, and hin had their own homes, but John's wife died aving him with little Bessie who was taken into hristian and Kathryn's home. Then in a few years, athryn had a baby daughter, Emma.

Hettie Clay was so happy to have a sister. The mily attended the Pleasant View Church of God. hat is where Hettie and others of the family acted Christ as their Savior as young people.

Hettie's mother, Mrs. Now, had a sister and husand, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Duff, who took interest in ettie and invited her to visit them; and one year ettie lived with the Duff family and attended thool. Mrs. Kathryn Now was a seamstress and tade the clothes for the children and herself. She as also a good nurse and helped care for sick peole in the neighborhood.

As a teenager, Hettie accepted employment at omes where the wife was engaged in other work. he had to do laundry without a washing machine, eep the house clean without an electric sweeper. ometimes she had an infant in the home to care for esides all the cooking.

When Hettie was seventeen, her mother took ick. For a time, Hettie gave up her work and went ome to help care for her mother. Then when she was eighteen, her mother passed away. Hettie had work in a good home in Celina. It was some time after her mother's death that she began keeping comany with Edward Hellwarth who lived on a farm in Iopewell Township with his parents, Joseph and liza Hellwarth. In a few years, when they were wenty-two years old, Hettie Clay married Edward Iellwarth. They visited friends of the Hellwarth amily in Columbus, Ohio, for their wedding trip, hen made their home with Edward's parents on the arm in Hopewell Township.

Edward and his father, Joseph, were active in the lope Evangelical Church, so Hettie attended church egularly with them. As the years came, the Hellarth family entertained the minister's family often, as well as many other friends.

After several years, Edward and Hettie Hellwarth became the parents of baby Edith Opel. The grand-parents were especially glad to have a grandchild. As soon as little Edith could talk, Hettie taught her to pray at the table and soon she learned the Lord's Prayer.

Mother Hettie would teach little Edith poetry and also songs; then when Daddy Edward, Grandpa Joseph, and the hired man came in for dinner, she would stand up and recite the poetry or sing the song for them.

Grandpa Joseph took little Edith with him outdoors to see how the crops were growing. He had a special little cart for little Edith to ride in over the farm. At an early age Grandpa Joe began teaching little Edith arithmetic. He was such a good teacher that after he passed away and the family moved to a new house they had built at 815 North Main Street in Celina, Ohio, and Edith started to school, she was ahead of the third graders in arithmetic so she was put in the third grade at Celina Schools. Edith had to go back to second grade each day to read Hiawatha.

After living in Celina a few years, Edward Hellwarth went into the shoe store business on Fayette Street. In a few years we enjoyed National Prohibition so all the saloons in Celina had to go out of business. At that time the Hellwarth family bought a building on the corner of Main and Fayette Street which had been known as the Corner Saloon. Edward with assistance cleaned, painted the walls, and put in a new floor; then moved his shoe store to the Main Street building. There Edward enjoyed a good business. Mrs. Rose Taylor was his clerk. His wife Hettie assisted waiting on customers on Saturdays.

Being very much interested in Sunday School, Edward Hellwarth was the S.S. Superintendent of the Bethany Evangelical Church and held that office for a number of years. During that time, a County Sunday School organization was active in the county and Edward was the president of that organization for a while. Many of the county ministers would stop in the store when they came to Celina to talk about County Sunday School promotion. One summer Edward promoted a Mercer County Sunday School picnic in Celina at the Fair Grounds which was well attended.

As a grade school child, Edith studied piano with a Catholic sister in Celina. Then in high school Edith studied piano with Miss May Helmstetter who came from St. Marys once a week to teach piano. Edith's parents both kept her at piano practice and also solo singing. She took music in high school. Edith sang a solo at her high school graduation exercise in 1921. Then in the fall Edith went to Defiance College to study public school music, voice, and piano. During that year the Music Department presented an operetta in which Edith had a solo part.

Upon the advice of Edith's private piano teacher, the next year Edith took the Public School Music Teachers' course at Cincinnati College of Music. It was most difficult for the family to leave Edith at a large city to attend college. She was greatly encouraged by Daddy Edward. He wrote a note on a card and sent it to Edith daily. It was Edith's first experience in a large city. She found a good church a few blocks from the College of Music dorm. She was soon a member of a large Sunday School class of young women with a good teacher. The minister brought good messages in the evening as well as Sunday a.m. Edith was very lucky to be placed in a room in the college dorm with a very nice girl of the same church denomination, Mabel Wagner of Bucyrus, Ohio.

Edith's public school music teacher was so exacting that Edith did not particularly enjoy her practice teaching, especially if the teacher was listening in; but with hard work and great determination Edith received her credentials to teach music in a public

Since the position of Public School Music was filled in Celina, Edith accepted a job of third grade elementary school teacher and taught music to two other classes besides her own at Lima, Ohio.

In 1925 Edith took the position as public school music teacher for the grades and high school in Celina, Ohio. Her family was delighted to have her at home and participating in the music at the Bethany Evangelical Church located on North Walnut Street at that time.

On August 27, 1931, Edward Hellwarth took a high fever which his already weak heart could not take, and because of the lack of present day medication passed away. In the funeral procession from home on North Main Street to Bethany Church on Walnut Street, Edward's Sunday School class marched back of the funeral hearse. He had been their teacher.

To encourage Mrs. Hettie Hellwarth and Mrs. Eliza Hellwarth, Miss Dorothy Smith came to live with them. She was a big help when Edith was absent part time leading the music for special revival services when she was called.

Before going out in revival meetings Edith had much business to care for. The contents of the shoe store were sold and the business taken over by a shoe salesman who already had his store in Celina. Then in time a grocery store had a business there, and finally Goldsteins opened the Kiddy Shop in the building, which is still in operation. Edith Eichenauer, Celina, Oh. 45822

Dr. Lester and Edith Eichenauer. Dr. Eichenauer passed away November 1975, just before Thanksgiving

EICHENAUER

Dr. Lester Eichenauer was the son of Justus and Lily Bell Eichenauer. In 1933 Dr. Lester Eichenauer graduated from Ohio State Dental School, Columbus, Ohio, then opened his own dental office in the second floor rooms of the Hellwarth building on the corner of Main and Fayette Streets. He enjoyed his work and relieved many people from painful teeth.

After Dr. Lester Eichenauer practiced for a year, he married Edith Hellwarth at Bethany Church in Celina, Ohio. They went to housekeeping at 815 North Main Street, Celina, where the Hellwarth home was remodeled and an addition built to the north making a double house. By this plan Edith could take some responsibility with the care and en-

In three years Dr. Lester and Edith Eichenau were greatly blessed by the birth of Joy Jewel. Mis Bernice Monroe was Edith's first helper when Jocome into the family. She had had experience taking care of little children. When Joy was abonine weeks old, Grandmother Eliza Hellward passed away. Then Mother Hettie Hallwarth had at other adjustment to make — that of living alone ther side of the house. She did keep busy entertaining friends and sewing for her granddaughter, Joy.

Dr. Lester hired Miss Esther Gardner to assist the dental office in the morning, and helping h wife Edith in the afternoons and evenings. This gas Edith a chance to attend evening church meeting and choir rehearsals as well as going with him whe he attended the National Dental Meetings.

Kenneth Lehman worked in the office after school and on Saturdays. Then after Kenneth's graduatio from high school, he was kept busy all day at the office. Esther Gardner was still working mornings if the office but had Sundays off. Their concern for each other grew into a courtship and in time the were married. In time Esther could not continue he office work or to work for Edith. She was too occupied at home for she and Kenney were blessed with a son, and in a few years a second son.

Mother Edith sang to little Joy and after she could talk well, she began to sing. Then by the time she could get up on the piano bench, Mother Edith be gan teaching her to play piano. She was to practic fifteen minutes at a time. Her practice time wakept. And she practiced three to four times a day so soon she could play some easy music for pupils. Joy could also sing. Before Joy began grade school, she played a piano duet with Mother Edith at the Bethany Evangelical Missionary meeting. In a few years Joy began taking piano with local music teach ers. When she was in high school in Celina, she learned to play violin also, and was in the high school orchestra.

Joy attended Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky for her freshman year, then attended Wheaton, Illinois College in the first summer and continued there until her graduation in Music after three years Having prepared to teach music in the public schools, she began teaching in a Cincinnati, Ohio public grade school. The next year, having given up her first position, she taught in downtown Cincinnati where the ruffians go who have poor home conditions. That was a most trying experience.

While in Cincinnati, Joy married Carl Stahlman who took a job in Evansville, Indiana. There Joy took the job of teaching music to the nurses of a hospital. While in Evansville, Rachel was born. She brought much joy into the home. In two years Rachel had a brother Hugh. By this time the family had moved to Glenview, Illinois, north of Chicago near where Carl's work was. Carl had a sister and family in this area. When Joy could leave Rachel and Hugh with Carl's sister, she acquired a position to teach music in the public schools and picked up the children after school. In a few years the children attended a neighborhood school in Glenview, then went on to higher grade school, and Rachel entered a large high school. At this time Joy had a position of selling pianos and organs for a music company and gave music lessons to those to whom she sold instruments.

Dr. Lester Eichenauer spent happy years in his of-2. He made many successful dentures for his intele, and relieved many painful jaws. Then one ly morning a fast driver knocked him to the eet in front of his office. The Celina emergency to hurried him to the Lima St. Rita's Hospital ere he was under medical care — first in inten-e care and later in regular care for five weeks. en he spent another week in Otis Hospital, Cea, Ohio, learning to walk again. A brain specialist d charge of his case at Lima. Then he rested at me the remainder of the year before he could behis practice in his dental office, under the guidce of Dr. Paul Beare. He never regained his nor-I strength but had other minor afflictions. After a ar or two a severe pain attacked his left hip. The ecialist at St. Rita's Hospital, Lima, Ohio, gave him pecial treatment with high powered heat on his and after several of these treatments, the pain t and we were delighted. In a few weeks the pain acked his knee and he had the same treatment for knee which proved successful.

During the summer Dr. Lester didn't try to do rk at the office regularly but he did take care of lawn and had a garden, but he could take time rest during the day. The weakness increased in the of the strong shots Dr. Paul Beare had his rse give him. He also went to Otis Hospital for a w days to get more blood which gave him strength a short time, but in November, 1975, the week fore Thanksgiving, he quietly breathed his last. v. Head preached the funeral message at Dick's neral Home.

Edith's mother, Hettie Hellwarth, moved from the me on North Main Street to the Shane Hill Nurs-3 Home when she was ninety-six years old. Her be roommate was Mrs. Edith Fast, a cousin of Het-4's husband, Edward Hellwarth. They enjoyed four ppy years together. Then Hettie celebrated her be hundredth birthday at Shane Hill in August, d gradually grew weaker until in January her ong heart stopped beating. Rev. Head had her fural at Dick's during such cold weather that the mily could not go to the cemetery.

Since that time Edith Eichenauer's daughter Joy s resumed the responsibility of all the business for mother Edith. In this way Joy comes home to ep check on things and to bring cheer to Mother

lith. Edith Eichenauer (Hellwarth)

ALBIN LEO (MIKE) HEMMERT

Albin Leo (Mike) Hemmert was born September, 1897. He was the son of Mike and Emmachmidt) Hemmert. As a boy he attended Immacute Conception Grade School, where he completed the grades. He helped his father in his business draised chickens, ducks and rabbits, he also kept arge garden. His hobby was electricity.

In 1912 he went to Saint Joseph's College in Renslaer, Indiana. Here he majored in business. He is ll an active member of the Alumni Association.

From 1913 to 1918 Albin served as an apprentice Dr. George Weber, where he received instruction the Watchmakers trade. His interest in electricity id music helped him in his work.

In 1918 he went to Muncie, Indiana to visit his friend Yale Meyers and stayed twelve years. During these years he was employed as a Watchmaker and Pawnbroker.

On April 20, 1921 he married Margaret Snyder, of this union were born three children; John E. born July 9, 1924, Patricia E. born March 29, 1927 and Michael, who died at birth August, 1933.

Upon the death of his father, Albin moved his family back to Celina in 1931, where he assumed the responsibility of the family ice business, known as the Hemmert Ice Company. In the spring of 1932 there was a very sudden drop in temperature, making the lake freeze deep and fast. All able bodied men who had cut ice with his dad came to work for Albin and they helped fill the big ice barn located on the Westbank Road. The ice was good and every man worked hard. After the big barn was filled, they kept cutting and filled the new ice house on the corner of Buckeye and Fulton St. No one knew that day that it would be the last big ice cut made on Grand Lake, the big Ice Barn burnt to the ground and lives only in the memories of those who were there to see a big job well done. After this ice was brought in from an artificial ice plant in Lima, Ohio.

A. L. Hemmert Distributor Company came into existance in 1933 and from 1933 to 1944, he was in business in Celina.

In 1944 he moved back to Muncie and once again became engaged in his trade of watchmaker. In order to go back to work in Indiana he had to take the Indiana State Watchmakers exam in 1944. He served as president of the Watchmakers Association for several years. He also had his own watch and clock repair shop until 1976.

In 1971 Albin and Margaret celebrated their Golden Anniversary, they live at 304 Alameda Avenue, Muncie, Indiana and enjoy their retirement there together.

John married Jean Kleinfelder in 1951. They have two daughters, Mary Margaret born in 1957 and June Elizabeth born in 1958. They reside in Muncie.

Christa Howick's father Robert was the son of Stephen (Nov. 5, 1812-1902) and Eva (Minehart) Howick, who was the daughter of Jacob Minehart, chairman of a surveying party who surveyed where Columbus is now. He was one of the first settlers in Fairfield Co. Stephen Howick was born in Surrey Co., England, south of London. In 1831, at age 19, he immigrated to the USA. He was six months on the sea and had 19¢ to his name. He landed in Quebec, then went to Buffalo, N.Y. and from there to Lancaster, Ohio. He was in the brick laying business there until 1835, when he came to St. Marys. In 1837 he purchased 80 acres in Center Twp. Section 28. Stephen and Eva were married Oct. 20, 1836. They had eight children, five of which lived to adulthood: David, Jacob, George, Robert, and Danial. Stephen added to his farm until he became one of the wealthiest men in Mercer Co. He farmed 320 acres of his own and gave each child 80 acres and two sons 160 acres. He raised 100's of head of sheep, and owned both a tile and saw mill. It was necessary to have many hired hands to keep up with the work. Janet A. Miller, Celina, Oh. 45822

IMEL FAMILY

Nathaniel Imel was the son of John Imel 1789-1861 and Sarah Skinner 1788-1847. John's father was Henry Imel 1756-1848. Research in Maryland indicates that Henry was one of five brothers brought over to America by England in 1776 during the Revolution as Hessian Soldiers to fight the colonies. After arriving here and upon learning the true conditions they joined the Continental Army. Later he and a brother settled in Maryland, then moved close to each other in Fayette County, Pennsylvania. Hinshaw's Encyclopedia of Quaker Genealogy states there is no question but what the Immels were part of the Scholarie migration from New York State to Pennsylvania. This group was brought from Germany to England, then Queen Anne put them on ships and sent them to the Governor of New York instructing the governor to give them 10 acres of land each and money to carry them over for a year - unfortunately, the New York Governor did not carry out the Queen's instructions and the immigrants endured great suffering. William Penn, through some Reformed ministers who visited the colony gave them an offer of 100 acres per family and they started on a long, dangerous trek to Pennsylvania. The Indians helped them build canoes and they went down Scholarie Creek to Susquehanna River, then down that to Tulpehocken Creek into Lancaster, Penna. Nathaniel 1819-1869 married Catherine Hazelton 1817-1892 and had the following children: Samuel Lewis 1846-1918, Nancy 1848-1897, Ezra 1851-1933, Elizabeth 1853-1922, Nathaniel, Jr. 1856-1933 and Thomas 1861-1934. KARCH FAMILY

The Karch family in Mercer County had its orgins from George Karch (1827-1896) and Walburga Riedel Karch (1826-1907). George Karch was the son of Johann B. Karg (b. 1779) and Walburga Kollerin Karg (b. 1790) and the grandson of Sebastian Karg and Anna Coniger Karg. He was born in Raitenbuch (Bavaria) Germany, a small village near Beilngries and records relating to his birth remain in the parish church at Oening, nearby. His parents were farmers and tilled a small lot of land near their village. Their home is still in use as a private residence. At an early age George Karch left Germany for America with friends. He married Walburga Riedel, a seamstress, circa 1853, who had come from Bavaria with her sister Theresa Riedel Falk.

They moved to Marysville, Ohio and the following children were born: Barbara (John Helmstetter) (1854-1908), Joseph (Elizabeth Kobus) (1855-1924), Elizabeth (William Meyer) (1858-1942), Lucinda (George Heffner) (1860-1945), Mary (Julius Wilson) (1856-1948). John (Sarah Dickes) (1862-1929). In 1864, the family purchased a farm near St. Marys, Ohio where the following additional children were born: Anna (Tim Milnor) (1864-1934), Peter (Mary George) (1865-1945), Caroline (Louis Bernard) (1865-1947), and Margaretha (Edward Hartzel) (1867-1952). Again in 1868, 98 acres at $1.00 per acre were purchased near Cranberry Prairie, Ohio. Much of this land was swampy and required much tilling to make cultivation possible. Here the couple remained until George's death from typhoid fever in 1896. Walburga lived with her children John and Caroline Bernard until her death in 1907. Both are buried in St. Francis Cemetery at Cranberry Prairie, near St. Henry, Ohio.

John married Sarah Dickes on April 12, 1890. To this union was born eight children.

JOHN W. KARCH

John W. Karch, founder of The John W. Ka Stone Company, was the fifth of ten children by to George and Walburga Karch. Both of John V parents were born in Bavaria, Germany. The farr was living at Marysville, Ohio, when John W. v born, March 19, 1862. Not long thereafter the moved to St. Marys, Ohio. George bought a farm Cranberry Prairie and the family settled on this refertile soil. The next spring the farm was practical inundated by flooding. This, it came to be four was a rather normal occurance for the area. By sisting Jake Meyers, who was one of the larg landholders in the area at that time, and farming own land as he could, it was possible for George feed and clothe his family.

John W. grew up with the frontiersman's aggr sive desire to build and improve his surroundin He worked his way into the contracting busine building roads and performing drainage work. Di ing a road building job west of Celina he board with the Dickes family. Sarah Dickes, one of t daughters of the family and John W. were marri April 12, 1890. After living at the Dickes home fo time John W. moved his wife and daughter to newly constructed home he had just built in Celii A second house was built while the family lived Celina and farmland at Cranberry Prairie was pr chased. The family moved to the farm and pr ceeded to clear the land, build buildings and po form necessary drainage work. During all of the activity John W. found time to run for and be vot into two terms as Mercer County Commission 1899-1903. While carrying the responsibility Commissioner John W. realized, even more than had known before, the need for quality aggregat for the construction and building industry.

John W. and Anthony Fishbaugh formed a pa

ship and purchased the quarry that now bears name. The quarry had been opened in 1880 to rn lime. Not long after their purchase, plans were de to modernize and increase the capacity of the arry. A rear dump wagon loaded by hand and lled by mules, and a jaw crusher powered by am were added to the quarry operation. A steam wered tripod drill did the drilling of the blast les. In 1907 John W. bought out his partner and ins for a complete modernization were made. tarry cars hand loaded by Hungarians and pulled mules were pulled to the base of the incline ere a cable and winch drew the car up to the isher. a #6 McCully gyratory crusher was inlled as a primary crusher. An 18" belt elevator wed the stone up to a new 6 feet in diameter by feet long revolving screen. A #3 McCully gyray crusher was installed to perform the secondary ishing. This completed a recirculating system that ide possible many more sizes of stone than had en previously possible. The materials in the hold-; bins were stockpiled or loaded into customer's gons. All transportation of stone was by horse d wagon at that time.

In 1908 a Marion model 20 steam shovel was purased for loading the railroad cars. This ended the nd loading of the stone. In 1911 a Lima 14 ton am locomotive was placed in the pit to pull the arry cars.

During the First World War, John received the ntract to build the first concrete road in Mercer runty. It was route 127 starting at Carthagena road d going south to Cranberry Prairie road. Due to extreme shortage of labor it was necessary to ing in help from a wide area of that surrounding mmunity.

In 1923 the use of steam power for plant operation is changed to a Buckeye oil engine. This was a mi-diesel that ran on the crude pumped from the wells on the property.

On Sept. 8, 1929 at the age of 67, John was inlved in a auto-truck accident that took his life. veral of the children were involved in the business d after John's passing, proceeded to operate the siness.

As time went by, a Lima 403 gas driven friction erated shovel replaced the steam unit. Crushers are changed, the revolving screen was replaced the vibrating screens and other changes kept pace the modern engineering and new technology. In 45 through 1948 a complete renovation was made the plant up to the processing mill; a new shovel, we trucks and trailers to move the stone to a new of primary crusher, 30 inch conveyor belts moved a crushed stone to the processing plant.

Various changes in equipment have been made to crease volume and efficiency and to keep the plant >-to-date and working in a dependable manner.

It has been the policy of The John W. Karch Stone impany to take our raw product and through the est in technology and equipment, produce a finited product of the highest possible quality to meet e increasing needs of our many customers.

PATRICK E. KENNEY

Patrick E. Kenney was born in Cincinnati, Nomber 9, 1854, son of Michael and Bridget (McHale) Kenney, natives of County, Mayo, Ireland. When Patrick was two years old, the family moved to Adams County, Indiana. Assisting his father in farm labor until his twenty-third year, he then married Norah Laughlin. Within four years, she died. Their children, Alice and Norah died several years later.

College attendance, teaching, purchase of a home and study of law followed with admission to Ohio State Bar in 1887. Patrick was again married in 1885 at Monroeville, Ohio, to Karolena Regina Schmidt, an accomplished musician, born February 21, 1864 to Frederick W. and Margarette (Neumann) Schmidt, natives of Germany and Celina residents in clothing business in the 70's and 80's.

Conscious of obligation to aid in disseminating universal knowledge, including the truths of religion, Mr. and Mrs. Kenney entered their children Margaret Adelaide, born October 14, 1886, Grover John, March 8, 1888, and Claudia Valeria, August 17, 1890 into Immaculate Conception Parsih School where they completed the three year High School Business Course. Grove and Claudia graduated from Celina High School's Science Course, also. Adelaide became her father's secretary. After a long, honorable career in the practice of law, Mr. Kenney died November 28, 1946, his esteemed wife having died February 7, 1933.

October 27, 1914, Adelaide married Jerome William Grothjan, son of Anthony and Rosa (Leifelt) Grothjan, a graduate of Celina High School, and his father's business partner. They were socially and musically prominent. Their first child, John Jerome died January 6, 1922. Children born later were named Margaret Adelaide, James Kenney and Harry Anthony Patrick. Jerome died December 30, 1931.

Adelaide died June 29, 1963.

September 6, 1947, Margaret, a St. Elizabeth Hospital registered nurse, married Marcus Dillon Smalley, son of Dillon R. and Pearl (Hinton) Smalley, Celina, Ohio, a Miami University graduate and Navy veteran. They moved to Fairborn, where six of their eight children grew up, the three elder holding degrees.

James, second son, ordained priest at St. Charles Seminary May 24, 1951, served as pastor and United States Air Force Chaplain. Retiring with rank of Colonel, he returned to pastoral duty with the Priests of the Precious Blood Society.

Harry, Navy veteran and Ada University student, married Emily Nelson, daughter of Verlin and Esther (Klosterman) Nelson, St. Marys June 9, 1951. Employed many years with the company he began with, Harry and Emily reared their six children in the home he owns in Lima, Ohio.

Grover, World War I veteran, married Florence Adelia Hattery, daughter of Dr. John E. and Mary (Nichols) Hattery, Celina, November 21, 1917, after her attendance at the College of Wooster. His work being in the West, Grover purchased their home in Los Angeles, where they lived until his death, October 12, 1955.

Their only child, Robert Hattery Kenney, married Ruth Grettie, daughter of Roy S. and Lela (Jones) Grettie, Salem, Oregon. Both United States Air Force veterans and graduates of UCLA, they acquired a home for themselves and daughter in nearby Van Nuys.

Claudia, a Kent State and Catholic University, Washington, D.C. student, taught one year at Coldwater, Ohio thrity-five years in Celina Public School and four years in Immaculate Conception School, where she had served as volunteer substitute teacher in 1909 and 1910. She resides in the family home. Claudia Kenney

MEMORIAL TO PATRICK E. KENNEY

Adopted by the Mercer County Bar Association, Celina Daily Standard, December 3, 1946.

Patrick E. Kenney, Veteran Celina Attorney, departed this life Thanksgiving Day, November 28, 1946, aged 92 years.

Mr. Kenney was born in Cincinnati, Ohio Nov. 9, 1854; two years later his parents removed to Adams County, Indiana, to a vast wilderness, which was later made famous by Gene Stratton Porter, in her Limberlost Stories, and it was here that he received his primary education. After the loss of his first wife, he determined to qualify himself as a teacher, and attended Valparaiso University in Indiana and Ada University, Ohio; after teaching four years, he began the study of law in the offices of LeBlond, Le-Blond and Loughridge, and was admitted to the Ohio State Bar in 1887. In the late 90's he was associated with the late Robert L. Mattingly; and in the early 1900's with John G. Romer. When Mr. Romer moved to Dayton, Mr. Kenney continued alone in the practice of law until 1930, when the present firm of Kenney & Hinders, was formed with Homer J. Hinders. Early in his career Mr. Kenney served as President of the County Board of School Examiners: he served two terms as Prosecuting Attorney of Mercer County; and two terms as Mayor of Celina; he was one of the promoters of the Mercer County Chautauqua, and of the Public Library in Celina, serving on the Public Library Board of Trustees, from its inception until January of this year. He was especially active in World War I in recognition of which he received Certificates of Honor from both the President of the United States and the Governor of Ohio ... As Chairman of the Building Commission, he served in the planning and erecting of the present Courthouse.

Born during the troubled period leading up to the Civil War, Mr. Kenney's early life was spent in an environment of intense patriotism, and this spirit carried through his entire life.

Few men in Mercer County's history have left such a record of unflagging effort to improve the lot of the less fortunate among us; few indeed have left such a record of achievement in that purpose to which he was so constant.

His fairness, his integrity, and his great common sense, as well as his great human sympathy, all made for the great respect he so well earned as an attorney and counsellor at law. But many who had such intimacy with him as to lead them to feel that they knew what was uppermost in his mind and heart, believe that his highest ambition was to so live that when his race was run it could veritably be said of him that in the struggle for the preservation and extension of true democracy in which he took so great and constant a part from his early youth, he kept the Faith. He kept it well.

Therefore, be it resolved, by The Mercer County Bar Association in Special Memorial Meeting assembled this 2nd day of December, A.D., 1946, that I Association extend to the family its deepest a heartfelt sympathy in this hour of their bereament, and that a copy of this Resolution be sent the family of our late member as evidence of our teem and deep sense of loss; that this Resolution spread upon the Journal of Our Common Pla Court, and published in the Daily Standard. CRAIG AND NANCY (OTIS) KLOPFLEISCH

Craig and Nancy (Otis) Klopfleisch, Thom and Julie Cole who are currently residing in Alameda, California, still consider their residence at 100 Walnut Shore Drive in Celina as "home".

Craig's family has about a 100 year Mercer County history, starting with his great-grandfather, Casper Heinrich Klopfleisch who emigrated from Germany. Craig's grandfather was Gustov "Gus" Klopfleisch and his father is Carl Klopfleisch, who along with his wife Odessa (Duncan) Klopfleisch, reside at 230 E. Livingston Street in Celina. Craig also has one brother Kim, who currently resides with his family in Saint Marys.

Craig was born on March 24, 1949, in Celina. He graduated from Celina Senior High School in 1967. During high school Craig was active in church and school activities, holding offices in various organizations including: Master Counselor of DeMolay and President of the Luther League at St. John's Lutheran Church. Craig attended Capital University in Columbus, Ohio where he was awarded a B.A. in Speech/Communications in 1971. During College, Craig actively participated in numerous organizations including theatre, serving as President of Drama Organization; Pi Epsilon Delta, theatre fraternity, where he was also President; Men's Glee Club; Student Government; Dorm Council and Student Activities Council where he held the Chairmanship.

Upon graduation, Craig joined the staff of Capital as Director of Student Activities, a position he held for two years. In 1973, Craig returned to Celina, joining Celina Group as Personnel & Training Representative. Active in the College-Community Arts Council, Craig conceived the idea and Chaired the committee for the First College-Community Arts Festival. June 1976, saw Craig again leaving Celina, this time for the American Graduate School of International Management in Glendale, Arizona. In August of 1976, Craig returned to Celina to be married on August 14, to Nancy.

Nancy, the daughter of Dr. Lloyd M. and Elizabeth (Dabbelt) Otis, was born on October 1, 1948 in Celina's Otis Hospital. Nancy graduated from Immaculate Conception High School in 1966, having spent some time studying German at the University of Innsbruck in Austria. Nancy's son, Thomas Lloyd Cole, was born in Celina on May 4, 1967. After the birth of her son, Nancy attended Ohio State University where her major was biochemistry. After the birth of her daughter, Julie Elizabeth Cole on May 8. 1970, Nancy returned to Celina and went into business for herself, building and then managing Meadowview Terrace Apartments. During this time Nancy also involved herself in civic activities including the College-Community Arts Council and was Treasurer of the Mercer County Republican Executive Committee.

In August of 1976, the entire family then moved to Arizona and back to school until Craig received his Master's Degree in International Management. At the same time Nancy received her Certificate of Advanced Study and Thom and Julie finished the 4th and 1st grades respectively at Kachina School.

Craig was recruited upon graduation by Hilti Inc. to work in San Francisco, California. Craig presently holds the position of Division Sales and Planning Manager; his third position with Hilti. Nancy is presently working for Buttes Gas & Oil Co. in the position of Benefits Specialist. She is also Corporate Secretary and Officer of Vici Ltd., both firms located in the San Francisco Bay Area.

CHARLES AND MILDRED LININGER

I, Mildred Jane Lininger, am proud of my heritage. Both of my parents were born in Mercer County and I was also born in Celina, Ohio.

My Mother was Viola Martha Wright Lininger the daughter of William and Susan Wright. She was a widow with two little daughters when she met my father and after four years, they were married. I became the third child born to them. A son and daughter died in infancy.

My father was the son of Dr. A. J. Lininger and Maria Jane Morrow Lininger. Doctor Lininger was born in Mansfield, Ohio, and came with his parents to Center Township at the age of ten. He served three years in the Civil War, entering in 1861 to 1864. He graduated from the Medical College of Cleveland and practiced medicine in Mendon, Oh. He was one of the first councilmen of Mendon. In 1881, the doctor purchased the "Union House" hotel on Main Street in Mendon. He also owned a family property and office located two blocks south of the hotel. He had two farms north of Mendon, Oh. He later moved to Van Wert where he had a hotel where the old depot now stands. After a short period he moved from Van Wert to Celina and purchased the Monumental Marble Works located on Main St. where Winkeljohn's Printing Shop is now

After the doctor's death, the three Lininger Bros. conducted this business. The stone for the Catholic Church (Immaculate Conception) steps were cut and placed by the Lininger Bros. Later this shop was sold to Henry Stelzer. At this time, Lininger Bros. bought the John and Minnie Richardson Bretz store, which was located where the Male Fashion is located - at the corner of Main and Fayette St. At that time the store building was a frame structure. Dr. Richardson built the present brick bldg. and Lininger Bros. were the first renters. Later the old Opera house became for sale — where Bi-Rite store is now located — at the corner of Main and Fayette Sts. Lininger Bros. bought this building and moved their store there. The store was called Lininger Bros. Big Bargain Store and it was soon filled on all three floors with merchancise. People would come from miles in buggies and wagons and stay all day in Celina to shop. One of the first elevators was installed in this building. Two of the Lininger Bros. died and Charles Lininger, his wife, and daughter Mildred continued in business until 1945. Mr. Lininger retired because of illness. Many people remember the Lininger Store.

I, Mildred J. Lininger, was married to Robert L. Porter for seven years. A son, Robert Charles, was born and died at 8½ months. Later I was divorced and restored to my maiden name of Lininger. I am the last member of this immediate family. My Mother's people were English and French. My Father's people were German Scotch and Irish. Mildred J. Lininger, Celina, Oh. 45822

John and Ruth Hall did not know what they were starting in 1941 when they bought a tiny cabin on Beauty Beach on the lake, on land still owned by the state. Not only their family, but ours, have developed strong taproots in Mercer County because of that decision.

When Barbara Hall and Mary Lou Marks became friends, in a Cincinnati junior high school, it eventually came about that Mary Lou visited Celina with her friend's family, and a love affair with Mercer County began for her.

In 1967, Mary Lou, by then a practicing attorney, married Peter-Paul Loyanich; en route home from their Expo-67 homeymoon in Montreal, she pleaded with him to stop for a day to see the Halls, detouring off I-75 to do so; eager to satisfy his bride's silly whim, Pete agreed, and another love affair developed.

By the time Alexia Louise (1969) and Travis Belinda (1972) were born, the Halls had reached their planned retirement, and selling their Cincinnati home, moved to Celina. At that point Peter-Paul began talking about establishing our own base there; to Mary Lou it seemed like a distant dream.

One of the first words Travis learned to say was "Celina;" it was fated that Mercer County had become so important in our lives that something had to be done. In 1976 we succeeded in buying our second home, on Green Avenue in Beauty Beach, and after two years' of working on weekends, it is no longer a summer cottage only, but a real home, comfortable and beckoning. Although we shall continue to maintain our principal residence in Cincinnati indefinitely, we consider ourselves a part of Mercer County, having many friends there; it came as no surprise, when last Christmas at a family reunion Mary Lou learned that about 100 years ago, one of her favorite childhood memories — an elderly cousin — was born on Mud Pike, Celina.

History has a way of coming full turn. Mary Lou Lo-

After returning to Celina, Ray married Alma Magdalena Eichenauer, the daughter of William and Fannie Dell (Smith) Eichenauer of Hopewell Township, at her home on July 17, 1923, the services being performed by Reverend H. T. Berger.

Ray and Alma moved to Dayton, where he was employed with The Kroger Company for about one year. In 1924, they moved to a Mercer county farm north of Celina on Oregon Road, and farmed for a few years.

Ray and Alma had three children; a son, Robert Lowell, born April 16, 1926, (died September 21, 1926); Pauline Evelyn, born September 3, 1930; and Marlene Ruth, born September 29, 1933.

In the late 1920's, Ray accepted a position with the Mersman Brothers' Corporation of Celina, Ohio, and continued working for that company until 1940, when he and his family moved to Piqua, Ohio, to become plant superintendent of The Cron-Kill Furniture Company.

During the war years, the family moved back to Celina and purchased a home at 117 E. Anthony Street, from where Ray travelled to New Haven, Indiana, to become superintendent of The Coleman Case Company; and then to Chicago, where he accepted the position of Engineer and Business Consultant with The George S. May Company. He travelled extensively throughout the midwest, assisting many companies in methods of operation.

In 1947, Ray established his own business, The Martz Cabinet Works at 1000 E. Market Street in Celina. Under his management, the business grew and prospered, until a tragic accident on November 11, 1952, involving a truck and car, killed Ray and his grandson, Randall Lee Mosier.

Pauline E. Martz, daughter of Ray and Alma Martz, graduated from Celina High School and attended Fort Wayne Business College. On June 11, 1950, she married Richard Eugene Mosier. They had three children; Randall Lee, (killed in truck-auto accident); Richard Alan, born December 1, 1953; and Marva Rae, born October 11, 1956. Pauline and Richard worked at The Martz Cabinet Works, and upon Ray's death, managed the company which was incorporated in 1953 as The Martz Cabinet Company.

Marlene Ruth Martz, daughter of Ray and Alma, graduated from Celina High School and attended Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. She married John Zachary on October 4, 1954. He served in the U.S. Air Force. They had two children; Debbie, born October 11, 1955, and John, born August 29, 1956.

Ray O. Martz worshipped in the faith of The Bethel United Brethren Church in his boyhood days. He transferred his church membership to the Hope Evangelical Church, where he was very active in youth activities and taught the young people's Sunday School Class for many years. Later, he and his family transferred their membership to Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church where they still remain.

Ray was highly esteemed as a citizen, church member, and was active in Republican politics. He was an extremely successful business executive, and enjoyed the challenge of competition, whether it be in sports, which he loved, or in business. He devoted most of his life to woodworking, from the time he spent as a lumberjack in Washington, until his death when he was managing The Martz Cabinet Works. Mrs. Richard E. their Celina residence. Melva K. McGee

JOSEPH W. McGEE

Our story begins with Joseph Wright McGee, the second son of John J. and Mary Buxton McGee. He was born May 5, 1883, on the McGee century farm. While growing up on the farm, he helped with the dairy, milking cows by hand, hauling milk to town and selling milk to individual homes. He attended Elm Grove School, which still stands on Meyers Road.

He married Mary Nell Monroe, the daughter of Frank and Rhoda Hole Monroe, on December 18, 1904. She was from Butler Township. They made the McGee century farm their home until 1918. While living there, their first three children were born, Icel, Blanche and Ruth B. Icel and Blanche began their education at Elm Grove School.

On March 3, 1918, Joe and Mary Nell purchased the Harvey Beougher farm. This eighty acre farm was located one mile south of the century farm on a mud road, now known as Fleetfoot.

After moving to their new home, the family was blessed with four more children. Harold born August 11, 1920, Clifford born March 19, 1923, Raymond E. born May 7, 1925 and Betty J. born January

9, 1928

The land around his new home was not fenced or improved. In order to move his livestock from the century farm, Joe had to build fences at his new home. He divided the farm into several fields of approximately ten acres each. His business consisted of raising and selling work horses, registered Spotted Poland China hogs and dairy cows. Like all farm children, they all had chores which they were required to perform. Joe was proud of his children and they often accompanied him on his business trips to town. He was an original stockholder in the Celina Equity Exchange, formerly located on West Market St. The McGee children attended Brock school, on the corner of Monroe Rd. and State Route 118, until it closed in 1936. They then were bussed to Celina Public School. The family was well educated and highly qualified for the professions and positions of trust which the different members assumed.

On August 19, 1936 Ruth Bernice and Byron Russel Lehman were married. Of this union were born five children: Marilyn Ann born September 1, 1937, James Byron born November 30, 1942, Russell Keith born April 15, 1946, Bonita Gae born May 1, 1949, and Douglas Mac born December 19, 1954.

Marilyn married James H. Masonbrink, of this union was born one son, James H. Masonbrink. James married Connie Wagner. Bonita Gae married Gary Cron, they are the parents of two children, Chad and Benjamin. Douglas married Ginger Muhlenkamp, they have one child, Kirk.

On May 15, 1942, Harold married Bette Lois Dorn, to them were born two children, Jane A. born January 19, 1945 and Joseph D. born August 24, 1955. Jane married Jim Dabbelt and they have one child, Jennifer.

MERCER HEIRS ESTATE

The November 3 and 19, 1932 Dayton Daily ewspaper included an article about the Mercer Este. An attorney named Francis E. Snypp, of Osorn, Ohio asked that he have Power of Attorney r the estate of Gideon Mercer, John Mercer, Mary izabeth Bentley and Anneke Jans Bogardus or any tate in the names of Cox, Trembly, Noe, Harper.)ne of the Mercer family married a Harper and red at Piqua.) The corporation contended that it vned proof that the above named families were ititled to share in vast estates, mostly in New York ity, valued at billions in the 1930's, but which had ever been liquidated. It claimed that it expected to rce such present tenants as the Woolworth buildg and other properties in the heart of New York to ttle for huge sums, on the ground that the heirs vned the title to those premises. Then that settleent money would be divided among blood heirs of e families involved and among those who purlased certificates at $50 a share in order to help fiince the local fight to get the estates liquidated. ertificate holders were said to have been led to beeve that their individual shares would amount to 17,000 and some of them bought several certificates order to claim several shares. McClain Catterlin, aunton, Ind., was president of the International orporation; other offices were from Indiana and Ilnois. The Corporation was charged with embezzleent; they were found Not Guilty.

Mahala Mercer's children and grandchildren orked to gather documentation of their Mercer enealogy. The Attorney named Snypp had connced them to join the Mercer heirs in their search gain the wealth of their estate. Was there land in ew York which belonged to the Mercer Estate? Concerning the Mercer Estate

When the Treaty of Peace was signed between ngland and America at the close of the Revolution-y War, England, for the protection of the Tories, ho were her loyal subjects during the Revolution-y War, forced into the Treaty of Peace, certain rovisions. It is claimed that many of the Springers and others were Tories at that time and that their lieal descendants could come in for these lands uner this Treaty which among other things provided:

"It is agreed that the Congress shall earnestly remmend it to the Legislatures of the respective tates to provide for the restitution of all the State's ghts and properties which have been confiscated, elonging to real British subjects and others, they to efund to any person the bona fide price (where any ave been given) which such persons may have paid n purchasing any of said lands, rights or properes." (Article 5, Treaty of Peace, 1783, signed for the Inited States by D. Hartley, John Adams, B. Frankn and John Jay.)

At the time when this treaty was entered into conress did not have __er to bind the states but only __ uthority to make recommendations, and while nere was a moral obligation on the part of the states o see that any lands confiscated were restored to its ightful owner, yet there was no legal obligation and in any event this did not prevent the statute of limitations from running, and if the heirs did not come back to claim their land within the time of the statute of limitations, then they would be too late.

The last claim which the lineal descendants have advanced, and this applies particularly to the Mercer and Cox descendants, is that in 1782, a ninety-nine year lease was made for certain of their lands to a land company, who in turn released the lands to certain individuals and corporations and that this lease was renewed in 1886 for fifty years and dated back to 1881, which, if true, made the lease expire in 1931 and left the land to be claimed by the heirs, because if the land had been leased, then the statute of limitations and adverse possession could and would not run against these lands.

An article purporting to have been published in the Elizabeth, New Jersey Daily Journal on May 5, 1886, sets out some of the claims of the various heirs and is as follows.

"Papers have been prepared by a well-known lawyer of New York City, for the institution of ejectment proceedings for large tracts of land in New Jersey of sufficient value to enrich an army of claim . .

"The eldest foreign corporation known to the law connected with early American history, is the West New Jersey Land Society, a corporation formed in England in 1692, and which at this time, after a service of nearly 200 years, desires to surrender its franchise and distribute its assets among those entitled to receive them.

"Prior to the formation of this society, the Province of New Jersey had been divided into two equal societies between Sir George Carteret and Lord Berkeley, the proprietors and grantees of James, Duke of York, who had received a grant of the whole from his brother, King Charles II, of England. In 1644 Lord Berkeley took the western portion and Sir George Carteret the eastern portion.

"Berkeley soon after conveyed his interest to James Fenwick in trust for Edward Byllinge, a noted brewer of London, then insolvent. Fenwick caused the whole to be surveyed and divided into ten equal parts or tenths and in the settlement with Byllinge, reserved to himself one entire tenth as his compensation for services as trustee. He executed long lease for a large tract of land to different persons. Much of this land is situated in the vicinity of Plainfield. Elizabeth, New Brunswick, and Trenton, and parts of each city are built upon it. Subsequent partitions and allotments were made subject to the leases. After Byllinge had conveyed his entire interest to William Penn and associates, some of the leases were extinguished by one Dr. Daniel Coxe of London, who was reported to be the cousin of Queen Anne, as he was also her attendant physician.

"Dr. Coxe probably bought up at least six of the nine-tenths formerly owned by Byllinge, as well as a large part of Fenwick's tenth, two-thirds of which he divided into 1,600 shares of which he disposed of 1,520 shares of which he disposed of 1,520 shares to the various persons who joined with him in forming the West New Jersey Land Society. These parts which were encumbered by the leases he conveyed to his son, Daniel Coxe, who sold them to divers and sundry persons from time to time and his grantees and those claiming under them renewed the leases from time to time until about ten years ago, when the greater part, if not all of them, expired by limitation of their terms.

"The most peculiar feature about these claims is that those concerned in them have frequently been called upon by eminent attorneys to take some action in reference to these leases, not a few of which fall upon what is now the site of a town or city. They have declined until quite recently to furnish the least family information, upon which to base a suit for the recovery of their properties.

Among the many subsequent purchases a few only of the notable cases will be mentioned and conspicuous among them stands the name of Peter Noe, who at the first allotment, became the owner of a vast amount of land, and by assignment of owners rights became entitled, as appears on record in London, to a large amount of land under the second allotment. Although he lived long and prospered, neither himself nor his heirs have ever appeared to claim his interest in the second lot right. At his death he left his estate to a son and a daughter. The daughter married John Trembly, who was a French Huguenot, and quite a noted character in the history of early New Jersey.

"This suite has created considerable stir among the families of Trembly, Sutton, Noe, Cox, Covert, Bently, Babb, Mercer, Davis, Gordon, Carteret, Delaney, and Townley, the descendants of the early proprietors, and much interest will be manifested at the coming trial.

"The records show that a large number of the rights have never been claimed and it is not known who is entitled to them. Many of the original proprietors never came into province, and none of their heirs or assigns have made claim to their rights. "The society protested against this usurpation of their rights and succeeded in obtaining a portion of their original surveys and records of leases and conveyances which they removed to London, and have kept them ever since outside the jurisdiction of Lord Cornbury.

"These apparent and romantic statements are said to be based upon the records. The Townley family mentioned above, is that of Col. Richard the 8th, son of Nicholas of Sussex, England, who came to America with Lord Effingham and who married his last wife Elizabeth, the widow of Governor Phillip Carteret, it being his third marriage; His daughters by his marriages, married and settled in New Jersey. To The Members of the Mercer Heirs Association

We are fully prepared, after a careful examination of documents and records delivered unto my hands, used by certain parties in establishing lines and heirs at law, to what is known as the Mercer Estate.

First: According to data, Gideon Mercer, in the year 1762, had all his lands surveyed and had it fixed so that his wife could receive rents of these lands. In 1876 the time that his mother's grandfather and grandmother's lease was to expire it should be divided into 16 equal shares; all descendants living at this time were to be called his fourth generation.

Gideon died in 1765 and in 1773 his son Jonathan Mercer had the will and leases put on file and probated. In 1776 war ensued between England and

America; the Declaration of Independence was de clared, and the war lasted until 1783; peace was de clared and a treaty signed. Then all previous con tracts were put on record or leases; Gideon's ban book showed that he received money rents upothese lands up until the time of his death, then hi bank book passed to his wife and this book show that she drew money out of the bank, arising a lease rentals and collected by the bank officials fo her; also that she deposited money in this bank u until the time of her death in 1771, and after the wa ended in 1783. These matters were put on record with the leases by a bank of Philadelphia, also the names of Gideon D. Mercer's children. The lease expired in 1886. In 1884 it seems that a committee was appointed of four persons to examine theswills and leases in order to see who the titles wer vested in; they decided that these wills call for the heirs of John Mercer and Elizabeth Bentley. Gideoi D. Mercer, at the time of his death, had in his pos session by inheritance, lands in the province of Nev York, New Jersey, Philadelphia County, Pa., 1,001 acres of land, formerly owned by John Harper There are seven wills extending from John Lore Berkley to Mary Elizabeth Bentley the first wife o John Mercer and mother of Gideon D. Mercer Blanch Mercer and Napoleon Mercer, daughter and son of Gideon D. Mercer, had died and left every thing to their descendants. Senator William Everitts of New York, James Ursher, Congressman of Nev York asked to have the trial removed from Nev York to Pittsburg, Pa., under and English Law, and i was permitted. Banderbilt had sued the governmen for clear title and set aside for the heirs, under the English Law the trial could be removed in any land granted by the Kings agents. Previous to the Rev

Var, Blanch Mercer Babb, wife of Thomas Babb, nd Napoleon her brother, had died. These heirs vere the five generations in the line of descent from ohn Lord Berkley, Tingleys, the Noes, Bentleys to Gideon Mercer's children and under the English aw a will is never outlawed and wills can be proated in all eastern states today.

Peter Noe had a daughter, Mary Noe. She married ohn Trembley, who had no children; her mother narried John Bentley and Mary Elizabeth Bentley vas born. She was a greatmother of John Lord Berkey and was mentioned as one of the heirs to his vast state in his will and willed her a part of his property, so did John Tingley and she was the sole heir to seven of her ancestors estates. She is the mother of Gideon D. Mercer, and the wife of John Mercer the Third.

Papers which were put on file showed that when Lord Berkley gave Mary Bentley the property in Maiden Head Township, that he also left to her a share stated in two wills of land which lays in New York province and in New York City, which will some to the Mercers. The Kirkpatrick will shows that Samuel Kirkpatrick willed to his grandson, also named Samuel, his father's name was William and he was the first to move to Chamberburg, about 1773, and he died 1798, and willed his property under the English laws.

Mary Trembley who was the daughter of Peter Nos or Naus, the first owning rights in the Elizabeth-town purchase and had married John Trembley and had no issue by him, and after he died, she married John Bentley and had a child Mary Elizabeth Bentley, who married John Mercer the Third.

John Mercer and John Harper came across the ocean on the same ship with her mother. Elizabeth Mercer lived with Edward Francis Flood and left a will in favor of her sister, Mary Flood nee Mercer. Other wills of record show that also John Mercer, the husband of Mary Elizabeth Bentley nee Mercer, loaned in 1740, $50,000 at 4 percent and this was to be paid every year, but after the death of John Mercer, no interest was ever paid; the lease of lands and papers showed that the interest was to be paid annually. Under a lease by Gideon Mercer, his wife, mother of Gideon, Mary Elizabeth Mercer nee Bentley, was the recipient of six wills from John Lord Bentley, two Noe wills, the Trembley, the Tingleys, Isaac Coxe and Mary Townley, to lands in New York, New Jersey, Pa., Ohio, Virginia and North Carolina.

Dr. Daniel Coxe, of London, England owned a farm in Harlem; this land was patented to Jean Baignox, and was finally leased by Dr. Daniel Coxe's attorney, Jeremiah Bass for 99 years to Thomas Codugton; this lease expired in 1798.

Mary Elizabeth Bentley, wife of John Mercer, was a lineal descendent of the Berkleys, Trembleys and Noes. Peter Noe married Elizabeth Coxe. He was tall, had brown hair and blue eyes, wore a moustache, weighed 160 pounds; his will of 54 pages, also a 99 year lease explains in full. His wife was worth $22,000,000.

Lady Gordon died at Gideon D. Mercers while on a visit. She, on this visit, gave Blanch Mercer, a locket and she also willed her her property, and I am confident we are in possession of all lines used by Ursher in establishing themselves lineal descendents of Gideon Mercer's children. I also have the Townley genealogy, Catterlins, Millers, and Job Mercers in full, also the Babb descendents, connecting the Kirkpatrick and Derrough and Copeland lines. Also data of both Edward lines via old Edward Mercer and Gideons, and Edwards. I have seen both wills and in fact there is scarcely any knowledge pertaining to the Mercer Estate, but we are in possession of. (Signed)

Very Respectfully,
P.J. Parrett, Sec'ty.

CARL MESCHER

Bernhard Mescher (Messcher) was born in Germany in 1816. He emigrated to America in 1834 at the age of 18. An American of German descent, Gottrad Hinders, paid for Bernhard's passage to the United States and Bernhard had to work for Hinders to pay off the debt. Bernhard helped in the construction of the Miami-Erie canal for Hinders and then eventually bought some land southeast of St. Johns in Marion Township for farming. In 1857, he married Katherine Tangeman (Tangemann) who was born in Neuenkirchen, Germany on February 17, 1833. She moved to the United States in 1834 at the age of 18 months. Her family moved into southern Mercer county where Katherine eventually married Bernhard Mescher. The couple had eight children: Anton, Marie, Henry, Elizabeth, Bernhard, Fredrick, Frank, and Margarethe. Another daughter, Elizabeth, died young.

Bernhard died on Jan. 30, 1883 at the age of 67. His wife died later on April 27, 1901, also at the age of 67.

Anton was born in Marion Township on February 16, 1852. He purchased land in Butler Township, north of Coldwater in 1881. He married Mary Fischer, the daughter of Henry and Margaret Fischer, in 1882. They produced eight children, four boys and four girls: Henry, Louis, John, Elizabeth, Catherine, Margaret, Bernard, and Susan.

Louis was born June 21, 1884. He married Rose Spoltman, a neighbor he probably had known all his life. Together they farmed the Mescher homestead until 1931 when they moved to a farm on Buschor Road.

Rose and Louis had seven children, all of whom were born on the original family farm. The children are: Carl, Ralph, Lucille, Linus, Wilfred, Pauline, and Donald.

Louis died March 20, 1970 and Rose is still living. Carl was born on April 28, 1920. He worked on the farm until World War II when he served with the Army Air Corps in Africa. After the war he worked in Celina where he met Mary Fortkamp, the daughter of John and Catherine (Hartings) Fortkamp of St. Rose. Mary was born in St. Rose on March 29, 1914. Carl and Mary were married on May 12, 1948 in St. Rose church.

Carl and Mary had four children: Anthony, who married Trina Steck from Westerville, Ohio; Charles, who married Mary Jane Losche from Coldwater; and Kathryn and Susan.

Mary died on July 4, 1976 at the age of 62. Carl, Kathryn, and Susan are still living in Celina, as are Charles and his wife Mary Jane. Anthony and Trina live in Washington, D.C., where Anthony teaches at George Washington University. Charles Mescher

DANIEL D. AND PAULINE M. MIESSE

Daniel Dean Miesse and Pauline Marie Miller were united in marriage November 8, 1943. Dan was serving in the U.S. Army during World War II at that time. He was honorably discharged November

Dan and Pauline graduated from Celina Public School in 1940. Pauline was Valedictorian of the class and appeared in "Who's Who in American High Schools". She was the daughter of Wm. Stanley Miller and Imo Stewart who were lifetime farmers in Mercer County. Pauline has one older sister Onolee who is married to Woodrow G. Piehl of New Knoxville, Ohio. Dan was the older son of Oran Newcomb Miesse and Zella May Siler, who were also lifetime farmers in Mercer County. Oran passed away at the early age of 31. Dan has a younger brother Robert, married to Marjorie Buck. Pauline, in addition to being a homemaker, became the secretary for the Celina West Elementary School when it opened in 1957 and retired from that position in 1974. After returning from the military service in 1945 Dan was employed as an Industrial Engineer at Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, St. Marys, Ohio, where he is still employed. Dan served on the Celina City Council and both are active at St. Paul's United Methodist Church where Dan served for several years as Sunday School Supt., Trustee, Official Board Member, and member of Building and Remodeling Committees.

Dan and Pauline have two sons, Douglas Allen and Malcolm Lynn. After graduation from Celina High School both sons graduated from Manchester College, N. Manchester, Indiana. Douglas enlisted in the Air Force and was commissioned a 2nd Lt., September 1967. He has made a career of the U.S. Air Force and his assignments have included a tour of duty in Okinawa with flights over Vietnam, for which he received the Air Commendation Medal. He is currently a Captain and Commanding Officer of the Communications Squadron at Dobbins AFB, Marietta, Georgia. He married Anjel Jones Littlefield of Kennesaw, Georgia, July 29, 1978. Malcolm was drafted into the U.S. Army after college graduation and was stationed as a non-commissioned officer for a tour of duty in Vietnam, receiving the Bronze Star. Malcolm is employed as a supervisor for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in Akron, Ohio. He married Donna Jean Strahm of Decatur, Indiana, December 20, 1970, and they live in Barberton, Ohio. They have two sons, Brian Anthony and Craig Matthew.

In addition to their regular occupations Dan and Pauline own and operate a 140 acre farm in Jefferso Township at the corner of Four Turkey and Oli Town Roads. Pauline is the owner of 80 acres which was originally obtained from the government in 1837 when Martin Van Buren was President. During the Bicentennial Year of 1976 she was recognized by the State of Ohio by receiving a certificate and . plaque as a Century Farm owner. Daniel D. Miesse

MILLER HOMESTEAD

On June 11, 1852, my great, great grandparent David and Frances Miller of Fairfield County Ohio purchased land that had originally been acquired by the previous owner from the government in 183? during the presidency of Martin Van Buren. On No vember 25, 1855, they sold 80 acres of this land which was mostly timber, to my great grandfather Samuel G. Miller, the eldest of their children of 11 sons and one daughter. He and his new bride Leah the daughter of Henry Good and Rebecca Berry of Branch County Michigan, moved to this location between Celina and St. Marys. Samuel, a second cousin to Leah and ten years her senior, were both descendants of Samuel Miller, born in York County, Pa. about 1738 and his wife Magdalena Wiley, who later moved to Rockingham County, Harrisonburg, Virginia and established their home. Leah was also a descendant of Nicholas Beery of the Wenger Alps in Switzerland who emigrated to the U.S. June 20, 1727 via Rotterdam, port of Philadelphia, also settling in Pennsylvania and later in the Shenandoah Valley near Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Leah was left a widow with six children, the youngest being born after the death of her husband, but she was able to keep the farm and, with the help of relatives, rear her family. Her youngest son Edson remained on the farm. He married Susie Holdren in 1886. Edson first built a log house, then later a frame home which still stands. He also added another 80 acres to the farm. My father Wm. Stanley Miller, the eldest living son (of a family of four sons and two daughters), also remained on the farm and lived there his entire lifetime. He was married to L. Imo Stewart. I acquired ownership to the original 80 acres after my father's death December 23, 1973.

I have one older sister Mrs. Woodrow G. (Onolee B.) Piehl of Auglaize County Ohio. My husband Daniel D. Miesse and I operate this 80 acres plus an additional adjacent 60 acres. Our family consists of our two sons Douglas Allen, Captain, USAF and his wife Anjel, Marietta, Georgia; Malcolm Lynn, his wife Donna, and two sons Brian Anthony and Craig

Matthew, Barberton, Ohio.

This land shall always mean a great deal to me as I was born, reared and married in the homestead. I have much respect for my ancestors who toiled so diligently to leave such a heritage. It has been an honor to be recognized by the State of Ohio as a Century Farm owner. Mrs. Daniel D. (Pauline M (MILLER) Miesse, Owner

GEORGE W. MILLER

George W. Miller, son of John and Emily Miller, was born in Richland County, O., June 6, 1850. When very young he came with his parents to Mercer County, O., where his father bought land of the government and settled in what was then practically wilderness. In those early days schools were not so plentiful as they are today, but by making use of the facilities available in those days he obtained a practical education. He helped his father clear the farm and engaged in the social life of the times.

On June 6, 1875 he was united in marriage to Philena Jane Crouch born in Mercer County, December 28, 1852 and settled on a farm four miles west of Celina, O. To this union was born eleven children: Shirley (Daisy Dull) Van Wert County; Lloyd (24 years); Ferry (5 mos.); Joseph (died in early youth); Leo (13 years); Blanche (James D. Donovan) Mercer, O.; Bess (27 years); Nell (14 years); Myrtle (Robert Larmore) Jefferson Township; Philena (Brown) Long Beach, California; Marie (Dr. Ralph W. Schlenker)

Celina, O.

After the death of his wife, November 24, 1907, he kept his family together at his home in Jefferson Township until 1913, he sold his farm and purchased a home in Mercer, O., where he resided the rest of his life, with the exception of a winter which he and his only remaining brother and a daughter spent in California.

He was respected by everyone who knew him, he was a lifelong sufferer from asthma. He became very ill, all was done for him that was at all possible and after weeks of suffering, on Wednesday, June 15, 1921 the day came for him to say goodbye. At the time of his death he had a brother, F.P. Miller and a sister, Mary Ann Hellwarth, who were the last of a large family of children.

Blanche Miller was born in Jefferson Township, Mercer County, O., October 16, 1882. Blanche lived at home on her father's farm until the time of her marriage, living most of her life on the farm, until moving to Mercer, O.

July 1, 1905 she was united in marriage to James

Delbert Donovan of Mercer, O. To this union five children were born: Mrytle Naomi was born April 6, 1906 and died April 20, 1922 at the age of 15 years; twins, Edith Mae and Edgar Ray, who died within a few weeks; Lawrence Delbert was born June 17, 1913; Robert was born 1918 and died April 11, 1922. Robert, as a very small child fell out of a window and the results of the fall eventually caused his death.

Mrs. Donovan became a member of the Pleasant View Church of God and later she joined the Mercer M.E. Church of Mercer, O. She was faithful in attendance at the church and Sunday School as long as she was able to go. Her death came as a release from suffering on Saturday evening September 12, 1925 at the age of 42 years. At the time of her death she had three sisters; Myrtle Larmore, near Celina, O; Philena Brown of California and Marie Schlenker of Celina, O. and one brother Shirley Miller of Van Wert County.

Lawrence was 12 years old when his mother died. After his mother's death, he and his father lived alone in Mercer, O., until his marriage to Hazel Margaret Copeland which took place at Rev. Sill's in Rockford, O. August 16, 1940.

Lawrence had two children: James Ray born October 28, 1941 and died February 5, 1944 and Larry Roger Donovan born January 11, 1946. Mary Larmore

THE ROLAND MOORE FAMILY

The first Moore of this family came to America from his home in Donegal, Ireland, in the late 1700's.

Moore had been chatting with a friend who had killed a hare within the game reserve; the game keeper arrested both of the young men. It cost Moore's father his best cow to get his son free. The injustice of his arrest insensed young Moore; he declared that as soon as he could get enough money, he would leave that country.

After coming to America, he married. One of his children, Ozias, migrated to Fairfield County, Ohio. Ozias married Delilah McDonald; their three children were: Francis' Marion, Oliver Jackson, and Ozias, Ir.

Francis Marion married Sarah Toner in 1859. She had been a student in Muskingum College and Northwood Seminary in Preble County and also a teacher. Francis was a carpenter and cabinet maker. They established a home on an 80-acre farm near Macedon, Ohio, for their seven children: Melville, Charles D., Luella, Helen, James, John, and William.

William and his wife Mary Estella (Mayme) Granger lived on a farm three miles west of Coldwater, Ohio. Mayme was the daughter of John Hardcastle Granger and Isabelle Cole Van Gordon. John Granger served in the Civil War for three years; his Company K, 40th Regiment of the Ohio Infantry, was engaged in the battles of Lookout Mountain, the Siege of Atlanta, Harper's Ferry, Chickamauga, and many others; he was wounded at Chickamauga. The Grangers lost three children in infancy; in their family besides Mayme were: Nora (Mrs. Ben Redmond), Mr. Granger's daughter by his first wife, and Angus Cole, a nephew. Mr. Granger was the last survivor of the Civil War from Washington Township, Mercer, County in the family for over 100 years).

The marriage ceremony for Roland Moore and Bernice Brandon was the first ever solemnized in the Erastus Church. They live in Celina, Ohio. Roland was a postal clerk for 16 years; then he joined the Accounting Department of the Celina Insurance Group from which he retired in 1970. He served on the Celina City Council for twelve years. Bernice taught Business Education for 29 years.

Their older daughter, Janet, has her Master's in Music Education from Indiana University; she taught music in Celina and Cincinnati public schools. Her husband, Kenneth L. Schurter, has his Master's from Chicago University; he is in petrochemical engineering. The Schurters reside in Houston, Texas, with their two children: Bradley and Val-

The younger daughter of Roland and Bernice Moore is Jean Moore Wiley, a graduate of O.S.U.; she has been a teacher of Home Economics at Worthington and Celina, Ohio. Her husband, William H. Wiley, D.D.S., is also a graduate of O.S.U. Their son, Jeff, is a student in the East Elementary School of Celina, Ohio. Roland Moore

MORR

The Morr name is relatively new to Mercer County having been established here only since 1950 when Ralph and Vada (Reimer) Morr moved to the Celina area. Ancestry of the Morr name has been traced back to 1749 when Andres (Andreas) Morr, Jr. arrived in Philadelphia from Wurttemburg, Germany on the ship "Dragon". Andrew settled in Snyder County, Pennsylvania with subsequent generations immigrating to Wayne County, Ohio, then to Fulton County, Ohio, and finally to Mercer County. Vada's (Reimer) ancestry has been traced to Stargard, Germany and one Carl Reimer who was her great-great grandfather. Her grandfather, Albert William August Reimer, came to America in 1891 and settled in Ottawa County, Ohio.

Vada and Ralph both graduated from Delta High School, Delta, Ohio. They were married in 1948 and moved to Celina after Ralph's graduation from The Ohio State University in December, 1950. He applied for and accepted a position in the Product Engineering Department of AVCO New Idea. He progressed thru several positions and is now manager of AVCO Ezee Flow Division at Coldwater, Ohio. Vada accepted a position with Celina City Schools and is presently librarian at the Junior High School. They live at 616 N. Cherry St., Celina, Ohio, and are the parents of two children, Dean and Gail.

Dean Herbert Morr was born July 7, 1952 at Gibbons Hospital and attended Celina City School graduating in 1970. He graduated from The Ohi State University with a Bachelor of Science in Architecture degree in 1973, and is employed at Fannin and Howey Architects and Engineers. THE EARLY PETERS' FAMILY

The Petters (changed spelling to Peters in the eighteenth century), were originally from Antwerp, Holland, and migrated to America because of religious persecution. Tunis Petters was born October 26, 1749, and he married Francinah Addams (changed to Adams), born August 10, 1759, who was of Scotch — Irish descent and a relative of the Adams family which produced two U.S. Presidents. They were married in 1776, and settled in Romney, Virginia, where they reared their family of thirteen children. Tunis fought for his country during the Revolutionary War, and was a first lieutenant of a company.

The family left Virginia as early as 1809, and settled in the vicinity of Westfall, Ohio, on the Sciota River. One of their sons, Mahlon, was born October 1, 1791, and married Rachel Meredith (whose grandfather emigrated from Wales in 1650). Rachel was born July 14, 1790. They were married in January, 1814, and had 14 children, including twin sons Eli and Absalom, who were born November 6, 1814 at Lancaster, Ohio.

Absalom married Catherine Williams, his second wife in 1844, and they had seven children. The second oldest, Oscar Fritz Allen, was born October 5, 1880, in Rose Hill, Darke County, Ohio.

Oscar married Lucinda Skinner on February 5, 1871. They had 11 children, the four oldest being born at Rose Hill, one of which was Wilson, born September 18, 1875. Before their last child was born in 1897, the family moved to New Weston, Ohio, where they owned and operated the Oscar Peters Hotel and Livery Barn, until Lucinda's death on June 19, 1919. Oscar and his grand-daughter continued living at the Hotel, but rented the rooms to families for living quarters. The same summer, a cyclone struck New Weston, destroying many buildings in the east end of town, but the Hotel was spared. Then in 1920, sparks from the train caught the Hotel on fire, and it burned to the ground. Oscar died July 27, 1927.

Wilson was married at the age of 21 to Maggie M. Meyers in New Weston, on March 3, 1897. Maggie was born September 6, 1879 in Sharpsburg, Ohio. Her father, George William Meyers was born July 14, 1855, and her mother Rebecca (Becca) Elizabeth Jones was born August 6, 1858. Maggie's parents were married July 13, 1878, and had 5 children. Mr. Meyers was a New Weston postmaster, and Becca Meyers was one of the Daughters of America Lodge there in 1904.

Wilson and Maggie had two sons, the youngest was Harold Ora, born May 30, 1904, in his grand-parents' three room log house at the west edge of New Weston, where his parents lived at the time. When Harold was four years old, his family moved south of town, where his father, who was a well driller and farm worker, died six months later, on December 21, 1908, at the age of 33. Shortly after, the family moved back to New Weston, to the house that Wilson built before his death. His mother did sewing, worked at the glove and canning factories, and sold Larkin products to support her family.

On March 3, 1914, his mother married Clayton W. Waggoner, born in Mercer County on November 25, 1885. After their marriage, the family moved to Coldwater, where Clate went into the contracting business of ditching and building roads.

Harold saw the Reservoir for the first time on his tenth birthday, when his mother and step-father took him to Celina in their horse and buggy. Harold worked as a water boy for the men who were working on the ditches, until he was thirteen, and then he worked on the ditches as a teamster.

He finished the eighth grade at New Weston school in 1919, while staying with an aunt and uncle. That fall, his family moved south of Ft. Recovery, and in 1921, Harold became a teamster in the oil fields near there, driving his own team. He did this until 1924, when he began working with his stepfather, building roads. He was married to Mildred Pauline Gaus on November 5, 1924.

Maggie and Clate moved to an 80 acre farm west of New Weston in the late 1920's, and Clate engaged in farming. They spent many happy years on the farm, and moved to New Weston in 1958. Maggie died on September 14, 1974 and Clate died on January 19, 1977.

Mildred and Harold Peters

THE HAROLD O. PETERS FAMILY

Harold Ora Peters was born May 30, 1904 and was married to Mildred Pauline Gaus on November 5, 1924 in Covington, Kentucky. Mildred Gaus was born January 6, 1906 at her parents home on Gaus Rd., west of Coldwater. She was the daughter of Henry Jacob Gaus Jr. and Nellie Maude (Smith) Gaus. She walked to the Crouch school, where she attended all eight grades. There were seventeen students in the eight grades. In 1919, after her grandfather's farm sold, and they moved to Coldwater, she went to Coldwater High School, from where she graduated in 1923. During high school, she worked at the telephone company in Coldwater, and after graduation, worked at the Buckeye until her marriage.

After their marriage, Harold worked a few months with his stepfather, building roads, and on February 3, 1925, began working at the Buckeye Overall Company in Coldwater. Their first child, a daughter, was born June 24, 1925, and named Norma Jean, and a son, Robert Fredrick was born January 19, 1927.

In 1930 he bought 2 or 3 milk cows, and in 1931, bought the old Coldwater Ball Diamond from John Albers, and let the team use it the rest of the year. This property consisted of seven acres, and in the spring of 1932, he started building a house and a barn at this location. In the summer of 1932, they went to the Chicago World's Fair for a week. Work was completed in 1933, and he moved his family there along with his 2 or 3 Jersey cows. They milked their cows by hand, bottled the milk, and sold it by the quart to Bruns Grocery in Coldwater.

On February 3, 1934, a third child, James Loree, was born, but he died of pneumonia on December 27 of the same year. Mildred then started helping with the milking, which she continued to do, until the cows were sold, many years later.

They kept increasing their herd, until they milked seventeen cows — all Jerseys — by hand, and sold 275-300 quarts of milk a day. They also sold cream and line milk.

On March 21, 1941, a son, Larry Ronald was born, and in that year they bought an 80 acre farm, south of Coldwater, from Joe Depweg. They continued their milk business until 1943, for ten years, when they moved to their farm they had bought. They continued milking and raised some hogs.

A fourth child, Margie Kay was born July 4, 1944 at Gibbons Hospital in Celina, and their last child, Janet Joanne was born October 12, 1948. The family spent many happy years here, and the children all helped with the work. They did their own butchering, and made apple butter with the neighbors 1952. In 1956, Harold and Mildred bought 140 acr from Kenney Andrews, west of Celina, and the moved there with their family in March of that year They continued milking, until 1969, after 40 year when they sold their cows.

Harold is still farming and gardening, and Midred sells Avon, which she's done for the past years. They are both active members of Beav Chapel Congregational Christian Church, and Horold is President of the Gideon camp in Celina. The have a camper, which they use frequently in the summer and usually take two trips a year by car.

Their five children are all married, as follow Norma Jean married to Karl F. Wellman on Septen ber 28, 1946. They have three children, Ronald Deamarried to Linda Ann Miller on September 20, 196 who have two daughters, Angela Jean and Nico Renee. Karla Jean married to Jerry James on May 3, 1975, and David Michael married to Pat Early o December 27, 1976.

Robert Fredrick married to Ardith May Fifer o September 8, 1951. They have four children, Bria Eugene, Rhonda Susan, Brenda Kay and Dean Fre drick. Bob and Ardith live in Detroit, Michigan.

Larry Ronald married Judy Carol Sanders on D€ cember 14, 1963. They have two children, Steve Randall and Chauntel Rae. They live in Englewood Ohio.

JOSEPH PFISTER

Joseph Pfister, born March 3, 1895 in Newport, Ky. (died August 16, 1952 in Cincinnati, Ohio) received his early education at the Immaculate Conception School in Celina. Then he attended the Art Institute of Chicago and on June 15, 1917 received a certificate of completion of three and one-half years of drawing, antique life, painting and still life.

Pfister enlisted in the US Army September 18, 1917 at Celina. He served in Co. A 308th Engineers in the Aise-Ainse offensive Aug. 18-30, 1918; Ainse-Marne July 28-Aug. 6, 1918; Aesle sect. defensive Aug. 6-30, 1918; Meuse-Argonne offensive Oct. 9-Nov. 11; Chateau Thiery offensive July 12, 1918. Before he was sent overseas he was trained in the Military Trade School, Washington Barracks, D.C. and was awarded a certificate of achievement from the School of Photography. It was his job to sketch or to photograph bridges or other works that were blown by the Germans. These sketches or photographs, in made from an airplane, were rushed to headrters where the engineers made plans for restoon so that Allied forces could move ahead. After Armistice, Pfister was assigned to the Army of rupation. He sketched German military fortficais along the Rhine. Honorable Discharge was rered July 14, 1919. Then came two year scholarat the Beaux Arts Institute in Paris and travel in ope. At the Versailles Peace Conference he tched Clemmenceau, the Old Tiger of France, a rk that is in France today. Returning to USA, ster studied anatomy for a year at Flower Hospital

New York.

Iis major work was portrait painting. He had his dio in Chicago, in Celina, and after 1938 in Cinnati. Pfister's favorite commissions were the two traits of Don Gentile, the flying ace of World II who completed three hundred missions, ich he did for the Gentile family and for a Piqua, io veterans' organization. In 1940 he painted the trait of Pope Pius XII, whom he had never seen. e war prevented his going to Rome, so he resorted other portraits, photographs, and the descriptions people who knew the pope. Most Reverend Archhop John T. McNicholas offered many helpful ticisms of the work. Another portrait which was eived with much publicity and acclaim was that

PIUS PFISTER

Pius Pfister was born in the Province of Hohenzolleran, Germany, July 6, 1856 and he died March 3, 1945. When he arrived in the United States he had only 25¢ in his pocket. He married Anna Mary Pax, who was born in Cleveland, Ohio, June 6, 1867 and died March 16, 1933. Pius Pfister had a sixty acre dairy farm three miles southwest of Celina. He made daily trips through Celina residential district with his horse and wagon delivering milk to individual residences dipping it from his ten gallon milkcan into the container of the housewife. Pius and Anna Mary had the following children: Joseph, born March 3, 1895 at Newport, Ky., died August 16, 1952 in Cincinnati. Joseph was a well-known artist and a sketch of his life is in this book. Josephine, born at Newport, Ky., October 28, 1896, died June 6, 1933 in Celina. She is well remembered as a nurse at the Otis Hospital. Carl and Leo, twins, were born in Celina June 22, 1898. Carl married Matilda VonderHaar and Leo married Margaret Obringer. In 1938 Leo moved with his family from Columbus, Ohio to the Pfister farm where he raised cattle. Leo died March 9, 1964 and the farm was sold in 1966 to the Laux family. Carl is deceased and Matilda lives with her son in Columbus, Ohio; Margaret lives with her daughter, Betty Hoyng in Coldwater, Ohio. By Hilda Sacher, Celina, Oh. 45822

JOHN M. POHLMAN

Johann Matheus Pohlman, known in Celina as John M. Pohlman, was born in Bavaria, Germany on September 3, 1828. As a young man he came to America with his father and several other members of his family. Other members had come previously. We do not know where he first settled, but was known in Celina as early as 1853.

On August 6, 1854 he married Carolina Jung of New Bremen, Ohio. The marriage took place in a frame building on East Fayette Street in Celina. This building served Celina as a church, a school house, a town hall and an engine room. The Lutheran minister from New Bremen officiated. The bride was dressed in black silk with shirred waist and white undersleeves.

Carolina Jung Pohlman was born in Lauterechen, Germany September 16, 1933. She went first to Cincinnati, Ohio, later to New Bremen where the couple met.

Records in Celina Court House show that Mr. Pohlman bought the south half of lots 115 and 146 of Celina's original plot, October 23, 1855. The older residents may remember the family home where the Main Street parking lot now is located on the east side of Main Street just a few doors south of Fayette Street.

By trade Mr. Pohlman was a shoemaker featuring custom-made shoes. His first known shop was in the small structure located on the alley of his newly purchased land which also provided living quarters. There in 1854 Mr. Pohlman brought his bride. She not only kept house but boarded the hands.

As his family began to grow, Mr. Pohlman built a lovely two-story home on the same grounds. The new house was built right up to the sidewalk on Main Street. Between the two buildings was a lovely flower garden. An iron fence separated the garden from the sidewalk. Brick walks connected the buildings. There was an arbor over the gate which was in the middle of the iron fence. A long grape arbor was over the walk leading to the back of the lot. On either side were garden plots.

At the rear of the lot was a large barn which housed the horse, cow and chickens. In the day-time the cow would graze on seven acres of grass land at the east end of the city which belonged to Mr. Pohlman. A Celina school is now located on this land.

After the morning milking was done the cow would be released from the barn and started to the pasture with Mr. Pohlman following in the horse-drawn buggy. The cow seemed to know where to go even turning the right corners. The same procedure was used in the evening when the cow was returned to the barn.

The new house was a colonial type structure with a center hall and a door opening to the sidewalk. On one side of this hall was the parlor, behind it a bedroom, dining room and kitchen. On the other side was a business room — the sales room for the custom made shoes. The shoes were made in a room back of the display room. Upstairs were four spacious bedrooms.

On summer evenings Mrs. Pohlman and her friends would enjoy sitting in front of the front door.

The first organ in Celina was the one in the Pohlman residence.

Around 1880 Mr. Pohlman started a newsstand for his eldest son, Frank, in the old building next to the alley. Several years later he gave up his shoe business and Kistlers' Barber Shop took its place. When Kistlers moved out the News Stand was moved from the old building to the newer house. In the early part of the twentieth century the News Stand replaced the living room and bedroom of the Pohlman home. A milliner store was in the other storeroom.

When Frank Pohlman left Celina to seek his fortune in Nebraska, Mr. Pohlman took over the r stand. At his death his daughter Mary, managed store. The grandson, John Kohn, followed l Pohlman. When it was leased to the city as a p ing lot, Russell Kohn was the proprietor. (Russell son of Hannah Pohlman Kohn).

In 1860 Mr. Pohlman was elected to Celinas city council which consisted of four members.

At this time he was also a trustee of the Evanş cal Lutheran and Reformed Church. He helped I funds to build the first church. In later years congregation was disbanded.

He was a very loyal Mason, occupying the t surers chair for many years.

He was the father of eleven children, five whom died in infancy or early childhood.

Mr. Pohlman died on June 17, 1907 and N Pohlman, August 21, 1915. They had spent their tire married life on Main Street in Celina, Ohic Kohn

THE J. HENRY PULSKAM FAMILY

212 E. Market St. is gone. The big white frail house with the red tile roof was for more than hal century the home of the J. Henry Pulskamp fam — my family. If you passed in the summer time y might have seen us children playing croquet on twest lawn in the shade of two tall elms. Or we mighave been on the east side in the lawn swing, even on a ladder picking cherries.

It was a high house with a tower. (This tower coner of the attic, with a horsehair platform rocker buffalo robe, and other treasures made a fine plato play). You walked up eight to ten steps to reathe front porch — everyone sat on the front porch the evening after supper and chatted with those wipassed by. Every evening at the same time, we say Mrs. Landfair, the night operator, on her way to to telephone office. That reminds me, Dad and I Crampton, who lived about a block away, bought to the small surrounding telephone companies (about 1920, I believe) to form the Celina and Merc County Telephone Co. This lasted until the Gener Telephone Co. took over.

Some family background may be in order:

J. Henry Pulskamp was born in Cincinnati, September 25, 1861, and came with his parents, Hermand Mary Schaefer Pulskamp*, to Maria Stein the following spring, traveling as far as Minister by word the old canal. When about fifteen years old, I moved to Celina where he spent the remainder his life. After graduating from Celina High School he assisted his father in the Mercer County Tree.

er's office. At the age of twenty-one, in 1882, he nt into the Dry Goods Business with C.L. Hierhol. The next year he married Magdalene Schunck rn May 10, 1861, in Cranberry Prairie, daughter Jacob and Catherine Meyer Schunck) and they ed above the store for a few years, then moved to L.E. Market St. In 1907 he was a founder of the lina Stearic Acid Company and the secretary-asurer, until his retirement.

3y this time our family was complete: Bertha (b. 34, m. August Spieler 1906, d. 1972), Beatrice (b. 39, d. 1941), Wiro (b. 1891, m. Lela Orr 1918, d. 54), Dulah (b. 1898, d. 1972), Rosemary (b. 1902, Henry Kohnen 1924, widowed 1945, m. Troy mstrong 1957, widowed 1962), Henrietta (b. 1904, Homer Abegglen 1937). I am the last, and since rtha was married when I was one and a half years l, there were seven around the big kitchen table. 1 Sundays and when we had company we ate in 2 dining room, using the Haviland china with ne dishes, tiny butter dishes, and a mustache cup Dad.

Also on Sunday we often drove into the country. It big barn had horses, a surrey with fringe on the p, a fancy runabout with rubber tires, and a sleigh r winter. Later these gave place to a seven passent Cadillac touring car and a Model T Ford road-

JOHN SANDERS PUMPHREY

One of the most prominent citizens of Celina, hio was John Sanders Pumphrey, born January 7, 36 in the city of Worcester, Worcestershire Engnd. His parents, Mary Sanders and Samuel Pumrey, were prominent and wealthy manufactures kid gloves and he also was a tea merchant. The ther was highly educated, a graduate from both xford and Cambridge Universities. He also learned e trade of tallowchandler.

In the fall of 1837 Samuel brought his family to e United States landing in Boston, Massachusetts. s they disembarked the ship, John Sanders fell into ie water and a sailor dove into the water to save m. They continued on water to Philadelphia where ley remained 18 months. Their next home was in olumbus, Ohio until 1841 when they moved to ichmond, Ind. where Samuel engaged in the manfacturing of soap and candles. John Sanders got lost of his education in the schools in Richmond. In 352 they moved to Jay County, Indiana and settled n a farm northeast of Portland, where Samuel lught school and with his eldest son, John Sanders, ngaged in farming. There were nine children born Samuel and Mary but only John Sanders and Suin Pedrick survived their parents. Samuel passed way September 17, 1858 and Mary Sanders Pumhrey on August 26, 1881.

On May 11, 1861 John Sanders Pumphrey married Sarah Ann McCrosky on the banks of the Wabash. In 1865 they moved to Celina, Ohio where he spent several years in hunting, trapping and fishing. He helped to build the Reservoir in Celina by removing trees and stumps and by hauling boat loads of dirt he built an island where he raised vegetables. These he sold by horse and wagon thru the streets of Celina. After nearly loosing his life as he was caught in a storm while returning from his island he bought 41½ acres of land adjoining the northwest corporate limits of Celina. Here he continued his truck farming with the help of his children and grandchildren who remember getting one cent per quart for picking berries and shelling peas.

They lived in a log cabin on this farm until they received an inheritance from England at the death of the last of four maiden aunts in 1895. At that time they built a brick home which still stands on that property. The older grandchildren remember parties at the new home where John Sanders played the fiddel and kicked his heels higher than his head while dancing. There were eleven children born to this marriage. While John Sanders was raised a Quaker most of his children became Methodist. He was a Republican and many of his grandchildren follow his political party.

On his farm he had a nursery and greenhouse with his own water works to irrigate his crops. He built a pool where he put turtles until they were needed to make the Turtle Soup for which they were famous at the Celina fair grounds. The stand where he sold the soup was decorated with the cleaned out shells of the turtles. Recently the recipe for this came to us thru a relative of Leslie Pumphrey. It is as follows: Boil the turtle until the meat can be removed from the bones. Put this meat into the broth and add 1 cup each of carrots, cabbage and potatoes. ½ cup each of onions and celery and ½ can of peas add the juice of one lemon and some parsley cook until the vegetables are done.

John Sanders Pumphrey passed away on June 9, 1910 and Sarah Ann on August 10, 1923. All their children are dead at this writing but they are survived by many grandchildren, great and great great, etc. There is a Pumphrey Reunion held every year on the first Sunday in August in the Celina, Ohio area. Many gather to search their family tree which had the roots firmly planted in this area by John Sanders Pumphrey. Submitted by Mary Pumphrey Malich as told to me by my elders. Ft. Wayne, Ind. 46805

PUMPHREY

John S. Pumphrey, one of the most prominent citizens of Ohio was born Jan. 7, 1836 in the city of Worcester, Worcestershire England a city famous among many other things, for its manufacture of gloves. He was a son of Samuel & Mary (Saunders) Pumphrey, both natives of the same city.

Samuel Pumphrey was a son of John Pumphrey, who was a manufacture of kid gloves in Worchester, the Pumphrey family has for centuries been a wealthy and prominent one in Worcester, and the subject of this sketch has in his possession pieces of silver plate which have been in the family for more than one hundred and sixty years. He also has portraits of seven generations of the Pumphrey family. A first cousin of John Pumphrey, Anthony Purver, made a "new and literal translation of the new and old testament", which was published in 1764, a copy of which is owned by John S. Pumphrey's heirs.

Samuel Pumphrey was a highly educated man, and was graduated from both Oxford and Cambridge Universities. He learned the trade of a tallow chandler, but did not follow it to a great extent. For several years he was engaged as a tea merchant. In the fall of 1837 he brought his family to the United States. Landing in Boston, Mass. from which city he went by water to Philadelphia. There he remained about eighteen months, and then removed to Richmond, Ind. Where for eleven years he was engaged in the manufacture of soap and candles. In 1852 he moved to Jay County, Ind. and settled on a farm several miles northeast of Portland. There he followed farming and school teaching for several years. He was an unusually fine schollar. He wrote much excellent poetry some of which was published. His death occured in the fall of 1859, his wife surviving until August 26, 1881, and dying in Celina. The remains being buried in the cemetery at Celina. They were the parents of nine children.

John Sanders Pumphrey was reared in Richmond and in Jay County Ind. and received his education principally in the schools of Richmond. Until his father's death he remained on the farm in Jay County and in September, 1865 he removed to Celina, Ohio where he spent several years in hunting, trapping, and fishing. Later he became engaged in the nursery and greenhouse business. He erected two large greenhouses 20 × 75 feet in size. He put in his own water works, so that he could irrigate his premises, independently of any other person or of any corpo-

John Pumphrey was married, in 1861 to Miss Sarah McCroskey who was born in Dark Co., Ohio and to their marriage there has been eleven children. Viz. Claudia, deceased, wife of Wesley C. Roser, by whom she had five children - John Samuel, deceased, married to Josephene Wolf and had ten children - Susan Rebecca married to Wm. Bates and later to Wm. Worthington and had two daughters - Martha Ellen married to Erastus May and had sixteen children — Sarah Francis married to Wm. Miller and had six children — Amy & David dying in infancy - Leonard B. married to Rosa Fetter and had two children — Olive J. married to Chas. H. Frank, no children - Leslie J. married and had three children — Bess Elnora married John Lincoln and had four children.

Mr. Pumphrey was reared a Quaker in religion, and was a Republican in politics. He was an unusually active man, was energetic, and a worthy representative of the family from which he came. Patrica

THOMAS AND MAGDALENE BAKER RANSBOTTOM

The best estimate of Thomas Ransbottom's birth date is January 13, 1780. (The year varies according to which document is consulted.) The death certificate of his son John states that Thomas was born in England. The only clue to the exact locale in England is Thomas's last name — many families in Ramsbottom, Lancashire, England, adopted the name of the town as their own (with some slight spelling alterations).

On March 15, 1814, Thomas witnessed the signing of the marriage bond of a Polly Ransbottom to Peter Dairy (or Derry) in Rockingham County, Virginia. It is thought that Polly was Thomas' sister. A Richard and a Joseph Ransbottom were also present in the records of Rockingham County around 1820, and it seems possible that these men were brothers to Thomas.

Thomas was a veteran of the War of 1812. He entered the army on July 13, 1814, in the place of a Rarebone Mathis of Rockingham County. His service was in Capt. Henry Welch's Company of Light Infantry, 6th Reg't., Virginia Militia. While on loan to another Company, he fought the British for twelve hours at the Battle of Craney Island. During his period of service, his salary was eight dollars per month. He was honorably discharged August 22, 1814, due to ill health.

The first proof that Thomas had taken up residence in Ohio, does not come until December 10, 1850, when Thomas was already 71 years old. Thomas seems to have lived most of his Ohio years near Lima, in Allen County. During the last few years of his life he took turns living with three of his sons in Hardin, Allen, and Mercer Counties. He died November 13, 1878, at the home of his son George near Ada in Hardin County. According to George, Thomas died of, "Old age and General Disability, Having a severe Cough." Thomas is said to have been a "Dunker", or member of the Church of the Brethren.

Thomas married Magdalene (also called Helene) Baker, the daughter of Martin Baker, Senior. (See the Phillip Baker family history in this volume.) Their marriage bond was signed February 11, 1812, in Rockingham County, Virginia. They had the following children: 1. Diana, who married Andrew Craig; 2. Wesley B., who died February 6, 1873, in Allen County; his wife's name was Caroline; 3. George W., who died February 3, 1907, in Starke County, Indiana; his first wife was Mary King, whom he married September 14, 1843 - their children were Sarah Reeder, Martha Wolfe, Abraham L., Charlie F., and Riley H. — Mary died in Hardin County on June 19, 1869; George's second wife was Loueza Jane Lester, whom he married August 18, 1870, in Wyandot County — their children were Claude E., Lee M., and Walter L; 4. Cornelius H., who married Hanna Reese; their children were Alusta A., Melissa A., Adeline E., Elyina E., Newton F., Franklin T., Mabel G., Alonzo L., and Lifus M.; Cornelius seems to have spent most of his married life in Allen County. 5. Nancy, who married James A. Hume; 6. Lucinda, who married Simon Leap; their marriage bond was signed August 20, 1844, in Rockingham County, Virginia; 7. John, hereafter referred to as John Sr.; born February 14, or 15, 1821 or 1822, in Rockingham County, Virginia; died April 14, 1914, and is buried in the cemetery at Macedon, Ohio; his first wife was Mary Swaim, whom he married in March, 1843, in Allen County - she was born March 13, 1824, the daughter of Joshua Swaim of Allen County - she died in 1875 and is buried in the Macedon Cemetery; the children of John Sr. and Mary Swaim Ransbottom are: 1. John Jr., b. March 10, 1845, in Logan County, Ohio; d. March 16, 1923, and buried in Macedon, Ohio; first married Jane McQueen or McQuin in Celina on August 29, 1865; their only child was Ivy James Ransbottom, M.D.; after Jane's death September 6, 1903, John Jr. married Mellisa A. Murray in Allen County; 2. Wesley R., b. 1848; married Minerva Vian - their children, to the best of our knowledge, were Lucretia, Rachael, Jesse J., Leona, and John. 3. Anna, b. September, 1850, in Allen County; d. 1921, and buried in Macedon Cemetery; married Nathan Grier on July 4, 1867; their children to the best of our knowledge were William L., Mary, John W., and Martha J. McAfee; 4. Alex Monroe, b. 1854; d. 1940; first wife Nancy J. Eliot (or Ellet?); their children to the best of our knowledge were Fanny B. Granger, Charles B., Lewis E., Clifford L., Edward, Myrtle, Effie, Jessie Floyd, Opal Ford, and Lila Baucher; his second wife was a Ms. Colton of Virginia.

John Sr.'s second wife was Phoebe Wishon, whom he married October 24, 1878, in Mercer County — Phoebe was born November 1, 1847, in Jackson County, Ohio, the daughter of Isaac and Anna Pile Wishon; Phoebe's siblings were Rebecca (whose f. husband was Billy McCain — their children to best of our knowledge, were Frank McCain, Rach McDonald, Julia Rush, Hettie Spohn, John McCa Sara Jane Gales, and Louisa or Angeline Floren Rebecca's second husband was a Mr. McDowe Sara Jane (Mrs. Theodore Brann or Braun), Willia A. Origin of the RILEY name

From a letter written by Donald C. Riley on Board S.S. Voendam July 14th 1949, returning from an European trip — to his brother Roscoe.

"I am enclosing something I picked up for you at Oxford last week. (Parish Magazine June 1949, St.

You will recall that the Riley genealogy which Aunt Halie, I believe, traced back, mentioned that Robert D'Oili (or d'Oili) was given Oxfordshire by William the Conqueror in 1066. d'Oili, whose name gradually evolved in England to Doily and finally Riley, soon began repairing and enlarging an ancient Saxon church, and this one, according to the records in Oxford, was this old St. Michaels. It is very pretty inside, with some good stained glass. The style, as might be expected, is largely pre-Gothic. It stands near the center of Oxford, between Oriel College and New College which, strangely, is one of the oldest colleges in the University. Robert, you know was a Constable, and in those days that meant one of the top generals in the army and not the fellow who chases you for speeding.

If you want to run this all down in more detail, I invite you to Oxford where the records are fairly complete. And, by the way, it is a beautiful old

THE RILEY FAMILY

1 Nathaniel³ Riley (Isaac², John¹ of Wethersfield), b. Jan. 13, 1716, Wethersfield, Conn.; m. Jan. 24, 1739, Abigail Montague, b. July 11, 1716, Wethersfield, dau. of Richard Montague and Abigail (Benton) Camp, b. Dec. 9, 1691, the widow of Joseph

Captain James Riley

James Riley, son of Asher and Rebecca (Sage) Riley, was born October 27, 1777, at Middletown, Connecticut. He worked on a farm until he was fifteen years of age; then he made the decision to go to sea. His first trip was on board a vessel bound to the West Indies. Ambitious to gain distinction, he worked to acquire knowledge of the art of navigation; at the age of twenty he had risen from cabin boy to master of a sailing ship. As master of the sailing ship, he made many voyages to foreign countries. Captain Riley must have made quite an appearance; he stood six feet one inch tall, and built in proportion.

Between voyages, to Middletown, Conn., to visit his parents, he, in January 1802, married Phoebe Miller, daughter of Hosea Miller, a true patriot and minute man of the Revolutionary War. Of this marriage were born three sons: James Watson, Horatio Sprague, and William Willshire; and two daughters: Amelia Ann, who married Dr. William Murdock of Urbana, Ohio, and Phoebe, who married John Jay Beach, of Mansfield, Ohio.

Upon going to New York he received the appointment to a good sailing vessel, and continued in that capacity, making voyages throughout the world. The ship he prized the most highly was called the "Two Marys," but it was unfortunately seized by the French under the Milan Decree December 17, 1807; both ship and valuable cargo were confiscated. Captain Riley continued on the ocean. April 1815, he was employed as master of the brig Commerce, of Hartford, Conn. Captain Riley proceeded to sea from the mouth of the Connecticut River, May 6, 1815, bound for New Orleans, where he discharged his cargo, took on another, consisting of tobacco and flour, for Gibralter. He landed at Gibralter August 9, and took from there a partial cargo of brandies and wines, intending to complete the cargo with salt at Cape de Verde Islands. Very heavy fogs prevailed, and the strong sea and high wind increased, and August 28th, 1815, soon after 10 P.M. the ship struck with violence the reefs off Cape Bajador, Africa. The crew landed without loss of life, but were taken captives by a wandering tribe of Arabs, the next day. The Arabs sold them to Moorish merchantmen and carried through the desert of Sahara, where for more than two months they suffered the hardships of slaves under such a people and such a clime. Upon reaching Mogadore, Riley and four of his crew were redeemed by William Willshire, the American Consul there. When strong enough to travel, they returned to America and their families.

Captain Riley kept journals and log books, from which he wrote the book, Narrative (1816). Captain Riley described his travels and the trials of slavery which he and his crew endured. Riley was an abolitionist and wrote of his antislavery sentiment. Abraham Lincoln's Biography by John Locke Scripps lists Riley's Narrative as one of the books Abraham Lincoln read. Authors have written about the influence upon Lincoln by Riley's Narrative and the description of slavery. After having been through such hard times, Captain Riley was urged by his family to leave the sea. Following the War of 1812, when commerce on the seas was difficult, many seamen moved from New England to the West. Captain Riley, in association with his eldest son, James Watson Riley, secured a United States Government contract to survey the Northwestern Part of Ohio. Captain Riley arrived at the Headwaters of the Wabash River, near Fort Recovery, Ohio, on November 20, 1819. He went on to arrive in Fort Wayne, Indiana November 24, 1819. Captain Riley kept journals of his travels. (See the 1882 History of Van Wert and Mercer County for a more complete transcript of his letters at this time in history.) In his letters, Captain Riley contemplated the future with the following statement: "In travelling inch by inch this interesting section of Ohio, the mind is almost bewildered by the contemplation of its importance. Its climate, soil, and local situation, and permanent advantages, here may be discovered future sites of cities, towns, and hamlets, where agriculture, arts, and sciences, and commerce will flourish in a few years; and also sites of canals, that will unite at no very remote period the waters of Ohio and Lake Erie. This section of country is so easy of access from New England by the New York Grand Canal and Lake Erie, that no doubt can be entertained of its speedy settlement, while hundreds of citizens already settled in the State are selling or have already sold off their farms with the intention of purchasing and moving into the newly-ceded territory as soon as lands there shall be offered for sale, and to increase the chances of good market."

In 1822 Captain Riley built a two-story frame grist mill on the St. Marys River. He laid out a town and called it Willshire, in honor of his friend and redeemer from slavery in Magadore. In 1823-24, he represented Darke and Shelby Counties in the General Assembly of Ohio and he introduced the bill which laid the foundation for the State's public school system.

In 1825, Captain Riley moved to New York and returned to the Sea. He continued his voyages, until March 1840, his health failed him. He died March 13, 1840 at sea and was buried in the Atlantic Ocean, north of Puerto Rico.

ANDREW SCHUNCK

Dedication to religious principle, compassion, service to society — particularly to the young and the indigent —, progressive thought with action, and humor were truly the characteristics which permeated the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schunck who lived all of their married life in Mercer County.

Andrew Schunck was the second youngest son of Jacob and Catherine Meier Schunck who migrated from Germany and settled in Cranberry Prairie, Mercer County, where Andrew was born in 1863. His parents were married in Germany and he had a brother buried at sea on the journey to America. There were twelve children born to Jacob and Catherine.

When Andrew was quite young his father became Superintendent of the Mercer County Home, then called the "Poor House"; he remained Superintendent for twenty years and it was during his stewardship that some of the current buildings were constructed. Consequently, Andrew spent most of his youth on the present County Home farm. He and his family attended the one-room school on the land now occupied by the Cheryl Ann School.

A prize story of the school years of alert, bright, young Andrew is in order. Smallpox was rampant in Mercer County and Jacob Schunck decided to have all of his children vaccinated; he was a most progressive father as vaccination was indeed new. As a result, Andrew and his younger brother, Lawrence, were absent from school several days with sore arms. When they returned to school the other boys inspected their arms which were seeping fluid from deep scabs. One boy asked, "Do you suppose you could vaccinate us with this fluid?" They found an old rusty pin on the playground and Andrew and Lawrence scratched each arm until it bled then applied the seepage from their scabs. Every vaccination was effective and Andrew and Lawrence were the only boys in school. Not one boy contracted lockjaw, tetanus, or infection from the ordeal!

Andrew was always engaged or vitally interested in farming and was one of the first planters of soybeans in the County. He was a student of scientific feeding of animals. He often said that had he really done what he liked best he would have become a veterinarian; he had great skill with animals and he loved to hunt. He produced the finest herd of purebred Guernseys in Mercer County while he was perintendent of the Mercer County Home from 1 to 1928.

Andrew was not simply the Superintendent of County Home but truly a friend to the indigent ridents. He spent countless nights playing cards withe male inmates, attending the sick, and left compassionate imprint on their lonely lives. He highly intelligent and when Civil Service was in gurated he scored among the highest in the St. He died in 1946. Bernadine Hook, Celina, Oh. 45822

MARGARET PARKER SCHUNCK

Margaret Parker Schunck (affectionately known as Maggie) was born 1868 in Fletcher, Ohio, Mia County, the daughter of Thomas Parker and Hanr rah O'Brien Parker. They were born in Irelai County Cork and County Limerick. Maggie came Mercer County to accept a teaching position in tone-room Buck School. Her Teachers' Certificated April 27, 1889, was signed by the late J. Birkmeier, S. Cotterman, and P. E. Kenney.

Margaret Parker married Andrew Schunck in Mary's Church, Piqua, Ohio, in 1893. When Mars ret was expecting her first child one year later, t School Board insisted that she return to her teachi post as they could locate no other teacher to mana the school with discipline and academic achiev ment. Her graduates were most successful in passi the well-known Boxwell Examinations. After t birth of Helen, her first child, Margaret returned teach at Buck School and the School Board located "hired girl" or governess for Helen; she was Bo Maffett. Margaret continued to teach until 18 when her second child, Mary, was born. Marri women with children and careers of their own co tainly were not common in the late eighteen hu dreds!

Mrs. Schunck became Matron of the Coun Home when her husband was Superintendent as continued to serve until her death in 1925. She w not just a Matron; she nursed the ill and dyir dressed their wounds (mental and physical), sat b side their beds in long and weary vigils, comforte assured, and guided her patients. She was alwa sure that each received Christmas gifts. She encou aged her children to bring happiness and cheer the old and infirm.

Andrew and Margaret Schunck with their steadast Catholicism knew the true meaning of ecume ism. They established Christian burial at the Coun Home. Mrs. Schunck instituted interdenomination Sunday services for all of the inmates and she en ployed Reverend Reese to preside. She boug records of hymns which she played on the "Vi ola" for Sunday services and she was always hostis for Reverend Reese. For the spiritual gain of her ards, she knew and worked with every clergyman every Faith in Celina and its environs. Eulogizing the many contributions of Margaret Parker Schunck deducation and to humanity, the most glowing ibutes imaginable were written by the late Lizzie S. IcKim for The Daily Standard May 21, 1925.

Andrew and Margaret Schunck had four daughrs: Helen Schunck Anderson, Mary Schunck rady, Magdalene Schunck, and Bernadine Schunck ook. Helen is notable for her work in law, aviation, urnalism, and government service. During World /ar I she served in Washington as Secretary to Mar Savage, law partner of William Gibbs McAdoo. he wrote for Aeronautics, Aeronautical Review, and Saturday Evening Post. She had no children. lary taught in St. Henry one year and in the Celina chools for thirty-five years. During her teaching te gave some of her time to work for the Probate ourt. She had one son, Robert Michael Brady. lagdalene studied nursing but health problems rced her to relinquish training. After caring for embers of her family, she joined her sister, Bernane, in New York City, where she held an executive ost in communications at St. Vincent's Hospital nd Medical Center. She died in 1975. Bernadine ught Music and English in Athens County, Ohio, ien for sixteen years served as a demonstration acher and salesperson for the American Book ompany in Cincinnati. She then joined the staff of erkeley School in New York where she worked in ublic Relations, Admissions, and directed Placeent for twenty-three years. She retired in 1969. he had one son, Stephen Croft Hook.

The home of Andrew and Margaret Schunck was ways the haven of every motherless relative in the hole relationship. It was rare when there was not a ousin as part of the family.

The family picture taken in 1910 includes Frances arker Gelhaus who lived with the Andrew Schunck mily from the time her mother died when she was x until she married at age twenty-two. She was the iece of Margaret Parker Schunck. Bernadine Hook

JACK GARMAN SHIVERDECKER

Jack was the second of three children born in Celina (July 19, 1916-Oct. 6, 1975) to Joseph Elmore Shiverdecker (Sept. 23, 1886-Sept. 1, 1939) and Ethel

Zenobia (Zenna) Garman Shiverdecker (Sept. 26, 1886-June 19, 1948) in Celina. Zenna's parents were George and Sarah Jane Lincoln Garman. The older brother, Glen York (July 3, 1913) m. Catherine Elizabeth Ingle and presently resides in Dayton, Ohio. The younger sister, Bettie Jane (Oct. 13, 1918) m. Walter George Jurkowski and presently resides in Garfield Heights, Ohio, near Cleveland.

Joseph, being the eldest son, quit school in his Junior year at the time of the death of his father in order to help support the rest of the family. He learned the carriage painting trade at the John Cron Carriage Works, at the corner of Fayette and Ash Sts. He later was ticket agent for the Western Ohio Traction Company until it went out of business due to the advent of trucks and automobiles. He then became custodian at the old East School Building, where he delighted and amazed the students at recess time with his ability to add columns of figures faster than thought possible.

Jack graduated from Celina High School in 1935 where he had participated in football, basketball, tennis and also played in the band. He worked for a time at Nickel Bros. Hardware and later managed a hardware store in Dayton until enlisting in the Army Air Corps in 1941, where he was a member of the 4th Repair Squadron, 4th Air Depot Group. He was stationed in Australia for three years during World War II, having been sent overseas immediately after Pearl Harbor, and worked servicing all planes on their way to Japanese bombing missions. Returning to the States in January of 1945 he married Mary Frances Minckley (born in St. Marys, Ohio on Oct. 25, 1921, daughter of Dale Henry Minckley and Mary Jane Sutton of Genesee County, Michigan) in Celina on Jan. 25, 1945. He remained in service in California and Kearns AFB, Salt Lake City, Utah, until the end of the war when he received a discharge after serving 4 years, 4 months and 4 days, and attaining the rank of Staff Sergeant.

At this time he returned to Celina and opened his own heating and plumbing business on W. Fayette St., in June of 1946. This building was later sold and he moved his shop to a location on Godfrey Avenue. His health beginning to fail in later years, he sold his shop, known as Consolidated Heating & Appliance Co., just a short time before his death, to his only son and oldest child, Jerry Leroy (Jan. 22, 1947) in September, 1975. Jerry had attended Ohio Northern University and Ohio State University, and is still owner of the business. The other children are Darlene Jane (Aug. 23, 1948), a graduate of Bowling Green State University where she obtained a B.S. degree, and Miami University where she obtained a Masters degree in Education. She is presently a Librarian in the Cincinnati School System. The third child is Amy Gail (May 14, 1963)

Jerry married Alice Mary Fullenkamp (Born in Coldwater, Ohio, Feb. 6, 1948 and presently teaching in the St. Henry School System) on Jan. 3, 1970. They have two children, Cory Jack (May 21, 1975) and Katie Jo (Sept. 14, 1978). Mrs. Jack Shiverdecker

SNYDER

The Snyder aspect of the Margaret M. and Parki R. Snyder family came as the descendents of Heni Snyder, who was born in 1784, near Hagerstow Maryland, and Sarah Smith, who was born at Wir chester, Virginia, in 1788. The couple were marrie in Green County, Ohio, and then came to Bellefor taine, where Snyder had served at Manara Bloc House, during the War of 1812. Members of h family said he lived there before the War, and the his home was destroyed by Indians, but his obituar does not say this.

A large family of five boys and three girls resulted, and one of his sons, Alexis Parker Jone came to Celina in 1851 to work at The Standard which was owned by an older brother, Seth. A.P. was named after an English relative — in the hog that money would be sent from England, but alas, never arrived. Later he bought the Standard. The mother, Sarah Smith, was listed as a "hand maider or "lady in waiting" to the queen of England — but since she was an American citizen this title appa ently applied to her mother.

A.P.J. Snyder had three sons and three daughte—and the only one to have children was Frank A vord Snyder—the father of the present manager of The Standard, Parker R. Snyder. A.P.J., who was born in 1828, married Susan Slicer, also of Bellefortaine, and she was born in 1836. Her father, Walte was a friend of Salmon P. Chase—Lincoln's secretary of the treasury—and cared after Chase's feeb minded son. Chase gave him a couch for this. Chaefounded Chase-Manhattan Bank in New York.

A.P.J. Snyder's only son to mature, Frank, marrie Grace Lucinda Riley in 1910 — and had two chi dren, Joy and Parker. Joy Snyder died in 1970.

Grace Riley Snyder was the great grandchild (Capt. James Watson Riley, who wrote the famou "Riley's Narrative", which Abraham Lincoln er dorsed, and she was the granddaughter of James R ley, who laid out Celina, Van Wert and Paulding. 16, she was valedictorian of her high school clas and she attended Kenyon College at Gambier, Ohi She was the first librarian, when the Celina librar was established in the City Hall. Frank A. Snyde was born in 1871, his wife Grace in 1874.

Mrs. Snyder's father was Calvin E. Riley, and he mother's maiden name was Gabrilla Brandon. Sh was the youngest child of a family of seven, fix boys and two girls and the oldest sister and brothedied. The four brothers all lived to good ages in Cellina. SPEICHER FAMILY MARCUS E. SPEICHER

A decendent of the Christian Speicher family that ime to the United States from the canton of Berne, witzerland in 1832 and settled in Holmes County, hio near Winesburg. Christian was born October 1815. He married Anna Steiner (who was born in witzerland also) on July 11, 1840. She inherited the wiss talent of yodeling, at which she was very ood. Christian and Anna had eight children. Chrisan moved his family to Wabash County, Indiana in 365. The family, with their household goods, traved on a flat boat on the Erie and Wabash Canals as r as Lagro, Indiana. They settled northeast of igro. They farmed during the active years of their ves. The Speichers were very good carpenters. lany of the large old barns in Lagro and Chester ownships, Wabash County, were built by Speichs. Christian died December 15, 1892.

One of Christian and Anna's son's name was Wilim who married Rosetta Gerber on November 20, 173. The Gerbers were also natives of Berne, Switzland, their westward journey ending in the village

Berne, Indiana, as farmers.

One of William and Rosetta's children was Edwin lbert Speicher born May 23, 1885, on a farm in labash Township, Adams County, Indiana, one nd a half miles east of Geneva Indiana. He married eah Olga Nyffeler on October 23, 1909. The Nyffer decendents emmigrated from Hutwyl, Switzernd to the United States in 1887 and settled in Jay ounty, Indiana, lived there one year and then oved to Adams County, Indiana, clearing an 80 re farm near Monroe, Indiana. Leah's father was locomotive fireman on the railroads in Switzerland and because of his knowledge of steam engines was often called upon to repair threshing machines in his neighborhood. Edwin and Leah had three children and one of their sons was Marcus Edwin Speicher.

Marcus Edwin Speicher was born September 20, 1914 in Wabash Township, Adams County, Geneva, Indiana, attended first six grades in Mt. Zion School, Wabash Township, junior high and high school in Geneva, Indiana and was a member of Cross Reformed Church until his move to Celina, Ohio.

On July 7, 1942, he married Vera Gerke Speicher, daughter of Otto Gerke and Emma Rodewald Gerke, and from this union was born three children: Carolyn Ann, John Mark and Ruth Margaret Speicher. He entered the services of World War II from September 1942 until December 1945 as a corporal in the CRTC at Ft. Riley, Kansas as mechanic instructor and the last fifteen months as maintainance mechanic and welder, overseas.

Prior to entering the service he did welding at Geneva, Indiana for farmers, and then starting his original business in 1935. In 1936 he rented a space in Stouffer-Lehman garage at New Corydon, Indiana as a welder and on April 1, 1937 moved to Celina, Ohio, rented a space in Hinton and Smalley Maintainance Building and opened a welding shop there. In 1938, he rented a building on the corner of Brandon and Frahm Pike and in 1939 with the cooperation of his father and brother, a new facility was built at 308 Portland Street in Celina and from this venture Speicher Brothers, Inc. was founded.

Many years later, upon retirement, he also founded N.C.S., a small machine shop located on West Market at Meyer Rd., in Celina. Mrs. Vera

VERA GERKE SPEICHER

Vera Speicher, wife of Marcus E. Speicher, was born September 8, 1916 in Allen County, Ft. Wayne, Indiana. Daughter of Otto and Emma Rodewald Gerke, Vera was the third child of a family of five. At the present time three are living and two are deceased.

The farm homesite, a ten-roomed frame structure, was located on South Fairfield Avenue, the first farm outside the city limits. Otto Gerke farmed during the active years of his life. In the early years of their marriage, they made and sold homemade dairy products and also sold much garden produce. This was how the children were kept busy during the

For seven years, Vera, along with her sister, Rosella, and her brother Melvin, attended Suburban Trinity Lutheran School, a three mile walk one way. School hours were from 8:00 am to 3:30 pm. Along with the regular school curriculum, there was also the study of religion and the study of the German language including the writing of German script. Vera finished her eighth grade year at Hillcrest Grade School. She graduated in 1936 from Elmhurst High School in Ft. Wayne. After graduation, she worked at the Wayne Knitting Mills.

Vera married Marcus E. Speicher, of Geneva, Indiana, on July 7, 1942 and they moved to Celina, Ohio in January of 1946. At this time the homesite of forty acres was then sold; it has since been developed into an apartment site.

Vera's paternal grandparents were Henry Gerke, a farmer, and Lizetta Kline Gerke, born in Ft. Wayne (Allen County) and Decatur, Indiana (Adams County), respectively. The maternal grandparents were George Rodewald, dairy owner and operator, and Julia Grieser Rodewald, both born in the Ft. Wayne area.

To the marriage of Marcus and Vera Speicher have been born three children: Carolyn, born April 5, 1943; John, born May 17, 1953; and Ruth, born March 11, 1955. One granddaughter, Karen Thieman, was born November 23, 1963.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Speicher are members of St. John's Lutheran Church, Hopewell Township. Mrs. Vera Speicher

AUGUST J. SPIELER

August Joseph Spieler was born in Cincinnati, Ohio on March 16, 1874 (died Dec. 5, 1959 in Celina, Ohio). He was the son of Titus Spieler and Catherine Hoelscher, both immigrants from Germany (approx. 1868), who met in Hamilton, Ohio. Titus was born in 1838 (died 1895 in Cincinnati), son of Conrad and Marianna Spieler, Heimbuchentahl bei Aschaffenburg, Bavaria, Germany. Catherine was born April 27, 1843 (died Nov. 8, 1925 in Celina). She was the daughter of Maximillian Hoelscher, Westphalen, Munster, Germany. Titus and Catherine had six children. Three died in infancy, August J., Elizabeth, and William were the others. The family lived in Cincinnati on Dunlap Street and later on Poplar. Titus was a cooper and a schnapps distiller. He died when August was twenty-one and the responsibility of the support of the family fell to the elder son.

August started working very young. He was a bright young man of inquiring mind, learning from his jobs at the Emery Candle Company, where he progressed from barrel-painting-room to chemical laboratory by the time he was twenty-four. He took night-classes at the Ohio Mechanics Institute, but otherwise was self-taught. In May 1898 August went to Syracuse, N.Y., to establish a stearic acid plant for Will & Baumer Co. He was with them until 1904. Then he designed and sold machinery for Joselyn, Schmitt & Co., a chemical engineering firm of Cincinnati, Ohio.

In 1903 August met Bertha Pulskamp, daughter of J. Henry Pulskamp and Magdalene Schunck of Celina, Ohio, at the wedding of his sister, Elizabeth, to Edward Pulskamp. Edward was the son of Herman Pulskamp II. He was born Jan. 7, 1875 at St. John's, Mercer County, and died May 25, 1927 in Celina. August and Bertha were married in Celina June 7, 1906. Soon afterward August decided to start a factory of his own in Celina, Ohio, where he located a site along the north bank of the Grand Reservoir near the Lake Erie Railroad (South Ash Street) at the old site of the Hannecke Iron Works. And so the Celina Stearic Acid Company came into existence, the charter was drawn up, and the company was incorporated in September 1907.

It was a closed corporation with the majority of shares held by the Spieler and Pulskamp families. The stearic acid manufactured in Celina was important to candle-making and the cosmetic industry. The companionate products, glycerine and oleic acid (red oil) were used in nitro-glycerine, cosmetics paint, soap, and the lubrication of woolen fabrics. The market for stearic acid in candle-making extended to Cuba, South America, and India. The Celina Stearic Acid Company was liquidated in 1967

due to a changing market. Wool cloth was rapidly being replaced by synthetics which did not need the scouring and lubrication wool required.

August's mother, Catherine, and his brother, William, moved to Celina in 1907 also. William married Hedwig Kradelt in May 1909. William was now factory manager in the new company. Catherine first lived with Hedwig and William, and then moved in with August and Bertha after they built a second story on their new home. "Mutter," as the grand-children called her, had her own "sitting-room" and bedroom on the second floor. Here she stayed until her death in 1925. Edward and Elizabeth also moved to Celina in 1907. Edward became foreman and engineer in the new factory. J. Henry Pulskamp, Bertha's father, was part of the management during the years 1907-1922.

The family residence built at 405 East Wayne Street in 1912 was used by the family until 1972 and sold in 1974. The ten children born to this union are listed under the sketch on Bertha Pulskamp Spieler.

August J. Spieler also participated in community activities. He was president of the Board of Public Affairs Jan. 1, 1932 — Dec. 31, 1933; president of the board of the Citizens Bank 1942-55; an active member of the Republican Party; a member of the Imma culate Conception Church. BERTHA (PULSKAMP) SPIELER

Bertha Pulskamp Spieler (born June 10, 1884 in Celina; died July 11, 1972 Coldwater, Ohio) was the daughter of J. Henry Pulskamp (1861-1937) and Magdalene Schunck (1861-1943). She graduated from Oldenburg Academy, Oldenburg, Indiana in 1902. Then she returned home to help her mothe with the younger children. She was idealistic and "Gibson Girl" type. The young men called he "Princess." She chummed with Bertha Hierholzer

Itherine Lennartz, Agnes Grothjan, Clara Romer, Irtha Dugan. Mark Beckman, Ralph Bearinger, ed Schmitt, Pete Oakley, Ado Cron and Herman on also belonged to the set, and there were many irties. On Sunday afternoons after church services ey would promenade uptown and to the Lake. In e evenings the group would congregate at the ome of one of the number and after games, dancg and singing the young men would escort the rls home. Dances in Riley's Hall were events of the inter. The hall was above the Livery Barn, which ter became the Celina Auto Company. Bertha's faer had a horse and he bought a runabout for her hen she came home from Oldenburg. She and her lends had wonderful times driving about Celina.

August J. Spieler spent Christmas vacation at the alskamp home in December 1903. He and Bertha ok a sleigh-ride that ended in a snowdrift. That bisode became a family anecdote. In January 1906 ortha and August became engaged and the weding was June 7, 1906. They lived in St. Bernard for ne year and in 1907 moved to Celina, because the elina Stearic Acid Co. was being founded here. In ctober 1912 they moved into the home they had anned and built at 405 East Wayne Street. When rst built it was a one-story house. The following children were born to them: Mary atherine born October 3, 1908; (married Gordon /ilson Dec. 22, 1936) Bertha Augusta (Betty) born) June 1910; (died Dec. 14, 1974) Magdalene born pril 16, 1912; (married William T. In spite of her busy life as wife and mother, Berta participated in community affairs to some exent. She always was a devout Catholic and member the Immaculate Conception Church. In 1920, the ear women got the vote, she went with a group to farion, Ohio to march in behalf of Harding, the residential candidate. When the Delphian Society ourished in Celina in the 1920's and '30s she was ighly interested in their study of art and history. he was a charter member of the American Legion uxiliary, Celina Unit 210 (1927) and served as secnd president in 1928. She joined the Daughters of labella in 1927 as a charter member and was fourth egent 1932-34.

During the last twenty years of her life, she went morning mass practically every day. After Auust's death in 1959 she lived alone in the hometead until October 1971 when she fell and broke er hip. She died nine months later at Briarwood, foldwater, Ohio on July 11, 1972. Magdalene A. Niemer tury.

"Excursions on the lake attracted hundreds to Celina, many from as far away as Detroit, who came on the Cincinnati Northern Railway and stayed for the weekend," said Albert Stein. "The saloons charged five cents for a beer and the sandwiches on which the horseradish was served were free."

Albert was graduated from Immaculate Conception High School in 1913 with a class of three. In 1910 he had started working as a barber in the John Wenning Barber Shop above what is now the Citizens Commercial Bank. For a few months in 1916, he also barbered in St. Henry, riding the Cincinnati Northern train on Monday morning, and walking back to Celina along the railroad tracks after closing time, usually after midnight, on Saturday nights.

In 1917, he bought a confectionary where Goldstein's Department Store now stands and learned how to make candy. when he enlisted in the Army during World War I, he left his brother in charge of the store, but the work was too much for him, and Pete Rihm, now of 642 North Cherry St., Celina, bought the store.

Stein spent much of his time in the service in a makeshift hospital just behind the lines near Verdun in France. He described as "a rare privilege" seeing the Germans marching into a town in France to surrender on Nov. 11, 1918. He was the fifth American to go into Germany, and made many ambulance trips back into France with the sick and wounded after the armistice because communications were so poor that fighting did not cease even though the armistice.

Stein was discharged Aug. 25, 1919. Upon his return to Celina, he soon went to work at the Racket Store, located at the present site of Grapner Shoe Store, at that time owned by Leo Hierholzer.

In July of 1921, Stein sold his first insurance contract, and since has "matched" all kinds and types of insurance to hundred of Mercer County men and women. In 1929 he married Margaret Alma Knostman of Dayton. Mrs. Stein died in 1975. The couple had four children: Bill, who sells supplies for automobile races for Wesco Supply; Tom, an insurance salesman in Cincinnati; Jerry, a welder in Lombard, Ill., and Mary Margaret Dresher, who lives with her family in Necedah, Wisc. Since 1974, Albert's sister, Bernadine Stein, has made her home with him.

Albert has been active in many organizations. In 1916 he joined the Knights of Columbus and is an honorary life member. He has held various office in the K of C, including that of financial secretary in 1921, '22 and '23.

He served as usher at the Immaculate Conception Church longer than any other person in the history of the church. He instigated the envelope collecting system in the church. He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5713, Celina, and has been especially active in American Legion Post 210, which he joined as a charter member in September of 1919. He has held all the office of the unit over the years, and served as finance officer for many years, much longer than anyone else.

Because he got such an early start, Albert Stein believes he has attended more Department and National Legion conventions than anyone else in the state of Ohio. Albert C. Stein

VICTOR STEINKE

Victor Steinke, the second oldest son of Jeromand Mary Anna Steinke, was born June 18, 1928 in Montezuma, Ohio. After nine months, Jerome and Mary moved to Celina, Ohio to stay. Victor acquired twelve years of catholic education in the Immaculate Conception grade and high school. At eleven year old, he started his first paying job as a milk delivery boy. This job lasted two years, at which time he hauled ice to Celina residents in the summe months and set pins at the local bowling alley in the winter months until he graduated from school. The next three years after graduation was spent hauling ice.

At the age of 20, he married his high schoo sweetheart Mary Ann Rolfes, the daughter of Lec and Corrine Rolfes. She had two brothers and a sister, Lavern, Eugene, and Patricia.

Of the union of Vic and Mary Ann there were five children; Michael, Christine, Rebecca, Victoria, and Lisa.

At the age of 21 he became interested in carpentry and took a job at the Martz cabinet shop. After three years of building cabinets the business was momentarily slow. He moved on to house construction working for a local contractor for the next ten years. During these ten years, his evenings were spent building cabinets and doing small repair jobs. At the age of 32 in 1960, he went into business on his own as a cabinet maker and general contractor. He maintained a crew of usually twelve men which specialized in everything connected to the building trade plumbing, heating, electrical, etc.

In 1971, Vic and Mary Ann built their first personal new home at 635 West Livingston St. This inestment lead to the purchase of a number of other roperties including a church at 404 North Main St. nd a five acre chicken farm, west of Celina.

In 1973, Vic and Mary Ann were blessed with neir first grandchild followed by four others as of eptember 1978.

At the present, Victor has kept with the building usiness, rental properties, and raising chickens. August 1978) Vic Steinke

Grandlienard)

In early years, William and Edith farmed 240 acres with horses. These horses being from the line of purebred Belgiums that John and Frank Stillberger showed at fairs. Finally in 1937, the first tractor replaced the horses for the farm work. Besides farming, cows were milked, the cream separated, and either the cream sold or made into butter. Later, whole Grade A milk was sold. Also raised and sold on the farm were chickens, eggs, and Hampshire hogs.

Over the years, the family was associated with evangelical churches, being active as Sunday School teachers and church officials.

Over the last 23 years, Edith became well known in the community for the making and decorating of fine cakes for weddings and special occasions. Edith Stillberger

STUYVESANT -STIVERSON

John (Stuyvesant) Stiverson, Great grandfather of

Fay D. Stiverson Celina, was born in Lancaster Co., Pennsylvania, Nov. 30, 1802. His parents, being of German and Dutch distraction and direct descendants of Peter Stuyvesant, governor of New Amsterdam (New York City) New York.

When John Stiverson was yet a young man, he came to Washington Twp., Hocking Co., Ohio, and on June 26, 1825 he married his first wife Elizabeth Hensel, (born in Pennsylvania), the daughter of Henry and Elizabeth (Friend) Hensel, being of German descent. Because of the Dutch spelling of his family name (Stuyvesant) he decided an English spelling would make it easier for his neighbors, and friends to pronounce it, and would also make it less difficult in having it spelled correctly on legal papers, and documents. So, in exchange for three bags of wheat he had the spelling of his family name changed from Stuyvesant to Stiverson.

Mr. Stiverson bought and cleared 280 acre of land on which he built his home. He became quite a prominent citizen of Hocking Co., and at this time Enterprise, Ohio was known as Stiversonville.

Born to John and Elizabeth were thirteen children - Joel who married first Elizabeth Giberson, then Elizabeth Roush, Lemuel married Christina Mathias, Sarah married Peter Bowers, Suzannah married Ephrium Harden, Elizabeth married Henry Martin, Josie, Samuel married Caroline Warthman, Emanuel married Kigiah Friend, Lucinda married Joseph Petty, MaryAnn married James Clark, Eliza Anna died an infant, Katie, John B. married Anna Elizabeth Klinger. After the death of Elizabeth, John E. married Sarah Proach and they had two more daughters - Delilah married George Shaw, and Lydia married his brother of Frank Shaw.

Mr. Stiverson was an active member of a United Brethern Church, serving as a trustee, Sunday School teacher and song leader. He raised his family to be God-fearing adults, using the Bible as his rule book. In politics he was a staunch Republican. Before he passed away he handmade each one of his children a Pennsylvania Dutch Dowery chest, to be passed on to the future Stiverson generations.

John's son Samuel H. was a life time resident of Hocking Co., and was a prosperous farmer and carpenter. He married Caroline Warthman, Nov. 13, 1864, the daughter of J. Adam and Christina (Britz) Warthman, also of Hocking Co. They had the following children: Francis Marion (died an infant), Edward Silas, who married Mary Estella Klinger, Christina, who married Elmer Chidister, Emma who married Benjamin Carpenter, and Porter Edson, who married Eliza Jane Lehman, daughter of Daniel and Rebecca Jane (Layland) Lehman.

Porter E. Stiverson, though born in Hocking Co., spent most of his life time in Mercer Co., as here he met and married Eliza Jane Lehman of Early (Oregon), Hopewell Twp. Mr. & Mrs. Stiverson lived most of their married life in Mercer Co., and their home was blessed with seven children, though three sons died in infancy. The other children were C. Xenia who married LeVertie McDaniel of Ind., Edna May married John Heil of Lima, Norma A. married Floyd John Tigner, Center Twp., and Fay Dilbert married Alberta J. Hoel, Jefferson Twp.

Fay and Alberta Stiverson have the following children: Edson Ray, John Floyd, Cecil Fay, and Dawn Lu Ray, and one granddaughter — Natasha Kolleen Stiverson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edson Stive

Fav Stiverson is employed at the St. Marys Good year factory, and is also a farmer. During WWII, h was stationed in S. Hampton, England with the 8t Air Force. His sons Edson Ray served in the U.S Army during the Vietnam war, being a helicopte pilot. Cecil Fay having just returned home to Celin after serving 5 years in the 8th Air Force as an Elec tronic Technician in Navel Equipment, at Pease A Force Base, New Hampshire. In 1918 he volunteered for service in World War I serving in Company B, 152nd Depot Brigade, where he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the infantry. He was honorably discharged on March 22, 1010

On June 7, 1919, Carroll A. Stubbs married Belva L. Dine, daughter of William Smowyer Dine and Fannie (Siler) Dine, whose father, John Siler, fought in the Civil War. Originally from France, the Dine family migrated from Pennsylvania to the Tiffin area and on to Mercer County. Two children survive from this marriage, Virginia Stubbs Parker of Pleasantville, New York, and Robert C., an attorney in Tucson, Arizona.

In partnership with Frank Kloeb (a committment made when both were in service), Mr. Stubbs practiced law for a time and then bought an insurance agency from B. A. Myers. After Mr. Kloeb sold his interest in the firm and began to practice law with John Loree, Mr. Stubbs in 1925 moved his office from above the Commercial Bank to the Wyckoff building on West Market St. In that same year he founded the Mutual Savings and Loan Association with E. J. Brookhart, Walter J. Mersman, H. C. Bowman and Frank L. Kloeb as directors.

For many years he was a general agent and member of the Board of Directors of the Companies of The Celina Insurance Group, and a director of the Commercial Bank.

Among his civic activities, Carroll Stubbs was a trustee of the Richardson-Bretz Memorial, president of the Mercer County Library trustees, legal advisor to the Edward L. Bryson Foundation, and an advocate for the Mersman Swimming Pool and Lake Shore Drive.

A member of St. Paul's Methodist Church, Mr. Stubbs was on the board of trustees for many years, active in the Sunday School as superintendent and teacher, and sang in the choir for over 50 years.

When public funds were not available to build the Celina Stadium, Mr. Stubbs raised over $25,000 in pledges from local business and professional men. To insure repayment of the funds and the completion of the stadium in 1942, Mr. Stubbs personally underwrote each of the notes.

As proselitizer, organizer, researcher and fund raiser, Mr. Stubbs was instrumental in the formation of the Mercer County Historical Society. With the help of Bronsart Gilberg, C. C. Reiser and other interested citizens who made gifts or loans, the society was incorporated in 1957. He later served as president of the Society.

Shortly before his death Mr. Stubbs gave to Celina 18 acres of land which adjoined his Eastview subdivision. This land was added to a tract purchased by the Bryson Foundation trustees to form Eastview Park with picnic facilities, an equipped playground, horseshoe courts and baseball diamonds.

Carroll A. Stubbs died in Tucson, Arizona, on December 5, 1965. Mrs. Carroll Stubbs, Celina, Oh. 45822

LIBERTY TOWNSHIP

Liberty township hasn't changed as much as some her townships of Mercer county. It still has a lot of) to 60 acre farms, with folks raising enough liveock to supply their own needs and enough extra to ly taxes and grocery bills. Then there are several secializing like Bill Long who have large chicken ying houses, also there are several feeder pig setos. Most are still general farming with several beg seed corn, fertilizer or spray salesmen on the de. Today there is no feed grinding facilities left nce Lugabihl's and the Chatt Elevator have quit. A w have small portable ones, otherwise they have take it to town or have the feed trucked in. There no outside place to work in the township, folks ave to drive to the New Idea factory or surrounding wns with exception of a few places yet in Chattaooga who hire less than a dozen persons.

Socially the township has active Farm Bureau ouncils. Chattanooga Grange 2624 was organized in 333 and received their charter in 1934. They met in ie old German Luthern congregation. They eventuly bought the building, remodeled it by having oup and election suppers; strawberry festivals and re probably best known for their whole-hog sauige and pancake suppers. Today the 4-H meetings re also held here. The grange meetings are the secnd and fourth Monday night of the month. The uilding is also rented out for receptions and for renions.

The township has about 55 mile of road sealed nd blacktopped, one and a half not yet done with ne mile still gravel. The present trustees are Presi-ent Harold Bollenbacher; Vice President Robert able and John Linn. Their clerk is Michael aucher.

HATTANOOGA

The English and Germans settled this area well before 1840. On March 1, 1841 the first election was held for Chattanooga. There are few records of the business up until the time the oil boom hit around 1895. At that time there were around four hundred people living here. An early undertaker was John Allmandinger whose business was across the street west of the present Methodist church. Later Sim Egger had a grocery where the old fire station was and he had his funeral parlor upstairs. Other business places then was a bank where Bollenbacher grocery was located for several years, that closed in 1930. In back Hisey and Bebout had their contractors office before they moved it to Van Wert. A Livery stable; Merkel blacksmith; cream stations at various times, of Vivian Gibbons, Grace Huffman and James Duff; three grocery stores; Andrews sawmill; a Harness shop; two doctors and one veterinarian; John Andrews and later Charlie Chew had a butcher-shop: Alex (Bud) Smith had a hardware store before Fishers; Stultz and Springer had the tile mill; and a handle factory. In the early nineteen hundreds, the handle factory building was torn down, and an elevator built on the grounds by a stockholder group called "The Equity Elevator Company" of Berne, Indiana. The town also had expected to be on the railroad being built out of Bluffton, Indiana and going to Celina, Ohio (that only got as far as Geneva, Indiana). In the hotel was a postoffice corner and the telephone switchboard ran for years by Edith Leistner.

Now there's Links Grocery; still Regedantz blacksmith shop; Andrews sawmill; a combination hardware-farm center; LaBruns Produce; Bakers Roofing shop; Meyers' Plumbing; Landmark Fertilizer, and Robinson and Bollenbacher Beauty shops, with the elevator being privately owned, and with about 135 people living here. A community fire-fighting unit has recently purchased and remodeled the former Wendel garage building.

The researcher was aided by Mrs. Vivian Gibbons Becher, who was born in the hotel while her father was its owner, and by her daughter Wanda Lou Gilliland.

BURRVILLE was a cross-roads settlement located on the present Schaadt road. The last business there was the Lugabihl feed mill, who recently closed.

Durbin house and store

DURBIN ... George Patrick Durbin was reared on a farm and educated in St. Marys township. The family moved to Center twp of Mercer county in 1867. He married Bridget McIlory on November 6, 1873 and became the parents of ten children. Mr. Durbin began manufacturing drainage tile in Franklin twp but after a few years, sold the business and bought 130 acres. In 1881 he established a general store and postoffice in Liberty township and named them after himself. Upon this farm there were two dwellings and also a blacksmith shop. It was laid out in lots along each way of the crossroad and there are still ca 17 residences. The store building is still standing on the south-west corner altho only used now for private storage.

Pierstorff store, garage

HINTON CORNERS and Pierstorff Store were the same place. Some other owners of the store were Mr. Grote; Arnold Smith; Leiningers; Ott Fahncke. Charles Pierstorff operated the grocery until 1939 when he guit and started farming. A John Laudon also ran it for several years. Now it is a private machine shop owned by William Gehm and sons. It is located on Oregon road at Erastus-Durbin road.

SCUDDER ... A Mr. Wilson (gf/o Darrell Wilson of Celina) had a store and postoffice on this corner. There was a blacksmith shop and Mr. Grant Carr sold machinery. On the cross roads of Skeels road and Wabash road, it has all been torn dow the orchard grubbed out and made into farmi

SKEELS CROSSING ... On the high land b tween a curve in the Wabash river, which had to forded by travelers going in either of the four dire tions, and named for Sephas Skeels. There had be a larger building at the cross-roads used as both h tel and store, with a postal pick-up too. John Meye and wife Sophia Becker ran it too, after Mr. Skee For a long time it also had a Doctor. From 1859 1865 Methodist records of Celina Circuit, Sker Class, members of the church that sat back from t south-east corner were: Sephas Skeels and fami. William, Mary, Sylvester and Emeline; A.W., S. Calista, Wealthy and Wesley Way; Gilbert, G. E.H. Basset; Rev. Amos Lee, Joshua, Samantha, We ley, Pemelia, Eliz., H.F., and Margaret Lee; Peter ar Cloah Bockover; Zenas and Emeline Nicholdso Wesley and Mahalia Long; James E. Ross; Ephrai Chapman; Mrs. Davis; Elizabeth Fale; Joh McCombs; E. Robison; Adam Dickes; Jacob Thorp Rev. F. S. Fagan; William Patton. There is a sma cemetery there yet.

LIBERTY CHAPEL CHURCH

This has always been a Friends (Quaker) congre gation. The first building was of logs with ju benches inside made of hewed slab boards. Milto Mills, who lived just west of the church was a Dea con for a great number of years. This church wa torn down to make room for a larger one. Then or night while Rev. Sidney Swanders was leading meeting, the building was struck by lightning. Th people all rushed out to safety, but not a thing of their records was saved. Another church was soo built, a little west of the first building. This church i temporarily closed for repairs, due to the snows of this spring.

Adjoining the church on the east is their buria grounds, which are still in use. The earliest buria was Inf. Mizner on 10 April, 1859. There were number buried in 1867 to '69. Other names there ar Baucher, Burke, Hinton, Davis, Kendell, Steen, May Mills, Lourentz, McCristy, Howell, Harmon, Lado

Van Diver, Wright and Witter.

LIBERTY TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS

#1 (Lincoln) Hinton School (34) sat one mile north of Hinton corners on Erastus-Durbin road a end of Schaadt road. Has long been torn down

#2 Deitsch School (23) In the 1930's had a little teacher who had two of the big boys hold the culprit while she spanked him! It was built it the north-west corner of Schaadt road, on Wa bash. Has been torn down.

Chatt School (8) built on s.e. corner of Schaad rd. at 49. During the oil boom there were so many pupils it was necessary to build another building. There were four grades in each north one just a little smaller, with the pump in between. Clark Sipe was the last teacher before pupils were bused to Willshire and both buildings moved away.

4 Weisenborn School (7) building gone, Cully development there.

5 Center School (21) The last school there burned and the pupils were sent to Weisenborn. The small building that is there today was built as a township-house.

6 Landfair School (33) brick building now being used as a machine-shed.

7 Carmel School (32) on Erastus-Durbin at Carmel Church road. Still used as a tool-shed. Carl Schroeder had last classes there in 1939, a year longer than rest of township, due to the large size of the district going in to Celina.

8 Scudder School (20) sat ca ½ mile south of the corner of same name, on Wabash road at end of Carmel Church road. Nothing there.

9 Skeels (6) was south of Skeels Corner, on the west side of 49, at end of Carmel Church road. Had been moved away and made into a house.

10 Joint School (42) as the name implys, it was owned by Liberty and Hopewell townships. It was closed with rest of schools, children to Celina. Now being used to store Bee equip-

hattanooga Lutheran School (9) was a small building that sat just off 49 on the S.E. corner of Tama road. It was used only as a summer school to teach the Bible. In ca 1945 Dick Fennig bought it, tore it down completely and moved it to Decatur where he used it in building a house.

(22) — (11) a small building on west side of Wabash road in section 9, used by the members of Deitsch or St. Paul Lutheran Church for the teaching of the Bible.

FARMERS PICNIC

The first Farmers Institute was held in the upstairs of Almandinger's Funeral parlor with three sessions a day, and for two or three days. With the help of their subscriptions and donations, the public had helped in the building of the M.P. church in 1910 and so for a few years the institute was held there, until they went to the parish-hall of the old Lu-

In 1935 the 24th institute was held Wednesday February 13 at the St. Paul's parish-hall. It was opened by singing an invocation by Rev. Yahl; Ciphering by schools conducted by Co. Supt. D. B. Spangler. The winners were: grade 5, Gordon Linn of Scudder school; grade 6, Mildred Thomas, Edna Black of Landfair; grade 7, Deloris and Luther Bollenbacher, Hinton; grade 8, Wanda Bader, Floyd Brehm, Weisenborn. In 1938 Oats — wheat — soybeans were added to the contest of Yellow corn, door prizes were given each session, with a play to close the last night. In 1939 there was still participation of Chattanooga, Scudder, Deitsch, Landfair and Carmel schools with Mrs. Woodrow Purdy, the county music teacher. But the next year the poster contest was dropped. The grange was to give the play on the last night. The Hay seeds were added for men and quilts and canned goods for the ladies. There was no institute held in 1943 or 44 because of the war, and in 1945 there was only a 3 session institute and instead of the usual play the last night, they had a movie "East side of Heaven" with Bing Crosby. The main speaker in 1946 was Jay Gould of WOWO.

In 1954 the name was changed from "Farmers Institute" to "Community Institute" to include all people of a community, since there were less farmers. This year also marked the 75th year of the Ohio Institutes held in connection with the director of extension service and the Ohio State University, and working through the local county agent. A. W. (Chick) Marion served several years on their list of speakers, during the time he was Mercer county agent. Also this year Neptune made the report for Mercer county as having over 3 sessions with an average attendance over 300, and the county as a whole made both the 12 highest total attendance and 12 high total adult attendance, out of the 265 held in Ohio. Mercer county was made up of Center (Neptune), Chattanooga, Mendon Union and Wa-

In 1957 a vote was taken to drop the institute, but the motion did not pass. Then at the 49th, after the final session, and due to falling attendance, a vote taken by secret ballot did pass and they voted to disband the institute sessions, but continue with the picnic.

In Feb. 1914 officers of the institute voted to g the people of the community a picnic day of gc clean fun and entertainment and to provide the bin speaking talent and plans for the first Farm Picnic were begun with meetings held about 6 we apart until in August the picnic was held in woods of Theo. (Dee) Leininger, on Tama re about ¾ mile east of Chattanooga, across from Larry Stephenson home. Mr. Leininger being one its organizers.

In about 1919 the picnic was moved east to Wm. Schaadt woods where it has been held ensince, although the woods now belongs to a second ge eration of the Alt family.

CHATTANOOGA HOTEL

The three buildings that housed the hotel, etc., ere owned by a Nick Jennings of Berne, Indiana. ill Betzel had the hotel before Perry Gibbons ought it of Jennings. Mr. Gibbons had it in early inteen hundred and at time it had an iron railing round its porch roof and two outside stairways. he smallest building to the north held various 10ps, from Date Rinehart to Carl Schroeder's barershop, Vivian Gibbons Cream station to Hattie nd Pattie Armstrong's hat shop. The pool room in ne middle has been managed by Carl Schroeder for whole month, Dobby Gibbons, Aschelman's of reenville, Harry Cummins to Fred V. Bollenbacher. bout 1912 Albert and Hulda Baker Garman had ne restaurant. Then it went to Rude Heffner; Mr. & 1rs. George Rothaar, Vi and Herb Kuhn, until Fred . combined the two and ran it for several years, elling to Hank Steele.

When Ray Hemmelgarn bought it from Steele he id a lot of remodeling. He changed the outside tairway that had been on the south side of the hoel, and moved the bar from the south side where it ad a long mirror, the present day one being very mall in comparison, to the north side of the room. ore down the north building and made the pooloom into a kitchen and living quarters. When he old it to Herb and Donna Leirkamp of Berne, they id more remodeling, making some of the 16 rooms nto apartments where they lived before selling it to sene Alt. It was Mr. Alt who gave it the present ame of Chatt Bar.

In 1976 it was sold to Dennis Kuhn and Russell Barney) Lehman, with Mr. Kuhn's share being ought in late 1978 by Dean Strawn.

From the cooking of heavy meat and potato meals f former years, to the making of a deluxe pizza to o, they have always had a good cook.

CHATTANOOGA LANDMARK OFFICE

During the Depression, George Becher built a cement block filling station. Otis Becher operated it. lames Duff purchased it and operated a cream station, grocery, and filling station. Later Charles Myers and his wife operated a filling station and grocery. After that free movies were shown on the lot. Mr. Clase used it for a hay hauling office.

In the 1940's St. Marys Packing Co. bought it for a tomato weighing station. The original cement building was torn down, a scale put in and an office built. In 1946 the Company took in a record number of tomatoes. At the back of the lot they built living quarters for migrant workers. In 1956 a migrant worker was shot and killed in this building. This building is now a fertilizer warehouse.

Mr. Dudgeon purchased the property, and it became the Bounty Plant Food Plant. Landmark purchased it from him, and now operate a fertilizer plant on the premises. About 1975 Landmark purchased part of the old Tile Pond lot on Strable Road. It was formerly owned by Nass Canning Company and used as a migrant worker camp. Landmark made it into a liquid fertilizer plant.

On August 15, 1978 a Semi-Truck hit the office, damaging it extensively. Four weeks later it caught fire and burned. The remainder of the building was torn down, except for a small portion to house the scale.

Landmark recently purchased the brick house, just south of the former office, from Edna Clase, and made it into an office. The bricks for this house were hand made by men in this area.

DURBIN BEAN BAKE

To a first time visitor, the Bean Bake is a combination of an old fashiened picnic and a Fourth-of-July Celebration. And this is appropriate for a celebration that began in 1898 to honor the Civil War veterans.

The story goes that Andrew Jackson Snavely, a veteran of four years in the Civil War, decided to have a reunion of "the boys". As he was camp cook during the war, he decided the menu for the day should consist of "beans, hardtack, and sowbelly". The first meeting was held at Celina, but it was a failure. He was encouraged by his friend, George Durbin, owner of the Durbin Store, to try again. This time they had it in a grove by the store and had a "Soldier's band". And so the first Bean Bake was held in 1898 on Labor Day.

Some of the first to help with the "Bean Supper" were Jackie Snavely, George Durbin, Nick Humbert, Ves and John Rhodes, Joseph and Albert Kanoor and Mr. Davis.

According to Records, it was first called "The Durbin Soldier's Bean Supper Association" and the first Constitution was written in 1906. The Constitution called for the following officers: president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and three on the executive board. Term of office to be one year and to be elected on the first Monday of August each year. The by-laws provided for the election of a chief of police. "No person shall be allowed to carry away spoons or pans for the purpose of keeping; All solicitors must report the amount of their solicitations to the Secretary who will place them in the hands of the treasurer — The by-laws may be amended at any meeting by % of the officers".

The officers elected were John Rhodes, president, A. E. Kanoor, vice president, J. F. Smith, secretary, and Executive Committee, John Willson, Roy Jenkins, and Walter Redman. H. B. Bilter, J. D. Davis and Amos Hines were appointed to fill all vacancies that might occur.

In 1913, the following appears in the minutes: "The following resolutions were adopted: Whereas, God in his Providence has spared amoung us a few of the valiant veterans of the 60's and whereas, true patriotism in part consists of honor, and recognition of the patriotism, therefore Be it Resolved that we the People of the community keep alive the interest in these public bean suppers, that we hold one annually as long as any Veterans live amoung us."

In 1907, the first year any record of expenses can be found 61 lbs. of meat @ $.15 a lb., 4 bushels of beans @ $7.33 and 5 bushel of crackers @ $15.54 were bought. In 1978, 400 lbs. of beans @ $.35 per lb., 120 lbs. of bacon and 46 lbs. of crackers were purchased.

The records for the years 1916-1948 are missing. In, approximately, 1921-1922 the American Legion Post took charge of the Bean Bake. Then, again approximately, 1923 until 1948, the Mount Carmel Church had charge. Then the Durbin Community Club was organized.

The Bean Bake was held in the John Rhodes, later Sam Rhodes, woods until 1957, when 5 acres of land was bought from Mrs. Florence Laffin. This grove is just south of Mud Pike and north of State Route 29 on the east side of Erastus-Durbin Road. Then the sponsors called themselves "Durbin Bean Bak Community Club". In 1970, it was estimated the 2000 people attended the Durbin Bean Bake.

The day starts at 10:00 A.M. with 40-50 contest for children and adults. In the afternoon there thorseshoe pitching. At 1:30 P.M. there is a flag raising ceremony followed by a program consisting comusic, speakers, magicians, etc. At 4:15, a memoris service is held at the monument for "Veterans of A Wars". Then at 5:15 the free beans are served, donations are accepted.

Prior to Labor Day, the ladies of the club coc chickens, make noodles and bake pies to be serve in the lunch stand. On Friday before the event, the members gather at the grounds, with a carry-in dinner, to clean the grounds and the "Cook Shack", the beans having been cleaned previously. Then on the day after Labor Day comes clean-up day and a lunc of leftovers.

Two of the oldest members are Rueben Stoll, wh is still official "fireman", and Ray Dock, "bea stirrer". Officers for 1978 were Phil Fenning, pres dent, Don Stacher, vice president, Rita Suhr, Secretary, Alice Preston, Treasurer, Trustees Ray Docl Mike Baucher, and Phil Fennig.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

The early history of our St. Paul's Evangelical Lueran Church is unique in regard to Lutheranism d Protestantism in Mercer County. It was the first otestant congregation to be organized in this terriry and the first Lutheran Congregation in Mercer ounty.

Our church had its earliest beginning in 1841, nen Rev. Frederick Knape, a Lutheran missionary circuit rider, came to this area. He conducted bionthly services to the many German families with theran background, who had migrated to Mercer ounty and settled in Liberty Township. Services ere conducted in various homes in the community. In 1849, it was decided to erect a church building. ie church, a log structure, was built in the south rt of what is now our church cemetery. Expenses ere $30.88. Material, teams of horses and labor ere furnished by members of the church. The urch was dedicated to the service of the Triune od by Rev. Gackenheimer on November 30, 1851. is church also served as the school. Although ere were no grades, pupils attended the school, nducted by the pastor, throughout the entire year until they were of age to help their parents with e farming — and were excused for the summer onths only. The school, as was the church, was ught in the German language.

The old log church no longer being adequate for e increased membership, the second church was ilt and dedicated in 1870 during the pastorate of ev. George Heintz. This church was built on about e same site as the first church. Members of the urch furnished much of the labor and material as ey did in the first building. This church was much rger; the furnishings, as in the first church, were ill plain. The church continued to be used as the hool during the week and classes were still taught the pastor in German. There were no desks, but ort ledges which extended from the back of the ws were used by pupils for their books. During e history of this second church a parsonage was ilt just north of the present church. This was oved from church property during the pastorate of

ev. Albrecht.

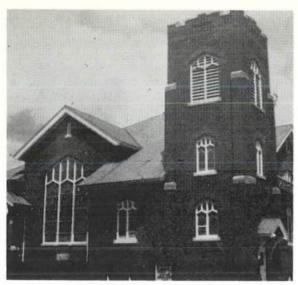

In 1902, the congregation decided to build the ird church in which we now worship. On June 4, 04, this building was dedicated by Rev. Althoff. his church is of a frame structure with an architecral design that sometimes today is referred to as e Christmas Card church of the twentieth century. 'e no longer have the plain furnishings, as the hite and gold furnishings in the sanctuary of our turch are most beautiful. At one time this church id a pipe organ which was operated by man power id the lights, before electrical power, were lit by rbon fuel. During the pastorate of Rev. Heuer, the eautiful art glass windows were installed as memorials to various members. Also many other improvements have been made to make our church more modern in keeping with the changes of time. Since the erection of this building most of the church organizations have become a part of the church. Volley ball has become an active part of the social life among the young people of the church. We have at various times, as at present, shared pastors with Zion Lutheran Church of Chattanooga or St. John's of Hopewell Township.

Church records today (9-19-78) show the youngest member as Aaron Schumm, born April 25, 1978; the oldest member Mrs. Emma Fahncke Brehm at the age of 86 years; the last member married as Ellen Bader Everett, married March 26, 1977. The latest member to depart this life was Dewan Sealscott who died May 24, 1978. The last confirmation class, 1976, was Lori Bader, Charles Fahncke and Kent Klopfleisch. Our pastor today is Rev. Gary Anderson who was installed in April, 1978.

Zion Evangelical Church, built 1916

ZION EV. LUTHERAN CHURCH

The history of Zion Congregation dates back to the early eighteen fifties when a Rev. J. D. Gocheneimer conducted services. We were what now would be called a mission church, since Rev. Gochenheimer was St. Paul's, of Liberty Twp., fifth minister from 1850-1861. The first minister to be installed as a pastor was Rev. George Heintz who began his work in 1860. Thirteen more pastors served our congregation, some of later pastors were Rev. J. A. Albrecht, Carl Yahl, Walter Priebe, Herbert Wolber, Waldo Byers, Arnold Green, Ralph Hershberger and the present pastor Rev. Gary Anderson.

Zion and St. Paul were served by the same pastor from 1883-1914. From 1914 to 1931 the two congregations were again one parish, and from 1931 until 1978 we were separate, then once again in 1978 the two churches have become one parish, being served by Rev. Gary Anderson.

The first English services were held in 1912. At one time, on the two acre lot where the parsonage stands there also was a school house, a small lot for pasture where the milk cow was kept in the summer time and a small building which the cow shared with a few chickens in bad or cold weather. I remember a small patch of corn, for cow and chicken feed, and also a large garden.

Zion has two active A.L.C.W. circles, also a Luther League, and a Jr. Lutheran group which meet once a month with Mrs. Anderson as their leader.

The frame school that was on this lot was sold in 1948 to a member of the church, and was moved to Decatur, Indiana and was used for their home, and it still is used for a home at the corner of Studebaker and Line St.

Zion has shown her interest in the youth of the community by making a ball field for the youth to play. The church team also has a volleyball court. A few years ago the church put an outside drinking fountain in front of the church where there is a lot of action when the weather is warm and either ball practice or a ball game.

We too feel that we have been blessed.

Mt. Carmel Church of God, Erastus Durbin & Carmel Church Road

MT. CARMEL CHURCH OF GOD

Beginning on September 20, 1893, a series c meetings were held. On December 11, 1893, a clas of 15 charter members organized the Mt. Zion Clasof the Church of God. Holding their meetings in the Mt. Zion Union Church (Durbin, Ohio). In Decem ber 1894, after 6 weeks revival, with 55 new mem bers, they decided to build a new church, Decembe 26, 1894. Rev. S. Rotherock was chosen chairman o the committee, consisting of John White, Marl McDonald, Abraham Wuiger, that bought from B H. Bilter 1/2 acre ground for $50. It was located 1/2 mile north of Durbin, at the corner of Erastus Durbin Road and Carmel Church Road. Carpentry was done by D.S. and F.C. Dock for $109.00. Cost o seats and the pulpit was $202.00. Stoves and Miscel laneous were $14.80 and the bell was $43.00.

The building completed, the class of 1895 named it the Mt. Carmel Church of God. Dedication wa held on September 15, 1895 and the sermon was by Rev. William Yates, Findlay College.

The first elders of the church were G. A. Hine and Christ Burk. Deacons were L. D. Kerr and San Huffman; Trustees were J. E. Toland, John Hines, & Mrs. W. H. Roettger. W. H. Roettger was secretary W. H. Roettger was the first delegate to the Ohio Eldership at Ohio City in 1909. First Deaconesses in 1909 were Rachael McDonald and Mrs. W. H. Roettger.

In 1919, the original church burned. Only the pul pit, piano, and a few seats were saved, these bein used in the basement of the new church at present Rev. E. H. Chaney was pastor. At that time, a taber nacle was built with a sawdust floor. A good reviva was held. It was decided to build a new church of the grounds where the old church had stood.

In 1921, the cornerstone was laid for the new church. In March 1923, the building was complete and dedicated. The sermon was by Rev. W. F. Guyer, president of Findley College. The cost wa $26,000. Money was raised by personal contributions and meals were served at Mercer Co. Fair an Durbin Bean Bake.

The officers of the Mt. Carmel Church of Goc 1979, are: Elders: Russell Laffin and Franklin Stone: Jr.; Deacons: Richard Highley and Barry Fenniş Deaconess: Dorthey Muter and Jane Stachler; Secre tary: Ruth Feister; Treas. Eddith Laffin; Trustee: Larry Fennig, Franklin Stoner Jr., and Pat Highley Pastor: Rev. Paul Tewell. by Russell Laffin

CHATTANOOGA EMANUEL METHODIST CHURCH

In the year 1908 a few people feeling the need of Evangelical church nearer home as well as one eded in the community in and around Chattanga, decided to start a sunday school and church tree. Among the founders were the family of Bruce 1 Ella Hisey Bebout; James M. and Emma Houser ff, children Ross, Jacob, Ray, Finley, Ollie, Mable ndfair) and Bessie; Wm. and Jennie Vinings hn, Meda (Duff), Howard, Valda (Stephenson), 1 (Beerbower), Elnora, Treva, Rhea, Glendola, For, Margaret (Grubb); Adam and Hettie Grove hn, Wilbur, Berniece (Brunner), Ralph, Herbert, wey, Roscoe; Eldridge and Stella Houser Butcher, 1ta (Bebout), Clell, Jessie (Wendel), Paul, Ruth 1tef), Walter and Gale.

The Rev. E. R. Roop was the acting pastor. He was regular pastor of the Mt. Carmel church at this le but consented to preach in the afternoon at attanooga for a while. A hall known as the Alndinger Funeral Home was rented for a short le and an organizational meeting was called for nday afternoon at two o'clock, this was in the ing of 1908. Some of the officers that were choto carry on the work were Bruce Bebout, S.S. pt.; Mabel Duff Secretary and organist Ray Duff. ere were 38 people present. Father and Mother ff were very much interested and played a large t in organizing and maintaining the church.

Because of conflicting circumstances the church I to be moved, so they rented a hall farther south t was used as a dance hall on Saturday night, but s cleaned up and used for sunday school and irch on Sunday afternoon. This building was later nodeled and became the present Wendel Garage. revival meeting was held in this hall and many ils were saved, among them was Meda Kuhn, w Mrs. Ross Duff of Buckley, Michigan.

The congregation gradually grew and the memship began to feel the need of more room, so y began to talk of building a new church. Donais were given and the present church was started I completed in 1910. Its front Doors were on the est end, and inside, the first pulpit was along the nainder of that West wall. Because of differences between the Evangelical church and the trustees of the church, they finally decided to leave the Evangelical organization and became the Chattanooga Methodist church.

Sam Reisen had a Barber shop about where Ivan Johnson's house is, and he directed the choir at Church. They had a nice choir of young people and they would often fill the front of the church.

The first improvement done to the building was an addition to the north side making room for a classroom, and a pulpit and choir section. This also made it necessary to change the seats from north and south, to three sections east and west. At this same time the building was shingled and more basement dug out by Hisey and Bebout, contractors, who had their first office in Chattanooga.

In 1921 a cyclone destroyed the Duckcreek Methodist church almost three mile north of Chattanooga, and several families then came into Emanuel church. A few of them being Charles and Nellie McGough Branstetter and children Argyle, Thelma (Tester), Hazel (Granger), Richard, Creva (Bollenbacher), Wilma (Caede), Irma (Miller), Freda, Deloris (Caffee), Garna (Bollenbacher), Charles, Jr., Lester and Chester, and Betty (Haviland); Charles and Norah Branstetter White, Elmer, Homer, Martha (Bollenbacher), Hershel, Harold, Floyd and James; Emanuel Stetler, wife Alta and children Harold, LaVern, Kermit, Basil, Neva (Clouse) and Floris; Paul and Hulda Andres Baumgartner; Jacob W. and Rosa Buckey Duff, Mrs. Virgil Carter, James, Robert, Gene, Paul and Howell Duff; Vivian Gibbons (Carr); Ivan and Hazel Gibbons Johnson; Robert and Alma Bollenbacher Stephenson, Richard, Charles, Marlin, Virginia (Clegg), Larry and Jerry.

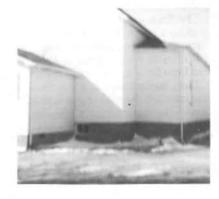

As an acitvity for the M.Y.F. of the church, which is the youth of seventh grade through highschool, in about 1953 the first volley-ball court was built. It was sponsored by the W.S.C.S. the organization of the ladies combining their Laides-Aid and Missionary society that has long been the back-bone of the church.

In 1956 Rev. Clarence Wallick took out subscriptions to change and put in an oil furnace.

Up until the early 1960's the music had only been a piano, but then due to the generosity of a philanthropist, they were given a 'Thomas' organ.

In 1965 the members did a small remodeling job inside the building, when they lowered the ceiling and paneled all the sanctuary. Then in 1973 they did a major job when they put down a well, and built rest-rooms and a new stairway on the back of the building.

Second addition to Chattanooga Methodist Church

More of the older members were John E. Pifer and family, Kenneth, Lloyd, Elma and Winifred; Geo. and Lydia Baker Rothaar, Ralph, Wm., Clifford, Esther; Wm. G. Bollenbacher and family, Lula (Farlow), Harold, Gladys (Stuber), Alvin; Mrs. Mildred McDougal and daughters Anna and Catharine; Vern and Anna Dull; Clarence and Effie Vining; Floyd and Hazel Vining; Abe Bebout family, Doyle Wayne, Ernest, Glen, Roger, Harold, Maude and Clarice; Wm. Detro family, Edna (Kuhn), Faye (Wick), Walter; Mrs. Mable Kaylor, Lester, Raymond; Lorena, Raymond, Walter and Florence Wick; Ella Gibbons Regedanz; Stanley Landfair; Orville and Mary Arnold, Vivian; Wm., Amber Mi-chaels Oakley, Fern, Eileen and Dale; Raymond, Ruth Ray Brorein, Harold, Roger; Omer, Lydia Hinton, Alice; Leo, Dortha Slusser, Kaye; Stanley and Marie Kettenring Samples, Dick; Basil, Lela Snyder Felver, Allen, Laurabel, Jack; Victor and Betty Esterline Andrews, Jr. and Roger.

Later members were John and Icy Gehm; Melville and Louise Gehm, Linda, Rhonda and Carol; Bea Huston; Lucille Gause, Phyllis and Lester; Lloyd and Florence Gause, David, Vickie and Marjie.

In 1975 this group made another great change in the church interior when they laid carpet in all the sanctuary and put in all new pews, this time going back to a center aisle, and with the new pulpit furniture added in 1976, and storm windows in 1977, it is a church they can be justly proud of. The addition this past summer of a re-built, larger Volley-ball court makes it a busier place yet.

Minna Baumgartner was born June 28, 1897 i Adams county Indiana to Jacob W. and Rosa Baun gartner. Mrs. Andress has had several high points i her life, each of about equal interest and impotance. She attended the country school near Chatta nooga at the time that school burned. She told m that during a class, plastering began to fall so th teacher went outside to check, saw nothing, so carr back in and resumed class. More plaster fell, so h went out again, checking the other side of the built ing and found the roof afire. Sammy Baumgartne pulled the bell-rope until it burned in two. Then us til a new school house was built, the school was hel in the north end of Chattanooga in the same built ing that John Allmindinger had his Undertake business. One of the first piano teachers to hold recital in Chattanooga was Meda (Kuhn) Duff whe Minna was one of her pupils. This was held in th then new U.M. church. Another was in May of 19% when Mrs. Andress with daughters Grace and Veand Vera's daughter Annette, flew to Paris and from there went by car, spending 4 weeks touring th home land of their ancestors, and visiting membe of the family still yet there, staying in Moutier at taking pictures they now have made up into lovely, factual, picture story of their trip.

JACOB J. BAKER

Jacob J. Baker was one of the leading citizens and respected men of Liberty Township during the middle 1800's. He was born in Shelby County, Ohio, April 17, 1840 and was the son of John and Barbara (Whiteman) Baker. The parents of Mr. Baker who were natives of Germany came to America and lived in Shelby County, Ohio, until 1850 when they moved to Mercer County and settled in Black Creek Township. The German surname was Becker, later changed to Baker.

On June 13, 1863 Mr. Baker was married to Caroline Bollenbacher who was born June 1, 1842, the daughter of George and Henrietta (Alt) Bollenbacher. The family had emigrated from Germany when Caroline was 10 years of age. They were early settlers in Liberty Township.

In 1865 Jacob J. and Caroline moved to Liberty Township where he engaged in farming having an estate of 153 acres. As time went on many more acres were purchased. Some Baker descendants still reside on some of these farms.

The Bakers built a large home on their land on the Tama Road east of Chattanooga. They donated the land for St. Paul's German Evangelical Church (now Chatt Grange Hall) and for the parsonage. They were prominent members of this congregation.

In addition to farming, Mr. Baker went into the saw mill business in partnership with Adam Bollenbacher and William Gehm. For many years he was interested in the lumber business and was a practical worker in his mill.

It was in 1889 while he was engaged in his duties pertaining to this work that at the early age of 49 he met his tragic death accidentally being cut in two by the circular saw. His wife lived until January 21,

1914

The twelve children born to our subject and wife were Charles W. married to Catherine Bauer; Anna H. wife of William Rothhaar; Lewis married to Mary Koch; Caroline C. wife of Christian Stuckey; Mary wife of Fred Stuckey; Lydia wife of George Rothhaar; Jacob A. married Kathrine Linn; Henry C. married Margaret (Maggie) Koch; Theobald A. married Clara Anselman; Hulda L. wife of Albert Germann; Fredona D. wife of William Germann and Amelia

M. wife of Michael Linn. Mrs. Linn is the only survivor. These sisters and brothers have lived a total of over 1000 years. The Jacob J. Baker descendants included 53 grandchildren of whom 30 survive and 15 of these still reside in Mercer County. Mrs. Kenneth (Gertrude) Hoblet, Rockford, Oh. 45822

ANTON (ANDREW) BOLLENBACHER

Anton was the fifth child of Adam and Christina loch) Bollenbacher. Born September 2, 1868, and died August 13, 1949. On April 27, 1893 he married Catherine Zeilinger the first child of Michael and Elizabeth (Kundinger) Zeilinger born November 2, 1870 in Germany and died March 14, 1960 in Mercer

Catherine came to America at the age of two with her parents and spent her childhood on a farm in Section 5 of Liberty Township.

Anton was a carpenter and farmer and raised his family of seven children on a farm in section 12 of Liberty Township.

The grandfather of Anton was George Sr. and was the first child of Nicholas and Margaret Bollenbacher. George was born in Bedesbach, Rheinpfalz on July 21, 1801. As a young man, George learned the weaver's trade, making bed ticking and linens. In 1828 he married Henrietta Alt. Henrietta was born July 10, 1805 in Germany.

George and Henrietta were the parents of eight children, all born in Germany. Then, after a twentysix day voyage at sea, George and Henrietta along with six of their children arrived in Liberty Township in the late summer of 1852.

On October 9, 1852, George purchased one hundred thirty-two acres of land in Section 18 from David Smith for three hundred thirty dollars.

George and Henrietta were the parents of eight children: George Jr. born October 9, 1830, Catherine (married Fred Kable), Jacob died in Germany, Jacob born September 23, 1837. Adam born June 10, 1840, Caroline (married Jacob Baker), Charles, born October 18, 1845, and Peter who died in Germany.

George died March 21, 1889 and Henrietta passed away October 28, 1900.

Little can be learned of George's parents, except that his father was Nicholas, born in 1771 and died in 1849. The mother was named Margaret and they were the parents of six children. George Sr., Margaret (married Henry Kuhn), Adam, Jacob, Catherine (married Heintz), and Abraham.

Adam, father of Anton, was born June 10, 1840 in Germany and came to America with his father and mother in 1852. Christina Koch, wife of Adam was born in Germany November 7, 1842, married Adam April 8, 1863 and died in Liberty Township April 23,

The first two and one-half years of their marriage were spent with the bride's parents, John and Emma (Schear) Koch in Section 9 of Liberty Township. Land was purchased in Section 5 of Liberty Township and in the fall of 1865 they moved into their own home. Thirteen children were born to this couple, four died as infants but nine lived to marry and raise families of their own; John Jacob, George, Adam, Jr., Anton, Charles, Mary (married Theodore Baker), Christina (married John Deitsch), Frederick Joe, and Amos Benjamin.

As the family of Adam grew and prospered, he purchased more land, eighty acres to the south and forty acres to the north. His brother-in-law, Jacob Baker was married to his sister Caroline and they owned land on both sides of the road joining Adam on the west.

In about 1872 Adam and Jacob started a saw mill on the north side of the road. Jacob lost his life in an accident at the mill and shortly before the turn of the century the mill was sold to Allmandinger Brothers and moved to Chattanooga.

Adam died in 1901 and Christina passed away in 1908.

Anton and Catherine were the parents of seven children: Elmer born November 29, 1893 married Mary Luth on November 29, 1922. Roma born October 14, 1895 married Clara Kable December 18, 1919, married Mary Robinson November 11, 1923, married Flora Dell Byrley Marbaugh August 16, 1939. THE WILLIAM BRUMBAUGH FAMILY

William was born, May 7, 1891, in Darke Co., Ohio; the son of Joseph Nathan and Minnie (Leis) Brumbaugh, whose ancestors have been traced back four generations, to Johann Jacob Brumbach. He came from a small town in S.W. Germany, near Basil, Switzerland, named Brombach.

William married Anna Christine Bauer, born Dec. 25, 1901, daughter of William and Mary E. (Trissel) Bauer. William was the son of Johann and Susanna (Koch) Bauer. Both of them came from Germany.

Mary E. Trissel was the daughter of Henry and Barbara E. (Feldham) Trissel. Henry was a Civil War veteran. The family lived near Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1870, the family moved on a farm in Blackcreek Twp. Mary was born April 23, 1882, the youngest of seven children. Mary also had a son, Vernon Victor, born in 1905. He lived four months and twenty-two days. Mary died soon after Vernon was born. William died Jan. 16, 1960.

William and Anna lived on his mother's farm for two years after their marriage. Their son, Vernon Victor, was born April 21, 1919, in the old Brumbaugh Homestead. In 1925 they moved to Mercer Co. and lived on the John Bauer farm for seventeen years. William died March 30, 1950.

Vernon went to Liberty Center School until it burned down. Vernon then finished grade school at the Deitsch School. He graduated from Rockford

High School in 1936.

In 1938 Vernon married Jean Marie Hileman, born July 18, 1920. They lived on the Bauer farm for 30 years. They moved then to Marthasville, Missouri, and worked at the Emmaus Home. A few years later they moved to Williston, Ohio, and worked at the Luther Home of Mercy.

JOHN HALL CHAPMAN AND MARY HAWLEY CHAPMAN

A hand carved picture frame that hung on the wall of my grandparents' bedroom contained the hidden family record of the John Hall Chapmar family. The delicate, scroll decorated sheet had beer covered by a scenic picture for half a century.

John Hall Chapman was born in Lysoning County, Pa. May 25, 1815 and came to Columbiana County, Ohio as a young man. At a party he met Mary Hawley, a native of that county, born December 25, 1819. They were married July 21, 1839 and lived in that area until the spring of 1848 when they decided to move westward.

By now there were four children — Elizabeth Mary, born July 10, 1840; Nancy Anne, born July 31, 1842; Adna Dallas, born May 15, 1844 and Louisa Victoria, born May 14, 1846.

After converting all their property to cash, they bought a tract of land, sight unseen, in Liberty Township, Mercer County, near the present village of Chattanooga. They packed all the family treasures into a covered wagon, tied their cow to the tailgate and began their trek westward. Spring rains caused the wagon wheels to sink to the axles in the muddy tracks and had to be pried out with fence rails. John wanted to turn around but Mary refused to give up and late one afternoon she drove into a small clearing that was to be their new farm. The only building was a tiny log cabin with the door ajar. Coming out to greet them were the neighbor's cattle that had used it as shelter from the winter storms.

As the cabin could not be used in its present state, the family spent another night in the wagon. Early the next morning two neighbors arrived to build them a chimney. Mary milked the cow, cooked a kettle of mush over the campfire and served everyone mush and milk for breakfast.

A few years later the family purchased another tract of uncleared land near Skeels Cross Roads. Here their home became a daytime stopover for Negro slaves fleeing to Canada via the Underground Railroad. At night they were hidden in a wagon and ken as far north up Rt. 49 as they could go under over of darkness.

Five more children had arrived, making a total of ine. They were John Lloyd Burleigh, born January 3, 1851; Windle Emanuel, born September 8, 1853; elen Jane Josephine, born February 29, 1856; Riched Hawley born April 1, 1859 and Jessie Elnora darine, born July 25, 1862.

Just before the Civil War the family bought 160 cres of uncleared land east of Skeels Cross Roads and north of Wabash. In exchange for 60 acres of nd a neighbor built them a frame house.

Dallas had enlisted in the Union Army and was illed during the battle of Champion Hills, May 16, 363, one day after his nineteenth birthday. His fater died in October of 1869 at the age of 54. He is uried near Geneva, Indiana. Elizabeth became a cacher and on March 4, 1869 she married William lammer, a grocer from Portland, Indiana. Their nildren were Ethel Maude and Howard Clark. She ied in Celina about 1920.

Nancy also taught before she married Thomas larper of Blackcreek Township. They moved to Neraska where she died childless November 1, 1885. ouisa married Moses Foreman in 1871 after teachig several years. She died April 4, 1875. No chilren. Jessie died April 18, 1871 at the age of eight ollowing a severe case of scarlet fever.

Mary and the four younger children remained on ne farm until 1878 when she, along with Josephine nd Richard, moved to West Fayette Street in Celna. Josephine never married but taught school nany years before her death in 1887. Mary died in 907 and is buried in North Grove Cemetery at Celna. Her tombstone contains the family record.

Windle continued to live on the family farm. He narried a widow, Mary Carmack in 1898 who died 1900. Later he married Sarah Boice who helped im raise Nellie Carmack who was only eight years ld when her mother died. Windle died on the ome farm Dec. 13, 1929.

Burl married Caroline Koch Dec. 31, 1874. Their hildren were Adarine, Leroy, Arthur, Bertha, Carl, loyd and Vernon. The four younger children lived 1 Mercer County. Bertha married William Witter, Larl married Della Witter, Lloyd married Maud Perins, later Nellie Duncan and Vernon married Eva Jouts.

Richard was a teacher for several years until he ought the Mercer County Observer in partnership with A.C.F. Gilberg. Later he worked at the Citizens ank and the Mercer County Building and Loan. He was married to Kate Lambkin who died in 1905. He ater married Della Roach. Richard died in 1933 or 4. There were no children. Mrs. Kenneth Pummell where he or she desires to know more about their near relatives.

THE DAVIS FAMILY

There comes a time in the life of every person

I, Lawrence McKinley Davis, shall state that my father, James Daniel Davis, was raised in Highland County, Ohio. Born May 6, 1858, the son of John W. Davis and his wife, Martha Rose. He came to Mercer County at about the age of 25 years and was known as Dan or J.S. by all who knew him. He married Joanna Rhodes, whose family had come to Mercer County from Shelby County, Ohio. Joanna Rhodes was born Dec. 14, 1864. To this union was born in Mercer County, Ohio, the following children: Florance — Oscar, Ethel — Lawrence — Kenneth — Olive — Russell — Cleon "Bus". Oscar and Kenneth passed away in their first week of life. Other members grew to manhood and womanhood in Mercer County raising their families there.

I was born in Section 36 of Liberty Township. We attended country schools and churches. We, of course, had only the one room school with seats and desks of various sizes. Anyway, here is where we learned to read, write and spell. Also, had history, geography and physiology and, of course, arithmetic.

After graduation from Celina High School and passing a state teaching examination, I was assigned the Scudder School in Liberty Township.

I taught one year then started playing baseball. When I got injured I decided to go to Ohio Northern and prepare to resume teaching. I then taught at Mt. Carmel school for $60.00, since it was one of the largest.

The spring of 1916 I went back to pitching baseball and then after the season I enlisted in the Army with Russell Hattery and Jim Thomas.

After serving in the Army I started working with L&M Tobacco Co. as a Division Manager. It was while I was working this territory that I met Golda Daugherty of Onieda, whom I married. I was a Division Manager for 13 years, then we moved back to the farm in Mercer County. It was at this time I ran for Sheriff and was the first Republican elected as Sheriff of Mercer County in 109 years.

Having served two terms we moved back on the farm then to Celina later. In 1956 I was elected Commissioner and later served on the school board.

All four of our children attended Celina schools and graduated from Celina High.

Mary Jo was born in Bluefield, West Virginia on August 30, 1923. She graduated from Bowling Green State University and married Perry G. Wise. She died in 1951.

Lawrence M. Jr. was born in Roanoke, Virginia, February 17, 1925. He was in the Merchant Marines and attended Bowling Green State University. He now owns the Northway Agency in New Jersey. Larry married Janet Leindfair. They have one son, Charles William, born October 27, 1960.

Jeanette was born in Cumberland, Maryland, March 14, 1927. She graduated from Bowling Green State University and married Don L. Myers, an attorney of Celina. They have two sons, Douglas, born December 20, 1950. Doug graduated from Celina High and Capital University. He is now a C.P.A. He married Debra VanderHorst and they have two girls, Toby and Lindsay. Bradley was born October 29, 1954. He graduated from Celina High, O.S.U. and is now attending law school at O.S.U.

Betty Lou was born in Clarksburg, West Virginia, September 27, 1932. She attended Bowling Green State University and married Niles B. Amey. They have one son, Travis, born Feb. 15, 1955, who graduated from Defiance High and Sam Houston State University.

Lawrence M. Davis, Sr. died November 17, 1973, and Golda D. Davis died March 19, 1975.

Paul Davis, a resident of Adams Co. Ind., was born in Liberty Twp., Mercer Co., Oh., in 1909. Here he was reared and attended the township schools. He married Helen Roe, daughter of Frederick and Daisy (Galloway) Roe, of Adams Co., Ind., where the Davises settled and raised five children; Dwight, Eileen Dawson, Daisy Hurst, Marcille Bohnke, and Norman. In 1971, Mr. and Mrs. Davis both retired from the Fort Wayne International Harvester plant, and now live on their 135-acre farm three miles northeast of Decatur. Paul has enjoyed the hobby of horse pulling for the past 35 years, traveling each summer to various states to attend pulls.

Mr. Davis is of New England Quaker ancestry. His fourth great-grandfather, John Davis, son of John and Mary, settled on the Island of Nantucket in the early 1700's. In 1725 he married Margaret Coffin, great-granddaughter of the noted Tristram Coffin, one of the founders of Nantucket, where most of the inhabitants were of the Quaker faith and depended on the Whaling industry for their livelihood.

Thomas, son of John and Margaret, was born in 1730, grew to manhood on the island, and married Hepsibeth Macy, descendant of Thomas Macy, from Chilmark, England, in 1635, one of the original settlers of Salisbury, Mass. In 1659, the Macys sailed a small boat across Boston Bay to Nantucket, the first white family to live on the island. Thomas and Hepsibeth settled in Guilford Co., N.C., in 1773; eventually 41 families from Nantucket joined them. Thomas purchased 293 acres of land where he lived until his death in 1788. Hepsibeth died in 1812. They were members of the New Garden Meeting, Friends Church, as were their seven children; Deborah, Lydia, John, Tristram, Elizabeth, Peter and Thomas.

Peter, born 1771, moved after his mother's death to Clinton, the Quaker County of Ohio. Ten children were born to him and his second wife, Mary, in the Buckeye State; Thomas, John, Anna, Jacob, Elizabeth, Joseph, Hannah, Peter, Jr., Elihu, and William. Peter Davis Sr., an early settler on Lee's Creek, Wayne twp., died in 1855, on his pioneer homestead, 40 years after his settlement there.

Peter, Jr., great-grandfather of Paul, in 1855 married Julie Ann Allen, daughter of John and Deborah Allen of Fayette Co., Oh. His home, near the Highland Co. line was a hew log house, 22 ft. by 16 wide, story and half high, with two doors and three windows. In 1865, Peter, Jr., moved with his wife, mother and brothers, Elihu and Jacob to Mercer Co., Oh. Peter and Julie Ann settled in Hopewell Twp., Julie Ann dying in Feb., 1875, and Peter, Jr., seven months later. They were the parents of eight children; from 1 to 18 years of age; Hiram m. Lydia Harmon; William m. Amanda Stevenson; Mary m. William Newcomb; Alice m. William Hines; Hannah r. Nathan Baucher; Anna m. John Burch; Joseph r. Sarah Sawmiller; Flora m. Alfred Dawson and Samuel Harness.

Hiram Davis was born in 1857, and three years af ter the death of his parents married Lydia Harmon daughter of Jacob and Abigail (Koontz) Harmon. He raised his youngest brother Joseph with his own children in Sect. 1, Liberty Township, where he farmed and operated a tile mill, which had belonged to his father-in-law, Jacob Harmon. Six children were born to them; William, Mary Adams, Alonzo Frank, Bert, and Clyde.

Paul's father, William was born in 1880, and lived in Liberty Twp. In 1904 he married Mary Elizabeth Hinton, daughter of Franklin Pierce Hinton; after 10 years of marriage, Lizzie died, leaving a young sor Paul. In 1930 William, a farmer, moved across the state line, into the southern part of Adams Co. where he was living when he died in 1970, at the age of 90. Submitted by Paul D. Davis

JOHN JACOB DEITSCH (DEUTSCH)

Many of the Deitsch or Deutsch descendants in the Mercer County area can trace their roots back to one common ancestor, John Jacob Deutsch. John was born March 29, 1814, in Germany. Some thind he came from Bavaria. (Erst Weiler or Siegen Essen)

We think John's family brought him to America when he was about twelve years old. The family may have made their first home in Pennsylvania Earlier histories indicate that John came to Merce County and settled in Liberty Township around 1840.

John married a woman named Katharina. She wa born in Germany June 16, 1820. We do not know when she arrived or what area of Germany she came from.

John and Katharina had ten children. They were Mrs. Adam (Susanna) Schultz, Mrs. John (Margaret) Kable, Philip, Mrs. Catherine Dock, William Henry, John J., Christian, Mrs. Sophia Betzel, and Maria Louise. Christian and Maria died when they were very young children.

John, Katharina, and the family attended church at St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Wabash Road in Liberty Township. John died on March 2, 1859. We believe he rests beside Katharina who died October 28, 1900. Katharina is buried in Deitsch Cemetery across the road from the small white frame church.

John's son William married Margaret Bacher (Baugher) on October 27, 1875. William and Margaret were the parents of eleven children.

They were David, Jacob, Mrs. John (Pauline) Trip-

ie, Mrs. William (Mary) Woodward, Henry Wilam, Mrs. Charles (Annie) Rhyne, Edward, Mrs. esse (Emma) Rhyne, Mrs. Earl (Edith) Vantilburg, Ars. Charles (Freda) Smelser, and Charles who died then he was one year old. Their family had two sets f twins.

William was a carpenter by trade. He and Margaet lived in Wabash, Ohio, before moving to Celina a their older years. At the time of William's death e resided with his bachelor son, Ed, on Sycamore treet in Celina. William died February 1, 1922, and Margaret died six years later on February 14, 1928. Joth of them are buried in North Grove Cemetery at he edge of Celina.

William's son, Henry William or Bill, was born in iberty Township January 17, 1885. At the time of is marriage to Rachel Ethel Runkel, August 23, 906, he was living with his parents in Wabash.

Ethel and Bill had fourteen children. They are Ars. James (Mabel) Denney, Dale, Mrs. John (Iva) Aong, Lloyd, Mrs. Calvin (Velva) Goubeau, Gerald, Ars. Harry (Ruth) Young, Ralph, Mrs. Donald (Doothea) Larie, Forrest, Mrs. Donald (Mary) Colson, Ars. Galen (Mildred) Mentzer, Carl, and John. The Iddest son, Dale, died when he was six weeks old.

For a short time Bill and Ethel lived with her parnts on a farm north of Macedon. During their years ogether they lived in Indiana, Auglaize County and everal places in Mercer County.

Bill was a carpenter and during his working years the built several homes throughout the Mercer County area. Many of them were in Montezuma nd the surrounding area.

At the time of his death he lived on a farm near Montezuma. Bill died September 16, 1963 and Ethel lied seven years later on November 30, 1970. Both re buried in Burdge Cemetery near Montezuma. Mary E. Colson, Celina, Oh. 45822

LAWRENCE V. DEITSCH

Lawrence Deitsch was born in Mercer County, Celina, Ohio on November 26, 1900. He was the son of Valentine Deitsch, born September 11, 1879 in Mercer County. His mother, Caroline Alt Deitsch was born September 13, 1882 in Mercer County. Lawrence attended church with his parents at the St. Paul's Evangelical Church in Liberty Township. His education was gained in the one room schools in Liberty Township. He was employed at Mersman Brothers at Celina, Ohio for 25 years. Lawrence married Emma C. Willrath, born December 8, 1903. She was the daughter of John and Marie Pierstorff Willrath. Lawrence and Emma were married December 18, 1924. They chose as their church home, the St. Johns Lutheran in Hopewell Township. One daughter, Patricia Sue was born October 1, 1933. Emma Willrath Deitsch died October 2, 1935. She was buried in Buck Cemetery, Hopewell Township. Law-rence married Wilma G. Weitz, born November 25, 1913. She is the daughter of William C. and Emma Fisher Weitz. Lawrence and Wilma were married November 25, 1936. Leaving Celina they moved to a farm in Jefferson Township and later moved to a farm in Liberty Township and did farming as their occupation. The Deitsch family adopted Edward William, born July 30, 1944. He came to live with the Deitschs on January 29, 1946. Lawrence was a loyal son, husband and father to all his family. He died June 7, 1958. He is buried in Buck Cemetery, Hopewell Township.

Patricia Sue, daughter of Lawrence and Emma Deitsch and stepdaughter of Wilma Deitsch, attended school in Celina, Ohio and graduated as a registered nurse from Lima Memorial School of Nursing. She married Eugene Hirschfeld and they are the parents of 5 children, Mary Jo, born February 24, 1957, Rodney, born November 25, 1958, Alice Sue, born July 7, 1960, Pamela, born March 20, 1965 and Timothy, born January 14, 1968.

Edward William, adopted son of Lawrence and Wilma Deitsch attended school in Celina, Ohio and served four years in the United States Marines. He is living in Louisville, Kentucky. Wilma Deitsch, Celina,

JOHN FAHNCKE

John Fahncke, at the age of fourteen, emigrated to America with his parents John H. Sr., and Maria (Lemke) Fahncke, along with two sisters and one brother. They came from the province of Mecklenburg, the town of Schwerin, in northern Germany. They sailed from the port of Hamburg, in March, 1872, on a side paddlewheel steamboat. The voyage to New York took eighteen days. They traveled by train to Cincinnati, then to Mercer County where they settled on a farm in Section three in Hopewell Township, near Tama among friends and relatives. The mother Maria died in 1873. The father later married Sophia Schmidt. The daughter Henrika married Joseph Pierstorff. The daughter Dorthea married Charles Pierstorff, and the son William married Sophia Brasch. They all lived nearby and were members of St. John Lutheran Church of Hopewell Township.

John Fahncke, our subject, married Louisa Gertz on March 24, 1887, who also had emigrated from Hanover, Germany at the age of six years, in April, 1874, with her parents Henry and Elizabeth Gertz, a brother Henry and sister Anna. The Gertz family settled on a farm two miles west of Celina on Mud Pike which was then owned by Broad Trenary. Later, they purchased a forty acre farm in Section two, Liberty Township.

After John and Louisa were married, they settled on a forty acre farm in Section twenty-one, Liberty Township, purchased from John Alt in 1885. Four acres of the tract was cleared land, the balance, standing timber. The buildings were a log house and a log stable where a team of horses and the cow were kept. The best white oak trees were cut, sawed into lumber, and shipped by canal to Cincinnati (later by C&N Railroad). This lumber was used by the shipbuilding industry. The land was cleared by hand labor and required a lot of cooperation between neighbors to get the huge job done.

When a new barn was built in 1888, the framing timbers were hewn by hand. A room was attached to the log house. In 1899, a new house was built and additional buildings were built as they were needed. The farm acreage was increased to 200 and is still owned by sons Carl and Paul. Through the years, this farm has been and still is, a successful grain and livestock operation.

There were five sons and three daughters in the family. Henry (deceased) married Rosa Bender, had two sons Herbert and Norman. Anna (deceased) married Tona Bollenbacher (deceased), had one son Lester and one daughter Ruth. Emma married Philip Brehm (deceased) had two daughters Maria and Bessie. Otto (deceased) married Eda Kable (deceased) had five daughters and four sons Lauretta, Martin, Luther (deceased), Kenneth, Anna, Marcella, Celesta, Richard and Wanda. Hugo married Clista Baker. Carl married Goldie Linn. Martha married Victor Bollenbacher, had four sons and one daughter Jerome, Lloyd, Donald, Clifford and Martha Jane. Paul married Ruth Rutledge (deceased), married Margaret Smith, had three sons and one daughter John, Joseph, Charles and Sara. Hugo Fahncke

PAUL FAHNCKE FAMILY

Paul Fahncke, youngest child of John and Louisa (Gertz) Fahncke, was born on August 7, 1909, in Liberty Township. Since his parents came from Germany in their early youth and they enjoyed using their native tongue, Paul spoke German with them in their home as long as they lived.

Paul was married to Ruth Rutledge, daughter of Joseph and Emma (Smitley) Rutledge, on October 12, 1940. They lived at the Fahncke homestead in Liberty Township until Ruth's death in January,

On April 12, 1958, Paul was married to Margaret Smith, daughter of George and Freda (Regedanz) Smith, Hopewell Township. At the time of their marriage, Margaret was employed in the Mercer County Common Pleas Court office.

Paul and Margaret have four children: John was born in 1959, one hundred years after grandfather John Fahncke's birth, so it seemed appropriate to name him John. Joseph was born in 1960; Charles made his entrance into the world in 1963, and daughter Sara arrived in 1966.

While John was a student in the Parkway Schools, he enjoyed participating in concert band, varsity football, track, and was a member of National Honor Society. He was graduated in 1977, and since that time has been employed at General Electric Company in Decatur, Indiana, and has been attending WOBC in Celina, working toward an associate degree in drafting.

Joe is a high school senior, past president and current vice-president of the Parkway FFA Chapter. He is a third year member of the varsity football team, playing defensive tackle.

Chuck (Charles) is a sophomore, member of concert band, pep band, football team, and secretary of Parkway FFA. He also enjoys playing piano and organ.

Sara is a 6th grade student at Rockford, an elementary band student learning to play trombon reads, is learning to play piano, and loves animals.

John, Joe, Chuck and Sara are all members of Chatt 49ers 4-H Club where they have held variou offices. The family are active members of St. Paul Lutheran Church on Wabash Road. Paul and Magaret are members of the Board of Directors of The Mercer County Society for Crippled Children an Adults. Paul is a past supervisor of Mercer Count Soil and Water Conservation Board, a Farm Burea member and participates in various community at fairs.

The whole family enjoys taking part in their ger eral farming operation, consisting of 200 acre owned and 125 acres rented, with a beef herd, pig and chickens. Paul Fahncke, Celina, Oh. 45822

Floyd Felver, the 3rd son of George and Carolin Bauk Felver, was born March 21, 1895. Born an raised on the farm in Liberty Township, he too be came a farmer, answering the call of the land.

He remained on the farm until being drafted interestrice during WW 1. As a private in Compani B, 32nd Divison, 126th Infantry, he was involved in several severe battles in France. During one of thes battles he was either struck on the head or passed out from exhaustion; he never knew which for certain, and awoke on an empty battlefield surrounded by the casualties. He had apparently been left for dead. He made his way to a small French village and from there was re-united with his company. He way discharged May 14, 1919.

On Floyd's return to Ohio, he again took up farm ing, marrying Nora Hone on July 9, 1919. One daughter, Marcella Dorothy, was born to the couple September 16, 1920.

By 1934 Floyd had saved enough money to but the farm from George Felver, completing the pay ments in 1936. During his lifetime, Floyd was a progressive farmer, one of the first to raise soy beans; now a valuable cash crop.

At the age of 65, he retired with a heart condition but kept interested in the life he had built up. He died of a heart attack while squirrel hunting in his east woods, September 7, 1968. He died doing wha

Marcella, Floyd and Nora's only child, decided upon nursing as her profession and entered nurses training at St. Joseph's Hospital, Ft. Wayne. During her training years she met Frank Smerik, then serving in the Air Force during WWII and stationed at that time in Ft. Wayne. They were married January 8, 1944, and bought the Fred Becker farm, remodeling the house and buildings to what they are now. To the Smeriks were born five daughters — Karen April 11, 1945; Sandy, August 11, 1946; Miriam, July 2, 1953; Becky, May 28, 1959; Jan, October 30, 1961

George Felver continued to live on the 100 acre farm in liberty Township until 1916, when he made the decision to move to 415 West Fayette Street; Celina, Ohio. The 58-year-old George was getting too far up in years to manage a farm, hard work at the best of times, and certainly back-breaking labor in those days when most jobs were done by hand.

Floyd, feeling the urge none of his brothers expeienced, chose to stick close to the land. His opporunity came when his father moved to Celina, leavng him to take over the management of the farm.

On October 2, 1917, Floyd Felver received a draft lotice in the mail, a call to serve his country in Vorld War I. During Floyd's period in the service, George moved his family back to the farm to carry in until his return.

On November 29, 1936, George and Caroline Felrer celebrated 50 years of marriage, back at their tome in Celina. All the children were still living, taving survived a time in our nation's history that laimed many lives. George passed away at the age of 81, and was buried at Swamp College Cemetery.

At the time of George's purchase of the farm on rahm Pike, the land must have been very nearly ¾ voods. He cleared most of the 100 acres himself, haping it into a productive farm; his gift to be handed down to his children, and their children. The farm is now being occupied by the fourth and ifth generations of direct decendants of George Felrer. Sally Smerik, Celina, Oh. 45822

RUSSELL FERGUSON FAMILY

Russell Ferguson, whose fine farm of 140 acres sitiated in sections 2 and 12, Liberty Township at 9442 crastus-Durbin Rd. attracts attention on account of ts excellent improvements and good cultivation. He has been a resident of Mercer County all his life. Russell was born in Washington Township, July 21, 1917 and was the son of Henry Walter and Sarah Lena (Cordier) Ferguson. Russell was four years old when his father died of pneumonia and his mother ater married Frank Stoner.

Russell has a brother, Lester Ferguson, Hone-Weir Rd., Celina, Ohio. Two half-brothers, Franklin Jr. and Edwin Stoner, Celina, Ohio. Two half sisters, Mrs. Ray (Mary Lou) Riley, Convoy, Ohio and Mrs. Keith (Carolyn Sue) VanTilburg, Richmond, Indiana. Also a step-sister, Lenore Hawkins, Rockford,

During boyhood, Russell lived most of the time with relatives and as a young man was hired as a laborer by the day. For several years, he owned and drove a milk truck which picked up the cans of milk at farms and delivered it at the Pet Milk Co., Coldwater, Ohio and later to the Equity Dairies at Fort Recovery, Ohio.

On December 1, 1940, Russell was united in marriage with Ruth Margaret Bollenbacher, a hair stylist, and the daughter of Tona Benjamin and Anna Sophia (Fahncke) Bollenbacher of Liberty Township. She has a brother, Lester H. Bollenbacher, 417 S. Elm St., Celina, Ohio. Her grandfather was John Fahncke (his biography is given in this book.)

The farm on which they live was first owned by Ruth's grandfather, George Bollenbacher, (mentioned in the 1907 Mercer Co. History Book) and then by her father, Tona. The other farm is the place where Ruth was born and raised.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson have three children: Judy

Elaine, Jeanne Beth, and Anna Louise.

The oldest daughter, Judy, is presently employed as an elementary librarian at Parkway High School, Rockford, Ohio.. She is married to Rolland Nick Priddy, son of Nick and Ruby Priddy, Glenmore, Ohio, who works as a job setter at the Chrysler Amplex Corp., Van Vert, Ohio. They live at 12793 Frysinger Rd., Rockford, Ohio and are the parents of two children, Amy Jo and Shawn Nick. Judy is the 1978 Vice President of the Twentieth Century Club, Rockford, Ohio.

J. C. FISHER

J. C. Fisher died at his late home two miles south of town, Friday evening from apoplexy. The obituary follows:

John Christian Fisher was born in Bavaria, Germany, August 29, 1839, where he was also baptized. On the 21st of March, 1849 he came to America with his parents, John Andrew and Gertrude Fisher, and ever since lived in Liberty township, Mercer County, Ohio. He was confirmed in the German Evangelical church by the Rev. Gackenheimer.

He was married to Mary Bollenbacher December 10, 1867. This union was blessed with nine children, three of whom preceded the father to the better land; the remaining six live in our midst and all have families. Living children are, Mrs. Magdalena Fritzsinger, Mrs. Louisa Straeble, Mrs. Emma Weitz, Mrs. Eliza Koch, William and Adam Fisher. Besides the six children he leaves to mourn their loss his widow, sixteen grandchildren, one sister-in-law and family, and a host of friends.

He was a true member of his church, and a faithful friend of the different pastors on account of the gospel preached. Mr. Fisher passed to his reward March 26, 1909, aged 69 years, 6 months and 27

Heaven is not reached by a single bound, But we build a ladder by which we rise, From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies, And mount to its summit round by round.

I count this thing to be grandly true,
That a noble deed is a step toward God,
Lifting the soul from the common clod,
To a purer air and a clearer view.

GEHM

William Gehm: Philip Gehm was born in 1819 in Kreimbach in the Rheimpfalz near the French border in southwest Germany. He raised a family of at least 5 children. After the death of his wife, he came to America and lived with his son William and family near Chattanooga. At that time, more of the families around had a Grandparent living with them, than did not. He died in 1898 and is buried in the cemetery of St. Paul's U.C.C. in Liberty twp.

William Gehm, born in 1847, lived in section 5 was a farmer and also was part owner in a sawmill with Jacob Baker and Adam Bollenbacher. After Mr. Baker was killed in the saw, the others sold out to John Allmindinger and the shed was moved in to Chattanooga. They also had a cider mill beside the sawmill and sometimes there would be upwards of 40 waiting to press. There would be a pile of pummish built up to size of a small barn. After Baumgartners bought it, you were required to take your pulp along home with you. William married Barbara Breckhizer who was born in 1851. They became the parents of 10 children: #1. Jacob m. Mary Alt. 2. Henry m. Katharine Alt. 3. Anna m. Christ Linn. 4. Mary m. Fred Bauer. 5. Corline m. Lewis Kugel. 6. Catherine m. Fred Wick. 7. Laura m. Fred Deiner. 8. John m. Icy Canary. 9. Andrew m. Lillian Beitler. and 10. Edward m. Hulda Wolf. Mr. Gehm died in November of 1893 and his wife in September of 1914. Both are also buried in St. Paul's cemetery.

#9 of the above, Andrew William was born December 1, 1890 and attended the Deitsch school, married Lilliam Beitler a daughter of Lawrence Beitler, in 1915 on a warm beautiful Thanksgiving day. Since Lilly came from Monroe, Indiana, they had to get their license from Decatur, and that made a pretty long buggy ride for one day. They were among the first members of Chatt Grange, transfering to Unity Grange near Wabash, after they moved to a farm south of Scudder. Mrs. Gehm died in 1973 after a long bout with cancer and he still maintains his home. When ask how he passed this past winter's blizzard, he answered that he had read the New Testament through twice and had never put through such a hard one. He did remember in his youth his Father bringing the soup crackers home in a barrel, and that they only cost ca three dollars. Mr. and Mrs. Gehm raised a family of 5; Elmer m. Alta Walston; Robert 1917-1953; RuthEllen m. Roy Christian; Lester Wm. m. Blanche Cencebaugh; and Rev. Noel m. Leora Abbotmeier. Andy Gehm, Celina, Oh.

HEINRICH J. GROTH

Heinrich J. Groth Sr. (b) 1832 (d) 1905 came to

Mr. and Mrs. Heinrich Groth Sr. and Doroth Lempke Groth

America, through Canada, from Mechlenburg, Ger many in 1851 at the age of 19. He left Germany to escape being drafted into a Civil War. His uncle pain his passage and he was to live with an uncle and aunt in Albany, N.Y., but found when he arrived that they had died. He then worked his way to Ohio by doing odd jobs. He lived for a while in New Bremen, Ohio, later coming to Liberty Twp. in Merce Co. He worked for a while as a wagon maker and later became a farmer where they owned 120A in Section 3, 5-1.

He married Dorothea Lempke (b) 1841 (d) 1898 who had come with her parents from Germany and lived in Hopewell Twp. They had 3 sons — Albert Otto, and Henry, also 1 daughter, Catherine Groth Sealscott (Mrs. Charles). Albert and Otto had no children. Henry's children are Thelma Hawk (Mrs Bill) and Glendola Jewell (Mrs. Forrest). Cathering had 3 sons — Forest, Dewan (married Evelyt Rhodes) and Doyle (married Eileen Weinman). She also had 5 daughters — Vera, Elberta, Ruth (Mrs Tom Beers), Ethel (Mrs. Paul Kirby) and Irene. For est died in 1938 and Doyle in 1950.

Thelma Hawk's children are Miriam Fetters Roger and Charlene. Roger's children are Vicki and Mike. Glendola's children are Luanne Vollmer, Susane Schatt and Linda. Luanne's children are Briar and Erick Vollmer. Susane's children are Bob and Steve Schatt.

Dewan Sealscott's children are Marlene, Dennis Brent and Lisa. Dennis has 2 children — Chris and Heather Sealscott. Ruth Beers has 1 son — Tom Beers Jr. Ethel has 2 children — Diane and Donald Diane has 1 daughter — Kristen Anderson.

Heinrich Groth Sr. was very good at making things of wood. A small wooden box, with lock, he made of cherry wood from trees on their farm. It has small cherry wood veneer pieces covering the outer surface of box. Heinrich would, as told by his son Otto Groth, take only small pieces of wood from a cherry tree at a time in order to not damage the trees. This little box is still in the family and is a prized possession of a granddaughter, given to her by Uncle Otto.

Later, John Groth, Heinrich's father and his third wife, Catherine, came to U.S. (all 3 were sisters). They lived with Dorthea and Heinrich. Their maiden name was Foskuhl. Heinrich also had a brother Fred who came to U.S. and a brother and sister who stayed in Germany. Fred Groth's family lived in Toledo, Ohio. Fred left home and was later heard from when he wrote home for his accordion. He was then in Michigan. He had married, while still in Toledo, Sophia Schultz — their children were Lewis, John, Caroline Groth Roof (Mrs. Charles), Anne Groth Albersmeir (Mrs. Christ) and Minnie Eisenagel. Lewis was adopted by a family named Sailoff. John, age 2, and his mother died and were buried on the same day. Caroline was raised as a young girl by her uncle and aunt Heinrich and Dorea. Charles Roof, who later married Caroline, was 1 orphan boy from an orphanage in Cleveland, hio. He also was raised by the Groths.

Dorthea's (Mrs. Heinrich Groth Sr.) sister was laria Lempke Fahncke (John). Her children were hn, Bill, Dora Pierstorff and Ricka Pierstorff. Her others were Lewis and Fred Lempke. Lewis' chilten were Henry and Bill. Fred's children were Alert and Bill.

The Groth families were Lutherans for many genations. In U.S. they belonged to St. Paul's atheran Church in Liberty Twp., Mercer Co. One eautiful stain glass window still shows this was doated by Heinrich Groth Sr. family. Charles Sealscott

THE HINTON FAMILY

The Hintons arrived in colonial times in Virginia from England. In 1666 they moved to Maryland. Thomas, son of Thomas and Rachel (Howard) Hinton was born in 1737 in Montgomery County, Md. Sometime in the 1790's he settled in Bourbon Co., Ky., where his youngest son Elias was born. By 1800 Thomas and Family of eleven children had settled in the Scioto Valley of Ross Co., Oh. In 1801 he received a patent from the government for 109 acres in Colerain Twp., where he cleared the land and built a cabin and lived until his death in 1821; Deborah, his wife died in 1835 in Delaware Co., Oh., where several of her children were living. Three daughters and eight sons made up this family. Rebecca married Daniel Roberts; Martha married William Reed; Sally married William Duvall; Seburn; Thomas; Ezekiel; Levi; James; William; Phillip; and Elias.

Elias married Susannah Cox, daughter of Moses and Lydia Cox. He purchased the home place, 109 acres, from his father's estate in 1821. Here he raised a family of eight children, John Cox, Thomas E., Henry, Perry, Andrew, Francis, and Mary married Jacob May. He served as Justice of Peace for 21 years, holding other township offices as well. He died in 1877, Susannah in 1865.

Thomas E. Hinton, son of Elias, was born in May 1818, grew up in the hilly area near the Village of Adelphi. Elizabeth Delong, daughter of Henry and Mary (Mowery) Delong married Mr. Hinton in 1839 and bore him seven children in Ross Co. In March, 1860, the family moved to Mercer Co., Oh., where they lived with his brother, Francis, for 9 months, in a log home in Sec. 11, of Liberty twp., until they could erect their own, then cleared the land, with the neighbor men all helping with rolling logs and raisings. Thomas E. served in the Civil war in 1863 and died three years later from diseases then contracted. Elizabeth lived on the farm until her death in 1902; both are buried in the Liberty Chapel Cemetery. Their children were: Henry V.; Elias, who died in the Civil War; Jacob who moved West; Lee Ann married John Listner; Franklin P.; Wilson; and Mary married John Koch and George Phillips.

Franklin P. Hinton was 13 when his father died. In 1874 he married Barbara Isabelle Howell, daughter of Simeon and Hannah (Horner) Howell, of Auglaize Co., Oh. They lived in Sec. 11, Liberty Twp., across the road from the old Hinton school and a mile from the Hinton post office. After his marriage, he took care of his aged mother until her death. Six of Frank and Isabell's children grew to adulthood; Ora, a former Sheriff in Auglaize Co., Thomas, a farmer; Mary Elizabeth (Lizzie), married William Davis; Ollie, married Lawrence Siler; Pearl, married Dillon Smalley; Bessie married William Miller and 2nd Daniel Whitehead.

Lizzie Hinton, born 1884 married in 1904 a neighbor boy, William Davis, son of Hiram Davis. In 1907 a son Alva was born but died in infancy; in 1909, another son Paul was born, but was only five when Mrs. Davis died in 1914. Paul was reared in Liberty Twp., by his father and paternal grandparents. He married Helen Roe and five children were born to them, being reared at their home near Decatur, Ind., where they still live.

The second child and eldest daughter, Eileen, was born in Mercer Co., Oh., in 1932; during 1952 she married Earl Dawson of Monroeville, Allen Co., Ind. They are the parents of two children; Edward married Debra Schenk and Darla married Timothy Beer; and have a dau., Rebecca Ann. Mrs. Dawson, a member of First Families of Ohio, Charter member of Antoine Rivarre Chapter of Daughters of American Revolution, and Adams County Historical Society, which she has held offices in the latter two, has many other hobbies but is enthusiastically involved in genealogical research about her ancestors. GEORGE WASHINGTON HONE

(June 2, 1874-July 4, 1946)

George, along with eight brothers and one sister was raised in Liberty Township. His father Henry and mother Katherine Meyer Hone homesteaded on the northwest corner of Hone-Weir and Erastus Durbin roads.

Before settling in Mercer County, Henry went to California in 1855 and mined gold. It was a seemingly prosperous trip and he returned to New Bremen, Ohio and invested in a copper shop. Two years later he sold his shop and moved to his father's farm. He and Katherine were members of the Reformed Lutheran Church. Henry was an active democrat, having served as Liberty Township trustee for thirteen years in succession.

The brothers and sister are Andrew, William, Chris, John, Henry, Edward, David, Frank and sister Katherine. Andrew never married and Edward lived only three months while David passed away at eighteen years of age.

George Washington Hone married Fannie Belle Hines and to their union was born fifteen children; Florence, Jenny, Leona, Viola, Flossie, Lulu, Gladys, Jake, Ed W. and Elza (twins) Ivan, Lawrence, Thornton, Paul and Arnold.

Many of these children travelled and settled in other locations. Lulu and Arnold settled in California and Jake in nearby Oregon.

Ed travelled to Texas and worked in the oil fields in the 1920's. While he was on the way to Texas his brother Ivan contacted pneumonia and passed away at the age of 21.

Nearly all the other members of the Hone family remained in and around Mercer County. Their ancestors came from Germany in the early 1800's. The trip took about six weeks. They settled in Marylar for awhile. For reasons unknown they came to A glaize County in 1832 and settled in New Bremen.

Eventually families moved to Mercer County at changed the spelling of the name. The Germa spelling is Hoehne. There are still Hoehnes, Hone Hohnes, and Hohns, all of which came from the same family many generations ago. Barb Thees, Celia Oh.

RICHARD HONE

Like many immigrants coming from Germany this ame was changed to make it more American (2). he name Richard Hone was passed down by word mouth but the church records show where the nanges came about. John Dietrich (Richard) Von oehne dropped the "Von" right away (2). His sons pon marrying dropped the middle "h" (Hoene), nd the next generation dropped the middle "e" aving Hone (4). The Germans' custom of naming the state of the st nildren for relatives was a common practice and of ien and women being known by their middle ame. The first born male and female usually regived the full given names of paternal grandparent thile the next born was named after the maternal randparents. (5)

In Europe in the early 19th century America semed to be the place everyone was talking about nd leaving for. Germany was little more than a oose federation of states at the start of the nineenth century, under the constitution given it by ne congress of Vienna (1814-1815). There was no Jerman emperor, king, or powerful leader, not even German flag to follow. Metternich's machinations ad seen to that — he willed that Germany should e a disorganized nation. But he reckoned without he liberals who were quick to enlist in the bitter attle for German unity, a battle many years in the vinning. During the reconstruction period many ame to look with longing eyes at the new world. (6) he visions of only opportunity from a freedom of ld world hates and fears. These hard conditions unler which they lived were unbelievable. Practically to chance to ever get more than the barest living nd scant clothing. This in a measure explains the eadiness of our ancestors, with many others, to rave the dangers of a long sea voyage to a country inknown to them except in a vague way. A country vhere they might have a home of their own and lave white bread and meat to eat. They practically and nothing to lose and everything to gain by this hange.

Of Richard's life in Germany we know very little except he was born in Hanover Sept. 18, 1801 and lived on a farm. He had at least one sister, Catherine Adelheid. They lived and worked on their father's farm, and were of the poorer class of people. (2)

After Richard served his allotted time in the German army he was married to Marie Elizabeth Cook (1828). Marie was three years younger (born Oct. 24, 1804), taller than Richard, with bright red hair. They lived in Oldenberg where their first son, John Fred was born May 28, 1830. (4) Richard's sister Catherine was married to Bernard Bruny and the two men

Along about 1830 there were eight ships sailing regularly between Berman and Hanover to America. Baltimore, Md. was a favorite point of disembarkation. These trips took from four to six weeks or sometimes as long as three months. These two young families decided to leave for America and their new dreams. They sailed from Hanover in 1832 and six weeks later settled in Baltimore, Md. for their first year. (2) Try to picture these two young couples, no one able to speak a word of English except perhaps a few names of cities. What suspense and anxiety must have been part of the trip. By now both wives were "in the family way." Marie Elizabeth Hoehne gave life to Benjamin, but he soon died. Catherine Bruny had a healthy Mary Elizabeth on August 16, 1833. (4) These two families lived for 2 years in Maryland where the first winter they made their living by cutting sassafras for cord wood.

Maryland — so many people but so few jobs. The men soon heard of the canal that was being constructed from Cincinnati to Toledo and decided to try that work. They moved their families first to Miami County (Troy) (2). Then in 1834 they reached a little German settlement of New Bremen, where they decided to stay — it looked so much like home. Here they each bought a 40 acre farm to be cleared and moved their families. (3)

The Bruny family began to grow after the move to New Breman. Three daughters and five sons: John Henry, John Fredrick, Herman Henry, William Henry, Catherine Wilk, Sophie Louise and Henry August (with first daughter Mary Elizabeth) (4).

The Hoehne family was also growing. Their only daughter was born in New Bremen Nov. 19, 1835 and baptized Catherine Marie but she was small and frail dying one month later Dec. 26, 1835. A healthy boy, Bernard Henry, was born Aug. 14, 1836. The 5th child was born Jan. 20, 1839 and baptized Henry William. The last child, a son, John Herman born Sept. 6, 1841 lived for only a little over a year. (4)

The mother, Marie Elizabeth Cook Hoehne died 1842 and was buried on the church ground. (4) This leaving Richard with three sons to raise: John Fred, age 12, Bernard Henry, age 6 and Henry William, age 3. In 1846 Richard married Catherine Elizabeth Brockman and she proceeded to raise his sons (4). Richard and Elizabeth spent the remainder of their lives on their farm. Their remains were interred in the old burial grounds near their home. (2)

So while Johnny Appleseed (1775-1845) was scattering his seeds, Davy Crockett was fighting the Alamo in Texas (1836), and Andrew Jackson (1767-1845) was serving as our seventh President. Morris was inventing the telegraph, and Edgar Allan Poe was writing his stories, Richard Hone was doing his part by helping build the Erie Canal, clearing some land and raising a fine family. Leininger Family

JOHN JACOB LEININGER

John Jacob Leininger, the son of Jacob Leininger was born in 1873 and raised in Liberty Township near Chattanooga. He resided on his father's farm, which presently belongs to Sam Leininger. He married Wilhelmina (Minnie) Zeilinger also of Liberty Township and there were born ten children, Stella, Theodore, Lazetta, Hulda, Leah, Carl, Lorena, Inez, Mildred and Irma. John J. Leininger spent his whole life in Liberty Township, Mercer Co. He died at the young age of 38. He is buried in United Church of Christ Cemetery of Liberty Township. His wife had a struggle in making a living for the many children. She died in 1951 in Indianapolis, Indiana and is buried beside her husband.

The oldest son, Theodore Michael helped make some of the living for the family and as a teenager he was a farm hand for Henry Baker and received $12.00 a month. In 1916-1917 he ran the huckster wagon for the grocery store in Chattanooga. Around 1918 the Leininger family moved to Muncie, Indiana where Theodore worked in a bolt factory and some of the girls did housework for some of the more prosperous people of Muncie. This all helped in making the living.

In November 1919, Theodore came back to Mercer Co. and married Carrie Louise Becher of Liberty Township and they lived and farmed west of Chattanooga, Ohio until 1976 when they moved to Celina. They had two daughters.

Herman and Iva Lyda with Grandchildren, Max, Melissa, Anne, Tony

HERMAN KEITH LYDA

The history of the Lyda family extends back into the European history of both England and France. Family members served under Napoleon of France and many are recorded that gave their life in defense of the British Crown. The earliest Lyda recorded in American history was Jacob Lyda; an English soldier that served under Lord Cornwallis at the battle of Kings Mountain in October of 1780 in the North Carolina mountains. After the war, he stayed and purchased Chickasaw Knobs, which was comprised of two twin mountains and one thousand acres of land. He found and developed apple trees that were named "The Lyda Apples". His death wish was that he be buried in his British uniform. The Lyda's were basically Episcopalian or Methodist and they built St. Paul Episcopal Church near Edneyville, North Carolina.

Lyda's were farmers, weavers, millers, blacksmiths, plantation owners, lumber jacks, and storek-

Great grandfather, Waits Lyda and his wife Katie had at least one daughter and two sons; their names being Lona Lyda, Buford Lyda and Dixon Avery Lyda. Dixon Lyda was a storekeeper. Lona Lyda Wheelan was a school teacher. They were the two people in Henderson County that were called upon to solve the problems that defied solution. Irregardless of the subject, they could find a workable solution.

Dixon and Lona (Reid) Lyda had seven children. The third child was Herman Keith Lyda. Dixon Lyda died early in life and Herman and several brothers were sent to Ohio to St. Edmund's Episcopal Home. Herman became a foster child to Bruce and Carrie Harding of Harrison, Ohio. Herman worked through high school as a milk hauler for United Dairy Farmers and won athletic letters in football, baseball and track. He graduated from Goshen High School in 1942 and enlisted in the United States Marines, winning 21 battle stars in hand to hand combat against Imperial Japanese Marines. Herman married Iva Christine (White) Lyda and they had two children: Christopher Keith Lyda and Sandra May (Lyda) DeVinney. Herman was employed by the Board of Health of Cincinnati in Meat and Dairy Inspection, a position he held until his retirement in 1977. Herman is a graduate of University of Cincinnati Thermo-Nuclear College of Operations and completed equivalency exams for a Master of Science Degree in Microbiology and Environmental Health.

Iva Christine (White) Lyda is the youngest and only daughter of a family of 9 children of the late Jesse Frank and Arla Mae (Davis) White. Iva was born in Williamsburg, Ky., where her father owned a lumber mill. Iva attended school until she went to work for Dolly Madison and later Proctor and Gamble in Cincinnati. After moving to Celina she wa employed for several years at Huffy's.

Herman and Christine live in the old small community of Durbin about 10 miles West of Celina They enjoy such hobbies as camping, fishing an travel.

The Lyda's have four grandchildren; Melissa Lyd and Christina Maxine, Glenda Ann, and Glenn An thony DeVinney.

Note: The history of the Lyda family is documented with the Library of Congress in Washing ton, D.C. in two books written by Frank I Fitzsimons, "From the Banks of the Oklawaha Vol. and 2." Volume 3 will be published in the fall c 1979.

CHARLES C. SEALSCOTT

Charles C. Sealscott (b) 1878 (d) 1943 and his wife Catherine Groth Sealscott (b) 1881 (d) 1974 were married in Liberty Twp. Charles was the son of Reuben and Minnie Sealscott of Hopewell Twp. Catherine was the daughter of Heinrich J. and Dorothea Lempke Groth of Liberty Twp.

Their children are Vera, Elberta, Forest, Ruth, Ethel, Irene, Dewan and Doyle. Ruth married Tom Beers and they have 1 son, Tom Jr. They live in Hemet, California. Ethel married B. Paul Kirby and their children are Diane and Donald — Diane married Ed Anderson and their daughter is Kristen Kay Anderson. Ethel's family all live in Spokane, Washington. Dewan married Evelyn Rhodes and their children are Marlene, Dennis, Brent and Lisa — Dennis married Karen Dustman of Berne, Indiana and their children are Chris and Heather Sealscott. Dennis and family live in Geneva, Indiana. All the others live in Ohio.

Charles Sealscott first worked for a grocer in Celina, Ohio - not only working in the grocery store, he also drove the huckster wagon, pulled by a team of horses, going to the surrounding farms where the farmers could buy the groceries they needed. Underneath the wagons there were crates for chickens. The farmers could trade a chicken for their groceries. Later he and Albert Groth (Catherine's brother) owned the grocery store in Hinton, Ohio — Liberty Township. In 1912 Charles and Catherine bought a farm in Section 2, 5-1 in Liberty Twp. They lived and raised their family on this farm; farming most of their life with horses. They raised the usual farm animals - horses, cattle, hogs and chickens. Their children always had a dog - either a rat terrier or a collie.

Groceries they needed to buy were few. They bought flour from an elevator in Coldwater, Ohio. Flour and sugar were bought once a year in 100 lb. bags. Vegetables and fruit were grown and canned on the farm. Bread was baked twice each week. Eggs, meat, butter and milk all came from the farm. Potatoes, apples and the canned fruit and vegetables were stored in the outside underground cellar.

Their children were all born on the farm except Elvera and Elberta. They were baptized and confirmed into membership at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Liberty Township located on Wabash Road. Henrick Groth and Gehrnard Frederick Sielschott rk City with four children, two daughters and two ns: Anna 12 years, Caroline 10 years, Charles 3 ars, and Edward 1 year.

They lived with relatives in Jersey City, N.J. for six eks. They did not like this area and no desirable ork was available.

In July 1883, they moved to Mercer County, Ohio, nere they had friends. Later purchased an area of acres in Liberty Township, (Sec. 12) approxiately three miles west of Tama, and east of Horaroad, and developed it into farm land, which they rmed. Their first home was a log cabin. Later they silt a six room dwelling, their home in which they red the remainder of their life.

The Jacob Weiszmann (Weisman) family was aditted to Citizenship in Mercer County, Ohio, Pro-

ite Court, November 3, 1889.

The family emigrated to U.S. for a more promisg way of life and to provide for a better living for e children. There were many restrictions in Gerany, less land per family to farm and less indeendence.

The children attended rural Hinton School. The stire family became members of St. Paul's Evangelal Church in Liberty Township.

The family always remained on the farm. One son dward continued to live there until 1960 when the nd was sold to another farmer.

Son Charles lived most of his life time in Mercer

ounty on a farm.

Daughter Caroline married and lived on a farm in an Wert County, Ohio.

Anna moved to Dayton, Ohio and lived until Jan. 914.

MARION TOWNSHIP

In 1824 Mercer County was detached from Darke unty and was composed of four townships; Mar-1 Township being one. Included with Marion wnship was Franklin Township as well as porns of German and Jackson Townships. Later they re ceded to Auglaize County and Franklin Townp was detached in 1841. In 1849 a small strip of id south of the Greenville Treaty line was added. is comprises the county to this day and includes out forty square miles. It is six miles wide from st to west and 6½ miles long from north to south. The earliest settlers in Marion Township settled the Chickasaw creek and shared ground with the lians who were still living along the creek in their its. Some of the earliest settlers came from other ler counties of Ohio; like the Bodkins and Ballingcame from Clarke County. The Burdges came m Hamilton county. The William Long and Peter cle families came from Virginia; and the William inter family came from Kentucky.

The first election was held on June 25, 1833, at ich the following officers were elected: Trustees Samuel Gray, Charles Botkin and John Miller; rk, John L. Simes; treasurer; John Sprague; overers of the poor — Matthew Kerns and Alexander llaspie; fence viewers — William Botkin, John Daand Hugh Miller. At the present time in 1978, the icers of the township are the trustees: Albert noenlein, Ralph Reichert and Ray Bruggeman th Kenneth Wuebker being clerk.

In the early days of the township, hunting and pping was a very important source of income. By slone they were able to pay their taxes. In 1838-39 coon skins were legal tender for one dollar and er skins for about two dollars and a half. Venison d at about twenty cents a pound. As yet the land s a wilderness. Production beyond the needs of rsonal consumption promised no return owing to distance of the market and the lack of roads for nsportation. Hence but little clearing was atnpted. A change came with the opening of the calin 1845. This now gave impetus to clearing. Timitself became valuable and paid for the clearing nceforth development was rapid.

Many of the first pioneers were wiped out with disastrous Asiatic Cholera in 1832 which almost populated the entire area as well as parts of Darke

I Auglaize county. The second influx of pioneers Marion Township were predominantly German holic, with such names as Reicherts, Kramers, ellers, Goeckes, Elking, Hinders and Gasts.

The first of the six churches in Marion Township St. Aloys in Carthagena which was started in 6 followed by St. Johns in 1837, followed by St. se, St. Marys in Cassella, St. Sebastian and Preus Blood in Chickasaw. Marion Township also St. Charles Seminary, the Maria Stein Retreat use and Relic Chapel. In 1850 Fr. Brunner built Greenwood Convent, ½ mile south of Cassella, the Sisters of the Precious Blood. In 1880 "Gruewald" became a normal school for nuns but by 10 the sisters started to be withdrawn and in 1923 by were all gone.

Many of the early settlers in Marion Township ne over from Germany landing on the east coast and coming up the Ohio River to Cincinnati. There they were transported by Canal boat up to Minster and into Marion Township.

In 1830 the Census or population was 1,100; by 1870 it was up to 1,876; and by 1900 the population stood at 2,678. From that point on, the population decreased but by 1970 the population was at 2,699 almost the same as 1900.

Much of Marion Township is rolling land which goes hand in hand with large families in a farming community to make for good animal production such as hogs, and milk operation. Level ground and fertile soil make for more grain production and less livestock. At the present time, the township is first in milk production in the county while Mercer County is 2nd in the State. Marion Township is second in number of hogs in Mercer County while the County is 16th in the U.S. The average milking operation currently has about 45 cows and the hog producers have about 30 sows. At the present time, the average farm in Marion Township is 161 acres.

Around the turn of the century and several years later, Marion Township had over nine schools, however, they were consolidated in 1955 under the name of Marion Local School District with the high school being called Marion Local. This school has always been strong on scholastics and especially noted for the excellence of their bands. The sports activity was highlighted when they became the State of Ohio

Class A Basketball Champs in 1975.

People with a German Catholic Heritage have made for strong organizations. The Cassella Branch 943 of The Catholic Knights of America was organized in 1906. They are the biggest Branch of the CK of A in Ohio. Likewise, the Knights of St. John Commandery 313 was formulated in 1898 in Maria Stein and is the biggest Commandery in the world. The Maria Stein American Legion Post was organized in 1946 and is one of the most active Posts in the State. In 1971, the VFW Post 9019 was formed in Chickasaw and they are a strong going organization.

John Kramer from Maria Stein started the Marion Telephone Company in 1898 which stayed active continuously and at the present time is part of General Telephone Co. The calling radius is 10 to 15 miles. The Marion Mutual Insurance Association was formed in 1881, and again John Kramer was one of the organizers.

Also the New Idea manure spreader had its beginnings in Marion Township. Joseph Oppenheim, a school master at Maria Stein, had the idea of a manure spreader and started a factory in 1899 with help from his neighbors, such as Henry Synck, Fred Heckman and John Kramer. It prospered and in 1910 moved to Coldwater. Also the C.H. & D. Railroad running from North to South abandoned the train in 1923. Also around the turn of the century a Charles Eifert who was running a successful creamery in Maria Stein sold out to a small competitor in New Bremen which grew into the present Beatrice Foods. It was probably because of the loss of Industry and the Railroad that the Census dropped considerably in the early days of 1900.

Marion Township was the first Township to start graveling its roads and by 1900 had 17.8 miles of gravelled road, more than any other townships in the county. At the present time in 1978, all the township roads are paved and includes 37 miles. Marion Township had one of the first cement roads in the county. In 1923, a one-mile stretch of cement road was built from St. Rose to Maria Stein Station. Barney Evers from Marion Township was a commissioner at that time.

Marion Township has had its share of epidemics and set-backs. In addition to the Asiatic Cholera in 1832, another Cholera outbreak in 1848 and 1849 killed many people. There have been tornados cut across Marion Township; one of the worst being March 28, 1920 when it cut a swath of destruction from Cranberry through St. Rose and Chickasaw in a northeasterly direction. The depression years in 1929 through 1935 cost many lost farms by the residents. The various wars brought our share of death to the area.

Most of the land was originally bought by the settlers from the United States Government at a cost of $1.25 an acre. At the present time, there have been farms selling from $3,000 to $4,000 an acre.

Marion Township has a German Catholic Heritage. Over the years, many things have been done by groups of neighbors. For instance, harvesting and threshing was done by the neighbors. Butchering in the winter time was an active and enjoyable neighborhood event. The weddings have been big and originally were barn weddings with the neighbors and friends invited. This has been changed to hiring halls for such parties. In Marion Township, there are two halls: the Legion Hall and Knights of St. John Hall which are widely used and busy all the time with weddings. Sundays were reserved for church and visiting.

The township is back on an up-swing. We have a good school system, we have many active businesses going and just recently the Marion Township Development Corp. was formed with its first project being Chapel Hill addition. It is directly north of Maria Stein and east of the Maria Stein Convent. This 40 acres of land has been developed with ninety-seven lots being available for building homes. Many homes dot the countryside and the population is on the rise. by Henry Leugers

MARIA STEIN

In October of 1833, three families met in Baltimore, Md. and journeyed together to Ohio, settling down in Marion Township, Mercer Co., Ohio. The respective names of these early pioneer settlers were: John Leistenschneider, John Stelzer and John Thomas, (the last named being a Protestant).

At about the same time, His Lordship, Rt. Rev. Baptist Purcell was consecrated Bishop of the Diocese of Cincinnati. The fact, that the name of each of these three first settlers was "John" and the newly consecrated Bishop bearing the name of John Baptist, induced the first pioneer settlers to call the Settlement St. John and select St. John the Baptist the Patron Saint of the future Catholic Parish.

Up until the small log cabin church in St. John was erected, the early settlers walked the six mile distance to the town of Stallotown, now Minster, to attend Mass and to receive the Sacraments. Newborn infants were at this time carried by their happy fathers to Stallotown to receive Baptism, since at the remote period there were no wagons or stately carriages to convey their new-born in style. The find born child in St. John was called "John" son of Jol Stelzer and Frances Siegrist and baptised, July 2 1834. Before returning home to St. John the settle would procure axes, hatchets, saws, etc. from the Central Store in Stallotown for their baby sons, one day they too could assist their fathers in fellitrees, cleaning the wood-covered acres, thus chaning the dense, virgin forest into fertile fields.

During the period of October, 1833 to Mar 1836, several facts and events draw special attentic as bearing directly upon the development as growth of St. John's, later called Maria Stein. At t period German and French immigrants, havi crossed the ocean on sail-ships, landed for the mo part at Baltimore, Md., their final destiny being Ci cinnati. On heavy mountain wagons, drawn by fo or six horses, the conductors of these wagon-trai would pile the large heavy family-trunks and coffe one upon another. The men walked the tedious to of a couple of hundred miles. The women and ch dren had, for the most part, to ride on top of t trunks and chests, secured by ropes to prevent th falling down. Since hotels were few along the rou farms and farm houses along the route, served immigrant restaurants. From Cincinnati, they th journeyed on to Mercer County.

Many early settlers of St. John had to borro money to buy land when they first arrived. As ear as 1835, some 25 Catholic families had bought acres of land for church and school purposes, payir $120.00 for them. On this church land and on the very site on which the present beautiful church stands, it was unanimously resolved to build the new log cabin church. The first St. John the Baptichurch was constructed of towering oak trees, sur rounded by the score, on the site chosen in 183 The dimensions were approximately 30 by 45 feet.

On April the 9th, 1837, for then the first time, tl good people witnessed the celebration of a solen High Mass chanted by the new appointed Paste Rev. Francis Bartels. Not only had the people of 9 John now witnessed the dedication of the nechurch and the blessing of the graveyard, on the 21st of May, in 1837, seven children of the little cony received their first holy Communion. The names of these favored few were: Theodore Hugskamp, Friederich Schroeder, Theodore Schmidteinrich Thaman, Anna Leistenschneider, Catheine Herzog and Catherine Hagedorn (Gast).

Among the pioneering settlers who were present the March date when in 1835 the 40 acres of urch land was bought, were Mr. Leonard Lining, in Leistenschneider, John Stelzer, John Stelzer, ın Thomas, Christian Stelzer, Anton Moeller, Pe-J. Meier, J. Dietrich Hinders, John Reichert, John ucke, Joseph Stucke, J. H. Kramer, Joseph Bernard, erhard Knoebber, Dietrick Kemper, John Rhein, rnard Schmit, Gerhard Westgerdes and J. H. Tanmann. During the erection of the log church, the llowing settlers arrived: John Woblers, Fred Elkg, Henry Goecke, Joseph Siefke, J. H. Pohlmann, enceslaus Meinerding, Anton Schweinefuss, John uns, Clemens Vehorn, Nicholas Fullenkamp, H. wenger, J. Gaman, Bernard Goecke, J. D. Heckan, Fred Heckman, Henry Woerman, J. Hoeffen, J. une and John Desch.

In 1840 on July 19th, a Church bell was finally irchased by the parishioners of St. John's, for the ice of $75.00. This humble messenger tolled three nes a day the Angelus Domini, inviting the people kneel in prayer. The belfry was built in front of e church. Four beams were sunk in the ground id well secured and braced; a neat little roof was nstructed to protect the bell from rain and snow.

Land Offices, erected by Congress and authorized sell government lands were at this period located Wapakoneta, Lima and Sandusky. In order to obin land, the new-comer had to go to one of the offices and sometimes with the kind assistance of a lend, buy the land posted on County and Townip maps, for the price of $1.25 per acre. The landing bought, the owner returned to his family with large document of parchment, with a big red seal, and by General Jackson, or some other American esident. What exact condition the purchaser ould find his land was never known until he actuly saw it. Many expecting to buy land he had seen, und it was already purchased when he arrived at e office.

Around the year 1834 and shortly following, seval businesses were started in the area. Mr. Fred throeder started the first wooden-shoe factory. Mr. Tangemann opened the first black-smith shop in 136. Mr. Matthias Gast started the first general ore in 1847. Mr. John Goecke became the village repenter in 1849.

Born on the 7th of April, 1837, on a farm about a alf mile East of St. Johns, Joseph Dwenger was desned to become the first Priest to be ordained. On apt. 4, 1859, the Most Rev. John Bantiet Purcell or

ept. 4, 1859, the Most Rev. John Baptist Purcell orained Joseph, thus known as Rt. Rev. Joseph wenger. Father Joseph worked with great energy and marked success and in 1872 on April 14th, he as consecrated a Bishop by His Grace Archbishop urcell.

On August 14, 1845, the Very Rev. M. Sales Bruner visited St. John with the intention of selecting ome suitable piece of land, near the Parish of St. In for the purpose of locating on it a Mission-ouse and convent for the Precious Blood religious rder. The present owner was a Mr. George Hirscheld. As soon as Fr. Brunner possessed the deed of the above mentioned land, he sent Rev. John Van en Brock, with three Lay-brothers to St. John, with instructions to erect temporary buildings for the Sisterhood of the Precious Blood. Here Fr. John as he as called, with the help of the people in solemn rocession from the parish church to the proposed new convent, laid a corner stone on Nov. 16, 1845. By autumn of 1846, a humble dwelling and chapel were now completed for the eight Nuns to occupy. On November 21, 1846, the newly erected Convent chapel was dedicated in honor of Mary, Help of the Christians, and given the name of "Maria Stein". Father J. M. Gartner for the most part was responsible for the beautiful relic chapel at Maria Stein. The holy relics were given to Father Gartner in Rome on condition that they remain as a single collection, that they be placed in safe custody, and that the aim of their general veneration be realized. In 1875, Father Gartner arrived at Maria Stein with his precious collection of relics. After consulting church authorities and carefully weighing all circumstances, he decided the convent chapel of the Sisters at Maria Stein. This was a place that would meet all requirements for a pilgrimage church. An agreement was reached that the Sisters were to provide a suitable place for the relics and be charged with their safekeeping. The parishioners would defray the expenses of furnishing the chapel on condition that none of the relics be given away or taken to any other place. St. John's parishioners in a few days collected almost $1,300 for the beginning of construction on the Relic Chapel. Father Gartner himself contributed $1,100 of his own inheritance to it. While construction was not yet completed, Father Gartner was instructed to return to LaCross, Wisconsin, by Archbishop Purcell. As Archbishop Purcell, had desired Father Gartner to leave his treasury of relics in Cincinnati, misunderstandings had arisen and Father Gartner never was to return to Maria Stein to again see the relics. He died in March of 1877. In January of 1877, he wrote his last letter to Maria Stein, revealing his calm resignation in the face of death saying, "My heart, my love, remains with the work at Maria Stein."

In January of 1847, a meeting was held in St. John's Parish for the erection of a new brick church. Thirteen resolutions were written out designating the amount of money each person was to contribute toward the erection of the new church. Each Father of family was to contribute $2.00 annually, each widow to pay $1.00, each single person owning real estate $1.00 annually etc. Mainly in 1848, by taking up subscriptions, furnishing bricks and other materials, the actual work on the building was begun in the Spring of 1849. The size of this church was approx. 35 x 60' long; the steeple on the roof, built of wood, some 55 ft. above the dirt road. The plans for the new church were as far as it is known, made by the architect and church-builder, Anthony Geehr of Minster, Ohio. The bricks were made on the church ground by Mr. Raymond Buehler, a member of the parish. From the subscription list, the actual cost of the new church was $2465.00. As mentioned earlier, the 40 acres of land purchased by some 25 families were now not needed. Several parcels of land were sold by permission of the Bishop of Cincinnati to parties, who erected thereon dwellings. The money obtained from the sale of lots was applied for the benefit of the parish. Now a new bell was needed for the church, and was purchased and located in the belfry on Nov. 11, 1850 at a cost of $260.00 and weighing 935 pounds.

church, built in 1837. It is no more, the material having been scattered to the winds, while even the very sight of the log cabin church cannot be recognized anymore. A neat dwelling house was built from the logs of the church but to date that no longer exists. A Mr. & Mrs. Topp lived in the old log house for many years.

A pioneer school house existed as far back as 1837. It too was made of logs. Mr. John Reichert taught his pupils, both boys and girls, and it stood near the old log church. In later years a brick school was built, located East of the present Parish rectory. It was used as a school for the boys. Another building erected on the corner of Rt. 119 and St. Johns Rd. was the girls school. They both no longer exist.

In 1848 Cholera found its way into the parish of St. John's knocking at the home of many families. The first time Cholera made its appearance in Mercer Co., was 1832 at Stallotown, New Minster. At that time Mercer Co. comprised all the territory of the two Counties, Mercer and Auglaize. Cholera hit St. John's in 1848 and 1849. Cholera is more or less familiar to all, but to many the symptoms of this sickness, which could cause death in a matter of hours was dreadful. The men who survived dug the long trenches in the cemetery, in which the box coffins would be placed. There were no tolling of bells or sacred rites in the church. Carpenters worked day and night nailing together rough box coffins for the dead. There were no communications between towns. Old people years ago would tell of seeing four persons of one and the same family buried in Still another larger church was to be built by the people of Maria Stein. Starting in 1888 and finishing 1894, the parishioners erected the Catholic church that still stands today. The total cost for this church came to $37,628.06.

With the coming of the railroad and the Miami-Erie canal system, business began to flourish and farmers prospered. Another generation had grown and the town's population began to multiply. Large families, some as many as fifteen children, seemed the mode of the time. There was plenty of land still to be cleared and much work still to be done. The town now had a post office and postmaster. Frank Westgerdes built a hardware store, the building also including the post office. John Goecke ran a shoe store and Matthias Gast, Jr. was now engaged in his Father's business running the local dry goods store. Henry Goecke was conducting an undertaking bu ness, manufacturing bricks and also dealt in furture. Mr. Alois J. Willke was the town's physician.

In the year 1900, the town of Maria Stein hac population of 250. This figure did not include t farming population. The town of Maria Stein w originally divided into two settlements, the East po tion known as Maria Stein (St. John) and the We portion, approx. one mile away, known as Static To date the two portions are known and mapped the town of Maria Stein, still unincorporated to tl

In the early 90's the most important manufacti ing concern in the town of Station was the Ne Spreader Company, started in 1899, manufacturi manure spreaders, of which Henry Synck was ma ager and Benjamin Oppenheim, Secretary. With the new company came the arrival of the Cincinna Hamilton & Dayton Railway located less than o mile from St. John. The railway ceased operati around the year 1923. The New Spreader Compa is now known as New Idea and located in Coldw ter, Ohio. Other early businesses in Station were t Maria Stein Machine Shop, conducted by John Lin the Davidson butter tub factory, the grain elevat of Henry Kramer and the Moeller Lumber Co.

The countryside and town was growing rapid The need for more schooling for children was a n cessity. Country schools sparsely dotted the are The Heitkamp, Dwenger and Puthoff one roo schools taught up to eight grades. The town's bo and girls schools served the town children only. T need for high school education became more de perate to the area people. In 1930, federal funwere provided for a three story school, which st stands to this day. The school included both grad and high school education. The country school st taught the first eight grades but now all children ha the opportunity to finish high school at St. John's they wanted. In 1955, St. Johns ceased to fill tl need for the now larger population. The electe board of education decided to build the Marion L cal High School due to serious lack of space. Co: struction began and was completed with enoug room now to provide high school education for many of the small surrounding towns such as O good, Chickasaw, St. Sebastian, St. Rose and Ca sella. In 1977 the board now elected to constru new buildings to also house kindergarten throug eight grades. As of 1978, the three story St. John chool and the small country schools still stand but nly memories fill the rooms.

In the early 1900's, the town possessed a Town lall in the Station part of Maria Stein. This served s a meeting place, which included entertainment uch as Minstrel Shows, Medicine Shows and probbly the most important, a place for the new bride nd groom to hold a reception for their wedding ventually the Town Hall was moved to where the merican Legion now stands. With the coming of rganizations in the 1900's, the American Legion nd the Knights of St. John erected buildings to now company the needed places for receptions, wedings, etc.

With the coming of World War I, the third and purth generation was now being asked to join the orld outside. Mainly up until that time, most were processed with clearing the land, feeding their families and church activities seemed to predominately II their needs for socializing. Neighbors got together for harvesting, butchering and general visiting, but still the church services every Sunday, creted the need for the weeks duties getting done and the Saturday night bath. Up until the War, no one seemed to dream they might someday be going back their ancestral homelands. Few remain who ought that war including those that returned home ifely.

World War II and the Korean War now left a igma of less Patriotism than the first war. They ere definitely wars of greater fear and although the lothers gave up their Sons proudly, luckily it aforded one Son to stay home to farm the land.

The 20's and 30's brought about the depression. It as no different in Maria Stein as anywhere else. here was now little money to be had and existing ow grew more important than growing. Many irms were lost as well as businesses. The church ow had an important roll to play and that began ith helping to feed many of her parishioners. Jobs ere few and crops did not sell for lack of money om the buyer. It was a time that brought people agether but also a time that left scars for those not fortunate to have kept their homes and farms.

To date many businesses flourish in the Maria tein area. Those involved in local trades are Jerry verman Milk Delivery and Chicken Farming, Gagel lardware, Leugers Insurance, B&S Trucking, owned y Paul Budde and just recently sold; Herbert Bergan, owner of Wayne Tool & Supply, Pohlmann & hobe Construction, D&I Carryout, owned by David choenlein; The Maria Stein Animal Clinic, Heinl rocery, Cyril Bernard in the Masonry Business, faria Stein Grain Company, Kerner Kafe, owned y Roger Schwieterman family; Harold Thobe, Moile Oil Delivery, M. S. Printing owned by Norman ohman. Drs. Edgar Willke and Donald Schwieterian are the town physicians.

A new post office was built in 1962 and is resently run by Urban Berning, serving as Postmaser, since 1961. The original post office was in the Vestgerdes Hardware Store, with Frank Westgerdes erving as Postmaster from 1896 to 1906. Years folwing, subsequent Postmasters were Charles Leising until 1914. Fred Mescher until 1920, Joseph acks until 1932, Urban Menker until 1958 and Ruct Ienker until 1961. Rural carriers were Henry ramer, beginning in 1881, Matthias Gast beginning 903, Aloys H. Bruggeman, beginning in 1924, Paul Moeller beginning in 1958. The present carrier is Stanley Bertke assuming the position in 1977.

The St. Henry Bank approved plans in 1974 to open a new Branch in Maria Stein. Frank Woeste is Manager of the bank.

Many of the old log cabin homes and hand-made brick houses still exist today in the area of Maria Stein. They may be covered with new siding and coats of paint, but the architectural structures still provide memories and glimpses into the past of how the town of Maria Stein began. by Martha Rindler

ST. ROSA

The origin of St. Rosa, dates back to June 12, 1854, when the small town was surveyed by A. Jack Linzee. St. Rosa was laid out by Archbishop John B. Purcell in June 1854. The plat was recorded June 29. It was laid out as Rose Garden. It was known by that name, and by St. Rosa, which was the post office name. The St. Rosa Catholic Church is located there. It was established in 1837. A log church was built in 1838. Regular church services were first held in 1845, when several priests of the Precious Blood, and Rev. L. Navarron and Rev. John Wittmer, visited the church alternately and performed services. Thus, this was the beginning of St. Rosa parish and its church.

Early recorded history of St. Rosa is very sketchy. Extensive research did turn up the names of several early residents and the approximate dates they resided in St. Rosa.

Joseph Hagedorn was born in St. Rosa on August 2, 1846. He was the son of John and Gertrude (Mescher) Hagedorn. Joseph Hagedorn married Catherine Hemmelgarn on May 27, 1879. The 1900 edition of the Mercer County Atlas, listed him as current (1900) president of Marion Mutual Fire Insurance Company. He was engaged in farming at the same time.

Henry Rose, the son of Bernard and Mary Rose was born in Germany June 19, 1829 and he came to this country in August of 1860. In 1882 Henry Rose was engaged in farming near Chickasaw. In 1860, he married Dena, the daughter of Garrat and Elizabeth Knoba. Dena had been born in this country in 1843. Henry and Dena Rosa's children were Bernard, Mary, Herman, Henry, Anna, John and Elizabeth. In 1900 he was in the mercantile business in St. Rosa, carrying a full stock of dry goods, hats, caps, boots, and shoes.

Henry Kevelder was born in St. Rosa on July 4, 1865, the son of Anton and Katherine Kevelder. Henry married Mary Hartings on January 19, 1887. They had four children, whose names were Tonie, Millie, Edward and Alvera. In 1900' Henry Kevelder owned a general store and ran a saloon.

Other very early St. Rosa residents included Bernhard Goettemoeller who in 1888 was known to be a proprietor of a stock farm, as a dealer in imported stock. Others known to be living in St. Rosa in 1888 included Henry Schlarman, Joseph Homan, E. Hartings, Fred Woeste, A. Moeller, A. Kleinhenz, J. Meiring, Frank Woeste, F. Hartings.

From its very humble beginnings in 1854, the town of St. Rosa grew in population and the number of businesses, until finally, as more modern transportation became available to more and more people, the residents of St. Rosa and the other very small towns began more and more to shop the bigger towns for goods and necessities.

Finally, today, St. Rosa consists of a grocery (Bruns'), a Television Dealer (Thobe's), an International Harvester Dealer (Bomholt and Sons). The Marion Mutual Fire Insurance expanded and moved from St. Rosa to Cassella in 1972. by David Muhlenkamp

ST. SEBASTIAN

In the 1800's this thriving little village had a blacksmith shop, saloon, implement dealer, cane mill, general store and post office. In 1882 Henry Beckman had the general store and post office, Matthias Klinke was the shoe cobbler and Anton Weber a carpenter. Later Ben and Henry Borgert were the carpenters. Some of the later proprietors of the general store were John Rose, Andrew Niekamp, and Albin Kramer. Isadore and Margaret Schurman were the last owners before it was closed in 1954.

A few years after the first church, built in 1853, a one room school building was built a short distance east of the church. This served the community until 1874 when the parishners bought a plot of ground from Ben Froning in the northwest corner of Sec. 9 in Marion Twp. 3/4 mile west of the church.

A one room brick building with one teacher for eight grades and as many as 80 pupils attending classes, was built in 1875. In 1941 the building was changed into a two room school with two teachers for the eight grades and served the community until 1958 when the Sebastian Local School was consolidated with the Marion Local School District at Maria Stein.

On Feb. 28, 1959 this building and lot sold at public auction and was bought by Jerome & Doris Ann Will who lived within the St. Sebastian Parish. They remodeled it into a modern home for their family.

At the present time the village contains St. Sebastian Church and cemetery, General Telephone Building. E. J. Wynk Construction Company, Tuente Stocks Yards of which Norb Kramer is buyer, and is home for 20 families. by Alfred Will

Of all the historically important sites in Merce County, one of the most rich in history is the sma community of Carthagena, the only community i the county to have seen two sets of inhabitants – black and white.

Carthagena, named for the village in Carthage Africa, was platted in 1840 by Charles Moore, black man whose family hailed from Harriso County, Ky., but the growth of the village had is beginnings at least a decade earlier.

According to the Personal Property Record in th Mercer County Courthouse, Moore bought 64 lo in Carthagena (listed in the record book as Car thagena viz. Negroburg) in 1830.

After months of searching throughout Ohio for proper spot in which to settle the recently-free black families he had waiting for him in Cincinnat Augustus Wattles, a learned white man of Quake background from the East Coast, finally in 183, bought 160 acres around Carthagena on which hand his followers established what was to become "most successful negro settlement in the state"

cording to Lillian M. Carroll, Ohio Cues, February

Wattles probably was attracted to the area not ily because of the terrain, but also because of its plation from whites and the already-existing com-unity of the Moores and perhaps others.

Wattles established not only a Manual Labor shool for Colored Youth, but a thriving, self-ifficient and self-governed community of black-niths, tinsmiths, shop keepers, school teachers, surch leaders, grist and sawmill operators and rmers. In time, three black schools and three black surches were established in and around the area irrounding Carthagena to facilitate the growing imbers of black settlers.

Wattles himself sustained the school until 1841, hen it was bought by the trustees of the Samuel nlen Jr. estate, who operated the school under the ime Emlen Institute until 1857.

At least 400 persons eventually were involved in a Carthagena community, according to the book led, Black and White" by Rev. Ilrich Mueller, in 135. The community's land holdings increased to stween 10,000 and 30,000 acres. Exactly how many res still is disputed by historians.

Black settlers also began spreading out to two her Mercer County townships: Butler and Gran-lle.

It is difficult to trace just what year whites also egan residing in Carthagena and its vicinity, but acks and whites apparently did reside in the town gether for quite some time. Through research it as been determined that the black and white citiens of Carthagena resided in a peaceful manner in that those hostilities which led to the eventual eparture of the black community were sparked in irrounding areas, such as Celina.

At least thirty years saw the existence of the Caragena community and evidence shows that blacks ere a part of Mercer County citizenry for some undred years. A grave in the black cemetery at arthagena of Albert Bowles, born in 1906 and who ed in 1957, indicates that at least one black man ayed even longer.

The black community also had its well-known citens, including the Robinson and Hurd families, unders of the Baptist Church in Carthagena, and /illiam H. Jones, who served as supervisor, school rector and clerk for the community. The most sucssful, however, was Thomas Dillon, a graduate of the Emlen Institute, who sailed with a delegation of ther blacks in July of 1866, to Liberia, South Africa. Ometime later he was elected president of that puntry, a post he served for a number of years.

Upon the attempted landing in New Bremen of John Randolph's freed slaves from Virginia in 1846, hostility, for racial, religious and other reasons began growing against the black settlers, eventually leading to the departure of Wattles and of increasing numbers of black families.

The Emlen Institute was sold in 1857 to John C. Schmidt of Greenville for $4,000 who in turn sold the land to the Society of the Precious Blood for $4,500 in 1861. A structure, St. Charles Seminary, was erected on the site of the former school.

The purchase of the land by the Catholic order also led to the establishment of the St. Aloysius Church in Carthagena. Upon the founding of the seminary, Catholic families of the area began attending services in the chapel. In 1865, the seminary chapel was enlarged to accomodate the everincreasing crowds and at the same time, Rev. Aloys Schelbert began organizing the people into a parish which became known as St. Aloysius.

By 1875, the number of families listed as members of the St. Aloysius parish was 35. In the early 1870s the parishoners began to voice their wishes for their own parish church, and following heavy donations by members and much discussion concerning its location, the church was dedicated June 30, 1878. The church, which still stands, was designed and built by Anton DeCurtins and his sons, of Carthagena. The Rev. Henry Drees was pastor at that time.

A census of church members between 1897 and 1899, revealed 70 families and 388 souls belonged to the parish.

At the same time, the community surrounding the church also was growing. A description of Carthagena in the "History of Van Wert and Mercer Counties" written in 1882, related that eight streets graced the village: Burney, Elm, Harris, Jackson and Clay, running east to west and Pearl, Main and Broad, running north to south.

"Present businesses" in 1882 included Anton Link's dry goods store, Barney Wehrkamp's hotel and grocery, John Bostwick's post office, John Schlosser's boot and shoe store and the DeCurtins' shop for organ and furniture manufacture.

Carthagena's growth through the 1880s and early 1900s was linked to the growth of the church, which in 1904 required the enlargement of the church with the addition of two sacristies, a new sanctuary and a basement and heating plant.

At present, none of the former business establishments remain and Carthagena has become a residential community: "sleepy" but picturesque. by

CASSELLA

Cassella got its name from the German Name "Kappella" from the Convent of the Precious Blood which was begun in 1952 about one half mile south of the present town of Cassella. Due to the beginning of the church of Nativity of the Blessed Virgin the town of Marysville was laid out in the year 1860.

Before the beginning of Marysville (according to several elderly citizens of our town), there were two closely knit towns within a distance of a half mile. The one village was called Frogtown and the other village Dog Town. Frogtown was the village one-half mile west of Dogtown.

Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Church. Cassella, 1923.

Frogtown consisted of a brick store, a saloon, a post office, a general merchandise store, a saw mill, a large pond inhabited by many frogs, hence no doubt it received its name, an ice house nearby and several homes surrounding the small village. A Cane mill also stood north east on one side of the road.

Prominent citizens of Frogtown were Henry Cron, John Link, Louis Grieshop, Joe Hierholzer, John Vondrell, The brick store just west of the Stelzer Road was torn down after the beginning of Marysville. The saloon was run by Henry Cron and other proprietors were John Link and Louis Grieshop. On the east side of the Stelzer Road was located a large ice house near the pond. In the winter when the pond froze over to several inches, you would see the citizens cutting the ice into blocks about four to six feet in length and about two to three feet wide and several inches thick. It was quite a job to get the ice out of the pond and store it between straw in the ice house.

When ice was needed in the summer they would uncover the straw and get another block of ice out of the ice house. One of the homes built nearby on the east side of the present Stelzer Road was moved to the Walter Schmiesing farm and has been remodeled into a modern home.

Directly across the road from the store and saloon was a sawmill owned by John Link. It was a busy place since virgin forests were found surrounding the town. Many large trees were cut down and brought by large wagons or bob-sleds to the thriving saw-mill where John and his helpers made them into lumber for barns and homes in the wilderness.

The saloon across the street was a busy place, with many fights between the Collins Boys from Carthagena and those living nearby Frogtown.

It was reported that many times Henry Cron found many of his customers owing huge amounts of charge accounts of whiskey. When he asked them to pay up, they would fell several trees nearby, bring them to the saw mill across the road from the saloon, and then John Link would pay Henry Cron for the whiskey, having been well repaid by the lumber made from the trees.

Also for many miles people brought in their sugarcane to the sugar cane mill across the road. There John Grevenkamp who operated the mill for more than ten years, placed the sugar cane in piles, for each customer. Then it was shredded and the juice pressed out of it, cooked and made into sorghum molasses.

But in the middle of the nineteenth century, Dogtown, one half mile east began to grow and in the year 1860 became the town of Marysville. Dogtov also had a saloon, a blacksmith shop run by Joh Cron, a wagon repair shop, a basket maker Herma Harter, a little log school house, a wooden missic church, a teachers house, a shoe-repair shop, and barbershop operated by Joe Woods. Joe charged 16 for haircuts and 5¢ for shaves. Prominent citizens this town were such names as Louis Kothman, Be Boeke, Fred Boeke, J. Kleinhenz, Charles Harburger, Michael Lechleiter, Joe Heirholzer, Be Greiwe and other pioneers of that time.

Dogtown now was laid out into a town and name Marysville. According to the surveyor's record Marysville (now called Cassella) was laid out in the northeast corner of section seven, range 3 east cor taining fifteen lots, each being four poles wide b sixteen poles deep, except lots eight and nine, which are only thirteen poles deep. There was a school le fifteen which was only three poles wide by eigl poles deep all of which they contain clear of stree and alleys. Marion Street (now Route 119) ran ea and west and Convent Road (now Cassell. Montezuma Road) ran through the town north ar south. School Street was twenty five wide ran as f. as the northwest corner of Lot number seven. Toda this is the cemetery road to Nativity of the Blesse Virgin Cemetery. North of lots one to seven was Li 8 (now having the Cassella Tavern, Pat Moelle Home and Frank Feltz Home on it and Lot 8 (no the Cassella Ball Field).

Marysville then was laid out in lots by 1860 an the post office was moved to Marysville and calle Cassella. Records show that the mission church was replaced by a larger church across the road, the present site of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgi Church. The Cane mill was moved from Frogtown to Dogtown as Marysville grew and there it was owne and run by Frank Feltz with John Dippold the cooker of the molasses. The mill still stands on the Martin Feltz Property along the Cassella Montezuma Road, but is no longer in operation.

Today the town of Cassella has a tavern run b Mr. and Mrs. Lari Robinson, a Fix-It-Shop owne and operated by Martin Feltz, The Cassella Garag operated by Clarence Fletz, The Marion Mutual Ir surance Building, The Nativity of the Blessed Virgi Church, the C.K. of A. Hall, the Parish Hall an many old and new homes spread out along Stat Route 119 and the Cassella Montezuma Road. by Ocar Eifert

THE CASSELLA CHURCH

In the year 1847 the Cassella parish was formed, me of the earliest German immigrants were the elzers, the Crons, and the Hierholzer families. The rly immigrants were all loyal earnest hard-orking Catholics. A small frame church was loted directly west of the present site across the ad. There the frame church stood for many years, was dedicated under the title of the Nativity of the essed Virgin Mary.

Since there was no parsonage, the priest resided at e Maria Stein Convent or after 1849 at the Gruen-wald Convent.

The mission church was soon too small to take re of the increasing population, so a new church d to be built. So in the year 1858 a new larger urch was built across the road a few rods right of e old mission church, with Father Habertheur as e first pastor of the newly built brick church.

About this time the town of Cassella was laid out, cluding many mercantile buildings and a post of-

:e.

In the year 1874 Father Englebert Ruff purchased $100 organ. Then following the pastor Father Sestina Ganther who made many improvements in e church with beautiful paintings and woodwork. During Father Shock's last few days of his pastor-

During Father Shock's last few days of his pastore the "demon fire" visited the little church and deroyed the woodwork, pictures and altars. Only the ur brick walls remained — a ghastly ruin.

Now Father August Seifert began the work of resration and by 1888 the little edifice was nearing mpletion. Through the efforts of Father Martin entinger, the interior of the church was frescoed id new altars and windows were installed. A new wer was erected and this is the same tower we see day. The tower or steeple is over one hundred feet gh. On top of the steeple a gold cross and a ball ere placed.

It was during Father Henry Drees pastorate that any improvements were made in the church, inuding the beautiful art windows you see today hich portray the mysteries of the rosary. Also a aw organ was installed, pumped by hand, until it as later electrified.

To Father Charles Romer in 1902 goes the credit erecting the beautiful, spacious parsonage which ill stands today. It was during Father Heffner's istorate a fierce storm wrecked the roof, ceiling, in dwindows. These had to be repaired. Father Heffer realized that the stoves in the church needed to replaced with an efficient heating system, so a isement was dug near the southern end of the fundation. But too much ground was dug out near e foundation and the entire back part of the furch caved in.

It did not take very long however to build a larger basement and enlarge the church. Then on its safer foundation was placed a sacristy, and a new heating system was installed and this vapor system is still used today. However the furnace now is run by oil.

In 1915 the church was stucco-coated over the scarred brick church enhancing its beauty considerably and in 1928 Fr. Vincent Muinch obtained a beautiful life like set of "Stations of the Cross" which were imported from Italy. He also beautified the surroundings by shrubbery and trees around the church and parsonage.

In 1939 Father Ivo Weis became pastor of our church and he had the church cleaned and redecorated. It was during his pastorate that we had several first masses.

Our centennial was celebrated on August 3, 1947 with a pontifical high mass and a church picnic. In 1950 Father Edward Vonderhaar became our pastor. It was during his pastorate we had our twelfth and thirteenth son of our parish to be ordained from our parish. Also during his pastorate a new roof was placed on our church, a $3600 Kimball Organ was purchased and the parish hall was obtained from the C.K. of A. for our C.C.D. classes and parish events. Father Edward Vonderhaar was our pastor for Father Edward Vonderhaar was our pastor for twenty years and when he retired he was followed by Father Francis Uecker. He repainted the inside of the church and the steeple.

On June 12, 1972 Father Vincent Parr became our pastor. He was confronted with many needed improvements and the planning of our 125th anniversary. This was celebrated in a most fitting manner. Other improvements he has made as of this date are the building of the garage, improvements in the parsonage, new improved storm windows on the church and the carpeting of the church. Another improvement being anticipated is the resurfacing of our parking lot.

Finally it may be said that God has blessed and rewarded this parish with thirteen priests, and seven sisters. by Oscar Eifert

The Home of C.K. of A. Branch No. 943 of Cassella. The interior of the building is modern, and also has a stage for plays, etc. It is located only about 25 feet from the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary Church, between the Church and the Church's CCD Building.

CASSELLA C.K. OF A. BRANCH

The Catholic Knights of America, (C.K. of A.), the second oldest Catholic Fraternal organization in the United States, was chartered as a National organization in April 1877 at Nashville, Tenn. Its headquarters were later moved to St. Louis, Mo. The Home office is now at 3525 Hampton Ave., St. Louis, Mo. 63139.

St. Mary's Branch (Cassella No. 943) was chartered on April 6, 1906, with ten names on the charter. They were Fred Bertke, Sebastian Delzeit, Jacob Cron, Ben Schmit, Joseph Schwieterman, Henry Vondrell, Frank Feltz, Joe Hierholzer, August Koesters and Anton Koesters. Frank Feltz was the charter president.

The membership in the Cassella Branch has grown and as of August 1978 numbered 461.

The first meetings of the Branch were held in an old school building which they purchased from the Board of Education a few years later. Many improvements have been made to the building including an addition of a stage, rest rooms, oil fired furnace, lowering of the ceiling and paneling the interior. The Branch uses the same building today.

When school was discontinued in the other school building, the Branch purchased the Building, water well and the school grounds from the Marion Local Board of Education. It was purchased in April of 1959. The land was needed for the Branch's many activities, including shooting matches, picnics etc.

The Branch sold the Building to the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Church in July of 1964, for $1.00, and it is now being used for CCD classes.

Meetings of the Branch are held the third Monda of each month in their hall, and is preceded by Mass celebrated by their spiritual Director Fathe Parr in the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Church.

The National C.K. of A. celebrated their 100th ar niversary in St. Louis in April of 1977. The Cassel Branch also held a 100th anniversary celebration preceded by a Mass celebrated by Bishop Elko of Cincinnati, which was held in July of 1977.

Being a family fraternal Society, the C.K. of A. er courages 100% family membership. The Society has no auxiliary members and accepts members at ag zero to 70. Juveniles become adult members at ag 18, and then have voting power and are eligible thold office. The Society is an insurance benevoler organization. Its theme is "Fraternalism is a Famil Affair".

Art Ranly has been the organizer (Agent) since 1954, and has written up over 300 members. Social members are also accepted into the organization.

The activity that leaves the most memories is the plays that have been presented by its member. These plays were good fund raising projects and made possible the remodeling of the hall, and purchasing new chairs etc. Another fund raising activities held each year is the annual shooting match whice features trap and stationary shooting.

Other activities over the years were: basketba teams, softball teams, annual hamburger fries, pic nics, annual communion breakfast, annual chi dren's Christmas party and family picnic day.

The Branch makes donations to the Cassell church, CCD funds, the right-to-life organization the parish church, to various school functions, an

CHICKASAW

The village of Chickasaw, Ohio, located in the orthern part of Marion Township, was laid out and rveyed July 27, 1838, by James Hanks, Deputy irveyor, acknowledged by John Nutter and James ooks before H. H. Frazier, Justice of the Peace.

At that time the United States was at war with the minole Indians in the southeastern states, making mericans highly conscious of the tribes in that part the country, among which was the Chickasaw na-

After the Treaty of Greenville in 1795, war beveen west central Ohio Indians and the white seters ended. Missionaries of the Roman Catholic hurch ministered to red and white men of the ter-

Father Navarron, an early French missionary adinistered rites of the church to early settlers of the hickasaw settlement in Mercer County. The settleent and two neighboring streams derived their ames from the two (Big and Little) Chickasaw Inian tribes which originally occupied the northern art of Marion Township.

The settlement which became Chickasaw Village, as the only incorporated village in Marion Townnip in 1890. The following were the village officials f that period: Mayor, H. S. Schaffer; clerk, Joseph Jorsten; treasurer, Joseph Hanfelder; marshal, Wil-am Cron.

The early German Catholic settlers of Chickasaw vere Arnold Clune, Mathias Gast, D. Hinders and ne Grieshops, Kremers, Rentzes, Niekamps, Hulcamp, Fleck, Hierhilzers, Stelzers, and Crons. imong the early Chickasaw residents were Joseph filler, Joseph Wahler, Henry Kaiser, Garrett Stamnener, Henry Rose, Fedena Cook, Mathias Stelzer, nd John Listenschneider. Most of the early settlers vere either born in Germany and came here at an arly age or were of German descent.

John Henry Grieshop and his wife, Helena, came o the township in 1846. Their sons, Barney and lenry, operated a brickyard and their grandson, lugust, in partnership with Mr. Meinerding, operted a hardware store.

Chickasaw showed little growth until 1880, when he Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Dayton Railroad was built through the town. It was then that the village tarted to progress.

In 1880 Chickasaw had two hotels, one operated by John Link and the other by Charles Stelzer. With he completion of the railroad a third hotel, a twostory brick structure, was erected in 1881 by Henry Gast.

With the completion of the C.H.&D. railroad enaoled local businessmen to ship their grain, flour, umber, and timber to Cincinnati and Dayton.

The C.H.&D. Railroad ran from Dayton, Ohio to the north, mostly along State Route 48 to West Milton on to Covington then on to Yorkshire, Osgood, Maria Stein, Chickasaw, to Montezuma toward Delphos, Ohio.

There were depots at each town. The depot agent at Chickasaw was Beda Kramer. He lived in Chickasaw. It brought into Chickasaw coal, sand, gravel, and other freight. It took out "Blue Ribbon Flour", wheat and other grains, livestock, and lumber. The Union Handle Factory shipped its products of butter churns, wheelbarrows, and ironing boards, broom handles, rake handles, axe handles and hammer handles and boat oars.

The C.H.&D. also had a daily passenger train and baggage car which carried mail and express. The passenger train during the summer time would run a passenger train with as many as 6 to 8 passenger cars known as "excursions" for people that would come home to visit their families on Sunday. The train arrived at 9:00 or 10:00 a.m. and returned to Dayton at about 5:00 or 6:00 p.m.. People would go to the depot on Sunday morning in great crowds to see who came home on weekends and also in the evening to see them off on their journey back to Dayton or Cincinnati.

In addition to three hotels, Henry Gast, Jacob Link, and Rawers and Tekamp have general stores in Chickasaw. Frederick Gast dealt in groceries and notions. H. S. Shaffer sold building supplies. Joseph Dorsten was the town blacksmith and B. A. Spoltman sold harnesses. Gerhard Schroder sold monuments. William Cron operated a wagon factory and Frederick Max ran a sawmill. Another manufacturing concern is the Union Handle Company. Frank Grieshop and Al Schwieterman owned the company.

In addition, the village had a druggist, George Ferner. Dr. H. G. Rawers was the town's only physician.

Shortly before the turn of the century, Chickasaw found itself in the center of an oil and gas boom. The gas was piped to the south as far as Urbana, but the supply did not last long and most of the wells were abandoned.

The Chickasaw flour mill burned down in 1909, but it was quickly rebuilt and continued making

"Blue Ribbon Flour."

The "Portrait and Biographical Record of Mercer and VanWert Counties, Ohio" (1896) documents the story of early families in and around Chickasaw.

It speaks of a flourishing Chickasaw in the 1880's. Mathias Gast, descendant of a founding family, started a mercantile business that prospered through three generations. Peter Gast helped build the Grand Reservoir Dam.

Henry Gast, at 23 in 1878 married Miss Mary Schwietermann of Sebastian, by whom he had 12 children. At an early age Henry had learned the trade of shoemaker. He also worked in a brickyard, ran a sawmill and started a livery stable. Later he managed a grain elevator. He was spoken of as a successful man of unusual sagacity and enterprise.

After the death of his first wife, Gast married Mrs. Elizabeth Steltzer (whose husband Matthew had died in October, 1884). They had one child, Leo, born May 1, 1895, who was killed in World War I in

Mrs. Elizabeth Gast lived to be 101, passing away in 1952, and was noted throughout the community for kind-hearted, friendly disposition.

J. J. Dues ran a machine shop in Chickasaw in 1890's manufacturing engines and boilers. He also sold threshing machines, clover hullers, and repaired all kinds of machinery.

John Hagedorn ran a successful hotel in the 1890's after failing in the sawmill and grain businesses.

Bernard Mestemaker, in the early 1880's engaged in work on the Canal, earning and saving money enough to purchase a tract of 80 acres of woodland in Marion Township. By much hard work he cleared and converted the land into a fine farm.

His son, Bernard, grew up to farm and add 80 more excellent acres to the Mestemaker farmlands.

In 1906 Peter Niekamp became a partner in the Chickasaw Grain and Milling Co..

Chickasaw streets were not lighted at night until December, 1911. The old handle factory supplied electric current for a limited number of hours each night, replacing the dimmer gas lights.

Then adversity struck the village of Chickasaw. The timber supply was exhausted during the second decade of this century and in 1923 the Cincinnati, Hamilton, & Dayton Railroad was abandoned.

These were serious blows to the community, but it was not until 1933, with the closing of the Farmers Bank that Chickasaw came face to face with the fact that its growing days were over.

Population figures for the village also tell a story. In 1890 Chickasaw's population was 499; 1900, 300; 1950, 166; 1975, it is approximately 362. Many of the residents live in Chickasaw because they choose to, and work in industries of larger nearby towns.

In 1940 the Chickasaw Milling Co. plant was destroyed by fire and while it was rebuilt, it no longer milled flour. Its owner, the late Louis A. Grieshop, devoted the entire operation of the mill to the general elevator and feed business. Todays grain elevator is operated by Mercer Landmark Inc.

Chickasaw Garage, present owner Arnold Homan

Other businesses which have been around since the departure of the train is the automotive garages. On October 19, 1927, Charles H. Huelsman purchased from Louis George Jr., the garage equipment and parts for $612.00. The equipment was housed in the west lean-to of the Joseph Dorsten Blacksmith Shop. (This building was later owned by Ed H. Zahn, local blacksmith). Charles Huelsman continued business in this building, as a General Garage at that time repairing mostly Model T Fords and Fords on tractors.

On November 1, 1933, Mr. Ed J. Rindler bought half interest in the business, and it was operated as Chickasaw Garage until May, 1934, when the business was moved to the present location of Chickasaw Garage on Franklin Street. January 1, 1947, Ed Rindler bought the half interest that Charles Huelsman owned and continued to operate as Chickasaw Garage.

January, 1947, Mr. Huelsman then bought the lot on the corner of State Route 716. He also bought a two car garage from A. J. Lechliter. This building was then moved from the present Harold Rentz property to the corner lot on State Route 716. An extra stall and office were added to the two car garage. The building was opened for business June 1, 1947 as "Huelsman's Garage."

In 1955, two extra stalls were added on the southeast corner of the building. In 1968, a 60 ft. addition was added to the West of the building.

January 1, 1969, Charles Huelsman sold the buness to his son, Robert and he continues to operathe business as Huelsman's Automotive. In 1974 50' x 80' steel building was erected south of the grage and it houses the Wholesale and Retail PaBusiness known as Huelsman's Autopro. Photo Huelsman's Automotive & Chickasaw Garage.

Chickasaw is proud of their privately own water system. In the 1940's it was believed to ha the smallest community waterworks in the count In those days just about every home in Chickashad a dug well. For one reason or another th found "dug" wells were unsatisfactory. For each drill his own well would have entailed consideral expense and besides, each home would then ha more water than was required.

The idea began to jell back in 1946. Urban Zal and his father Ed Zahn, John Wenning, Julius Bruz Charles Hueslman began to bat an idea around. O night they had a meeting around the council tak and the next day things began to happen. The talked with the state department of natural r sources and knew where they could find an amp supply of water. They decided the well should be near the center of the village as possible becauthere would be less trenching and less pipe. The hired a driller, he went down 236 feet where I found a supply of 2000 gallons an hour. Out of the combined funds the men bought concrete block and put up a small building (Pump House). The bought a three horsepower motor and a pump, a 52 gallon storage tank and as much two and 1 half inc pipe as they could lay their hands on. Then the hired a trenching machine and laid their two and half inch main, taking the water off from there int the homes. As the project progressed others joine in the operation such as Ed Rindler and A. J. Rer gers. Two garages and eight homes had all the wate they needed. The individual assessment was $2.00 month. It cost $1.00 for the electricity to operate th pump during a month. There was a charge mad against the company of $2.00 for the rental of th ground upon which the Pump House stood and in that is included payment to Charles Huelsman to keep an eye on the pump and the three horsepowe motor. The building and laying of the pipe main and pipelines were done by the townsmen after reg ular working days.

This water system continued to serve the village of Chickasaw until August of 1975 when the pump house exploded. The cause is unknown. The Neighbor Water Co. went to work on other means of getting water to the towns people. They decided on a water tower. The new tower is 110 feet high and has a capacity of 25,000 gallon in the tank and an additional 9,000 in the riser pipe. Cost of the project (tower $28,000) and the base etc. an additional ($12,- 000) for a total of $40,000.

Bruns Building Supply of St. Henry put in the pase for the tower and the Security Tank and Tower lo. of Henderson, Kentucky, supplied the tower. On the Neighbor Water Co. Board at the time of the building of the tower were Charles Huelsman, Paul Huelsman, Urban Zahn, mayor, Tony Rengers, Ralph Liette, Harold Koesters, Dick Rindler, Andrew Droesch, and Roman Steinbrunner.

In the pre-prohibition days of the 1920's eight saoons did a good business in Chickasaw. One tavern snown as the Town Tavern still remains from the arly 1900's. Joseph Hein owned the tavern prior to 928 when he sold it to Fred Hilgefort. Fred owned he tavern for 2 weeks when he resold it to Anthony . Rengers who bought the stock and fixtures. The building belonged to the Wooden Shoe Brewing Company in Minster when in 1932 the law changed ind breweries were no longer permitted to run a reail part of a business. At that time A. J. Rengers bought the building. He operated the Town Tavern or 43 years until he sold the tavern to Richard Puhoff in April, 1972, who later took in Marinus Puhoff as a partner. Several years after Rich Puthoff old his share to Marinus Puthoff. Joseph Puthoff ind Mel Moeller bought the tavern in 1978 and are he present owners. The top and back bar are the original bars bought in 1913 by Charles Meinerding or $1,000.00. Also the beer can collection which is n the tavern above the back bar has approximately 100 cans dating to the early 1950's.

Another business which has survived since the early 1900's is the local grocery store. Now known as Kremer's Market owned and operated by Geral and loyce Kremer. They purchased the store in 1973 from Al Kramer. He bought the store in the early 1960's from Anthony Heitkamp, a local school teacher in the community before running the store. After his teaching career he ran the store and the Post Office for 20 years. Tony Heitkamp bought the business from Henry Rengers in the early 1940's. Henry Rengers and his family of 11 children made his residence above the store. Henry Rengers bought the store in 1912 from Jacob Link.

The hardware store has survived the many years of change. Joseph (J.J.) Meinerding operated the hardware since the late 1800's. He sold the hardware to William Spoltman in 1945. William Spoltman operated the hardware store for 30 years until his retirement in 1975, when he sold the hardware to Arnold Homan, present owner.

One of the newer businesses of the town is the Homan Trucking Company. It was first started in 1947 by Val Homan, who owned one truck at that time. He has expanded his operation to seven trucks and he employs eight full time employees. He does most of his hauling for Hartwig Poultry in Fort Re-

The latest business to arrive in the Village of Chickasaw is the Zahn Machine Shop, now known as Chickasaw Machine and Tool Inc. It began as a hobby for Urban Zahn. He worked in the evenings in his small metal building located at the northeast corner of Chickasaw Road and State Route 274. He made replacement parts for various businesses. In the late 1950's when Ex-Cello left New Bremen where he worked, he decided to start his own small machine shop. His operation grew until he had several people working with him. He then had to have extra space so he used Ed Zahn's Blacksmith Shop for a few machines and.employees. The present building was built in 1961 when he purchased the land from Mrs. Charles (Annie) Huber in 1960. In 1972, the company added another building to its operation. Chickasaw Machine and Tool Inc. makes all kinds of replacement parts, special gears, and milling fixtures for various larger companies. Chickasaw Machine and Tool Inc. employs about 15 employees.

Recreation in the Village has been mainly baseball, when it was organized in 1950. Land was purchased from William Niekamp and everyone in town contributed time and labor to the creation of a ball diamond. In 1952, the diamond was lighted for night games. It is still in operation today by the "Little League", the Chickasaw girls team "Chicks" and the many adult mens teams.

Also in Chickasaw is a horse shoe court which attracts men from all over the county to play in their

Tuesday night games.

PRECIOUS BLOOD CHURCH

In the early 1830's a Catholic movement began with the building of a log chapel in Minster. Soon six miles west a log church honoring St. John was erected. The March of Christ into southern Mercer County had begun in a "procession" of churches. Within a year or so church building was taken up in St. Rose. Similarly buildings of churches began in nearby Casella, St. Henry, St. Anthony, Philothea, and Egypt.

One day (1852) this "procession of churches" approached the people of the village of Chickasaw. There was stirring for a church in the surrounding area to the northwest. St. Sebastian was still woods and not suited for building. (The village came only after the church was built.) Adam Gerlach, Albert Stammen, John Will, and Herman Schwieterman were sent to confer with the people of Chickasaw. The church was to be built in the neighborhood lying northwest of the present mill some 100 feet west of the line which once was the Cincinnati Dayton Railroad tracks. Albert Stammen offered to donate five acres of land. This offer, however, was not welcomed by the Chickasaw people; according to one account they preferred having a hotel. Chickasaw was passed by. The procession of churches moved on to St. Sebastian and other churches in Mercer County came into being.

The Chickasaw folk two generations later were of another mind. They were trying to gain a place in the Catholic march. In October, 1894, the people of Chickasaw were busy hauling stones for the foundation of a building 60 x 30 x 16 feet. The building did not achieve clear identity at first. Correspondents in Der Mercer County Bote sometimes called it "chapel(hall)." Franz De Curtins and helpers took the job of painting it in March of 1895.

Sometime in the spring of 1895, a petition was made to the Archbishop for a chapel, giving as a reason that some old people would like to go to Mass occasionally during the week. Permission was granted, and a "Chapel of Ease" was made of the hall (which became the nave portion of the church at the addition in 1903). Mass was said in it one or two days of the week, but no services were allowed on Sundays and Holy Days. The first mass was said on Friday, October 11, at 8:00 A.M. The Catholic people attended Sunday Mass at St. Sebastian, belonged to St. John or St. Rose.

The next year, March 26, 1896, lots 19 & 20 c which the building was standing were deeded Archbishop Elder by William and Josepha Miller hold in trust "for the Catholics worshipping at the Chapel at Chickasaw." In June of 1896, Charle Desch had the contract to put a tower on the Chapel. A bell arrived on May 9, 1898.

The increase of Catholics in Chickasaw strengtle ened the thinking of having their own church. seems "the having to cross the railroad track ever time they wished to attend divine service" was a factor. Often they walked the tracks to the Niekam farm, cut across it to Sebastian Road. The farmer had their horses for transportation, but the tow people walked the ties.

The strong thoughts for their own church forme a divisive course of action. On the first Sunday January, 1903, pew renting day at St. Sebastia none of the Chickasaw people rented pews ar nearly everyone took prayer book, rosary etc. out the pew. On the following Sunday, January 11, on two families came from Chickasaw. The others gatlered in the chapel of ease to begin the rosary whe the bells at St. Sebastian rang for High Mass. I make matters more critical, at 3:00 A.M. on the 12t of January, heartbreaking flames destroyed St. Sebastian church and contents. The question of church at Chickasaw was then compounded wit the question of rebuilding the burnt out church.

The Precious Blood Parish record books begin a this time. The first baptism listed is dated Januar 14, 1903, was Rose Elizabeth Falke, daughter of Joh and Bernachine Falke, just two days after the fire Other baptismal records are noted "at Chickasaw by Father Antonius Dick, C.PP.S. pastor of St. St bastian at the time, who became first pastor of Precious Blood Church of Chickasaw. The first maining was that of Matilda Dorsten to Bernar Dorsten in October, 1903. The first Holy Communications of the state of ion were received April 10, 1904.

It's not certain that all parish functions wer started immediately after the fire. On Friday afte the fire word was sent that no Mass would be hel at St. Sebastian and the people were to go to church convenient to each.

Divided opinions about the rebuilding of St. Se bastian Church enlivened desires for their own par ish in the people of Chickasaw and in the folk around Montezuma as well. On January 21, stormy meeting of the three groups were held in th chapel at Chickasaw. This meeting achieved no con clusion. As no news was coming around, the peopl at St. Sebastian chose Ignatz Dabblet and Henr Mestemaker to see the Archbishop on February 4 1903. The Archbishop was under the impression a: agreement had been reached at the earlier Jan. 2 meeting, that the Church would be built at Chicka saw. Learning of no such agreement, the Archbisho directed them to the dean, Father Frank Quatman o Sidney. Father Quatman studied the matter and ap proved the rebuilding of St. Sebastian Church which was signed for final approval by the Archbishop or Feb. 14, 1903.

What went on at this point is uncertain. However according to the correspondent in Der Bote, the de cision of Archbishop Elder that Chickasaw "is ielbstandig" and his permission to enlarge the hurch were announced to the people at the first olemn High Mass in Chickasaw on Easter Sunday, April 12, 1903.

There was no dallying. From among the 58 families Father Antonius Dick, C.PP.S. named the first vardens: Joseph Seitz, Heinrich Niekamp, John Will, and Gerhard Schroder. Trees were felled and lawed and sufficient wood was on the property by he Saturday after Easter.

Father Paulinus Fross, C.PP.S. second pastor May, 1903) is said to have painted the church. The vindows were in place by the beginning of July. The first funeral from the church took place July 24, 1903. "Frederich Runnebaum," who was interred at

3t. Sebastian Cemetery.

The third pastor, Father Anthony Tabke, diocesan priest came in early October, 1903. At the time several acres of land north of the village were bought or a cemetery. The first burial in it was the thirteen year old Elizabeth Harting on October 27, 1903.

On November 3, 1903 William and Josepha Miller leeded the rest of the present parish property to the Archbishop, "In trust, however, for the congregation of Chickasaw, Mercer County, Ohio, for a residence, a school house, church, or house of worship and reigious services, or other religious education or chartable purposes under the faith, rules, usages and government of the Roman Catholic Church."

The parish grew and dwindled with the population. From around twenty baptisms at first the number fell to ten or so in the years after 1916. From 1932-1946 the baptisms were consistently below ten. The rise came and 22 were baptized in 1951. After this the number has remained in the neighborhood of twenty. In 1977, 18 baptisms were reported, this included the triplet girls, Kelly, Kendra, and Kristy Kremer daughters of Gary and Helen Post Kremer.

Some historical dates related to the Chickasaw

Church are:

1894 — October, stones were hauled for foundation of hall (chapel) to be $60 \times 30 \times 16$ feet.

1895 - March, Franz De Curtins undertook the

The growing town population overburdened the old structure. Father Joseph Dick began to look toward the possibility of a new church and strove to set aside some reserve funds for this purpose. However, the condition of his health prevented his spearheading a full effort.

When Father Dick retired in 1962, Father Francis Uecker, C.PP.S took on this project. With the help of a Building Committee and all the parishioners the project was in full swing. The plans of the new church were developed by Robert Holtmeier, architect. In September of 1965 Archbishop Karl J. Altar gave approval to the project.

Groundbreaking was held on the First Sunday of Advent with Monsignor Henry Ausdenmore, Dean of the St. Marys Deanery officiating, assisted by Father Francis Uecker, C.PP.S and Father Anselm Boeke.

The excavating began in the middle of March, 1966. The cornerstone was laid by the Auxiliary Bishop Edward A. McCarthy on February 23, 1967.

The use of the new church began May 19, with school children and some adults in attendance. The first mass was offered on a Friday (as was the day of the very first Mass in Chickasaw).

Other Historical Dates:

1963 — Plans began to move toward a new church 1964 — Architect, Robert L. Holtmeier drew up the plans.

1965 — August 25, Father Anselm F. Boecke became pastor. November 28, ground breaking was held.

1967 — February 23, Auxiliary Bishop Edward A. McCarthy laid the cornerstone. May 19, Friday at 7:55 A.M. the first Mass was offered in the new church. May 22, Monday, the dismantling of the old Church building began. June 18, at 9:30 A.M., the altar was consecrated by Most Reverend Edward A. McCarthy, Auxiliary Bishop of Cincinnati.

1969 — Father Cletus Stang became pastor 1970 — Father Henry Naber became pastor

1977 — Father Cletus Stang returns as pastor of Chickasaw

1978 — October, Mrs. Cy (Wilma Homan) Thobe passed away. She served as organist for 35 years, beginning at the age of eleven.

Today the Chickasaw parish has approximately 165 families and the population of the town and church continues to grow.

THE CHICKASAW FIRE DEPARTMENT

Prior to the year 1928, the Chickasaw Village owned four pieces of fire equipment. One piece of equipment was a horse or man-powered drawn pumper which was powered with a single cylinder engine. The pumper was stuck tight after some one accidently filled the engine with varnish by mistake. In those days they bought the oil in bulk and kept it in a varnish can and the wrong can was mistakenly used. When the pumper was powered by man it took 6 or 8 men with a teeter-totter arrangement from the sides of the pump.

The second piece of equipment was a two-wheel cart with two 20 or 25 gallon tanks that were filled with water and charged with soda and acid to create a pressure to force the water into the hoses. The hoses were 3/4 inch.

The other two pieces of equipment were hose carts. One of the hose carts is on display at the Lima

The village council traded the pumper and the chemical cart for a used Reo Speed Wagon Fire Truck. This truck had solid tires and its speed was about 20-25 miles per hour. This truck was delivered to Chickasaw on Good Friday, 1928. Upon the arrival of the truck, the village council decided at once that this truck would not serve the purpose of the community. The Howe Fire Apparatus Co. agreed to give the village full refund for the truck if they would buy a new truck from them within six months. They went to work at once and sold membership subscriptions to the rural property owners and farmers. They agreed to give the rural member protection for the lifetime of the truck at $25.00 member. This then, began the organization of the fire company known as the Chickasaw Communit Fire Company.

The active volunteer firemen at this time were: Joseph Mestemaker, Joseph Hein, William Niekam Julius Niekamp, Edmund Grieshop, Alfred Win Alfred Rentz, Roman Rentz, Philip (Tulip) Frenze Linus Grieshop, A. J. Rengers, Ike Anderson, an Charles Huelsman as Chief.

In August, 1928, The Howe Fire Apparatus C delivered a GMC Truck with a 350 gal per min pump and a 200 gallon water tank.

In April, 1949 the fire company was reorganize and named The Chickasaw Community Mutual Fit

The present building was erected in 1949 with remodeling done to enlarge the rear of the fire department building in 1970. Prior to 1949 the fire department was located in the Village Hall directly across the street from its present location. The Village Ha at that time had a garage on the rear west side adjacent to the building. Ed Zahn, the local blacksmit fired the potbelly stove everyday in the winter the

In the early 1900's the Chickasaw Elevator was vned by local people, and went by the name of tickasaw Grain & Mill Company. The main operan at that time was milling flour.

In 1909 the Flour Mill burned and was rebuilt, and e name was changed to Blue Ribbon Milling Com-

In early 1914 the mill was sold to Louis Grieshop, hn Link (local men) and Mr. Mueller from Cincinti, Ohio. At that time the mill was run much as a mily operation.

Louis Grieshop was Manager and Salesman. The cal Mill sold flour locally and had a good trade in e Dayon and Cincinnati area. All Local Flour was ipped by horse and wagon. The flour for the Dayn and Cincinnati area was shipped by C.H.D. Rail-

In the early 1918 the mill purchased a truck which is called the Reo Speed Wagon with speed of out 8 M.P.H. for local delivery.

Ivo Grieshop became Manager in 1936, and mill-

g flour was the main operation.

July of 1940 the Mill burned down for the second ne and was rebuilt on the same site. The operation en was changed to more feed and grain, and no illing of flour.

The Grieshop Family the main share holders sold e Elevator to Mercer County Farm Bureau Co-op June of 1950, and today we know it as Mercer ndmark, Inc.

The business now was feed and grain and only a nall amount of fertilizer which was sold in bags. In 67 the Co-op started to handle bulk fertilizer from e barn across from the Elevator. A larger building is built in 1972 just west of the elevator. By 1973 prage Tanks were set and the company got into e liquid fertilizer business.

Land was purchased in 1976 from Leo Homan, a mer west of the elevator, and at that time an androus ammonia plant was installed.

MARION TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS

Early schools: The first education in Marion Township took place in the homes of the early settlers. The first public schools were in log cabins heated by fireplaces and furnished by wooden benches for seats and broad boards placed around the walls for writing desks. These first schools were subscription schools. Farmers subscribed $1-$2 for each scholar.

In 1825 the Ohio General Assembly required the districting of each township for school purposes. Similar legislation in 1838 provided for the building of district schoolhouses. The financing of district schools was by taxation but the transition from subscription to discrict schools was gradual.

The earliest educators in Mercer county were not professional teachers, but were selected because of their talent and training from such professions as the ministry, law and civil engineering. Teachers were usually not married and were required to follow strict moral codes.

Schools 1870's-1920: Sutton's History of Van Wert and Mercer County published in 1882 lists a total of 658 white pupils in Marion Township's seven district schools in 1872. "Colored Youth" in the enumeration totaled 38. Teachers or Board of Directors members were paid to take enumerations of all children ages 6-21. The district schoolhouses were one or two room brick buildings that were in walking distance, (often as much as 2-3 miles) for neighboring children.

Schools of the period included Hartings, Dwenger, Puthoff, Cassella, St. Rose, Sebastian, Chickasaw, and St. John; the first three were named for neighboring farmers. Scranton's Mercer County History published in 1907 states that the township was divided into 10 subdistricts. Pictured in the 1907 volume are two brick school buildings, each one story high in Chickasaw. These schoolhouses stood east of the two story building that was erected in

In 1907 a parochial graded school in Maria Stein enrolled about 200 pupils. Boys and girls were separated in grades 4-8, the girls occupying the upstairs. The school stood east of the St. John Catholic Church.

Marion Elementary School, State Route 119, Maria Stein, 1964-

Early teachers of the period included J. M. Pitze at St. Rose who made $48 per month for 9½ month of school and Casper Franzer at Dwenger wh earned $45 per month for 40 weeks. Both teacher were hired in 1897. By 1900 John Koester was earning $50 per month for 10 months at St. Rose.

The children of the district schools were we drilled in the basic 3 R's and were by 1903 using th famous McGuffey Readers and Spellers as well a White's New Complete Arithmetic and McMaster Histories. Geography, physiology and civil government were also taught in 1903.

Sister M. Rosalia, the Directrix at the St. John school recorded grades in 1904 for her 39 pupils age 8-14. Sister graded on deportment, spelling, reading writing, arithmetic, geography, grammar, U.S. History, Cathechism, Bible and German. By 1915 students at St. John were also given instruction in vocamusic and orthography.

School was almost never cancelled because a snow. Students either walked through the snow a were piled on horse drawn snow sleds. Schools wer however, cancelled due to epidemics such as diptheria in 1909, and a two week quarantine in May 191 Scarlet fever and influenza also closed schools from or two weeks.

Over the next several decades a number of ded cated teachers served the educational needs of the children of the various district schools. Of those teachers three are mentioned here because of the many continuous years in the profession. Miss Josephine Franzer taught at the Osgood Village schofrom 1916-1962 and during her career taught everyear in the same room! Ted Hemmelgarn taught years including positions at Sebastian, St. Rose Marion high school (eighth grade), and St. John. O car Eifert retired in 1971 after forty years of faithf service without ever missing a day of school!

HIGH SCHOOL. The first high school in the ownship was at St. John. It was a two-year course of tudy begun about 1925. Chickasaw also had during he 1930's a two-year high school that was continued until 1935. If students wanted to complete four tears of high school they attended at St. Henry or director.

St. John high school's first class graduated in 1937. Tasketball was popular during the 1940's and footall began in 1945. The school's mascot was the Aces" and then the "Blue Jays", the school song vas sung to the theme of "Anchors Away". The first earbook was published in 1947.

CONSOLIDATION. The organizational meeting or the consolidation of the district schools of Maron Township and the Osgood Village school of Parke County took place on September 23, 1955 in the agriculture building of Marion high school. The ew district included the districts of Cassella, St. ose, St. John, Sebastian, Chickasaw and Osgood.

The newly created Board closed the Sebastian thool and sent the first six grades to Chickasaw and osed both the Cassella and St. Rose schools and ent the first six grades to St. John. The three valted buildings were sold separately at public aucton. Alfred Will purchased the Sebastian building or $1,500.00. The C.K. of A. at Cassella purchased the Cassella school building for $700.00 and the St. ose schoolhouse was bought by the St. Rose hurch for $600.00.

The electors of the new district passed a bond isie May 8, 1956 for $466,000.00 to construct a new gh school. In 1956 the first "Marion" senior class aduated. The students attended at the St. John silding.

Charles M. archer was the superintendent and Ray Giesige as the principal. The "Class of 1959" was the first ass from the new building to graduate. Marion's tascot was the "Flyers", a name chosen by students oting while they were attending school at the old silding.

An addition to the high school was constructed in 766. The addition included a music room, art room and health clinic.

Because of over-crowding the District built an eleentary building in 1964. Don Weber was the first principal.

In 1977 Marion voters approved an addition to the elementary building. After the 1977-8 school year three smaller elementary buildings — Osgood, Chickasaw and St. John — were closed. The Osgood and Chickasaw buildings were sold to the respective villages and the St. John building was leased to the St. John Church for religion classes. The new addition opened September 5, 1978.

In 1978 Robert Huelsman was superintendent, Rex Carr and Robert Worrell were elementary and high school principals respectively. Lois Pohlmann was treasurer and Alice Hegemier was curriculum director. The Board of Education consisted of Paul Huelsman (President) Ernest Hartings (Vice President) Urban Knapke, Robert Luebke, and Shirley Schaefer.

The community has taken great pride in its schools. Marion voters had passed every operating and bond issue on the ballot. Besides the excellent course of study, the school has enjoyed superb bands and very successful athletic programs. Marion residents were extremely proud of their 1975 State Basketball Championship! AINT ALOYSIUS PARISH Carthagena

After the Emlen Institute at Carthagena, in 1861, s converted into St. Charles Borromeo Seminary, reral neighboring Catholic families became reguattendants at Sunday Masses offered in the semiry's small chapel. Four years later, under the guidce of Father Aloys Schelbert, sixteen of these meer households were organized into a parish unthe patronage of St. Aloysius Gonzaga.

The heads of the households forming the new agregation (the county's 13th Catholic parish) re: August Buehler, Anthony DeCurtins, Chrisn Desch, John Hellmuth, William Hess, John oeger, Blasius Kunkler, Eustace Kunkler, Henry ermann, Henry Papenbrock, August Piekenbrock, arry Thobe, Peter Van Den Bosch and George

During the next decade of years the number of nilies advanced to thirty-five. The pastors suceding Father Schelbert through the decade were thers Bernard Dickmann, Anton Guggenberger, athias Kenk and Henry Drees.

On February 22, 1875 in the seminary's study hall, ther Drees chaired a special meeting, with its enda centering on the need for a parish church to use the growing congregation. It was decided that brick church be constructed, and a building comittee was chosen, namely: Philip Frey, Frederick rethoefel and Peter Knoth. The selection of the urch site — a lot at the northwest corner of the minary farm (donated by the Society of the Prepus Blood) — evoked some prolonged and divisive bates, until a bit of forceful pastoral persuasion by ther Drees finally settled the issue. Anthony Deritins of Carthagena was then engaged as architect d the final plans were set.

Construction began in the spring of 1876. Two ars later, just off the junction of State Route 274 d U.S. Route 127, a new St. Aloysius Church pod ready for Dedication Day ceremonies on June 1, 1878. The Very Rev. Bernard Austerman, Provinal of the Society of the Precious Blood, presided as legate of the Most Rev. John Purcell, Archbishop Cincinnati.

For some years thereafter, each Sunday the semiiry students and brothers proceeded in prayerful ocession to the new St. Aloysius Church to particiite in the parish High Mass as bell-ringers, acolytes id choristers.

Two bronze plaques at the church entrance memialize The Pioneers 1865-66 of the parish and The uilders 1876-78 of the church — and also the fifen sister parishes and a Celina group of nonatholics who generously contributed to the project. A quarter of a century later (1903-06) the church as enlarged by the addition of a new sanctuary use and two sacristies.

Since its beginning the parish has been under the tre of the Precious Blood Fathers. Following Father rees in the role of pastor have been Fathers Godey Schlachter, Theopistus Wittmer, William Russ, regory Yussel, Julian Mayer, Jerome Ueber, Bonice Russ, Ulrich Mueller, Henry Post and James elley.

In 1928 Father Mueller compiled an interesting, statistical history of the parish to mark the Golden Jubilee of the Dedication of St. Aloysius Church. The various parish societies and organizations are presented in group pictures.

The five-man Advisory Board consisted of Henry Franzer, Herman Hoying, Joseph Link, Peter Olding and Henry Wuebker. Officers for the men's St. Lawrence Society in the jubilee year were Bernard Koester, Anthony Kremer, and Henry Balster, while the Jr. Holy Name Society leaders were Leander Koester, Charles Huber and Leo Broeker.

The jubilee-year officers for the St. Monica Christian Mothers Sodality were Elizabeth Rosengarten, Anna Eyink, and Mary Forsthoefel, while the St. Rose Young Ladies Sodality was directed by Pauline Forsthoefel, Theresia Wuebker, Rosa Meier, Cecilia Meier and Mary Hartke.

The men's choir, under the guidance of organist Louis Huelsman, consisted of Bernard Balster, Bernard Kremer, Herman Kremer, Peter Olding, August Stelzer, and John Stelzer, Jr., in the tenor section. The bass voices were provided by William Franzer, Julius Forsthoefel, Henry Hess, Charles Huber, Joseph Huber, Edward Wuebker, and Henry Wuebker.

In its Centennial Year — 1978 — St. Aloysius Church, recently renovated, continues to serve as the center of parish life for eighty-five families, whose portraits are featured in a newly published Parish Directory.

Centennial-year officers of the St. Lawrence Society are Samuel Moorman, Carson Cheek and William Koesters. The St. Monica Sodality's varied activites are directed by Elsie Gerlach, Lillian Moorman, Vicki Siegrist and Edna Koester.

Mary Lou Muhlenkamp, Debbie Kremer, Cindy Hoying and Sharon Kunkler are the current leaders of Catholic youth action (C.Y.O.).

The present parish choir, leading the congregation's participation in the chant and psalmody of liturgical services, consists of Edward Bender, Ray Bruggeman, Richard and James Hartke, Andrew Luthman, Albert Kessen, Richard and Keith Selhorst. Diane Albers and Joyce Evers serve as organists.

The combined Parish Council and Finance Committee, headed by Herman J. Hoying, is composed by the following: John Balster, Dennis Bruggeman, Carson Cheek, Bernard Franzer, Elsie Gerlach, Adelheit Hess, Bernice Hoying, Andrew Luthman, Samuel and Lillian Moorman, Mary Lou Schulze, Mary Lou Wagner, Thomas and Carol Wehrkamp.

ST. CHARLES SEMINARY Carthagena, Ohio

At the request of Bishop Purcell of Cincinnati, Father Francis Brunner left Switzerland with seven Precious Blood priests and seven students in the autumn of 1843. They arrived at Cincinnati on the last day of the year. As their field of activity they were assigned northwestern Ohio. Headquarters were quickly set up at St. Alphonsus parish in Peru, Ohio, not far from Norwalk. The log cabin rectory thus became a religious house, a mission center from which many near and distant communities were served by these pioneer priests. It also served as a temporary C.PP.S. seminary. Father Brunner spent the weekends taking care of one or the other mission station, and the rest of the week in training his men and directing the infant Province. On June 10, 1846, Father Matthias Kreusch was ordained to the priesthood, the first one of the Society to be ordained in the new world.

During the winter of 1846 a new seminary and motherhouse was begun with the bishop's permission at Thompson (later called Frank and now named Marywood) in Seneca County. In the autumn of 1847 the entire group at Peru moved to the new seminary, the first one in northwestern Ohio. It was situated close to the Precious Blood Sisters' convent, which had been established there two years earlier, and to the parish church. Altogether, 22 men were ordained from this seminary before it was moved to the present archdiocese of Cincinnati.

In the meantime, between 1845 and 1856, the Society had established five houses or mission centers, in Minster, Maria Stein, Gruenenwald near Cassella, Himmelgarten, and Egypt, to take care of the Catholics in Mercer and Auglaize counties. Father Brunner wanted also to move the seminary into the diocese of Cincinnati, northern Ohio having been created the diocese of Cleveland in 1847. It seems that around the end of 1857 or the beginning of 1858 the students moved out of Thompson and stopped off for a short time at Glandorf, Ohio, where the Society had a foundation in the town itself and another establishment about three miles away. It also seems that later the seminarians were at Maria Stein convent for a short time; just how long is not certain.

It is certain, however, that the students finally settled at the Himmelgarten convent (between St. Henry and St. Joseph) in Mercer County. They arrived there most probably in the early part of 185 Two students (Joseph Dwenger and Paul Reutte who had completed their last two years in the dioc san seminary at Cincinnati, were ordained there c September 4, 1859. Immediately after his ordinatic Father Joseph Dwenger took over the direction of the students and regularized the scholastic program of the Society. However, Himmelgarten, too, wo only a temporary arrangement. Providence was soo to open the way to a permanent site for the Society seminary.

By 1830 Mercer County numbered nearly 100 scattered inhabitants. The next entrants to arriv were some Negro families, who settled in Marior Granville and Franklin townships in 1835. The were led by the humanitarian August Wattles, wh wanted to free them from the ill will and violence that was breaking out against Negro freedmen i Cincinnati. He planned to find new homes for thes families, and above all, to establish a manual trair ing school for boys. This school was first called Wa tles Manual Labor School. In December of 1840 village for the Negroes was laid out in Mario Township which was called Carthagena, after the fa mous Carthage in Africa. In 1843 the name of th school was changed to Emlen Institute to honce Samuel Emlen, a Philadelphia Quaker philanthro pist whose bequest continued to support the schoo One of the alumni of this school, Thomas Dillor became president of the Liberian Republic.

Ugly prejudice, however, was causing the colore people to move away, and August Wattles deemed i was best to seek a new home for the Emlen Institute in the hills of Pennsylvania. In 1857 the two-stor red brick Institute was sold to John Schmidt o Greenville.

That same year Father Brunner sailed to Europ on business for the Society. He never returned to America, but died at Schellenberg in Liechtenstein on December 29, 1859, in a convent he had established. Three months later, on March 14, 1860, Father Andrew Kunkler was chosen to succeed him a Provincial. One of the first commissions given him by Father Merlini, the Moderator General of the Society, was to establish a motherhouse which would be the seminary of the Province.

By this time the former Emlen Institute and its farm of about 200 acres was up for sale again. Or March 14, 1861 Father Joseph Dwenger and Christopher Schunk, a Catholic pioneer of Celina, Ohio succeeded in purchasing the property for the Soci-

r. Renovations began immediately, and the short st wing of the original structure was extended ther south. In June of that year the students wed into their new motherhouse and seminary dicated to St. Charles Borromeo. A letter of Octor 7 of that year informs us that school was already full swing, with Father Dwenger in charge of the seminarians. Exactly one month later, two of the ninarians, Henry Drees and Alphonse Laux, were dained in the cathedral at Cincinnati. They were first of more than 798 priests who have been orined for the Society since the establishment of St. narles Seminary.

In 1863 an east wing was added, parallel to one entioned before, giving the building the appearce of a square U. This last addition was used as a apel until 1906. This chapel was the scene of a ry joyful event on January 17, 1873, for on that y the former director of students, the newly concrated Bishop Joseph Dwenger of Fort Wayne, orined four young members of the Society to the iesthood.

This first St. Charles Seminary of Carthagena, for to be more familiarly known as the "Old Aby", was located just across the road directly north the present library reading room, and directly est of the present infirmary building. Until 1876, it ovided shelter for all the priests, brothers and stunts at the motherhouse. In 1868, for example, ere were four priests, ten brothers and 16 stunts. It contained a study hall, dormitory, classoms, chapel, a kitchen and dining area. The seminry chapel also served the people of the village of irthagena until St. Aloysius church was completed 1878.

After construction of a new seminary building in 76, the seminary's chapel, kitchen and dining faities remained in the old abbey. When the Prepus Blood Sisters came in 1879 to take over the cutary and laundry departments, a part of the abbey came a convent. The brothers who had remained the abbey, moved out into a newly constructed others' house, across the road east of the abbey, proximately where the new infirmary building by stands.

When the chapel, kitchen and dining hall, and sisrs' convent areas were vacated in 1906, some of the ace was then turned into recreation and music oms. A few of the brothers and retired priests preferred to have their rooms there. The old chapel became at first a trunk room, but later, in 1923, was rechristened "The Sundial Opera House". On Easter Sunday of that year the students enjoyed the first of many programs presented on the old abbey's stage. These performances became very popular for the people of the area also.

From the time of its purchase in 1861, the abbey was always undergoing repair and change. In the summer of 1925 a severe storm gave the coup de grace to the declining building. This time it was not repaired. The following summer it was completely razed and the site plowed over. With that disappeared the original building of St. Charles Seminary, but not until it had seen the birth of a much more lasting successor in the form of the present main building.

By 1873 the number of C.PP.S. seminarians had doubled to 30. There were also 16 brothers stationed at the seminary, besides eight priests. More room was needed. The possibility of sending the minor seminarians to Wolfscreek (now New Riegel), Ohio was considered, for there the Society had a rather large house. However, it was decided to keep all the seminarians together and to build a new seminary at Carthagena.

Only two outsiders joined the C.PP.S. family in the work of constructing its new home. The location of the present small lake furnished the clay for the bricks, and the woods provided the oaks and hickories for the timbers and rafters. Father Henry Drees (rector, professor, provincial secretary and pastor of St. Aloysius parish) was the architect and supervisor of construction, and, often enough, construction worker himself.

Finished toward the end of 1876, the second St. Charles Seminary was an imposing rectangular structure (94 x 44) three stories high with an attic. It was considered the largest seminary in Ohio, and people came from far away to see one of Mercer County's newest and proudest landmarks. It stood approximately where our present dining hall and auditorium stands, its west wall within a few yards from the east wall of the present seminary's library stack rooms. It ran from east to west, its main entrance centered on the north side, looking toward the village of Carthagena. Just inside the main doors stood the long, steep stairways joining the three floors of the structure.

On the first floor there were some priests' rooms, the parlor and the bishop's room. The second floor contained the rector's room, classrooms, library and the study hall which was referred to as the "aula". It was this aula that lent the St. Charles Seminary students' publication its intriguing title - the Nuntius Aulae. On the third floor, on the east end above the aula, was the dormitory. The rest of the area was made up into priests rooms and offices. Atop the steep roof stood a 15-foot wood tower, capped by an iron cross. The tower housed a big pendulum clock with dials to all four directions and a crisp resonant bell. A winter storm of 1918 severely damaged the peaked roof. Repairmen then substituted a lower, flattened top.

Even after 1922, when the major seminarians moved into the present main building, the old seminary housed the minor seminarians who had come that year from St. Mary's Preparatory Seminary at Burkettsville. However, after 1925 when the minor seminary department was moved to St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Indiana, the old seminary gradually took the place of the old abbey as the extra building that every institution needs. Some of the brothers took up residence in it after the brothers' building was torn down in 1929. It also became the location for various shops. For a while it housed the Father Cosmas Memorial Museum. In the summer of 1955, after almost 80 years of service, it was torn down and the area prepared for the present auditorium-dining hall building.

Up to the year 1900 members of the Society were usually buried in the cemetery attached to the house or mission center to which they were assigned. When some of these centers were closed, the bodies were transferred to the motherhouse cemetery. Today there are still seven priests, 13 brothers and nine sisters buried in the parish cemetery of St. Aloysius, Carthagena. This seems to have been considered the motherhouse cemetery until the present one at St. Charles was laid out in 1900. It is now customary in the Cincinnati Province for all its members to be buried here at the motherhouse cemetery, no matter in what part of the country they may die.

The memorial cross which was erected in the center of the cemetery, and the Way of the Cross, in the form of 14 shrines, on the periphery of it, were the result of donations of the members of the Society. At first, plain wooden grave markers were used. In 1924 these gave way to fancier iron crosses. These, in turn, were replaced in 1947 by the new simple headstones. The year 1900 also witnessed the construction of the Lourdes Grotto, still standing beside the cemetery. In 1953 new statues were provided for this picturesque shrine.

As the Society of the Precious Blood grew, so too did St. Charles Seminary. The second seminary building was erected in 1877, the community cemetery in 1900, the chapel in 1906. The barns and farm buildings were transferred in 1915 from the west side of the property to the present locations. The present main building was built in 1922; in 1924 the main entry road was changed from R.R. 274 to U.S. 127. A new dining hall-auditorium-sisters convent was built in 1958; the infirmary building was put up in 1960 and the Messenger Press building was built in 1961.

Additional Note

The Society has also been in the County in ar other area, that of Burkettsville. In 1884 land wa purchased for St. Mary's Novitiate. This was for th special training of members before their acceptance as members of the Society. It also served as a minc seminary until Brunnerdale Seminary (near Cantor Ohio) was built in 1931; after this date it was use for the training of brothers for the Society. In 195 buildings were remodeled and added to take care c the new program for the students' novitiate.

In 1969 the program of the novitiate was change by the Society and since that date no member of th Society has lived at St. Mary's. In 1971 the part c the original Novitiate building (built in 1893) wa destroyed by fire. Since no occupants could b found for the remaining buildings, it was decided i March of 1978 to remove the unused buildings an return the land to tillage.

ST. IOHN'S PARISH

St. John's has the distinction of being the mother urch of Mercer County, "the land of cross-tipped vers". On October 13, 1833, three hardy German migrants, John Leistenschneider, John Stelzer, d John Thomas arrived at the site of what is now aria Stein. On the very same day the Most Rev. in Baptist Purcell was consecrated the second shop of Cincinnati. Undoubtedly this caused them name the new settlement St. John and to dedicate 2 church to St. John the Baptist.

As early as 1835 the settlers in St. John numbered families. Land was a bargain at $1.25 per acre. aring the first few years they worshipped at St. igustine, Minster, under the guidance of Fr. Wilm Horstman who had founded Glandorf parish.

rvices were only once a month.

The first Mass said at St. John's parish was celeated June 24, 1836, in the house of John Leistennneider by Rev. Damian Junker, who later became shop of Alton, Illinois. In December 1836, Bishop rcell appointed Fr. Francis Bartels of Minster to ke care of St. John's also. The first school at St. hn's was established in 1837 with John Reichert as first teacher.

In 1835, forty acres of land were purchased for the rish plant for $120.00. The first church was cometed in 1837 and on April 9 the first Mass was celrated by Fr. Bartels. It was a log building 30 feet de and 45 feet long. The present cemetery was essed by Fr. Bartels at the same time. Shortly afrwards seven children received their First Holy

The first son of the parish to be ordained to the iesthood was later consecrated a bishop. Joseph wenger was born September 7, 1837, as he himself ughingly remarked: "between four big oak stumps the forest of Marion township". The cholera of 149 played such havoc in the parish that even toly the cemetery bears silent testimony of its raves. There is a large space towards the front of the metery which has no crosses to mark the graves. nder the sod lie the forgotten dead, the victims of e cholera plague. Rev. Andrew Kunkler, C.PP.S., istor at this time, worked with heroic valor from orning till night administering to the spiritual eds of the dying. Early one morning he was called the Dwenger home about a half mile east of the surch. In one corner of the room lay the cold, dead ody of the father. Fr. Kunkler anointed the mother ho was still conscious, with little Joseph lying close her. Her dying wish was that Father should care r the small child. Joseph survived and at an early e consecrated himself to God in the Community the Most Precious Blood. He was ordained by rchbishop Purcell, September 4, 1859, saying his rst Mass in St. John's Church. He was consecrated shop of Fort Wayne, April 14, 1872.

Saint John Baptist Church

In 1845, The Precious Blood Fathers took charge of St. John's Parish. The Very Rev. Francis de Sales Brunner, first Provincial of the American Province of the C.PP.S. accompanied by Rev. John Wittmer, C.PP.S., visited St. John with the intention of finding land to erect a mission house and convent. A farm about a mile north of the church was purchased and Fr. John Van den Broeck, C.PP.S., along with three lay brothers, erected a temporary building for the Sisters of the Most Precious Blood. On September 24, 1846, eight sisters arrived from their convent in New Riegel. Fr. Brunner named the convent "Maria Stein" in memory of the famous convent of Maria Stein, Switzerland. Maria Stein remained the Motherhouse of the Sisters until 1923 when they moved to Dayton.

The log church was replaced by a new brick one in 1850. It was 60 feet long and 40 feet wide and cost $4,000.00. Finally the present church was built by Rev. Martin Dwenger on May 8, 1889; and the church was dedicated on November 17, 1891, by Archbishop Elder. It is of Roman style architecture, built of brick and sandstone trimmings. It is 150 feet long and 64 feet across the transept. It cost about

In recent years the inside of the church has been completely remodeled to present the spiritually inspiring beauty it now introduces to the people. (The remodeling began in the early 1970's.)

The Rev. Otto Missler, C.PP.S., became pastor in 1898 and built the rectory in 1906 at a cost of $8,000.00. He served for 34 years and also built the school.

MARIA STEIN CENTER

The Sisters of the Precious Blood own some 200 acres in Mercer County, Ohio. This land was settled by the Sisters when they came from Switzerland in 1846 and was the site of their Motherhouse until 1923 when they moved to Dayton, Ohio.

Adoration of Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament, especially in the aspect of His Precious Blood, is the principal purpose of the lives of these religious women. Spread across the United States and in Chile, they now minister to people in a wide variety of needs. But Maria Stein remains a cherished place of prayer for the Sisters.

In 1875 a collection of the Relics of the Saints was left here with the Sisters. In 1890 they built a lovely chapel for these relics. You may visit and pray in this chapel and enjoy the reaching out to God which is fostered by the solitude or "apart-ness" of this rural location.

In 1953 the Sisters began to offer an opportunity for prayerful retreat to those who are interested and invited many to make pilgrimages to this Shrine. This spot proved to be so ideal for prayer that a Retreat House was built in 1962.

Sister Jeanette Buehler, Sister Barbara Ann Hoying, and Sister Judy Kroeger form an administrative team in charge of the Center at the present time. They and all the Sisters invite you to enjoy

- a place to come and meet with God;

 a place where we can look back on the history of our Church and honor the people and times that have gone before us;

— a place where we can face God and ourselves in the present;

— and a place to venture into the future to answer His call to the needs of our times.

ST. SEBASTIAN CHURCH

St. Sebastian's Church is located at Sebastian the northern part of Marion township. It was f merly a part of St. John's and St. Rosa's congre; tions and was established by permission of Bishop in 1852. The pioneers of this congregati were Adam Gerlach, Albert Stammen, Herm Schwieterman, John Will, and B. Froning. The fi church edifice built in 1853 was a frame structure x 60 feet costing $1,000. In 1857 Rev. Peter Wilhel was appointed the first regular Pastor, of about families. He was replaced by Rev. Matthias Kreus in 1858. A brick church was built in 1878-79, bei dedicated October 10th of the latter year by Bish Purcell. It was erected under the supervision Revs. Peter Kuhnmuench, C.PP.S., and Bonifa Russ, C.PP.S., and was at the time considered t finest church building in all Mercer County. It v 45 by 85 feet with a spire of 152 feet and cost $4,£ excluding lumber and furnishings. The church v enlarged in 1893 at a cost of $4,400.00. This chur served the people as a place of worship until it v destroyed by fire January 12, 1903 including records and documents. Until this time the parincluded the present parishes of Precious Bloc Chickasaw and Our Lady of Guadalupe, Monte uma. Almost immediately under the supervision Fr. Serephim Kunkler C.PP.S., plans to build a ne church were begun. Andrew DeCurtins, was en ployed to build a new gothic church, 113 feet lor 52 feet wide with a transept of 64 feet at a cost $26,980. This church was consecrated September: 1904 by Auxiliary Bishop Henry Moeller. A bri parsonage was built in 1905 at a cost of about $ 200.00. The congregation consisted of 48 families this time.

A new pipe organ was installed in 1909, under t supervision of Rev. John Sailor. Electric lights we installed in 1917.

In 1919 beautiful new stations of the Cross we erected during Rev. Henry Cortain's Pastorate. T. interior of the church was painted and decorated Decutain from Lima in 1926 under the supervision of Rev. Michael Hinssen, and again in 1957 Schoch Bros. from Coldwater during Rev. Geor Grevenkamp's C.PP.S. Pastorate.

During 1968 new storm windows and glass doc were installed during the leadership of Rev. Albe Reed, C.PP.S. During Fr. Friedrich's Pastorate a ne kitchen was built in the basement, and in 1977 ne carpet was put in the sanctuary and the main boo of the church. At the present time, the parish co

LEUGERS INSURANCE

In 1914, a young teacher named Herman Leugers ving in Maria Stein decided that he needed more ioney to raise his family. With his horse and uggy, he drove to Celina and asked the late E. J. rookhard if he could sell auto insurance for The ational Mutual which had just been organized. He ime home and for the first year and a half drove round with his horse and buggy insuring automolies for fire and wind at a cost of $2.10 for one year if it included theft it was $2.60 a year. Over the ext several years life insurance was added as well several other companies.

Herman Leugers continued teaching and in 1935

ent into the insurance business full-time.

After WW II, Henry Leugers joined his father in it insurance business. Up to this time, the insurance was being sold out of the home of Herman

In 1948, the first insurance office was built next to the community hall and close to the Leugers resistance. Over the years, the community hall was oved out and converted into the American Legion all. The Harting's blacksmith shop was torn down was the George Adam's tin shop which had been the Maria Stein hotel. This is now all a part of the sugers Insurance Agency and their parking lot.

In 1959, Herman Leugers died and the business intinued under Henry Leugers. In 1970, the agency as incorporated with Henry Leugers being the sole vner. Also, in 1970 the office was doubled in size accomodate the life insurance agency which had sen formed in the Columbus Mutual Life Insurance Company. In 1977, the building was enlarged r the third time — with the addition of three more ivate offices.

In 1976, Kenneth Kremer, a long-time employee, id Ted Bertke, a more recent employee, bought to the agency. The business is continuing as an inrporated agency. At this time, Tammy Overman is e full-time secretary and Linda Pleiman is partne. Robert Leugers, son of Henry, came into the ency in October of 1978.

CYRIL A. BERNARD

BRICK & STONE MASONRY-PLASTERING

Joseph A. Bernard (1852-1942), and Joseph H. Bernard (1882-1976), both, were born and lived in Maria Stein. They spent their entire lives in the bricklaying and plastering trades.

Since 1946, Cyril A. Bernard has been a Masonry and Plastering Contractor in Maria Stein, Ohio, furnishing masonry and plastering services in Mercer and adjoining counties. Since 1946, the basic skills of the trades have changed little, however, power tools, improved equipment have made for more volume, better quality and more precise workmanship.

In the 1940's, all new homes required a chimney for a furnace fueled with wood or coal or possibly oil. In the late 1950's many homes were heated by electricity, thus no chimney was needed. Fireplaces were a luxury and were found only in more elaborate homes. In the mid-1970's, the awareness of a possible energy shortage existed. The costs of oil, electricity, gas, increased, and, again the homeowner erected a chimney for the wood buring stove. Fireplaces became more of a necessity than a luxury. The wood, burning in the fireplace, supplemented the other type of fuel needed to heat the house. In 1978, fans, blowers, glass doors etc., were used with the masonry fireplaces for more efficient heating.

From the forties to the seventies brick continued as an important unit in wall construction. Brick gained added importance as a decorative unit for planters, dividers, curtain walls, patios, etc. For backup walls, concrete masonry units replaced the units made of shale.

By 1978, the fourth and fifth generations of the first settlers were living in southern Mercer County. Note the names of Bernard Masonry personnel: Virgil Bertke, Paul Luebke, John Stammen, Thomas Bernard, Roger Puthoff, Brian Dahlinghaus, Donald Bernard.

THE MARIA STEIN ANIMAL CLINIC

The Maria Stein Animal Clinic opened for business on February 1, 1969. It is a large and small animal facility located on State Rt. 119, across from the American Legion Hall in Maria Stein, Ohio.

The area now occupied by the clinic and its facilities, was previously a very big hill used as a hog lot by its previous owners, Henry and Leo Streaker, local farmers in Maria Stein, Ohio. Prior to ownership by Henry Streaker, Leo's father, this site was known as the Wildenhaus place. It was purchased by Henry Streaker on June 14, 1924, with the homestead sitting on top of the hill where the clinic is now located.

The Clinic was founded by George Wenning, a 1961 graduated of Veterinary Medicine from Ohio State University. George graduated from Coldwater High School in 1949. He was active in Agriculture and received the American Farmer Degree from the FFA in 1951. This was the first American Farmer Degree to be received by a resident of Mercer County.

George was actively engaged in farming from 1949 to 1952 when he was called from the Army Reserve and sent to Korea. Here his duty was with the KCAC and UNKRA. Upon completing his duty in Korea, he enrolled at OSU, received his BS in Agriculture in 1958 and his OVM in 1961.

He married Helen Dirksen of Cassella in June, 1960. Upon graduation from OSU he started practice in Parker, Indiana. Here he started the Parker Veterinary Clinic, a three man practice, which is primarily a swine and cattle practice. In 1969 he moved home to Ohio and started the Maria Stein Animal Clinic. Dr. Wenning, Dr. Schmiesing, Dr. Coe and Dr. Topp are on the staff.

The clinic serves the small animal clients of the area, and large animal clients primarily, dairy, beef, and swine, from Mercer, Darke, Shelby and Auglaize Counties.

GAGEL HARDWARE CO

Michael Henry Gagel, Jr., who would go on to found a scessful business that still bears his name, came to Mer County from his native Germany in 1892. He was eighteen ye of age, and the only member of his family to immigrate. I son of Michael and Veronica Gagel of Nusloch (near Heidberg), he was born August 24, 1874. Descendants of his brotl Martin still live in Nusloch.

We don't know why Michael left his home and family fo new country. Perhaps he had a sponsor, and the promise o job. Maybe, like so many immigrants, he wanted to share in a promise and opportunity that America represented. We know that he became a citizen on July 27, 1897, and that first jobs were with a local lumber company and the Maria Sta Spreader Works.

Michael Gagel married Catherine Synck (1880-1937), on M 17, 1899 at Maria Stein. She was the daughter of John and Carerine (Witte) Synck, who had come to Maria Stein from We plalen, Germany. Michael and Catherine made their home Maria Stein, near the intersection of State Route 119 and John Rd. The house still stands.

In 1917, at the age of 43, Michael Gagel founded the busing that would become a popular and respected member of the Mercer County business community. The Gagel Hardware Copany began as a small store, selling tools, automobile the household implements, and even those "miracle" appliances the day, motorized washing machines. An important service area farmers in the 1920's and '30's was the installation and pair of hay track and repairing windmills and pumps.

Michael lived long enough to see the business launched. I died in 1923, at the age of 49. He is buried at St. John's cert tery in Maria Stein. The task of keeping the business going f to his wife and his sons. Upon Catherine's death in 1937, own ship passed to the oldest son, Ollie. Bill and Jim, the young brothers, worked for the company. Then, as now the teen-a and younger family members, spent after school and summ hours helping at the store.

After the depression of the early 1930's, some measure prosperity was returning and with the advent of the Rural Eletrification Act, the business expanded to include electric plumbing and heating services, floor coverings, appliances and full range of hardware and housewares. It became necessary hire additional help and through the years, notable among the are Lee Knapke, who retired in 1977 after 40 years. Richa Overman and Paul Niekamp, present employees have been with the company since the late 1940's. Also in June 1937 Ollie maried Marguerite Hickey of Versailles and over the ensuein years she assisted in the business.

In 1950 the original store was torn down and replaced by larger, modern building. This building was expanded in 195 Later, the company bought the old Knights of St. John Hall Maria Stein for use as a warehouse. Gagel Hardware Compais an independent, family-owned business. Since 1962 it h been part of the True Value Hardware organization.

In 1960 Bill Gagel left the business to start a plumbing at heating business in Minster. Ollie Gagel died in 1964 and ow ership passed to his wife. For the next seven years, Jim manage the store, assisted by Tom who had recently graduated from the University of Dayton with a Degree in Business Administratio In 1970 Paul also graduated from the University of Dayton at in 1971 he and Tom took over ownership. Jim, who was bothe year the store was founded, has been associated with the business since 1935 and is responsible for purchasing and me chandising. Thus the business founded by Michael Gagel son sixty years ago remains in the family, and enjoys a well-earner reputation for good service and quality merchandise.

HEINL GROCERY

Heinl Grocery is located on State Route 119 in ria Stein, Charles and Rita Heinl bought the store May 1, 1953, from Urban and Rosa Menker, Rita inl's parents.

The Grocery began as a General Store prior to 52, and has served the area since that time. Some the early owners were Papenbrock's, August tschilling, Fred Mescher, and Joseph Backs. In 32 Joseph Backs sold the store to Urban Menker. Iring this time a lot of things were sold in bulk d had to be weighed, such as crackers, spices, ur, sugar, cookies and coffee. Vinegar came in a gallon barrel and had to be pumped out into jugs. e store was also a gathering place in the evenings men to talk over the days happenings.

The Maria Stein Post Office was housed in this ilding with the store from 1912 to 1962. Rita inl's father was Postmaster from 1932 to 1958, d mail came in everyday except Sunday including blidays such as Christmas and Thanksgiving.

In 1953 when Charles and Rita Heinl purchased e store it became known as Heinl Grocery and was ade into a self-service store.

The store located across from the old St. John gh School served as a place for the students to eat nch until 1959. Through the years a lot more inntory was added to the store, including frozen ods, meats, and a complete line of groceries. Film ocessing, dry cleaning services, hunting and fishg licenses, are a few of the special services that ere added over the years.

In 1972 a license was received to sell Beer and ines. On May 1, 1978, the Heinl's celebrated enty five years in business.

ST. ROCHUS COMMANDERY KNIGHTS OF ST. JOHN #313 of Maria Stein, Ohio

The St. Rochus Commandery #313 Knights of St. ohn was organized on September 5, 1897 with Rev. rank Nigsch as first spiritual director. Math Gast vas the first president. Captain of the uniform rank vas Bernard Desch. These officers and a board of ustees were installed on October 10, 1897. Fifty harter members were present for the installation with Colonel Hickey of Sidney the installing officer. he members had to pay 45¢ a year per capita tax with yearly dues $1.00.

On December 11, 1898 Henry Goecke became the ew president. In the year 1900 the uniform rank ad grown to 44 members. They also had a Comuandery Band with Henry Rutschilling as the band irector.

On December 3, 1905 Fred Heckman was elected spresident and under his leadership the commandry grew rapidly, due mostly to the display of nights of St. John display at all church functions.

Due to World I War all drafted members became onorary members so that the social members ropped to 39. Evidence shows that this period was a ery trying one for the Commandery.

On January 8, 1920 Anthony Kleinhenz was lected as president. By March 13, 1921 a committee sported that they had rented the Gast Hall for 12.00 a month. These were difficult years but the ommandery survived. On January 1, 1931 the St. ohn High School auditorium became our new leeting place. This was the depression years and then Herman Leugers became president many lembers could not find enough money to pay the ues but things gradually got better.

On January 1, 1936 Oscar Eifert was installed as the new president. Highlights in his five years of ofce was the change of the bylaws to the present states of sick benefits. Sick benefits should be six dolars a week for 10 weeks with a $3.00 benefit the rst week of sickness. A permanent permit was also brained from the Archbishop to have an annual ilgrimage to the Relic Chapel each year nearest to t. John's Day. 67 members were initiated in 1931.

On January 14, 1941 Bill Gagel was installed as resident. It was during his term that the Beer Stube as purchased for $2,265.00 on March 18, 1941. Also ommandery #289 of Coldwater merged with our ommandery increasing the size by 21 members.

During Fred Goecke's presidency 1943 we had 312 lembers with 41 serving in World War II. During loys Bruggeman's presidency the Ladies Auxiliary as organized with 25 charter members.

In 1946 Alfred Hartings became president. (Later upreme President of all the Commanderies of U.S.) uring his term of office additional parking space as purchased just west of the building.

Our Old Home, 1941

Our New Home, 1968

On January 13, 1948 Joe Buening was installed as president and on June 5 and 6 the Grand Commandery held their convention in our commandery home with a picnic, netting a profit of $1610.00. ½ going to the commandery and ½ to the ladies auxiliary.

In April 1950 with Clem Poeppelman as president we purchased a half interest in a drilled well on the Joseph Gast lot behind the Knights of St. John Home. It was during his term of office that the first bowling team was organized.

During Clem Froning's presidency the Celina Commandery disbanded and twelve members joined our commandery. During Paul Moellers presidency in 1954 we were recognized by the Supreme Commandery that we were the largest commandery in the world.

During Leo Streacker's presidency we purchased the Tangeman property (the present site of our new home) for $3900.00 and on June 11, 1957 we obtained our new charter of incorporation. The new incorporation included all the real estate, parking lots, and the premises of the recently purchased Ben. Tangeman's estate.

During Henry Leugers term of office dues were raised from $6.00 per year to $8.00 per year and we donated the furnishings in a room at the new Retreat House.

Since beginning in 1960 presidents began serving only one year. The following presidents served Andrew Albers 1960, Cyril Bernard 1961, Ken Kremer 1962. It was during his presidency that we began our monthly chicken frys which has continued as of today every fourth Saturday of the month. 1963 Dennis Bertke served as president, Art Lochtefeld 1964, Joseph Kleinhenz 1966, Robert Albers 1966. It was during his term of office the decision to build a new home 60'x130' was presented with a full basement underneath.

With Roger Schwieterman as president in 1967 the ceremony of ground breaking for our new home was held on January 29, 1967. It took only one year to complete our building since during Virgil Bertke's presidency our new home was dedicated on January 20, 1968. Also we added a parcel of land east of the home for $2000.00.

The following presidents served one year. Gerhard Bruns 1969, Jerry Will, 1970, Cletus Beyke, 1971, Roman Hausfeld 1972, Rudy Link, 1973. By their efforts and the cooperation of all workers of bingo games, chicken frys, picnics, turkey shoots, dances and other affairs the new home was free of debt and mortgage burning was held. Just recently a shelter house was built behind our home. Presidents serving terms were Stan Bertke, 1974, Norbert Kramer 1975, Frank Koening 1976, Tom Gagel 1977, and Charles Heinl is our present president. Our membership stands at 383 members. ST. ROCHUS AUXILIARY NO. 288 KNIGHTS OF ST. JOH Maria Stein, Ohio

St. Rochus Commandery 313 Knights of St. John had been well established in Maria Stein and by 1945 there was much interest in forming a Ladies Auxiliary. An organizational meeting was called for July 30 at which time six officers of Minster Auxiliary were present to help us, with Genevieve Dickman, their President and also District Deputy Organizer, conducting the meeting. We elected the following officers who were installed by Miss Dickman: President, Dorothy Buening; Past Pres., Mathilda Kremer; First Vice-Pres., Alfrieda Willke; Second Vice-Pres., Theresa Gagel; Recording Sec'y., Amelia Goecke; Financial Sec'y., Kathern Eifert; Treasurer, Kathryn Kleinhenz; Messenger, Agatha Schmitmeyer, Sentinel, Theresa Wint; Guard Mercedes Poeppelman; and Trustees, Mary Ann Schmiesing, Alma Bernard, and Marguerite Gagel; Pianist, Eulitta Rindler; Spiritual Advisor, Rev. Evaristus Olberding. Sixty-six ladies signed as charter members and thirty-one are still with the Auxiliary. St. Rochus Auxiliary was chosen as our official name and our first regular meeting was held on August 20, when the fourth Monday of each month was chosen as our meeting night. By the end of 1945 our membership had grown to 111 members.

Since we are a charitable organization we lost no time in raising funds for various charitable projects, the first of which was a lunch stand at a farm sale which netted $230.68. We also held auctions, card parties, dances, prepared banquets, sold magazine subscriptions and greeting cards, operate the concession stand at the Knights' weekly bingo games and the cake and fancy, and novelty stands at their annual picnic.

The Auxiliary continued to grow in 1946 during which time we added 76 new members. In April 1951 we began making cord rosaries for our boys in service and later for the Missions. To date about 35,000 have been sent to various Missions. That year we also hosted the first Field Mass at Maria Stein Convent for all seven Auxiliaries in the district and this has become an annual event.

Through the years we donated to various groups including the South American and Glenmary Missions, St. Joseph's Orphanage, Holy Redeemer Church in New Bremen, Mercy Hospital, Cheryl Ann School, Anthony Wayne School in Greenville, Auglaize County School, and the Marion Local Band. Each year at Christmas we give fruit baskets to residents of Briarwood Nursing Home and the Maria Stein Senior Citizens Club. We furnished a room for retreatants at the Maria Stein Convent and later at the Retreat House and in 1974, together with the Knights, furnished a room at Community Hospital. Since 1954 our ladies have been helping every Tuesday with sewing and mending at the hospital. We have collected cancelled stamps and religious articles for the Missions, old sheets and shirts for the Cancer Society and have had cancer films shown at our meetings.

On May 26, 1962 the Knights began having chicker fries on the fourth Saturdav of each month to raise money to build a new hall and we have helped with this ever since. Each month saw an increase in the number of dinners served and in 1966 the Knights began building the new hall. Ground breaking ceremonies were held or January 29, 1967 and our first meeting in the new hal was on October 23, 1967. The ladies furnished the kitchen and did much of the interior painting of the hall We also donated money to the building fund and paid half the cost of a new piano. On August 11, 1970 we celebrated our Silver Jubilee with a solemn High Mass followed by a formal banquet.

Since 1972 we have annually sponsored a child in the Holy Childhood "Help-a-Child" program and have giver three scholarships to students for the priesthood at Brunnerdale Seminary. We have a Mass read the fourth Monday of each month at the Convent for the intentions of the members, and have been sponsoring the Marion Hour Sunday Rosary on WCSM at various time the past few years. Each year we have a Spring Party in April and a Christmas Party in December, beginning with pot luck

The Uniform Rank Drill Team was organized in September 1976 with 27 members. Uniforms were made and drill practice begun in January 1978 in preparation for the upcoming Supreme Convention in Baltimore where they made an excellent showing in the competitive drills. To raise money for uniforms we had a card party, rummage and greeting card sales, and compiled a cookbook of which 1300 copies have been sold.

The present officers elected in 1978 to serve until 1980 are: President, Elsie Winner; Past Pres., Wilma Beyke; First Vice-Pres., Edna Homan; Second Vice-Pres., Joan Homan; Recording Sec'y., Alice Huelsman; Financial Sec'y., Juanita Brandewie; Treasurer, Rita Heinl; Messenger, Eileen Knapke; Sentinel, Anna Lee Dahlinghaus; Guard, Theresa Fiely; Trustees Alvina Hemmelgarn, Mildred Evers, and Henrietta Heitkamp, Pianist, Ruth Brown; and Spiritual Advisor, Fr. John Bolan.

In the thirty-three years of our organization fifty members have died and our membership on September 25, 1978 is 276. New officers are elected every two years and we have two district meetings yearly and send two delegates to the Supreme Convention which is held biannually. Our membership is comprised of ladies from towns in southern Mercer County plus nearby towns in Auglaize and Darke Counties. By Eleanora Zumwald and Theresa Gagel

THE ASHMAN FAMILY

John Henry Ashman (1793-1881) was born Joseph han Heinrich Aschmann on Christmas Day in ermany. In 1830 he married Maria Elizabetha BOCKMANN (1804-1873) in Bersenbruck, Amt amme, Oldenburg, Germany. They came to the nited States in 1836 and traveled by river and canal in the description of the then heavily wooded area that ould become Marysville and then Cassella, Marion ownship, Mercer County, Ohio.

They were the second family to arrive in that secon and they spent their first winter sharing a log ibin with six other families. In 1837, they bought nd and erected their first home of logs. They rmed and raised six children. They attended the t. Mary's Catholic Church in Cassella and their rayes are in the cemetery there.

The little information we have about the six chilren is as follows:

The first daughter Maria Anna (1831-1926) mared John GOEKE.

Agnes (?-?) married Henry MANNING or MANR-

VG, and moved to Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The third daughter, Elizabeth (1840-?) married rederick SCHAEPER or SCHEPER. Four of their nildren are named in John Henry's will; Henry, Joseph, Frederick, and Anna.

Henry, a twin (1843-1916) married Agnes Maria EITKAMP (1850-1925) on 22 October 1867. The hotograph taken in the yard of the brick house is its couple and their nine children in 1904.

Katherine "Katie", a twin (1843-1876) married Joeph BRINKMAN (1850-1925) in 1866.

The sixth child, Bernadina Agnes "Bernie" or Dina" (1845-1925) was married on June 5, 1866 to lenry Herman FORSTHOFF (1825-1925). Their welve children included three sets of twins.

The second home built in 1880 by the Ashmans ras of brick, made and laid by John Henry with the elp of his family. The property was inherited by lenry (fourth child listed above [1843-1916]), and e and his wife Agnes raised nine of the ten children orn to them, as follows:

John Heinrich "John" (10 May 1869-) married

lizabeth Steinke and moved to Canada.

Maria Elizabeth "Lizzie", the second child (21 Ocober 1871-) married Anthony VOSKUHL. They ved in Maria Stein, Ohio.

The third child, Maria Margaret "Mary" (9 Februry 1874-1948) married Deitrich BUEHLER and re-

Ided in Chickasaw, Ohio. Joseph Henry "Joseph" (20 September 1876eptember 1947) was never married. He resided in lassella, Ohio.

Maria Agnes "Agnes" (10 July 1883-1974), the eventh child, married Frank MEYER. They lived in ort Loramie, Ohio. Their son Hugo Meyer of Fort Loramie, Ohio, now owns the Ashman home in Cassella. This is the fourth generation of ownership. The Ashman farm has been registered as a Century Farm of the United States.

Maria Catherine "Katie" (6 March 1886-1965) married Mathias SCHOENHEIR. She was the eighth child

Ninth born Anthony Henry "Henry" (16 March 1889-1973) married Henrietta KRAMER in 1922. They were the third and fourth generation to live on the homestead.

Bernard J. and Anna Bergman and Family

BERNARD J. AND ANNA BERGMAN

Mr. Bergman spent his life as a farmer near Egypt, Ohio. He was the son of John and Elisabeth (Plasphol) Bergman. Bernard J. Bergman born July 20, 1882, died April 13, 1954 at Egypt, Ohio. He attended Luebke School during his first school years and completed his education at Patterson township number Two school. In his early life after school, Bernard was employed out as a hired hand by his uncle Bernard Bergman of Maria Stein, Ohio.

At the time of Bernard's marriage to Anna Prenger of Egypt, Ohio, September 30, 1908, he moved to his homestead. This was a piece of property acquired earlier by his father. At this place he went into full time farming. The farm consisted of 107 acres of which 40 acres were tillable. The other 67 acres were woodland. This farm was located in the farthest southeastern area of Mercer county, located on the north side of Darke-Mercer county line road, 1 mile west of State Route 364. Bernard's son Herman Bergman is now living on the farm.

Through Bernard's marriage to Anna Prenger, there were one son and three daughters. Herman Bergman born October 6, 1909 and is still living. He married Lauretta Putoff of Maria Stein, Ohio. Veronica Bergman born July 26, 1913 and is still living. She married Bernard Kuether of Egypt, Ohio. Helen Bergman born May 30, 1917 and is still living. She married Herbert Brandewie of Ft. Loramie, Ohio. Pauline Bergman born December 2, 1919 and is still living. She married Norbert Poeppelman of Ft. Loramie, Ohio.

The Bernard J. Bergman family were members of St. Joseph Catholic Church in Egypt, Ohio. The children attended school in Darke county. This was a one room brick school house and was known as Patterson Township Number Two school.

One of the more unforgettable experiences Bernard encountered was the time he had to look into the muzzle end of a handgun that was being held by a woman. This occurred in the Osgood State Bank while it was being robbed by some of the John Dillinger gang members. In the course of the robbery, Bernard was held at bay against the wall of the bank. He was not harmed or injured. Ben Kuether

HENRICH ARNOLD BERGMANN AND STEPHEN HENRICH BERGMANN

Henrich Arnold and Stephen Henrich were the sons of Henrich Arned Bergmann of Steinfeld and Elisabeth Deters of Damme, Germany near Oldenburg. Their parents Henrich Arned and Elisabeth Deters were married April 26, 1803 in St. Victor Catholic Church in Damme and lived in or near Damme. There were six other children namely; Marie Elisabeth born March 7, 1805 and married Johann Henrich Beckstedde at Damme, HENRY AR-NOLD born October 22, 1807, Joannes born January 11, 1810, then STEPHEN HENRICH born February 17, 1812, Maria Agnes born August 19, 1814, Maria Catharina born March 22, 1817 and then twins Johannes Henricus and Maria Catharina born February 17, 1820 and both twins died five days later.

HENRICH ARNOLD and STEPHEN HENRICH were sailors on the sea and also the Mississippi and the Ohio River. After sailing for a time they finally sold their boat at Cincinnati and came north in the 1830's. It is said they helped dig the Miami Erie Canal from Cincinnati to Toledo, Ohio. Nothing more is known of the two brothers until they started farming in the 1840's. It is believed their father "Henrich Arned" came along to Maria Stein, Ohio but I am not sure now.

Both brothers died and are buried at Maria Stein, Ohio. Henrich Arnold at age 79 died May 1, 1887 and Stephen Henrich age 88 died May 26, 1900.

I will only write of HENRY ARNOLD BERG-

MANN as he is my Great Grandfather.

Henrich Arnold bought his first farm of 40 acres from the U.S. Government under President Tyler on August 5, 1844 which is located 11/2 miles directly south of Maria Stein on the St. John Road where Joseph Kemper lives now. HENRY A. married Anna Margret Höen or Hoehne and she was also born at Oldenburg, Germany on July 22, 1811. Date and place of marriage is unknown as of now. They had several children and a few died of Chlorea in 1849 with only two children living.

The oldest child was Mary Caroline, known most of the time as Caroline, she was born on November 1, 1848 and Stephen Henrich, my grandfather, was born April 30, 1852. Both born on farm south of Ma ria Stein, O. Caroline married Charles Bruns April 1867 at Maria Stein, O. They lived in with her pa ents and she inherited 115 acres from her fathe which had a log house on it which stood about 5 feet east of the present home. This consisted of th 40 acres and the rest was across the road just nort of the Puthoff School. Caroline and her husban were not satisfied with the Log House, so they bui a ten room frame house which cost the price of a 80 acre farm. It was one of the prettiest rural home in southern Mercer County. They had one sor Henry Bruns who married Elizebeth Brockman.

Stephen Henry Bergman son of Henrich Arnolmarried Anna Mary Evers in St. Rosa Catholi Church on January 27, 1874. Anna Mary was th daughter of Frank and Anna Maria (Frilling) Ever who was born March 28, 1856 at St. Rosa, Ohio. Ste phen H. and Anna Mary lived on a farm they owner across the road from sister Caroline consisting of 7.

Stephen H. and Anna Mary were the parents o nine children; Henry A. 1875-1962; Frank H. 1876 1965; Mary Anna 1878-1946; John Theodore (my fa ther) 1881-1961; George C. 1883-?; Joseph C. 1886 1969; Mrs. William (Rosa P.) Meiering 1889-1971 Lawrence 1892-1970; August H. 1896-?. Two are stil living, George C. age 95 and August H. age 82 Henry A. and Mary Anna never married. All children of Stephen H. and Anna Mary lived on their own farms after they married and most lived soutl of Maria Stein, except Frank H. and John T. lived a St. Rosa, Ohio and August H. lived north of Osgood Ohio and Rosa P. lived first near Egypt, Ohio and then moved to city of St. Marys, Ohio. The picture of this writing is of Stephen H. and Anna Maria (Ev ers) Bergmann. A few words on Stephen Henrich Bergmann, the brother of Henry Arnold Bergmar who married Catherina Flagert on May 15, 1850 and they lived and owned a 120 acre farm just east of Henry Arnold Bergman. Norbert married Viola illing of McCartyville, Ohio and Victor married elen D. Borger of Celina, Ohio. Aloys and Clarace never married.

When John and Bernadine were married they imediately moved onto the 100 acre farm they pursased two miles south of St. Rosa, Ohio now wned by their son Victor on the Clune-Stucke pad. Five of the seven children were born there, he farm consisted of a large log house which in 168 was donated to Lawrence Deitz the owner of the Historical Museum which is located on County pad 33 between St. Marys and Wapakoneta, Ohio. In 1919 John sold 20 of his 100 acres and purchased acres from his brother George which is one mile with the spring of 1919 and there Victor and Rosalinda the born. The farm is now owned by their son larence. All seven children are still farming their win farms.

John T. was well known in southern Mercer ounty and enjoyed talking and getting acquainted ith people. He had a good memory of family hisory. His ambition as a young man was to become a ilroad engineer, but his father wanted him to arm. When he would be in town and if you could ot find him, all you would have to do is find the ain depot and that is where he would be. He was ery interested in school activities and was President f the Dwenger School Board for many years. All of is children attended school there. The school was ocated on the Clune-Stucke Rd. about three miles outh of St. Rosa, Ohio. The little red brick school louse is still standing which is occuppied by farm nachinery today and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cunk. John's grandfather Henry Arnold Bergmann mmigrated from Oldenburg, Germany with his rother Stephen Henry in the 1830's, they were sailors who sold their boat at Cincinnati and came north and helped build the Miami-Erie Canal. His Grandather Henry Arnold bought 40 acres from the Jnited States Government August 5, 1844 about 11/2 niles south of Maria Stein, Ohio on the St. John Road. LAWRENCE B. BERGMAN

Lawrence Bernard Bergman was the eighth child of Stephen Henrich and Anna Mary (Evers) Bergman. He was born August 9, 1892 and reared on the farm south of Maria Stein on St. Johns Road still owned by his son, Otmar. Most of the farm has been in the Bergman family for over a century, having been purchased by Henry Arnold (Lawrence's grandfather) from Joseph Hageman in 1869 and given by Henry Arnold to Lawrence's father, Stephen Henry, at the time of his marriage in 1874. In 1887 Caroline (Bergman) Bruns, Stephen's sister, deeded twenty acres to Stephen and in 1905 Stephen purchased forty acres from Bernard Kalkhoff.

June 16, 1920 Lawrence married Frances Bruns, daughter of John and Mary (Clune) Bruns of now Route 716 near Osgood. Stephen and Anna deeded eighty-five acres of the farm over to Lawrence and moved to a house in Maria Stein. Lawrence later purchased the balance of the farm, thirty-two acres, from his unmarried sister, Maria Anna in 1937. In 1920 the farmhouse consisted of an old brick structure to which Stephen had added a frame portion sometime before Lawrence's birth (perhaps in the 1880's). The old brick part was torn down in 1938, but the frame portion was changed in position and incorporated into the present home. The barn was built in 1894.

Known for his keen wit and lively stories, Lawrence earned his living as a farmer. He was a veteran of World War I, having spent eighteen months in Europe.

Lawrence and Frances had nine children. They are as follows: Richard (1921) married Iva Lou Greve in 1953; they live in New Bremen and are the parents of Diane, Becky, Lisa, Daniel, and Gregory. Marinus (1923) married Margaret Schmitmeyer in 1950 and lives near Tipp City. Anna Marie (1923) and Ralph Osterloh, married 1946, living in Egypt are the parents of Kenneth and Doris Ann (Niekamp). Raymond or Jim (1924) married Millie Shere in 1965 and lives in Dayton. Irene (1927) and Tom Minch, married 1951, now of Xenia have James, Mark, William, Carol, Joseph, Jane, Rose, and Renee. Otmar or Curly (1928) married Margaret Kaiser in 1970; they and their children, David, Larry E., and Rick live on the homeplace. Eugene (1930) and Kathleen Schulze married in 1956; living in Maria Stein, they are the parents of Linda, Randall, Jay, and Jodie. Teresa (1932) and Bob Willhoff, married 1963, live near Brandt with children, Elaine, Frank, Clifford, and Tony. Larry J. (1944) married Jeannie Gottes in 1944; they and their children, Teresa, Craig, Scott, Sheri, and Amy, reside in Egypt. Another member of the family is Alfred Farno whose father, Julius, is first cousin to Frances Bergman. After his mother's death Alfred came to live with Lawrence and Frances in 1922 and helped with the farming till he was sixteen.

All the children except Larry attended Puthoff Grade School on the corner of St. Johns Road and Huwer Road and most attended high school at St. Johns Building. Larry went to St. Johns Grade School and Marion High.

Lawrence was a life-long member of St. Johns Parish, Maria Stein. He died Sept. 7, 1970 and was buried in St. Johns Cemetery. Mrs. Otmar Bergman

BOEKE FAMILIES

Working the farms was a way of life around Neuenkirchen in Hanover, Germany. And in Mercer County the earliest mark of Boeke ancestors is in the book of original entries for land from the U.S.A. by Bernard Boeke August 19, 1835. Title for eighty acres (north side of Rolfes Road) in section 23 of Marion Township was recorded March 15, 1837. Soon he was addressing some neighbors as "Sister" when the Maria Stein Convent was founded. An 1882 history names him among early pioneers in the beginnings of St. John Church.

Bernard's marriage to Elisabeth Knapke produced three sons who bore children. Bernard (II) who married Elisabeth Hagedorn had five children: Elisabeth Mrs. Bernard Brunswick, Mary — Mrs. Clement Hausfeld, Catherine — Mrs. Henry Kuess, Frances - Mrs. John Schulte, and Henry (II), married to Rosa Hasselman. Daughters of Henry (I) who married Mary Kleinhenz were: Katherine — Mrs. Ben T. Post, and Mary — Mrs. Henry Brunswick. To Herman who married Catherine Elking were born nine: a third Bernard, who married Philomena Stein and Anna (Bruggeman) Severt, Elisabeth — Mrs. August Stelzer, a third Henry, married to Anna Hartings, Joseph, to Mary Dahlinghaus, John, to Amelia Dabbelt, Margaret - Mrs. Jacob Link, Fred, did not marry, Clement, became a priest and was named a Monsignor in the Cleveland Diocese, and one died in infancy.

Other families as well hand on Bernard's nam and his blood. His descendants from the female off spring to the fourth generation include the name Brunswick, Hausfeld, Kuess, Schulte, Post, Stelzer Link, Hoyng, Bills, Schmidt, Quinter, Platfoot, Ber nard, Schoenherr, Warren, Kuhn, Thieman Wuebker, Hoying, Bornhorst, McDonald, Pennc Schwieterman, Kahlig, Tobe, Bergman, Franks, Gra ham, Wenning, Gottschall, David, Lochtefeld, Seger Hess. Meanwhile the fifth generation in giving birtl to the sixth, enriches baby by baby the variety o persons and names inheriting a share of the legacy bestowed through the blood of this one immigran in the forest of Mercer County. To each one there is a lengthy inheritance before him to be remembered and there is also the heritage each leaves behind to linger after him. Fr. Anselm Boeke, Coldwater, Oh.

Bernard Hen. Böke and Elisabeth Hagedorn

Laudatio. — This is dedicated to the Böke beginnings (1837) and especially to Joann Bernard and Maria Elisabeth Böke (Knapke) who had the good fortune to know the land first. They knew Saan Jaan (Saint John)-(1832) — Marion Township — Mercer County when the county was very young.

They came originally from Bohemia to the flat low lands and moors of Oldenburgisches Münsterland. They stayed for a millennium. Simple people, whose days were spent as farm serfs, then as landless peasants (Huermann) and in America as farmers. Though doing farm work, yet each, at times was teacher, woodman, carpenter, midwife, weaver, furrier, shoemaker, doctor, artist, writer, wheelright and sometimes a soldier. They had a respect for person, neighbor and marriage. A reverence for God, for excellence so profound that their survival indicates they did most things well. Their guide, as taken from the Low German Halberstaadt Bibel-1520.

A closeness to nature and soil is inherent in our family's history: in my father's time, i.e. (1880-1921) Henry Fabian Boeke (Rosa Hasselman) and his father (1840-1913) Bernard Henry Böke (Elisabeth Hagedorn) and his father (1800-1857) Joaann Ben. Böke (Elisabeth Knapke) and again his father (1760-1803) John Hen. Böke (Anna Wiethe) and his father (1722-1789) John Henry wife Cath. Elis. Thaman and his father Jost (1686-17—) wife Aleth Wintzenberg nd his father Cordt Böcke (1649-1706) wife Maria rünes and Engelbert Bäke (1615-1672) Anna Molkistrodt from Records St. Bonafatius Church euenkirchen Oldg.

As they left Europe, conditions were still largely fluenced by the survival of feudalism. Every detail fecting relationship of lord and tenant, i.e. location field etc. were affected by tradition in each vil-

"Farmer", his image had come to mean a herediry peasant, ignorant, reactionary and ruled for all eas by the clergy and prince.

Upon entrance to Mercer County immigrants und freedom from political and social forms. Seters formed a society as they built their log cabins. Sciety, was determined by the stage of industrial evelopment attained and physical surroundings nid which they worked. In three centuries Merceruntians came from different nations. Each county, was in a different stage of social development, each immigrant brought the customs of the stage evailing at the time of his departure. We were sed by these varied traditions and customs into an nalgam differing from any or all of them, and then st this product into a mold of such an intricate and tique pattern that no one is yet able to grasp or mprehend all the details.

Mercer County people will continue to "become".

CLUNE FAMILY

Arnold Clune came from Hanover, Germany to this country and settled in Mercer County, where he bought land from the government. He was one of the first settlers of Mercer County, when his family settled in Section 13 of Marion Township in 1828. Years later his three children followed him to America, their mother having died some years previously. The children were: Gerhard, Maximilian, and Bernadina.

Bernadina Clune married William Roeckner, who bought the farm from Arnold Clune.

Gerhard Clune (1827-1875) and his wife Bernadina Wabler (1838-1904) were both natives of Germany. He came to America when a young man and settled in Mercer County, purchasing a small farm of 40 acres in Marion Township, Section 10, in 1859. He was engaged in working on the canal in Auglaize County for a time, as well as managing the farm, to which he kept adding until at the time of his death at the age of 48 years, he owned 200 acres. They had 11 children: Frank, Mary, Barney, Bernadina, Joseph, Josephine, Casper, Henry, Elizabeth, Catherine, and Gerhard.

Casper Clune was born on this farm January 28, 1867. He was raised on his father's farm and assisted with the work until the time of his marriage at the age of 26 years. He bought the farm from his mother in 1893. The first house built on the Clune Farm was a log cabin in which Casper was born, and the six room house which they occupied was built by his father in 1871, who made his own brick and hewed his own timber. Mr. Clune remembered the time when the turnpike on which he lived was a plank road, and also when his father was obliged to carry his grain on his back through the woods and brush, to the mill at Piqua, Ohio. In the spring of 1906, Mr. Clune bought a partnership in the Chickasaw Grain & Milling Company.

Mr. Clune was married three times — first to Catherine Dabbelt (who had four children) Nora, Rose, Minnie, and John. He was married (second) to Josephine Schroeder, who died April 24, 1906. One child was born to this union, Joseph (died one year old). Mr. Clune was married (third) to Anna Ashman (1879-1953) a daughter of Henry Ashman, who resided at Cassella, Mercer County. They had ten children: Loretta (1907) who lived about 8 months, Herbert (1908-1967) married Martha Broerman, Alphonse (1910) married Agnes Prenger, Louis (Oct. 1912-Jan. 1913), Carl (1914-1971) married Bernadine Segar, Matilda (1916-1920) died in a barn fire, Lu-

DABBELT FAMILY

The Dabbelt family in Mercer County all descend from twin brothers Johann Bernard and Johann Heinrich Dabbelt, who were born on August 20, 1812 in Ascheberg, Westfalen, Germany of Jean Gerhard and Maria Elizabeth Schulze-Heiling. The Dabbelt family dates back to 1280 when Heinrich von Dachbolding found himself no longer a knight in service at Westerwinkel because of the sale of the estate. Through the years property is bought and brought by marriage until in 1660 Christof Stoffer Dabbelt and his wife are given clear title to the land that is now the Dabbelt farm at Ascheberg. Due to the German custom of the husband assuming the surname of the wealthier wife, the name Dabbelt was assumed three times from 1659-1767.

As Bernard and Heinrich were not the oldest sons, they would not inherit any land in Germany and America looked like the Land of Promise to them.

In 1851 Heinrich came to this country and in 1853 married Bernadina Kneilman, settling at St. Rose in Marion Township. They had six children: Anna (married John Sickman), Bernadina (married John Graeff), Frank (married Frances Huelskamp and left the only male descendants of this line with the Dabbelt name at Dayton, Ohio), Hubert (married Elizabeth Dwenger), Mary (married Joseph Brockman), and Rosina (married Lawrence Wint).

Johann Bernard waited until 1857 to come to America and Mercer County. With him came his children of his first wife, Maria Sybilla Pötter, who were Gerhard, Hubert, Anna, and Elizabeth and, his second wife Gertrude Schulze Cappelle and children Ignatz and Amalia. Two sons were born at St. Sebastian, Henry and August.

Land was purchased east of St. Sebastian in Franklin Twp. in 1859 and added to in 1865.

The children of Johann Bernard married in time and as was common, were very prolific. In fact, much more so than the family left in Germany.

Gerhard (1841-1872) married Catherine Wellman. Children were Anna (married Gerhard Muhlenkamp), Catherine (married Bernard Schencking), Rosena (married Henry Mathias Winkeljohn), and Gerhard (married Mary Nieport).

Due to Gerhard's early death, Hubert (1843-1906) inherited the family farm upon Bernard's death in 1874. He married Rosina Lindhaus and their children were: Bernard (married Mary Hanfelder), Henry (married Christina Heyne), Catherine (married Casper Clune), Frank (married Mary Schwieterman), John, Aloys (married Agnes Schwieterman), and Caroline.

Anna (1845-1881) married John Niekamp. Children were Catherine (married 1. Henry Severt, 2. Peter Weber, 3. Joseph Piekenbrock), Gerhard (married Philomena Broeker) and Frances (married Gerhard Wolters).

Elizabeth and Henry died in childhood and are buried at St. Sebastian.

Ignatz (1855-1937) married 1. Caroline Koch and 2. Catherine Roster. Children of his first marriage were: Amelia (married John Boeke), Louis (married Margaret B. Schneider), Joseph, Rose (married Elmer Clark), Elizabeth (married 1. Charles Heck 2. Theodore Zerhe), Philomena, Ida (married Richard Pflaum). Children of his second marriage were Catherine, Margaret and Leander (married Margaret Mersman).

Amalia (1857-1937) married Henry Dorsten. Their children were Edward (married Josephine Hein), Charles (married Emma Klosterman), Matilda (married Bernard Borgert), George (married 1. Miss Boskin 2. Helen Link), Elizabeth, Ida (married August Klosterman), and Theodore (married Loretta Koh-August (1862-1945) married Caroline Eyink and their two children were Anthony (married Clara

Payne) and Mary (married Henry Froning.

The descendants of the above Dabbelts now are in the fourth generation. A good many have lived and died in Mercer County but many have left here and spread out over Ohio and the country. They have been farmers, lawyers, teachers, nurses, and many other professions but most of all they have fulfilled the dreams of their progenitors who came to this country to have a chance at the Land of Promise. ANTON DeCURTINS

Anton DeCurtins came from Canton Graubunden, Switzerland, about 1849 to Cincinnati where he was engaged as an architect and organ builder. His wife, Mary Kemper, and three children, Henry, John and Clara arrived with him in this country. He lived in Wapakoneta and Chickasaw but settled at Carthagena. Five more children, Agnes, Frank, Bernard, Andrew, Reinhard Anton and Mary Bernadine were born and baptized as members of the St. Aloysius parish which Anton and Mary helped found in 1865. The DeCurtins are a significant family because their architectural and decorating talents are still displayed in numerous Catholic churches and ecclesiastical structures all over Ohio but particularly i Mercer County. They often built two churches year apart for a community as increased membershi created a need for a larger building. For over 9 years they built and decorated Catholic churches Anton, the father; John Rudolph and Andrew, th sons; and Fred, the grandson, were architects Agnes, Tony and Frank were church painters and interior woodworkers. The family also built pew and organs.

John, born at Wapak, moved to Carthagena and married Elizabeth Mestemaker in 1887. Their sor Frederick was born in 1888 and Elizabeth died one week after her son's baptism. John died in 1898 after suffering a railway accident in Coldwater during plans for that church construction. Agnes studied music at the Conservatory in Cincinnati. Frank studied architecture in Munich, Germany; while Andrew studied architecture in Milwaukee.

Some of the church parishes where the DeCurtins family built two structures include St. Joseph at Wapakoneta, St. Henry, Coldwater, Sebastian, Celina and Sharpsburg. The present edifices at St. Rose, Cranberry Prairie, Carthagena, St. Anthony, St. John Maria Stein, St. Joe, St. Aloysius, Trinity, Indiana, are also DeCurtins masterpieces. The 1892 convent and chapel at Maria Stein, the seminary chapel at Carthagena, many of the rectories, Celina I.C. schools, St. Henry, Chickasaw and Trinity schools and the destroyed novitiate chapel and demolished Ft. Recovery church all were built by the DeCurtins.

Later Andrew and Fred worked on other buildings than churches. Andrew built the Argonne Hotel in Lima and the now razed Winkeljohn house in Celina. Fred constructed the Mercer county jail, Gibbons Hospital, and several residences in Auglaize and Mercer county.

FRANK DIRKSEN

Frank Dirksen (1874-1957) was born and raised in Minster, Ohio. He taught school for many years in Mercer and surrounding counties. His last teaching assignment was in Philothea, Ohio after which he purchased a farm on Mercer-Darke county line near Osgood where he remained until his death. The farm is still being operated by his grandson, Paul Dirksen.

They had seven sons: Clarence, Aloys, Linus, Cletus, August and Richard. Two sons died in infancy, Cletus, buried in Egypt, Ohio and Virgil, buried in Osgood, Ohio.

The original farm buildings were nearly totally destroyed by fire in October, 1932. The only buildings saved were a chicken house and part of the house which was then called the summer kitchen. The fire was believed to have started from sparks of a tractor they were using to grind feed in the barn. Sparks ignited a straw pile near the barn and all attempts to save the farmstead proved futile. Frank and his wife and their son August, were then the only ones living at home and were housed at relatives until construction was completed within the following year. A few dairy animals were saved and ese were brought to the neighboring farm of their in, Linus.

The passport was granted at Frieburg in the grand Duchy

They first stopped at Wolfcreek, Ohio then later moved to this farm containing 40 acres that was transferred to Xavier on Feb. 8, 1847. An additional 40 acres were transferred Mar. 10, 1852. This was some of the 2000 acres belonging to the heirs of John Randolph of Virginia who had bought this land in 1846 for his 318 freed slaves. These slaves never reached their destination so in time this land was sold to these mostly German immigrants arriving in

The raging cholera epidemic of 1849 took the lives of Xavier's mother, Carolina, George, and Peter. Pius had been buried at sea.

Kunigunda never married so lived on the home place until she died in 1918. Some of the older relatives remember many of the stories she told of her family's life. She told about the time the family was waiting out the quarantine in New York. They were living under a bridge and someone stole all of the belongings they were able to bring with them. Xavier was a wood worker as well a farmer and she told how very busy he was making coffins to bury the cholera victims including the Sisters of the Precious Blood in Maria Stein.

Only August and Englebert remained to marry and carry on the Droesch name. August married Elizabeth Lochtefeld in 1864. Englebert married Philomena Elking June 2, 1870 and she died Aug. 25, 1877. He then married Frances Rose Stein May 14, 1878. He was the father of 11 children. His son Caspar married Lola Hill in Merced, California. Englebert went there for an extended visit and died there

July 15, 1912.

August's wife Elizabeth was the daughter of Henry and Bernadine (Greshoff) Lochtefeld. Henry came from Germany in about the year 1833 with his parents Melchior (b. 1790-d. Nov. 5, 1855) and Elizabeth (b. 1785-d. Sept. 30, 1855). August and his wife were next to run the farm. They were the parents of 11 children. Elizabeth (b. June 30, 1865) married Peter Weber in 1890 and died 2 years later Nov. 26, 1892. Carolina (b. Mar. 1867) married John Kramer June 21, 1898 and died Aug. 28, 1966. Twins, Mary and Catherine (died at birth Feb. 2, 1869). Henry (b. Dec. 2, 1870) married Elizabeth Hausfeld in 1895, and died May 6, 1916. Englebert (b. Feb. 4, 1872) married Elizabeth Barnhart June 25, 1900 and died Jan. 1946. Lorenz (b. Aug. 28, 1874-d. Aug. 10, 1958). August (b. Aug. 6, 1876) married Catherine Vondrell Oct. 29, 1907 and died Oct. 6, 1973. Philomena (b. Jan. 16, 1879) married Bernard Froning Aug. 7, 1901 and died Aug. 1931. Frances (b. Jan. 5, 1881-d. Aug. 1, 1967), and John (b. July 25, 1883-d. Mar. 21, 1945). Frances and John never married.

LORENZ DROESCH

Lorenz took possession of the farm after August. He married Agnes Reichert Nov. 8, 1905. Mary, the first of their 5 children died at birth. Camillus (b. July 15, 1907) married Dorothy Rosenbeck May 2, 1933 and she died July 3, 1974. Mathilda (b. Feb. 7, 1909) married Raymond Rutchilling May 6, 1940. Joseph (b. THE EIFERT FAMILY

Michael Eifert sailed with his family via sailbour from his home in (Baden) Bavaria, Germany, to the country in the year of 1835. At this time there we two sons, Victor and Ferdiand, and one daughted Martha, besides his wife, Elizabeth (Nau).

The voyage over to this country was quite a ve ture, in that it consumed 82 days. They were bes by many days of complete calm weather, and mai days of extreme adverse winds. When they arrive somewhere along the Eastern coast of America, the supplies completely exhausted.

After many hardships, they finally settled in Knocounty, county seat of Danville, Ohio, there, a so Joseph was born, also two daughters Mary (Kleinhenz) and Catherine (Harlett). This particular loc tion of settlement was probably chosen throug means of a land grant from Federal government.

Seemingly, the ground and land at this locatic was not very productive, and two sons of Micha Eifert, (Victor and Joseph) later moved to Merca County, near St. Joe, Ohio.

Joseph (my grandfather) purchased 40 acres (land, completely covered with timber, east of St. Jc Community. After clearing a small area, he built two room cabin, which is the location of the preser homestead. Since the area was not tillable and crop could not be grown until the land was cleared, Jc seph Eifert worked either as a carpenter or mason tearn his living. He worked in Minster, Ohio, cor structing St. Augustine Church, (the first church i Mercer County) (now Auglaize County). He walke from St. Joe to Minster each Monday morning, an returned each Saturday noon to his home in St. Joe a distance of 20 miles.

During the Civil War (1860-1865) Joseph Eifer was asked to report for induction into military service, in Lima, Ohio. He walked from his home, an when he arrived, he suffered what was considered heart attack. He was not accepted into the service.

and returned home. (He walked)

Joseph Eifert married Sophia (Weiss) Septembe 27, 1864 and they had nine children, six boys and three girls. The oldest son was Charles Eifert (my fa her). He helped his father Joseph clear the fields of imber and stumps, and at the age of 22 left the farm o go to Maria Stein to help John Fleck (a veternaian) in breeding horses. There he met Katherine leck, whom he married on February 1, 1893 and hey had six children Amanda (Bonner), Gerogiana Wint), Irma (McClintock), Alfred, Lee, and me (Osar).

When John Fleck died my father started a creamry in Maria Stein Station and also owned a hoop actory. The site of the latter was purchased by the New Idea Spreader Works and the creamery was old to the White Mountain Creamery (Beatrice now) and he then was a cream driver until he died. My mother also ran a hotel while the St. John Thurch was built and boarded the many workers of his project.

I (myself) grew up in Maria Stein, after high chool graduation studied music at St. Francis Colege, Wisconsin and College of Music Chicago and lecided to become a teacher, studied at Bowling Green State University. I taught the first two years n Dahlinghaus School and then came to Cassella, where I married Adella Bruns June 5, 1934 and three hildren were born to our family. Don, who lives in Dayton, Pat (Mastrangelo) Tuscon, Arizona, and Mary Jane (Brinck) in Centerville, Ohio. We now lave thirteen grandchildren.

After having taught forty years in Mercer County and having been organist for forty five years I reired from teaching in 1971. Oscar Eifert

Feltz Family

THE FELTZ FAMILY

The earliest dates and ancestors of the Feltz Family goes back to the late years of 1770 or early 1780, when Count John Fels d Olerstahl was born in Saverne, France. Later ruled a part of Alsatia. He was an officer in the Imperial Guard of Napoleon Bonapart. This was after the breakup of Empire Karl des Grose. He had a son Florenz, born in 1804, in Saverne, France. Florenz married a woman (name unknown). They had two sons, Florenz Jr., and Joe. His first wife died, and he married Margaretha Loffler. She was a Catholic and there being a lot of religious friction, changed his name to Florenz Feltz, dropped the d Olerstahl entirely, and came to America. (We have the passport dated March 7, 1840, in Strasbourg, also some army books and the sword that Count John carried.) They came to Thomson, Ohio, and they had two sons Louis and George, and a daughter Margaret who died in infancy.

VINCENT J. GAGEL

Vincent J. Gagel, son of Michael and Catherine (Synck) Gagel was born November 30, 1917 at Maria Stein. He was the second youngest of eight children; four boys and four girls. He attended grade school and three years of high school at Maria Stein. He graduated from Minster High School in 1935 because "St. Johns" was not yet a four year high school.

Immediately after graduation, he became a full time employee of Gagel Hardware Co. owned by his mother. Although ownership has since passed to the third generation, he is still employed there and is the oldest employee in age and years of service. Always an avid sports fan and concerned about providing sports facilities in the community, he helped with the installation of the first lighted football field at the high school. He was manager of the first Little League team in Maria Stein and continued in that endeavor for a number of years.

On October 4, 1941, at St. Rose, Ohio, he married Theresa Gottemoeller. She is the daughter of Fred J. and Catherine (Hemmelgarn) Gottemoeller. Theresa was third youngest of nine children; six boys and three girls. She attended grade school in St. Rose and Holy Angels High School in Sidney, Ohio, graduating in 1932. She lived with distant cousins there and assisted with the care of their invalid mother in exchange for room and board.

Jim (Vincent) and Theresa started housekeeping in Maria Stein in the house built by his grandfather around 1900. They still live there and over the years have modernized the house to suit their tastes and the needs of their family. They had six children. All attended Maria Stein and later Marion Local High School and graduated from there.

Mary Susan, born August 26, 1942, attended Miami Univ. at Oxford, Ohio, and graduated in Aug., 1964 with a B.S. in Education. She married James L. Salm on December 26, 1964, and they lived in Sidney where James was employed and Susan was teaching. They later moved to Michigan and now live at Coldwater, Mich. Susan is a para-professional assistant in the schools. They have three children:

Robert, Angela and Douglas.

Barbara Jean also attended Miami Univ. and graduated in January, 1965, with a Bachelor of Arts Degree. She continued there as a graduate assistant until September, 1966, when she accepted a position with the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity in Chicago, Ill. Later, she was assistant director for International trade for the State of Illinois for two years. In 1977 she became employed by the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare and is director of the Office of Management and Planning. After attending the Univ. of Chicago, she received a degree of Master in Business in June, 1977.

Sarah Rose attended St. Elizabeth School of Nursing and graduated in August, 1965. She spent a year on the staff at St. Elizabeth before returning to Maria Stein and obtaining a position in Industrial Nursing at Avco New Idea. She married Paul Budde on February 4, 1967, and lives at Maria Stein. They have four children: Ann, Jean, Frank and Krista. Sarah is active in community affairs and sings in the church choir. She also assists with the parish C.C.D. pro-

Helen Catherine was the recipient of a General Motors Scholarship and attended Northwestern University Medill School of journalism at Evanston, Ill. She graduated in June, 1968, and spent the next year with "Vista". After a training period Oklahoma State Univ., she was stationed at Reser La. She returned to Chicago and married Robe Squires on November 29, 1969. They live in Evar ton, Ill. and have three daughters: Theresa, Ka and Leah. Helen is active in the Evanston League Women Voters and is serving as Vice President the present time.

Bernard Backs and Johanna Goecke, 1913

JOHN B. GOECKE

John B. Goecke born June 12, 1857 and Anna Vehorn born Feb. 7, 1864 were my grandparents who raised me. My mother, Johanna Goecke married Bernard Backs and she died three days after my birthdate December 14, 1916. She had chosen the name "Florene" but I was baptized Florentine.

John B. Goecke had a Harness Shop and repaired harness and shoes. As a hobby he raised bees. Some honey was extracted and used by the Sisters to make altar candles for church. Honey was served on the table the year around.

They had thirteen children. Fred, Julian, Eleanor, Johanna, Vincent, Victoria and Loretta, six died in infancy, Leona, Verona, Lawrence, Leo, Rosena and Edna Another granddaughter, Alvera Schwieterman, lived with them four years after her mother (Eleanor) died.

We were raised in an atmosphere of love and hard work, being a good Catholic was important.

Grandpa died in 1930, grandma in 1933. I attended St. John School eleven years and one year at Immaculate Conception in Celina while staying with Joe and Frances Huelsman. In 1935 I graduated from International Business College in Fort Wayne. Obtained a job in Dayton, was married at Holy Family Church in 1937 to Russell Thomas from Neptune, Ohio. Lived in West Carrollton, Ohio, for thirteen years. My Aunt Victoria made her home with us for 8 years — from 1945 to 1953. I came to Celina with our three children in 1955. They graduated from Immaculate Conception High School, are now married and there are thirteen grandchildren.

After 1917 my father lived with his dad, Herman Backs, in Burkettsville. Grandpa came from Hanover, Germany, about 1870 at age sixteen. First settled in Cincinnati through some Catholic agency, but was homesick and it was suggested he take a job near Minster or Maria Stein where people spoke "low German" his native tongue and worked as a farm hand for Bernard Knapke who gave him a team of horses when he married Catherine Buehler.

About 1920, Ben Backs took a job as Maintenance man for the Mercer County Home, making his home there until 1944 when he married Catherine Siegrist of Casella. In Dayton, he worked as a Dairyman for the Sisters and in 1950 returned to Mercer County. Catherine passed away in 1954, Ben Backs in 1959.

Our children: In 1957 Norma Jean married Eugene Homan, they live in Coldwater, belong to Holy Trinity Church — five daughters: Deborah, Diane, Jeannine, Laura, Karen. On May 29, 1978, Deborah married Don Glaser from St. Marys.

In 1961 Carol Ann married Ralph James. They live in New Haven, Indiana and attend St. John the Baptist Church and school — four children: Mark, Nicholas, Phillip and Candice.

In 1959 Kenneth Thomas enlisted in the Army for three years. He married Martha Ann Hirschfeld in 1964. They belong to Holy Trinity Church and he has a Shoe store in Bucyrus, Ohio. They have four children: Bruce, Michelle, Keith and Renee.

George and Blanche (Nichols) Thomas were my in-laws. George taught school in Neptune and after retiring sold insurance in Celina.

I have been working as a secretary for Mersman Brothers since 1955. Florentine Thomas

THE HARTINGS - GAST FAMILIES

On April 16, 1847 William Hartings and his wife hanna Mathilda (Kronenbruck) Hartings arrived America with their eight children. Their port of try being either Ellis Island, New York or Baltiore, Maryland. They had some trouble at the port entry; the reason being: one child was sick and ad to be hospitalized and secondly, one child had ed just prior to their departure from Germany. Beig in a strange land and different customs and havig language difficulties they felt very uncomfortale. Since their friends and other passengers had ready left for their destinations, they were all one. They received permission to leave the child and moved on, their destination being Iowa. They opped in Cincinnati to visit with friends and were advised to go by canal boat to Minster, Ohio; which they did. They settled on a farm in the parish of St. Rosa, Mercer Co., Ohio. In the 1850 Census it listed William's occupation as a farmer and his land valued at $1200.00.

William and Mathilda were married in 1828 in Germany. Their children, excluding the one that died before their departure and the one left at the port of entry, were as follows in order of birth: Mathais, Elizabeth, Margaret, John, Peter Jacob, Rinehart, and Peter. All lived to marry and raise families except Peter Jacob who died at age 18. The eldest, Mathais, is my Great, Great Grandfather. He was a successful farmer, owning a total of 270 acres of good farm land which he cleared himself. He took Carolina Ruelman as his wife on January 24, 1854. She was born in St. Rose and a member of the Saint Rosa Catholic Church. They had twenty children. I have the names of sixteen, the others must have died at birth and were not named. The children were all born in Mercer county and their names and birth dates, death dates, and husbands and wives names are as follows:

My Grandfather, Anton, better known as Anthony, was an electrician and lived in Mercer County, first in St. Rose then in Chickasaw, Maria Stein, back to Chickasaw, Coldwater, and then to Philothea where he died. He and Margaret had seven children as follows:

(1) Rosalia Mary 7 May 1916

Fonn Wayne

(2) Viola
Caroline	10 Aug 1918		Walter Edward Davis
(3) Julia Mae	4 Nov 1920		1st Richard Ellsworth Beck 2nd Robert
(4) Jerome John	n 27 Sept 1923	6 Mar 1944	Byron Maxwell killed in W.W. II
(5) Andrew			Catharine
Frederick	6 Apr 1928		Caroline Brosmer
(6) Martha			Richard Leo
Agnes (7) Donald	18 Nov 1930		Sherman
Eugene	4 Jan 1934		Ila Pearl Moore

Of these children, Viola is the only one who resides in Mercer County presently; Rosalia and Martha in Auglaize Co., Julia (my mother) in Montgomery Co., Andrew in Indiana and Donald in Texas.

I, Pat Beck Caron, am the next to the youngest of five children and have been working on my family history nearly five years. When the Hartings came to America 131 years ago there were only William and Mathilda and their eight children, now there is probably in the neighborhood of 1000 descendants of those 6 children that lived and raised families.

I have had the experience of living overseas, being where I didn't speak the same language or know their customs and I must say I admire my forefathers for their strength and courage to come to a new land and start their lives anew. My husband, Jim Caron, and our two sons, Matthew and Jeramy and I are going to move to Arizona soon - somewhat like our forefathers, we will be leaving our families to start our lives anew — but we'll always remember our roots started here in Mercer Co. way over a century ago!

The other side of my mother's family also lived in Mercer County in the 1800's. In the 1820's my Great, Great, Great Grandfather, Andrew Gast and his wife Theresa came from France with their two sons and two daughters and settled in Minster, Auglaize Co., Ohio. The eldest son, Matthais moved to St. Johns, Mercer Co., Ohio in 1838 where he engaged in the mercantile business. He served six years as county commissioner, three years as notary public and county auctioneer. While Peter, my Great, Great Grandfather followed in the footsteps of his father as a farmer. He married Theressa Gertrude Ellermen and they had six children as follows:

Anton Hausfeld was born May 7, 1857 in Ma Stein. He was the eldest child and only son of B nard and Elizabeth Hausfeld. He was a Catholic German decent, and farmed all his life.

Anton married Mary Kramer, whose mother v a Reichert. She was born November 29, 1860 a had two brothers; John (Feb. 2, 1859-Jan. 23, 19: and Henry (Jan. 16, 1863-April 24, 1925). Her married Senora Walch and they had two children their own and two adopted children. John marri Catherine Hausfeld, sister of Anton.

Anton and Mary (kramer) Hausfeld and John a Catherine (Hausfeld) Kramer were united in a do ble wedding ceremony since brother and sister ma ried brother and sister.

Anton and Mary had six children:

Ed (Oct. 1, 1886-Dec. 26, 1965) married Ma Neumeier. They had seven children. They lived Coldwater, where Ed worked at New Idea as a si tionary engineer.

Ludwig(Louie) Jan. 22, 1889-Nov. 12, 1974) marri Hildagard Goeck. They had two children; Marcell (married Mildred Rosenbeck) and Dorothy (marri Vitus Siegrist). As a young man, Louis was Static Master at the C.H. and D Railroad depot (around 1910-1920). After the railway discontinued he b came manager of the Maria Stein Grain Co. elevate Louie's wife died when his children were still your and his mother (Mary) moved in to help him rai them.

Cecelia (Sept. 15, 1891-Sept. 14, 1975) married J. Severt. They had no children of their own b reared a niece, Evelyn (married Walter Braun) and nephew, Norman (married Mary Ann Kramer).

Leo (Oct. 28, 1894-Dec. 29, 1975) married Armel

Eifort, (SEE LEO HAUSFELD FAMILY)

Albert (Sept. 8, 1896-Aug. 29- 1971) who marrie Bernadine Wendeln. They had six children and live next door to the home farm. Albert farmed tl home farm in partnership with Leo until arour 1938 when the farm could no longer support to families. He then began working at New Idea.

Eleanora (Oct. 13, 1898-Dec. 13, 1969) married Le Bruggeman. (See LEO BRUGGEMAN FAMILY)

Cecelia once wrote of her parents Anton and Elizeth:

"Dad had walking typhoid. He was never real well. He spent much of his time in the house smoking a pipe. When Dad went to Minster to get wheat made into flour, he always came back with a terrible headache. He took wheat in special grain sacks and drove a spring wagon to the mill... when he got home the wheat was put into a special flour barrel.

We never know of a quarrel between our Mom and Dad. Dad had so much faith in what Mom said and did that what she managed was always okay with him. We had lots of good times.

Mom was taking care of Ed Hausfeld's baby when Dad got real sick. He was kicked in the stomach by a horse before he died of peritonitis. He died on Leo's 21st birthday (On Oct. 28, 1915).

Mom was a very precise person who made decisions and stuck to them. Everything had a place and everything was always in its place. Whether it was a Monday or a Sunday she always got up at 5 o'clock to start the stove and take charge of the milking. We always had a big garden and we had to help hoe and pull weeds. She did a lot of canning. She made bread in the big wood-burning oven. During the typhoid epidemic she would stay all night with our neighbors, the Oppenheims'. Before coming in the house she would remove her apron and keep it outside and wash up real good so as not to give the typhoid to us.

She was a very religious person (Catholic). Many a time she knelt in prayer for hours at night and when we would notice her, she was asleep on her knees." lary died at age 87 on Feb. 8, 1948. 'ary Jo Bruggeman, Coldwater, Oh. 45828

BERNARD HAUSFELD FAMILY

Bernard Hausfeld was born in Minster, Ohio in 830. There is no record of his birth but his father was Arnold Hausfeld who came from Germany.

He married Elizabeth Schweinefurz who was born nd lived her whole life in Maria Stein. Elizabeth vas the daughter of Anton and Agnes Schweinefurz. The had two sisters; Mary (married Arnold Hauseld) and Catherine (married Joseph Wobler and noved to Payne, Paulding County).

On November 7, 1861 after Elizabeth married Bernard Hausfeld, they purchased from her parents (Anton and Agnes Schweinefurz) the Schweinefurz farm. (Note: According to the U.S. General Land Office in Wapakoneta this 240 acres of land on which the Schweinefurz farm was built was first purchased in 1835 by Henry Raudierk who sold the 240 acres to Anton Schweinefurz in May 1854).

Bernard and Elizabeth purchased the farm for $1000 to be paid over 10 years with the stipulation that they provide a room in the home for Elizabeth's parents for as long as they lived. When Schweinefurz sold the farm he also stipulated that his daughter Mary was to receive $800 and Catherine to receive $400.

Bernard and Elizabeth had five children: 1. Anton (May 7, 1857-Oct. 24, 1915) married Mary Kramer. (See Anton Hausfeld Family.) 2. Agnes (May 4, 1859-May 20, 1907) married Bernard Knapke. They had no children, but reared Zenna and Marcella Hunter of Ft. Recovery. Marcella died at age 14 of T.B. 3. Catherine (July 2, 1864-Sept. 19, 1895) married John M. Kramer. (See John Kramer Family.) 4. Mary (May 10, 1861-Oct. 16, 1930) married Nick Fullenkamp. They had two daughters; Agnes (married Henry Streaker) and Rosie. 5. Elizabeth (Aug. 18, 1867-Aug. 25, 1946) married Henry F. Droesch. They had six children: Victoria (married Anthony Streaker) Aloys, Leander, Tharsilla (married Adolph Hoyng) Norbert, Marie

Bernard died at age 63 on November 18, 1893. Elizabeth stayed on the farm, and passed the farm on to her son Anton. Anton's daughter Cecelia once wrote

"Grandma (Elizabeth) lived with our family all her life. We remember Grandma as saying "HELLO — now get your clothes off and get to work' when we came home from school...I can remember one time when we were trimming and hoeing sugar cane. Grandma said 'Isn't it funny that everything that is sweet has to get sour first', meaning the hard work comes before the molasses."

Elizabeth died at age 77 on March 31, 1914. Marilyn Hausfeld Ferguson, Celina, Oh. 45822

LEO HAUSFELD FAMILY

Leo Hausfeld was born October 28, 1894, son of Anton and Mary Hausfeld. He lived on the family farm in Maria Stein all his life. Leo was a member of St. John's Catholic Church and attended school at St. John. During grade school, his teacher was Aloys Eifert who later became his father-in-law. (Mr. Eifert was a very strict school master, as it has been told. He taught in a one-room school house in Maria Stein in the 1900 era. Later he taught in St. Joe, and was church organist, until he and his family moved to Dayton.)

Leo married Armella Eifert (Jan. 1, 1899-Oct. 28, 1968) on October 15, 1919. Together they raised nine children: Roman (Oct. 12, 1920) married Mildred Davis (Feb. 27, 1923) Rosanna(Aug. 9, 1923)

married Robert Kleinhenz (May 16, 1923)

Madonna(Oct. 24, 1925) married Louis Goecke (June 25, 1926) Ivo(May 20, 1927) married Margie Wuebker (Sept. 19, 1926) Agnes(Feb. 1, 1929) married Richard Schulze(Dec. 9, 1927) Gregor(Sept. 12, 1930)married Joan Bernard(Aug. 17, 1932) Urban (July 14, 1932) Esther(Dec. 26, 1933)married William Willke(Feb. 18, 1934 Jeanette(Sept. 12, 1939) married Omer Bruns(Jan. 19, 1939)

The crops grown on the farm were: corn, wheat, oats, hay and tomatoes. The livestock were hogs, chickens, geese, and dairy cattle. The Hausfelds bottled and furnished milk for Maria Stein community and sold milk to the local store for many years. Between 1936-1944 tomatoes were grown for the cannery. Eight or ten acres of tomatoes were grown annually. The family picked all the tomatoes by hand.

(No migrant workers!)

Since the family was large there was a lot of work to be done by each member. Neighbors helped each other too. Leo belonged to a "threshing ring" called the "7-Up Gang". This was a group of seven ne bors who worked together each threshing sea until all of their fields were finished. They join owned a threshing machine and a clover hauler.

Butchering day in the winter was also a time w neighbors worked together.

The Hausfeld family had many good times gether. The children remember playing football v the neighbors on State Rt. 119 (now a busy hi way). The doors were always open at home, a friends and relatives frequently visited.

On the 4th of July the whole Hausfeld family 1 on the farm for a family reunion with fireworks a homemade ice cream (usually 15 gal. of ice cre was eaten every 4th of July). This tradition was c ried on until the 1960's.

The older children had their wedding reception in the top of the hog house, which was cleaned and made fit for a barn dance with square danci beer drinking, and a lot of fun.

Leo was a lively person. He loved candy; chocol covered peanuts were his favorite. His children member after church on Sundays he would buy worth. When they got home, he would run with into the house with the family after him, and dar a jig on the dining room floor holding the candy.

Leo was a member of the uniform rank of Knights of St. John for many years. He was the cle of the St. John's rural school and an active meml of the school board during the era when St. Jo was in the process of consolidating Chickasaw, Rosa, Osgood and Maria Stein schools into the Ma ion Local Schools.

Armella was a gentle and patient mother. S laughed easily and had an easy-going manner. S loved flowers and spent a lot of time in her garder In her later years, she and Leo belonged to the Far Bureau and participated in Council meetings. (The meetings were short, and were followed by a gar of cards.)

Armella died of cancer at age 69. Leo stayed of the farm with his youngest son Urban until I death at age 81 in 1975.

After Leo's death, because of high land prices as estate taxes, the children sold the farm at a lar; public auction in March of 1976. The farm was pu chased by Dennis Rethman and Urban Knapk whose son Kenneth moved onto the homestead will his new bride Marilyn Muhlenkamp. The old farn stead has since been remodeled. ROMAN HAUSFELD FAMILY Roman (Romie) Hausfeld was born Oct. 12, 192 on the Hausfeld family farm in Maria Stein. Whe began first grade at St. John he spoke only Gerin and had to learn English at school. He and his others and sisters walked one mile to school every y, and during the summer they went to church . John's Catholic) on roller skates.

He worked on the farm until after high school ien he left for the navy. In the navy, he was a raditan on the U.S.S. Walker, a destroyer ship in the cific during WWII. He loved sports, and played the U.S.S. Walker basketball team.

In March of 1946 he was discharged from the vy, after which he returned home and began rking at Goodyear Tire and Rubber in St. Marys. Throughout his early adulthood Romie belonged eight different basketball and baseball teams.

In February of 1947 Romie was driving down the eet in St. Henry with Barney Thobe when they ssed two beautiful young girls; Mildred Davis and ite Weitzel, who were walking into the St. Henry te Club on their way to a dance. The guys folwed them in, and Romie asked Mildred to dance, ok her home, and on July 24, 1948, he married her. Mildred Alma Davis (has always been called Aude''1) was born on Feb. 27, 1923 in St. Henry. At e 13 she had a severe case of typhoid fever — concicted at the Mercer County Fair. For seven months e was very ill, with fevers so high that they caused it to lose all of her hair. (Mude remembers wearg a sippo-cap until her hair grew back.)

Her father (Alfred Davis) died when she was 21, id her mother (Bernadine Romer Davis) remained the home place almost up until the time of her ath.

Mude recalls that during her childhood she loved play outdoors. Her mother baked fresh bread and lls every Saturday while the girls cleaned the buse. When the work was done, everyone went out the back steps to eat fresh bread with butter and rown sugar.

After their marriage, Romie and Mude lived for 3 onths with Mude's mother, then they moved to St. Iarys. In 1957 they bought 1¼ acres of land from 30 Hausfeld on Rt. 716 in Maria Stein and built a ome there.

Romie and Mude always had a vegetable garden, ven when they lived in town in St. Marys. Romie as never interested in flower gardening, and always said "You can't eat flowers". Mude loved to lant flowers, though.

'Mude" rhymes with "good".

Romie and Mude had eight children: Marilyn une 8, 1949) married Max Ferguson. They live on a arm west of Celina. Patricia (Oct. 7, 1950) married eff Clough. They live in Pingree, Idaho, and have a on Bradley Joseph. Martha (Dec. 27, 1951) married David Hissong. They live in Memphis, Tennessee. Theresa (Feb. 26, 1954). Lives in Portland, Oregon. Lobert (March 14, 1955). Joan (Sept. 29, 1957 Joseph an. 10, 1961) Ann (Jan. 17, 1964)

Both Romie and Mude love music and sang on the hurch choirs. All of their children took piano lesons. Romie was an active member of the commuty involved in the American Legion, Knights of St. ohn, and sold insurance. In 1970 they began manging the bookings, records, and building and round care for the Knight's Hall in Maria Stein.

THE LEO J. HEMMELGARN FAMILY

Leo Joseph Hemmelgarn, farmer, teacher, organist, banker, is a fourth generation member of early 1800 German immigrants who were orginally attracted to the flat, fertile lands of the Mercer, Auglaize, and Darke County area.

Leo's grandfather Henry came to the United States from Germany with his parents at 2½ years of age, who settled first at Springfield, Ohio, then at Minster and Cranberry Prairie. He married Catherine Smith, who came from Germany at six years of age. They had six children, of whom Henry was the youngest.

Henry and Catherine cleared the land near Cassella, erected a round log cabin, and were the parents of eight children: Paul Henry, father of Leo, Theodore, Catherine, Bernard, John, Charles, William, and Elizabeth.

Paul Henry always lived in Mercer County and was a farmer all his life. He served several terms on the school board. He purchased a farm near Wendelin in 1877 from Mr. Fraser. This farm was the old Landon Bennett place which was entered in 1835, in the U.S. Land Office at Lima, the deed to which is signed by President Van Buren. Two of the farm's highlights were the German-type, brick, out-door baking ovens and a well kept vineyard.

Paul Henry married Elizabeth Lemm at Cranberry Prairie in 1875. They became the parents of 10 children: Catherine, Cecelia, Elizabeth, Joseph, Mary, Charles, Henry, Leo, Theresa, and Maggie.

Leo Joseph, third youngest was born June 15, 1891 on the farm near Wendelin. He attended Wendelin grade school, St. Henry High School, and was a graduate of St. Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Indiana. His first teaching assignment was at Fink School in Darke County, 1911-1912.

On June 16, 1914 Leo married Catherine Backs, daughter of German immigrants Herman Backs and Catherine Buehler. Catherine was born on the farm near New Weston on October 16, 1892. Mr. and Mrs. Backs were the parents of 10 children: Rose, Ben, Mary, Joe, Catherine, Frances, Aloys, Andrew, Leo, and Raymond. Catherine attended Burkettsville school, Fink school, and a boarding school in Minster, Ohio.

Leo and Catherine became the parents of 10 children, all born in Mercer County: Fr. Werner C.PP.S. March 28, 1915; Ralph January 19, 1917; Sister Laurena C.PP.S. May 17, 1918; Arnold August 18, 1919; Mary Catherine December 1, 1921; Cyril August 1, 1923; Louis March 11, 1925; Esther February 18, 1927; Robert November 18, 1929; and Ruth August 8, 1933.

Leo's next teaching, sexton, and church organist assignment was at Carthagena from 1912 to 1919. Werner, Ralph and Laurena were born here. Then the family moved to Cassella from 1919 to 1933, where Arnold, Mary Kaye, Cyril, Louis, Esther and Robert were born. He then taught at St. Joe, where Ruth was born, until 1943, then at Cranberry Prairie until his teaching retirement in 1950.

They then moved to Ottoville, Ohio where Leo worked in the Ottoville Bank until retirement in 1960, and remained as secretary of the Ottoville Telephone Co. until a few years before his death at the age of 83 in 1974. Mrs. Hemmelgarn died in 1978 and both are buried in St. Mary's Cemetery, Otto-ville.

At this time Fr. Werner C.PP.S. is pastor of St. Edwards Catholic Church, Henning, Minnesota; Ralph married Elsie Braun in 1939, now living in Kettering, Ohio; Sister Laurena C.PP.S. Dayton, Ohio; Arnold married Ruth Lause in 1941 and Irmgard Gressman in 1971, Louisville, Ky; Mary Kaye R.N. married Edw. Dondero in 1950, Long Beach, California; Cyril married Romana Alexander in 1946, Worthington, Ohio; Louis married Gertrude Horwarth in 1947 and Marie Nunn Edstrom in 1960, South Bend, Indiana; Esther R.N. married Ralph Link in 1949, Kettering, Ohio; Robert married Elinor Jane Presar in 1954, Dayton; Ruth married Raymond Miller in 1954, Ottoville, Ohio.

All six sons served in various branches of U.S. Armed Forces during the World War II Conflict.

Currently, there are 28 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren. Ralph C. Hemmelgarn

HOMAN FAMILY

Many years ago in approximately 1850, at the age of 21, Joseph Homan emigrated to this country to begin a new life in America. Not much is known about his journey. He was born in Herbern at Munster, Westphalen Germany. It has been said he worked as a farm laborer before he married Mary Wertmuller (Wertmoeller), an only child. They made their residence with her parents, which is the first farm east of St. Rose Church on the north side of State Route 119.

To this union ten children were born, although only seven lived to a moderate old age. His wife, Mary Wertmuller, died when her youngest child was born, which was on December 9, 1876 at the age of 36. He later remarried and his second wife died six months later of pneumonia. He again married for a third time. He lived nine more years after the death of his third wife.

Joseph Homan died at St. Rose on January 25, 1907 at the age of 77. He is buried in the St. Rose cemetery

His children were: Mary Hr man married Bernard Lindhaus, she died at the age of 80. Catherine and Elizabeth both died while quite young. Heinreich died while single at the age of 21. Theodore Homan married Mary Evers and he died at the age of 56. John Homan married Bernadine Pohlman and he passed away at 85. Joseph Homan married Mary Neimeyer and he lived to be 84. They again named two younger daughters Catherine and Elizabeth. Catherine Homan married Henry Moeller, she died at 69. Elizabeth Homan married Henry Evers and she died at 79. Philomena Homan married John Pohlman and she died at 71.

We, the younger generation, feel they all lived a good, religious, energetic life and set a good exam for everybody who followed in their footsteps. seph Homan helped build the present St. Ro Church in Mercer County, Ohio. He never return to Germany for a visit.

Koester Farm

KOESTERS' FARM

It was during the presidential era of Abraham Lii coln that Henry Koesters of Minster, Ohio in Ai glaize County bought an 80 acre farm one mi south of Cassella, Ohio in Mercer County. Transfe date being September 30, 1864.

He married Marie Hoelscher. Their first homestead was located on the northwest corner of the farm. After the birth of their first child (Catherine Marie died. A few months later Henry married Maria Dahlinghaus. Nine children resulted from the union — Elizabeth, Bernard, John, Henry, Augus Lawrence, Joseph, Anthony and Pauline.

In 1880 a barn was erected in the center of th farm and two years later the present 8-room fram house was built north of the barn.

This family attended Nativity of the Blessed Vii gin Mary Church in Cassella and the children re ceived their education at the one-room school i Cassella.

In 1898 Henry Koesters bought an additional 3 acres of land a half mile west of the present farm.

Of the nine children only August remained on th farm. He took possession in 1906. His marriage t Clara Schroeder in 1905 resulted in eight children – Clarence, Julian, Josephine, Helena, Herbert, Regina Albert and Raymond. This family also attended the same church and school in Cassella.

August was a member of the School Board, the church choir and a charter member of the Cathol Knights of America in Cassella.

Disaster struck in 1920 when a tornado roare through the area destroying most of the barn an other buildings. (Picture enclosed) Fortunately n one was injured. However, it was a severe financia setback for the family.

The next fifteen years were financially hard time along with the big depression.

In 1932 Clarence Koesters rented the farm from August Koesters for one year after marrying Octavi Meyers. During this time they had one child, Frances. They moved to Spring Valley, Ohio and Colc water, Ohio after that and proceeded to have seve more children.

During World War II August had to farm himse even though he was 65 years old.

In 1946, Albert rented the farm from August fc one year after serving his country in the Army. H was married to Vivian Tekamp and they had on ild (Jerry) during that time. After that they moved Coldwater, Ohio where they had two more chil-

In 1947, Raymond, also a veteran, rented the farm om his father. He married Thelma Dahlinghaus in 49 and they had five children — Rita, Tom, June, hn and Carl.

Raymond took possession of the farm in 1964 just the hundred years after the first deed was issued to Koesters. He remains the present owner-operator.

The remaining children of the August Koesters mily: Julian married Frances Geier — 4 children. sephine married Arthur Schroer — 4 children. elena married John Sadlier — 3 children. Regina arried Richard Klus — 4 children.

JOHN M. KRAMER

Heinrich Kramer I was born on June 24, 1791, in Vienkerken bei Vorden, Oldenburg, Germany. In 820, he married Anna Maria Renneker in Vorden. They lived in Vorden near the Holland border ownng a small plot of land without buildings and lived n rent. Finding it difficult to make a living, every pring and summer he would go into Holland and cut turf (processed into fuel). In 1835 Heinrich, Anna Maria and their four children left by sail boat from Bremen landing in Baltimore. This took 17 weeks. What a trip that must have been! They continued by wagon to Cincinnati where their fifth child was born. During the eight weeks there, Heinrich procured 80 acres of land for $100.00 in what is now Mercer County. They arrived in what is now Maria Stein finding several German families already settled there. They had to clear the land for a cabin so they had a place to live. Through hard work including working on the Canal being built at Stallotown (Minster) 10 hours a day for 40 cents, Heinrich acquired another 40 acres in a few years.

Their son, Heinrich II, born in 1826 in Germany married Margaretha Reichert in 1857 at the Maria Stein Catholic Church. When his father died, he inherited the home place on Rolfes Rd, now owned by Lawrence Homan. Their son, John M., was born Feb 2, 1859. He married Catherine Hausfeld on May 28, 1884. On the same day, his only sister Mary married Catherine's brother Anthony.

John and Catherine had two daughters. Henrietta married Henry Ashman and lived in Cassella. Eleonora married Edward Schwieterman, lived in Sebastian and later moved to Burkettsville.

John lived on the home place till 1890, then sold it for $6,100.00 to John Homan. They moved to the Maria Stein Railroad Station where he and his only brother Henry built a grain elevator, a machine shop and later a lumber yard. John did most of the work in the machine shop but sold it in 1899 when he with several others started the Marion Telephone Co. As manager of the Telephone Co. and also doing plumbing and heating work, he had to employ several people year around. Later, he helped start the Marion Mutual Insurance Company.

During this time, his wife Catherine died in 1895. With help from others he raised his two daughters until June 21, 1898 when he married Caroline Droesch. They had five children. Mary graduated as a registered nurse from St. Rita's Hospital and worked in Lima till her retirement. She now lives in Tampa, Florida. Regina married Gregor Esser from Minot, North Dakota. THE KREMER HOMESTEAD

Henry Kramer, born in Germany, came to America with his son Detrick Kremer in 1835.

Detrick, born September 4, 1807, and Elizabeth

(Bueder) Kremer, born November 10, 1808 were natives of Ankum, Germany. Prior to coming to America, Detrick served three years in the German Army. They were very poor when they arrived in America, with only the clothes they were wearing, and one dollar, they received from a sponsor. After remaining in Cincinnati, Ohio for ½ year, they came to Minster, Ohio. They remained in Minster for six months, until Detrick selected a farm in Maria Stein, Ohio. This farm consisted of 40 acres, purchased for $75 and it was nothing but a wilderness. He first put up a log house, which was replaced with a better one, and later with a comfortable frame house. Detrick added 120 acres, so at the time of his death he left an estate of 160 acres. This land is located 11/2 miles north of Maria Stein, Ohio and was purchased from the United States Government. The original deed states, "Land purchased by Henry Kramer (spelled Kramer) May 13, 1836. Transferred to Detrick Kremer January 14, 1839.

FRANK NIEKAMP

FRANK NIEKAMP, a representative farmer of Marion township, resides on his well-improved farm of 78 acres in section 9. Mr. Niekamp was born on his father's farm in Marion township, February 28, 1864, and is a son of Frederick and Catherina (Stammen) Niekamp.

Frederick Niekamp was born in Germany in 1811, and died in Mercer County, Ohio in 1894. At the age of 22 years he came to America and worked first at Cincinnati and is said to have assisted later in hauling the logs for the first houses ever built at Tippecanoe, Ohio, where he lived for some 15 years. In 1848 he moved to Mercer County and was one of the earliest settlers in Marion township. He was twice married, first at Dayton, Ohio, to Catherine Newhouse, who at her death left four children, namely: John, Clemmens, and Joseph, all deceased; and Mary, who married Rudolf Klostermann. He married (second) Catherina Stammen, who was also born in Germany and had accompanied her parents to Ohio. Ten children were born to this second union, as follows: Henry, who married Catherine Koch; Elizabeth, deceased; Philomena, who married John Ronnebaum; Gerhard, who married Elizabeth Mestemaker; Peter, who married Frances Bertke; Catherina, who died young; Frank, the subject of this sketch; Julia and Theodore, both deceased, and a babe that died in infancy. The mother of these children died in 1894.

Frank Niekamp attended the local schools and remained at home with his father, giving the latter assistance until he was about 32 years of age, when he was married to Elizabeth Klostermann, a daughter of Henry and Mary (Mestemaker) Klostermann. Five children have been born to this union, namely: Alfred, Gregor, deceased, Charles, Josephine and Roman.

The Klostermann family, of which Mrs. Niekamp is a member, is a very prominent one of Franklin township, Mercer County. Her grandfather, Henry Klostermann, was born in Germany, emigrated to America and after establishing himself in business returned to his native land, where he married Mary Hullman, whom he brought to America. His son Henry, the father of Mrs. Niekamp, was born at Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1852. He resides on a fine farm of 100 acres situated in sections 28 and 33, Franklin township. He married Mary Mestemaker and their children were: Elizabeth, who became the wife of our subject; Joseph; Frances, who married Frank Watercutter, of Shelby County, Ohio; Emma, who married Charles Dorston, of Mercer County; and Rudolph, who is in the employ of the "Big Four" Railroad Company, at Dayton. After the death of his first wife, Mr. Kostermann married (second) Catherine Backs, and they have these children: Harmen, Augustus, Gregor, Rose, Richard, Albert and Alvina.

In 1896 Mr. Niekamp purchased his present farm from Bernard Froning, but the frame residence he built himself and also made other important improvements. During a period of residence in Franklin township, he served one term as road supervisor and has served in the same office in Marion township. Mr. Niekamp and family are members of St. Sebastian's Catholic Church at Sebastian.

FRANK NIEKAMP, JR.

FRANK NIEKAMP, JR., whose fine farm of 80 acres is located in section 10, Marion township, was born August 6, 1875, in Franklin township, Mercer County, Ohio, and is a son of Clemmens and Catherine (Lindhaus) Niekamp.

Frederick Niekamp and wife, the grandparents of our subject, emigrated to America from Germany and settled at Tippecanoe, Ohio, where they lived for seven years. Mr. Niekamp then removed to Mercer County, where he traded an old surrey for a tract of land in Marion township. He was a man of more than usual intelligence and at that time was about the only man in the township who could speak English. On this account he frequently represented the people in the courts of Celina. He was twice married. By his first wife, Catherine Newhouse, he had four children, namely: John, who married Anna Dabbelt for his first wife and Catherine Borget for his second — both now deceased; Clemmons, our subject's father; Joseph, who died unmarried at Cincinnati; and Mary, who married Rudolf Kloster-mann. By his second marriage, to Catherine Stammen, he had 10 children, viz: Henry, who married Catherine Koch; Elizabeth, deceased; Philomena, who married John Ronnebaum; Gerhard, who married Elizabeth Mestemaker; Peter, who married Frances Bertke; Catherine, who died young; Frank, who married Elizabeth Klistermann; Julia and Theodore, both deceased; and a babe that died in infancy.

Clemmens Niekamp was born at Tippecanoe, Ohio, and accompanied his parents to Mercer County. Here he married Catherine Lindhaus, who was born in Mercer County, and is a daughter of Bernard Lindhaus, a native of Germany. They had two children: Frank; and Anna, the latter of whom married George Grapperhaus, and lives in Marion township. The father of our subject bought a farm in Franklin township and on that farm both he and his wife died, within three days of each other, this double bereavement coming to their son when he was but four years old, and to his sister when still younger. Their grandfather, Frederick Niekamp, took charge of the children and they were reared on his farm in Marion township.

Frank Niekamp, Jr., was reared and educated in Marion township and has devoted his whole life to farming. In 1898 he purchased his 80-acre farm fror Anthony Weber, who was administrator for Henr Kaiser. It is a good property and is well managed b its present owner. Its improvements consist of th usual farm buildings, all of a substantial character and a pleasant, roomy, frame residence, which i kept in fine order by Mr. Niekamp's estimable wife.

In the year he bought his farm, Mr. Niekamp wa married to Catherine Wabler, who was born on th Wabler home farm in Franklin township, Merce County, December 11, 1876. She is a daughter o Henry and Theresa (Koch) Wabler, who now live re tired at Dayton, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Wabler had 1 children, as follows: John, Catherine, Anthony Rosa, Anna, Frances, Elizabeth, Henry, Leo, de ceased at the age of three months; and Regina.

Mr. and Mrs. Niekamp have had six children namely: Leon and Hilda, both deceased; Amanda John and Mary (twins), both deceased; and Rosa The family belong to the Catholic Church. Mr Niekamp is a member of St. Joseph's Society.

FREDERICK NIEKAMP

Frederick Niekamp was born on April 9, 1811, it Essen Oldenburg, Germany, son of Johan and Ca tharina Niekamp. In the year 1833 he came to Amer ica and located in Cincinnati. After a brief period hi moved to Tippecanoe (now known as Tipp City) in Miami County. On March 3, 1840 he was married to Catharine Niehauss from Dayton Ohio in Emmanuel Catholic Church. Three children were born while living in Tipp City namely John, Joseph and Clemens. As they were Catholics and as the neares Catholic Churches were at Dayton, they decided to move North to Mercer County. Here they bought a farm in Marion Township. First 80 acres on February 19, 1848, then on May 27, 1848 another 40 acres Both of these for $900.00. In July, 1849 a daughter Mary was born. On September 26, 1852, Catharine died. The following year he remarried Anna Catharine Stammen who had come to this Country from Holland. They had ten children but five died while small children. The living children were Henry, Philomena, Gerhard, Peter and Frank. Their first house was a log cabin with a loft. Then in 1872 Fred built a large brick house. For many years the log cabin was kept standing and used for a storage building Meanwhile the oldest son Clemens had married Catharine Lindhaus and some five years later during the month of February in 1880 Clemens and his wife Catharine died in three days time leaving two small children, Frank and Anna. Frank was four years and Anna was around two years, and the grandparents, Fred and Anna Catharine raised them as their own. Fred and Catharine's son Peter continued living at home helping his father with the farmwork. On September 25, 1887, Peter was married to Frances Bertke the daughter of Bernard Bertke and Liberata (Kunkler) Bertke. The young couple made their home with Fred and Anna. On May 6, 1887, Fred deeded the farm to his son Peter. Fred and Anna lived the remaining years of their lives on the home place being well taken care of by Peter and Frances. On May 19, 1894, Anna died and a few months later on August 18, 1894, Fred died. Peter and Frances had nine children, Clemens, Catherine, Fred, Mathilds, iberata, Tarsilla, Leo, Regina and Richard. In 1927 eo married Mary Huber and then Peter sold the irm to them. Peter and Frances stayed most of their maining years with them. Peter died August the 0th 1942. Frances died March 17, 1960. When Leo tired, their son Thomas Ralph Niekamp and his ife Mary (Long) Niekamp and their three children, an, Angela and Marsha moved on the farm while eo and Mary moved to the house that belonged to om. Before they moved, they built a new modern inch house on the farm. Leo died January 24, 1974. his farm has been in the Niekamp family 130 ears. submitted by: Mrs. Leo Niekamp, Chickasaw, Oh.

PETER OLDING

Peter Olding was born at Carthagena, Marion Township, in 1878. His parents were Henry and Regina VanDenBosch Olding. Peter and his three brothers, Frank, Bernard and Henry, were raised by his mother until her remarriage to Peter Rosengarten after her husband died in 1882 at the age of 36. It seems that Henry caught cold as he was returning from St. Henry to Carthagena on horseback. Peter's father came to the area in 1877 when his name appeared on the list of new church members, but Henry's father, Bernard, owned land as early as 1852 in Granville Township, Section 24. Apparently John Joseph Olding, an uncle of Bernard, was in Franklinton (west part of early Columbus) in the 1850s and his name also appears in the 1810 Pennsylvania census in a location along the National Road.

John Joseph also owned land in Section 24, Granville Township, which was acquired in 1853, although he apparently never moved here. It is believed the Oldings were English. Bernard and his wife, Mary Ann, lived on the curve of Philothea Road, a short distance above the Carthagena Road, in Section 12, Granville, with their blind daughter.

The mother died in 1897.

Peter married Clara Barhorst, the daughter of Joseph and Josephine Heying Barhorst, in 1904. They owned the farm in Section-19, Marion Township, on Olding Road, that Pete later acquired. Joseph Barhorst and his parents were born in Oldenburg, Germany.

Peter's mother, was Regina VanDenBosch. The VanDenBoschs came from St. Hubert, Holland, where Peter and Mary Anna VanDomelin were married in 1844. They came from Holland with five children to Carthgena about 1865. Regina was born in 1857. Her brothers and sisters were Henrica, 1845; Johanna, 1847; George, 1848; Peter, Jr., 1850; Herman, 1852; and a duaghter who is said to have died on the voyage. Another daughter was born after the arrival in America, Mary, born 1869.

Peter VanDenBosch, Sr., was awarded the con-

Peter VanDenBosch, Sr., was awarded the contract for furnishing the bricks for the new church in 1877. He delivered some 400,000 bricks and also donated money for one large stained glass window on the west side of the sanctuary which has his name on it. He died in 1906 at the age of 85. Maria Anna died in 1908 at the age of 86.

Peter and Clara had ten children. They are Mary Rosalea, Othmar, Joseph, Eugene and Julitta, twins, Catherine Josephine, Esther, Martha, Laura, and Paul Robert. Only the last four are living now. Peter owned several farms in Marion Township, was on the board of education for Carthagena schools and sang in the church choir. Clara died in 1941 after an auto accident and Peter married Matilda Frericks of Minster. In 1955 he died at the age of 77. Patricia Olding

Bernard and Elizabeth (Woeste) Piekenbrock

PIEKENBROCK FAMILY

Bernard (April 7, 1823—June 17, 1912) and August Piekenbrock were members of a moderately wealthy family in Germany. It was tradition for them that the entire estate would be inherited by the youngest brother so as to keep the entire estate and name intact for heritage. The family was used to maid service in the home. They had a stable for riding horses and hired men to care for the horses. With a good education (4 year high school — superior for people at that time) good clothes, and plenty of spending money the 2 brothers set out for U.S.A. and landed in New York. Here they worked in a men's clothing store for a while. It was customary for salesmen to wear hats while on the job. One day Bernard felt a definite, peculiar, and repeated knocking on his hat. He discussed it with his brother and they decided something must have happened at home. Weeks later a letter edged in black came and told them of their mother's death.

When Bernard was in his retiring years and Frank then owned the farm, a Mr. Depholt from Mercer County was making arrangements to go to Europe. Bernard asked him to remain anonymous and go to his home or "Gut" as he called it and find out what had happened to his family and estate. On his return the answer was: The younger brother had taken to alcohol drinking and the estate was going to ruins.

After the brothers had earned enough money to invest they sailed down the Ohio River. August as far as in Iowa where he started a shoe factory called by his name. Later it was sold out to the Red Wing Shoe Co. Bernard as far as Cincinnati and then he traveled North to Mercer County where he bought a farm with a house on it. The farm, located in Section 28 of Marion Township, contained 80 acres and was purchased from Francis Efers in 1855 for a sum of $1700. Later in 1877 he purchased twenty acres more in Section 29 of Marion Township from Frank Ungruhn for $1050 and in 1881 he purchased another 6 acres in the same section from Mr. Ungruhn for $300. His farm now totaled 106 acres and this farm is still in the Piekenbrock Family. He built the present home on this farm in 1871. He built large, big rooms, and the upstairs was never completed until the third generation or Edward's family lived in it.

Bernard married a young girl, Elizabeth Woeste (1838-1910), by negotiating the marriage with her parents. Elizabeth strongly opposed the marriage up to the Saturday before the banns were published on Sunday. In her last argument with her father she threw her engagement ring so that it bounced off one wall and rolled under the kitchen cupboard. Her father then threatened to whip her until she climbed the walls. She gave in, and with a broom handle retreaved her ring, proceeded with the marriage and lived her entire life without a thought of separatio She was a happy-go-lucky type person, a great entertainer, loved young people, singing, and a verpoor housekeeper. Bernard was very organized, veneat, sophisticated, talented, quiet, and of a smastature. He helped many people with legal matters.

They were married on November 22, 1855 an were the parents of 20 children: (eight children die in infancy) Maria Elizabeth (Nov. 1856-1937) ma ried Henry Lochtefeld and had 9 children, Johann Angela (April 1858-1861), Heinrich Bernard (Fel 1860) went out West, Johan Heinrich (Nov. 186) married but had no children also moved out Wes Eberhard Theodore (March 1863 moved West, neve married, Anna Maria (Nov. 1864) married Henr Prieshoff and had 6 children in the western state Josephine Catherine (Feb. 1866-1926) married Joh Harting - had 7 children, Peter Johannes (No 1867) had 1 son, (Bernard) also out west, August Philomena (Jan. 1869-1960) married Casper Franze and they had 10 children (two sets of twins), Franzis kus (March 1870) died, Franz Joseph (March 1871 April 1942) married Katherine Niekamp in his late years and had no children, Anna (Aug. 1872) diec Lawrentius (July 1873) married out west and had children, Augustinus (1874) died, Johan Anton and Heinrich August (July 1876) twins died, Theresi (July 1878), died, William August (Oct. 1879) diec Francis Theresia (Oct. 1880-1960) married Bernarc Schaefer — had 10 children, one set of twins, and Frank (Sept. 6, 1882-Feb. 25, 1953). EDWARD PIEKENBROCK

Edward was also interested in getting a good education. At that time you could only receive a tenth grade level education at Maria Stein, so he rode his bike to Coldwater to get a high school diploma. Since his younger brother, Werner, went to study to become a priest, he was left to do the farm work. He often said he would have liked to have gone further in school, so that he could have become a bookkeeper. He realized some of his ambitions when he was elected as Township Clerk. He served this position for 16 years. When Coldwater Hospital was reorganizing he served on the board as treasurer for a few years and became very involved in the operation of the newly formed Community Hospital. Later he resigned as treasurer and served as a board member until the time of his death. He also built up a very successful seed business, which his son LeRoy has taken over after his death. He was always very active and energetic and loved to sing. In the fall of 1975, he became ill and found out he was suffering from Leukemia. The Doctor advised him to go to Texas for treatment. The following July, he died in Houston, Texas.

He married Stella Prenger on June 30, 1936 and they raised 9 children on this same farm. LeRoy (May 1937) the oldest and only boy, is the present wner of the home place, which has been in the iekenbrock Family for over 100 years. He built a econd house on the farm, where he lives with his rife, Janice (Clune) and their four children — aren, Mark, Dennis, and Brenda. Ruth (Feb. 1939) narried Kenneth Bruns and lives on a farm near St. ebastian with their 5 children - Steve, Tom, Jim, idy, and Jill. Esther (Jan.1941) lives on a farm near renchtown with her husband, Richard Heckman nd their two children Julie and Roger. Emy (Sept. 1953) lives on a farm near Fort Recovery ith her husband, Charles Timmerman. Erma (April 955) also lives near Fort Recovery on a farm with er husband, Paul Timmerman and their son, Brian. roy Piekenbrock

Piekenbrock

Frank Piekenbrock was born and raised on his faner's farm. He was a rather tall, broad shouldered ian, built more like his mother rather than his fater. He was very active in Community affairs. The irm was transferred to Frank on June 2, 1906 for ne sum of $6,000. About this same time he married atherine Luttmer. He spent about 38 years farming nd raised a family of 6 children on the farm. Born this marriage were: Josephine (March 1908) mared Ferd Landwehr, they have 1 child and live in incinnati, Dorothy (July 1909) married Urban lemmelgarn — had 4 children and presently lives 1 New Paris, Clara (March 1914) married Roman leier and live in Maria Stein, the parents of 8 chilren, Ludwig (1916) died, Agnes (Feb. 1918) became ister M. Leonides, C.PP.S. when she was 21 years ld and lives at Salem Heights, Dayton, Ohio, Werer (Oct. 1920) lives in Dayton, Ohio with his wife an and their three children, Mary (died), and Edard (Oct. 7, 1911 - July 1976) who took over the irm in 1940, because his father, Frank, was in poor ealth and unable to farm. Frank moved to Coldwar with his wife and spent the remainder of his ears as a Truant Officer in the County Schools. He ied in 1953 after he was operated on for cancer in ie colon.

In 1905, Frank planned a golden wedding surprise elebration for his parents. This newspaper article ves a vivid description of the event. This is the nglish translation of an article in a newspaper from hio. (Printed in German)

Golden Wedding Anniversary Celebration on Wednesday Nov. 22, 1905.

When Bernard Piekenbrock and his future wife Elizabeth Woeste were honored by their relatives and friends by a surprise assembly of Greetings with a solumn and beautiful Golden Anniversary celebration. Early in the morning the bride and groom were at the church to be prepared for the Mass. They were surprised to see a crowd of people who had arranged to greet them, which was a secret to the bride and groom. Some of the relatives and friends had planned the surprise while most of the people were in church until the end of the Mass. It was a well planned surprise. It is easier to imagine the enthusiasm than to describe it. In a joyful and happy attitude all the well wishers went to the home of the newly weds to make the most of this special occasion. In order to remind the bride that she also was once a child, the cradle in which she herself was often rocked to sleep was displayed for all to see. All the children for whom it was possible to attend the celebration were present. Bernard and Lawrence Piekenbrock of Farnov Nebraska, Theodore of Buffalo, N.Y. Casper and Minnie Frenzer (born Piekenbrock) of Ottawa, Ohio. Mrs. Elizabeth Lochtefeld, born Piekenbrock, St. Rose, Ohio John and Katherine Harting Chickasaw, Ohio. Joseph, Frank, and Franziska are still at home with their parents. Not able to come Hienrich Piekenbrock, Montrose, Neb. Mrs. Mary Prieshoff, Crawford, Neb. John Piekenbrock Alexandria, South Dakota. Also the witnesses who were present at the original wedding were again present this time. Margaretha Bomholt, St. Rose and Mary Romer, St. Henry (Neb.) It was truly a joyful event for all present. Fifty years is a long time. Seldom does it happen that so many can take part in an event of this kind which was the case here.

(We have a xeroxed copy of the above. It also has a German Verse but it is very blurred and my father was unable to see it well enough. My father was 93 on March 3, 1978 and himself celebrated his 60th anniversary some years ago.) He has Lochtefeld from St. Rose, Neb. and I believe should be Ohio. and Mary Romer as being from St. Henry, Neb. and

I thought possible should be Ohio.

The German copy was made available to us by Bernard Piekenbrock of Lakewood a suburb of Denver. He is John's Son. LeRoy Piekenbrock

JOHN HENRY POHLMANN

John Henry Pohlmann was born in Osnabruck. Germany in 1799. He and his wife came to America in approximately 1833. They first located in Cincinnati, Ohio. Some time later John Henry came by canal to Piqua, Ohio and then walked to Maria Stein, where he purchased 80 acres of woodsland from the U. S. Government. He and his family stayed in Cincinnati three or four years before coming to Maria Stein to clear the land. The farm is located 1/4 mile south of the high school in Maria Stein and is presently owned by his great-grandson, Albert Pohlman. The original deed dated March 15, 1837, is still in the possession of Albert Pohlman.

John Henry Pohlmann was married three times. The descendents from his three marriages were, namely: Herman, born April 17, 1839, married Katharina Schrage, and died April 8, 1922; Bernardine, born December 2, 1846, married Arnold Kleinhenz, and died November 27, 1893; Henry, born February 2, 1850. Henry never married. He was deaf and was killed on September 2, 1900 by a train while walking to church.

Herman and Katharina (Schrage) Pohlmann spent their entire married life on the Pohlmann homestead. They were the parents of four children, namely: Mary, born July 30, 1870, who married Frank Homan; John, born August 29, 1872, who married Philomena Homan; Bernardine, born June 2, 1875, who married John Homan; and Henry, born July 10, 1877, who married Mary Schmitmeyer.

Through the years there were three houses built on the Pohlmann farm. The first was a one-room log cabin; the second was also a log cabin, and the third was the present brick home, built by Herman in 1881, which was occupied by Henry and his family, and presently by the Albert Pohlmann family.

John Pohlmann married Philomena Homan on May 25, 1898 and moved to a farm across the road from the original homestead which had been previously purchased by Herman, on which he constructed a new barn and house in 1897. These buildings still stand and are occupied by the Mrs. Otto Pohlman family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pohlmann had six children, namely: Leo J. who was born on September 1, 1899 and died seven days later on September 8; Richard, born December 7, 1902 and who married Celie Wendeln; Raymond, born January 2, 1906, who never married and makes his home with the Otto Pohlman family; Maria and Katharina (twins), born June 4, 1909, and who died the same day; Otto, born May 18, 1914, who married Agnes Lefeld, and who died May 7, 1964.

Henry Pohlman married Mary Schmitmeyer on June 13, 1906, and they were the parents of six children, namely: Marcella, born October 2, 1907, who married Henry Albers; Pauline, born December 17, 1911, who married August Rethman; Leo J. born December 30, 1913, who married Armella Waterbusch; Marie, born December 4, 1917, who married Herbert Liening; Louis, born September 1, 1919, who married Eleanor Mueller; Albert, born September 3, 1921, who married Alice Meyer.

Most of the Pohlmann ancestors, after living most of their lives in the Maria Stein area, belonged to the St. John's Catholic Church, and are buried in the church cemetery. Presently there are six generations of Pohlmanns buried in that cemetery. The farm originally purchased by John Henry Pohlmann and now owned by Albert Pohlman has been in the family since 1837 — making it a Century Farm. Dorothy Pohlmann

RICHARD POHLMANN

Richard Pohlmann is the great-grandson of John Henry Pohlmann who came to America from Osnabruck, Germany in 1833. He is the grandson of Herman Pohlmann and the son of John and Philomena (Homan) Pohlmann. He was born December 7, 1902 in Maria Stein and was married to Celie Wendeln on May 2, 1928 in the St. John Catholic Church.

CHRISTOPH RANLY

This is the story of Christoph Ranly of Cassella, Ohio. This branch of the Ranly family comes from the German village of Weinsheim, in present day West Germany, the Pfalz District, very near the city of Bad Kreuznach. Confirmed documentation notes a Peter Ranly (d. June 7, 1784) who in his first marriage with Elisabetha Gruber (d. December 27, 1776) was father to Philip Michel Ranly. (In a second marriage to Catherine Scholl was born Nicolaus Ranly whose many descendants still live in Germany.) Philip Michel Ranly (d. February 18, 1814) married Margaretha Ranly (d. March 5, 1814) — her surname was Ranly. He had two sons, Johannes and Christian. Christian was born (1797) and died (1847) in Weinsheim; his descendants in Weinsheim, Germany, are rather close cousins to the American Ranlys who originate from Cassella. The older spelling of the name was Ranly, with the German umlaut over the y. Sometimes the spelling in English is Ranley; the more common spelling both in Germany and the United States is Ranly.

Johannes Ranly (b. June 20, 1796) first married Catherine Mackert (b. August 26, 1794) on May 20, 1820. Their daughter Barbara (b. June 25, 1821) died on August 31, 1828. Their son Nicolaus (b. June 21, 1826) died on December 27, 1827. Only the son Johannes II (b. November 3, 1823) grew to maturity. He was unmarried, served in the Prussian Army as bodyguard to the Kaiser (according to story) and after his death — exact date unknown — his personal belongings were shipped in a chest to his surviving half-brother (Christoph) in America. Catherine MacKert, the first wife of Johannes Ranly, died on April 26, 1827. Johannes took as second wife Elisabeth Gilsdorf (b. March 22, 1800) on February 14, 1828. Their first daughter Catharina (b. December 20, 1828) died on June 11, 1847. Their second daughter Elizabetha (b. May 5, 1830) also died in childhood. The four remaining children were: Angelica (b. October 5, 1832,) Agnese (b. October 5, 1834,) Christoph (b. January 14, 1837,) and Christian (b. February 10, 1843.) As farmers the Ranly family had only small pieces of land; it was a life of hard poverty; there were occasional famines. When the son Christoph reached his twentieth birthday he became eligible for military service in the Prussian army. He announced his intention to go to America. Since his parents could not dissuade him, they also decided to go to America with all their four children.

There is extant the Ship's Ticket of this passage and a vivid account of the trip as told by Christoph Ranly himself in Der Mercer County Bote, Dec. 5, 1912. Also, Mrs. Cora (Ranly) Reichert remembers well many of her Father's stories. The Ranly family left the village of Weinsheim on April 14, 1857. (The Ship's Ticket has the correct date of 1857.) They boarded a steam ship at Bingen on the Rhine River, traveled by way of Rotterdam to London where they transferred to an English vessel. The family was on the ocean 34 days. Passing through New York, they arrived at Cassella, Ohio, on June 11, 1857 where they were warmly welcomed by cousins and friends. With the help of friends, the Ranly family first lived in the Miller schoolhouse south of Cassella. Sadly, the mother died that summer (August 18, 1857) at the age of 57 and the following year Johannes Ranly died (September 14, 1858) at the age of 61. The two are buried in the Cassella cemetery. (The exact dates differ from the Church records and the tomb stones.)

The two girls and Christian went to Dayton, Ohio, looking for work. Angelica Ranly first married John Wirtz (remembered for having a wooden leg) and later August Stelzer: Angelica herself had no children from either marriage. Agnese Ranly married Sebastian Krieg and there is a large family line from this marriage. Christian Ranly pioneered in Wyoming and Oregon; his wife's name was Elizabeth.

They had no children.

Christoph Ranly lived out his life in Cassella, Ohio. On October 22, 1860, he married Anna Bolley (b. April 24, 1844) and moved into the Bolley household into the very log house which still serves as the family residence for the Raymond Flaute family south of Cassella. The first surviving child of the marriage was John (b. April 12, 1875) who marrie Hannah Sheiman; John died June 9, 1932. The see ond child was Sebastian (b. November 12, 1876 who married Anna Link and died May 26, 1947. Th third child was Angelica (b. July 15, 1880) who mai ried Antony Lamm and who died September 1: 1965. On March 13, 1887, Anna Bolley died in th delivery of a stillborn child.

On April 13, 1888, Christoph Ranly married Ann Maria Dietrich (b. July 12, 1865.) The first child wa Peter (b. July 3, 1888) who married Sophia Speck Peter died October 14, 1960. Joseph was the secon son; born on December 10, 1891, he married Verc nica Fink and died on August 1, 1959, Henry (b. De cember 30, 1893) married Philomina Buschur an died July 20, 1960. Christian was born July 6, 1896 married Pauline Fink and died April 2, 1960. Th fifth child was Cora (b. November 7, 1898) who mar ried Willibald Reichert and today lives in Coldwater Ohio. Also surviving is Lena (b. September 29, 1901 who married Henry Dillhoff and today lives in Day ton, Ohio. Edmund Ranly was born November 27 1904, married Melva Brewer and resides in El Paso Texas. The last surviving child is Marcella (a born twin died in infancy) who was born on August 26 1907, married William Hickey and presently lives it Jacksonville, Florida.

On November 28, 1912, Christoph Ranly cele brated the Great Butchering Jubilee with his good friend and neighbor Louis Feltz to commemorate fifty years of family butchering together. On January 8, 1915, Anna Maria Dietrich died. Vigorous and active until the age of 84, Christoph Ranly died or October 11, 1921, while kneeling aside his bed to receive the last rites. Ernest W. Ranly

REICHERT

The early history of Mercer County, Ohio and its ioneer citizens are closely associated with man's esire to explore the unknown in quest for opportuity for himself and his loved ones.

Due to difficult economic conditions in the Faierland, under which there was little opportunity or young people and a desire to avoid the military aining required of all young men, led many young eople in Germany to emigrate to America.

It was not until 1795 that the invading white peole, after a terrific struggle, had reached a treaty ith the Indians for a peaceful existance in the orth West Territory, which included the lands orth of the Ohio River and west of the Pennsylvaia territory.

This area, which later contained Mercer County, hio, was situated in a vast expanse of wilderness and covered with virgin forest when white man took ver to bring it within reach of civilization.

THE HISTORY OF THE REICHERT FAMILY

(The first generation in America)

John Joseph Reichert was born in Grussloch near eidelberg, in the Province of Baden, Germany on lov. 16, 1800. In the old country he was a shoelaker by trade. On Nov. 16, 1825 he married Anna faria Stucke who was born on Oct. 10, 1802. Their larriage took place in their home town in Europe.

About 8 or 9 years after their marriage they deded to emigrate to America and to a just started ny German settlement in Maria Stein, Mercer ounty, Ohio about which they had heard reports in ie old country.

They landed in New York and had to borrow ioney to get out of town. They made their way to hambersburg, Pennsylvania where they resided for most two years. They finally continued their jourey to Maria Stein and became some of the first seters there.

They acquired a tract of forested land, cleared and iltivated it. This land which they acquired is loited one fourth mile west of Maria Stein Station on tate Route 119, and has since been known as the eichert Homestead. Land at that time sold for $1.25 er acre.

Soon the tiny community realized the need for a thool and John Joseph Reichert was selected as the rst teacher and he continued in this position for me twenty years.

Communications maintained by John Joseph eichert with his relatives in Germany, after his arval in America, indicate that he had a step-brother; Frantz Reichert, in Nusloch bei Heidelberg in Grossherzogthum, Baden, Germany.

To the union of Mr. & Mrs. John Joseph Reichert were born 10 children. Five of these were born in Germany and five in Maria Stein, Ohio.

John Joseph Reichert died on Jan. 20, 1877 and his wife Anna Maria died May 29, 1871. Both are buried in St. John's Cemetery at Maria Stein, Ohio in unmarked graves.

RIETHMANN

Johann Casper Heinrich Riethmann entered thi world 10 August 1809 in the Bauerschaft of Gaupel Coesfeld, Westphalia. Casper was the second eldes of ten children born to the Tagelohner or day laborer Johann Heinrich Riethmann (Rietmann) and his wife Anna Margaretha Piers. Casper and his wife Anna Margaretha Alte celebrated the Sacrament of Matrimony in the Church of St. Lambertus in Coesfeld on 25 April 1837. Anna Margaretha Alte was born at Gross Reken, Westphalia on 2 February 1812.

Casper, his wife, and several of their children, first set foot on the American soil on 28 October 1867 at the port of Baltimore, Maryland. The Riethmanr family ventured across the cold Atlantic on the vessel "Bark Therese" which had set forth from the port of Bremen. Several of Casper's brothers and sisters had made the precarious yet promising pilgrimage nearly a score previous to escape the economically oppressive conditions of the German peoples. Casper's brothers and sisters who had fled this mis-

y were Anna Catherina Riethmann (b- 19 March 12) who was married to Johann Bernard Roetgerann, Herman Riethmann (b- 14 January 1816) who as married to Elisabetha Brambering, and Johann einrich Riethmann (b - 26 April 1818) whose wife as Anna Catherina Massing. They had all settled the Minster vicinity, and perhaps this being so, sper decided to settle amongst the Plattsdeutach lonists of Western Ohio. Casper and his family esblished their domicile in the parish community of int Sebastian, Marion Township, and devoted emselves to the cultivation of the land and the Isbandry of animals.

Casper and Margaretha engendered six children ith the gift of life. All were born in the Bauerschaft Gaupel, Cosefeld, Westphalia. The eldest off-ring, Bernard Riethmann was born 3 May 1840 id was married to Anna Maria Lehmann (Leimin). Bernard died at the young age of 36 years (26 arch 1876). Bernard was interred in the St. Sebasin Cemetery. Casper's second son, Herman Berlind Casper Riethmann was born 15 November Maria Theresia Riethmann was born 2 February 145. Theresia was wedded to Franz Wilhelm Frangr who was born 20 September 1836 at Aschenberg, lestphalia. The good-sized Franzer household reded in the Carthagena vicinity. Theresia died 20 pril 1912, while Franz Wilhelm left this world at 1890od, Ohio on 10 April 1916. Both were laid to 1915 the St. Aloysius Cemetery, Carthagena.

Anton Riethmann's birth was on 28 November 348, and he took as his wife Maria Anna Catherine ohmann of Minster. Their marriage was celebrated n 4 May 1871 at Saint Augustine's Church, Minser. Anton, a "Holzechuhmacher" or woodenshoe taker, left the Mercer County homestead and made is residence on the Lohman farmplace. Both died at finster. One son, Herman, never reached America's nores as he was born 6 May 1851 and died 25 Sepember 1855. Casper's youngest was a daughter, Maa Anna Theresia Riethmann, born 29 April 1854.

Casper did not live long to enjoy the pleasures of ld age at his home in the Saint Sebastian parish ommunity. He departed on 6 January 1875, and his arthly body found rest in the cemetery at Saint Seastian. Margaretha breathed her last on 15 October 898 at the home of her daughter Theresia Franzer. It found sepulcher in the Saint Aloysius emetery of Carthagena. David A. Hoying

ROBINSON FAMILY

Husband: Lari A. Robinson: 2-25-47; Wife: Kathen M. Robinson: 4-29-49 (parents: Albert & Ritalessen); Daughter: Angelica E. Robinson: 4-8-76

Wife's history: Both parents were of German decent. Grandparents lived in Ohio, too.

Husband's history: Father was mixture of differnt nationalities. From Boston, Mass. Mother is part Aiami Indian. Her grandmother was a full-blooded Aiami Indian. Direct descendant of Chief Little Turle who is inscribed on the tablets at Fort Recovery ort and in the Museum. He was one of the great hiefs and due to a settlement made by the Governnent, my husband inherited money, due to the fact ie was related. It was never paid to the Indians nany years ago on a monthly basis as it was supposed to be so the descendants received it.

Also, we own and live at the Cassella Tavern. The place is extremely old. Records at the Courthouse don't even have a date; just say old. First recorded sale was in 1860. Building was originally (we think) used as a grocery store. Owner delivered groceries around neighborhood from his wagon. Building has very large wooden beams and thick brick walls. Back bar in tavern is very old. Lari A. Robinson

THE WALTER SCHMIESING FAMILY

Walter Schmiesing began a term as Mercer County commissioner in 1976. He and his wife, Mary Ann, reside at 6408 Route 119 in Cassella. Before serving as county commissioner, Walter was a milk hauler and a farmer for twenty years and then an Ohio State University dairy supervisor for thirteen years. Mary Ann is a homemaker and she also assisted in the work of dairy herd testing. Both belong to the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary Catholic Church of Cassella, and to various religious and civic organizations.

In 1939 they lost their infant son, Robert, but the birth of their first daughter, Dianne, followed three years later. Dianne graduated from Marion Local High School. She also attended the University of Dayton and received a Bachelor of Science degree in education from Wright State University and a Master's degree in Educational Administration from the University of Dayton. She teaches in the New Bremen Elementary School. Dianne married Larry Dicke of New Bremen who is employed in the receiving department of Avco New Idea. They are the parents of two girls: Michelle and Denise, and of one son, Tim. While living at 4132 St. Johns Road near Chickasaw, they are quite active in the New Bremen School system as well as in 4-H and other social organizations.

In 1952 Walter and Mary Ann's second daughter, Elaine, was born. She also graduated from Marion Local High School and received her Bachelor of Science degree in Education from Bowling Green State University. She serves as an English teacher and a school media specialist. Her husband, David W. Brunswick, formerly of Maria Stein, also attended Bowling Green State University obtaining a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Education. He received his Master's degree in Curriculum Supervision from Wright State University. David, Elaine and their daughter, Meredith Suzanne, reside at 56

E. Wayne Street in Chickasaw.

The youngest Schmiesing daughter, Peg (Margaret), was born in 1958. Following her graduation from Marion Local High School, she attended the Ohio State School of Cosmetology, and she is employed as a certified cosmetologist. Her husband, Mike Albers, formerly of New Bremen, is employed by Crown Controls. They and their daughter, Jennifer, live at 2466 Stelzer Road near Cassella.

Before moving to Cassella, Walter lived in Egypt, Ohio, where he was born the son of Anton and Clara (Bergman) Schmiesing, in 1916. The Schmiesing roots were somewhat established in Egypt as Anton's father, J.B. Schmiesing, was also born there. Anton's mother, Barbara Schwartz, was from Sharpsburg. Walter's mother, Clara Bergman, was from Maria Stein. Clara's father, Bernard Bergman, was also from Maria Stein, but he married Katherine Luttmer of Germany.

The German heritage of Walter and Mary Ann Schmiesing's family is two-fold. Mary Ann was born in Cassella in 1918, the daughter of John U. Greivenkamp and Katherine Kemper, also both of Cassella. John Greivenkamp's father, Henry was born in Ohio. His wife, Gertrude Boehmer, however, was born in Germany.

Katherine Kemper's father, Anton Kemper, and her mother Elizeta Holtman were also from Germany. Walter Schmiesing

John H. Janning and Mary Adelheid Schwieterman. This couple was married on September 19, 1787 in Hanover, Germany. Since they lived on the old Schwieterman estate, the husband, as was customary in those days, took the name of that Schwieterman. estate, There may be an error as to the identity of these people. This may be the pictures of John Herman Arnold and Mary Catherine (Buschor) Schwieterman, son and daughter-in-law of John and Mary Schwieterman.

GERHARD SCHWIETERMANN

In the days when this section of Ohio was practically a wilderness, when there were no roads but only a trail here and there through the acres and acres of forests, there might be seen at different times, sturdy men and women wending their way through the almost unlimited row upon row of trees, carrying what few possessions they had. They were on their way to what to them was to be their future home. Hardships they had - yes many of them, but that did not deter them. These hardy persons who followed some of the first settlers into the southern part of Mercer County were industrious, and set out to build their home in a new country. They worked at their daily tasks, clearing the lands and farming the little plots of ground, at peace with the world; doing their best every day, and little dreaming that they were shaping the destiny of the great county we are now living in.

Among these early pioneers was the above mentioned Gerhard Schwietermann. He was born in Ankum, Hanover, March 25, 1837, the son of Heman Arnold Schwieterman, and Mary Katherine Busher, and was their only child when they left Europe to make their future home in these United States. Gerhard was only three months old when the embarked on one of the old sail boats, which were the only means of crossing the Atlantic at that time. The speed of the boat depended upon the wind, and often, these journeys were very slow. This particular time when the elder Schwietermanns came acorss, the winds were not so strong, and it took three months to make the ocean trip. They landed in Baltimore, coming on to Cincinnati and then on down in to what was then almost a wilderness, into the southern part of Mercer County, where his father purchased a farm of eighty acres from Thomas A.

Redmon on January 16, 1838 for $500.00. This eigl acres is part of what is now known as the Frank Schwietermann farm located on the old Bren road.

Growing up under conditions like those existi at that time, was a handicap to anyone who was clined to acquire an education, because there we only a few scattered schools, and just during t winter months when there was no pressing work be done, children would be sent there. The near school at that time was at St. Rose, and he was se there several years during the winter months. B our young man was not to be denied an education He read whatever books and papers he could § hold of, and would sit up far into the night to re and study. Such yearly almanacs as Marianklend and Der Hinkende Bote, were read from cover cover many times. From the almanacs he learn about the moon changes and the different plantic signs, and he became a firm believer in effects of t moon on growing crops. His planting, his fence po setting, his roof shingling, even killing hogs, was a ways done in the right sign of the moon, and to th day, his moon philosophy still runs through the family. Peddlers traveling through the countr would always find shelter overnight at his place, at he was always anxious to sit down after supp when one of these travelers was stopping at h place, and listen to the news which the visitor bad tell.

One of his old neighbors relates that at the age sixteen he hewed the logs for the first church at Sebastian; this was a frame building it had pews, by no kneeling benches — worshipers knelt on the floor. He was a member of the first choir.

On July 3rd, 1860, at the age of twenty three I was married to Josephine Manetsch, daughter (Anton and Cresancia Manetsch, by Reverend Peter Anton. Many relatives, and the entire congregation of St. Sebastian were at the wedding, the number of families being about forty. It was a delightful day and, as usual, a large wedding dinner was served One of the guests, in relating about the wedding tells that candy was passed around to all those as sembled, which was an unusual treat - somethin they seldom had in those days. The young coupl lived in the Manetsch home after the marriage. O January 29, 1864, Mr. and Mrs Manetsch deede their land (36 acres of what is now a part of th George Schwietermann farm) to Gerhard and hi wife for the consideration of $2,000.00. A writte agreement was signed by the young couple, agreein to care for the elder couple until death.

He was a hard working man, and evidently a good manager, for the record show that during the nex fifteen years he bought up many acres of adjoining land, to wit: Dece, mber 19, 1868, 76 acres from R.C. Blake $2000. December 21 1868, 70 acres from John Haslinger $2800. February 14 1876, 40 acres from Father's estate $1800. April 5 1876, 20 acres from Bernard Homan $1250. March 16 1878, 4 acres from Archbishop Purcell $400.

He was appointed executor of the estate of his brother John in May 1888 and of his son in law John Fleck's Jr estate on February 5, 1895. Eight children were born in the old home, Henry, Mary, Anna Herman, Frank, Josephine, Elizabeth and Philomena and two children, Louis and George, were born after e built the new brick house. He also raised and ared for two orphan grandchildren, Josephine and George Fleck. In 1879 he built the brick house, reerred to above, containing thirteen rooms. The ame year he built a large bank barn 100 by 50 feet. o get the ground necessary to make the banked up art, he dug a pond to the east of the barn: this pond vas sixty feet square, and six feet deep. This was sed for many years for watering the cattle. Willows rew up on the banks, and the children and grandhildren spent many pleasant house here, boating nd fishing. Some years after he built the new ouse, he confided to a neighbor that this was one f the mistakes of his life, because the house was too arge. He was considered to be a practical farmer by ll of his neighbors. He took much pride in his orhard of two acres. He owned the first reaper in this art of the country, a Dorce, made in Dayton, Ohio. and in 1881 he bought the first six foot twine biner. Likewise, he owned the first drag saw, operated y horse power, used for cutting logs. The first pike n Mercer County was built alongside his place in 877 or 1878.

He was of low german descent: he worked fast, ever worried about anything, neighbors relate that hey never heard him use profane language. He enzyed smoking. Was very strict with his family. When his family grew up, he wanted to provide arms for the boys, and he first bought the farm of 20 acres where Herman now lives; then he acquired 73 acres now owned by Henry, and still later the 30 acre farm now owned by Frank.

His health failed him, about six years before he

STORY OF GERHARD SCHWIETERMAN CLEARING THE LAND

It was in September 1892 if I remember correctly, when after a long dry spell, he early one morning after carefully scanning the skies, and the weatherane, finally said that everything, including the diection of the wind, was set just right to get at that O acre clearing on Frank's place.

And since there was so much other work to do, he vould take just me and that faithful old blind mare ule who had presented him with a fine colt yearly or going on to 23 years, — and to see what we night be able to accomplish.

And so after breakfast we three set out, with the old spring wagon, and logging chains, crowbars, picks and shovels, and a good big box of matches,—the latter which of course looked best to me.

And I can remember quite clearly how eager he was on the way to get there.

And although I was holding the reins, he took the broken end of a whip that was left, and while still scanning the skies and trying to sense nature's plans for the drift of the breeze for that day, and the next, and mapping out his plans for action so as to have the elements with him in the big combat that he knew was to come, he would gently prod at old Jule, — and in his absent minded way keep on saying, "toh,-toh,-du oller Droehmel ass,-toh,-toh,-" in rhythmic gesture with her plodding trod, — as she felt her way along the horse rut on the pike.

And again when she would stumble as was her custom, he would in that preoccupied indulgent way say, —"is dat dan ok wat,- du oller ballersack! toh,-bestoer dic doch een bitken, — git-up, nu dan doch,-toh,-toh,-" ad infinitum, until we arrived at what was soon to be for us a great arena of battle with the elements.

And I want to tell you right now, of all the pictures I've seen of "No Man's Land" in France, none showed any more outraged nature to me than the sight right before our eyes there and then. Timber men had gotten in there some years before and as is their ruthless custom, they had thrown the trees down helter skelter in any direction, convenient for them to get out their logs. No piling up of brush or plan for clearing or thought of how that might be accomplished later on.

But this did not phase Uncle Gerard, for as I remember now he seemed to actually be elated and grateful for the opportunity the overcoming of this difficult obstacle would give him, to try again his great skill in this sort of work, and thereby even then still grow and improve therein, if that were possible. And he was going to have some real fun doing it I could see that.

This was the 20 acre tract which at that time formed the south west corner of cousin Frank's farm. It was bordered on the east, south, and west sides, by dense forests, and on the north by an open plowed field. No fence on the north side just then that I can remember.

The breeze was coming from a little west off south. That much was in his favor and something he had been looking for, for sometime past. "We will start here on the North East Corner" he said, "and now let's get busy." "Take Jule and pull the odd logs and big branches away from the fences as much as possible." And he took the shovel and began vigorously to scrape and cut a swath through the weeds, and grass, and underbrush, along the fences.

It was a hot and sultry day. At about ten o'clock he began lighting the stuff which might cause the fire to jump across this swath. And he kept on this way at a terrific pace until by mid afternoon the whole 20 acres was in a raging, roaring mass of flames, the sky overhung with black clouds of smoke, and it looked like all hell had broken loose.

Pretty soon people came from St. Rose and Casella all alarmed over what they thought must be a real forest fire running wild. But a few words from uncle and a sight at him in action was enough to satisfy them it would be safe to leave it all in his hands.

He seemed to be all over the place at one and the same time, checking the threatening places here and starting something anew there.

I was all confused and confounded and no doubt more of a nuisance then a help. Glad though old Jule was out in the plowed field, pricking her ears, wondering and alarmed as to what it might all be about.

Night was now coming on. But still the flames roared and threatened. Uncle had done a dozen men's work this day. His eye brows and lashes and his beard all singed, his face and hands all blistered and black. Clothes and shoes burned full of holes and wringing wet with sweat. Hollow eyed and cheeked, and a gaunt and embattled looking figure was he. And no doubt the body wanted to complain of being tired and worn, but his spirit was running high. He was working with inspiration and there was no thought in his mind of slowing up or of letting down.

He was in the midst of a great combat, practically lone handed but on the winning side so far, and had lost all consciousness of self in his concentrated thinking and planning of the next steps, and the next, and the next, many steps ahead, in order to keep this roaring and crackling mass of flames in submission, and yet at the same time up to its maximum effect in the good work it was to do.

It was dark now, and about all I could think of doing while trudging after him, was to gaze in awe at the sight of the great flames whirling the white, blue and black smoke up into the skies, where it would hang, low and heavy, forming ugly faces in threatening clouds, as though it might come back down again to smother us. And to gaze and marvel in awe at the skill with which my uncle was mastering the situation.

And as I look back now and in memory live the scene over again, I can realize what a wonderful example he was setting here for us all to copy, if we want to really live a happy and most satisfactorily worth while life as did he.

And the next day he was at it just as hard again, and so on until I think it was in only about 8 days he had burned even most of the roots from in deep out of the ground. And in doing so he had set a record for time, cost, efficiency, and thoroughness, which I am quite sure is going to be mighty hard to equal. And I know he must have gotten a lot of satisfaction out of it, and the memory of which has been dear and a perpetual source of inspiration to me. Hilda Sacher .

ALOYS AND ELIZABETH (HARTKE) STAMMEN

Aloys Stammen was one of the most prominent and substantial farmers in Marion Township; and as such, was able to donate land to St. Sebastian Church, which is now grave sites. He was born and raised in St. Sebastian. He married Elizabeth Hartke of Carthagena. Aloys and Elizabeth had seven children.

Oldest to youngest are: George, Raymond, Alfred, Joseph, Alex, Elmer and Viola. George married Mary

Bruggeman of Maria Stein. Raymond died when he was sixteen years old. Alfred married Viola Zahn of Maria Stein. Joseph married Bernadine Berning of McCartyville. Alex, known as "Singin' Sam" or "Uncle Sam", never married. Elmer married Beatrice Reynolds. Viola, the only daughter, married Marian Goffena.

"Singin' Sam", as Uncle Alex was called, served in the Army during WWII; as did his nephews. He was at the invasion of North Africa, served under General Patton, and was one of 35,000 men who survived. Bodies were everywhere. Casualties were enormous. Alex was wounded and crawled for - he doesn't remember how many miles - to get medical help. When the war was over, he came home and was greeted very warmly by his family.

The mental strain of serving too long at the front lines took its toll on Alex. He has had to suffer the pain of being an alcoholic. He is now at the Soldiers'

Home in Dayton, Ohio.

As a young child, when my "Uncles" came home from "The War", I remember tears of sadness and Orville, a quiet, mannerly eight-year-old, reach a protective hand towards lively, husky 13-mont old Charles, or "Butch," as he's known in the fami Jim, the five-year-old; hung back a little, a shy gr on his face.

"Oh, they're all fine now," smiled pleasant-fac Mrs. Stammen. "Except Orville, we still take him Lima once a week for treatments. But they tell he'll be all right pretty soon."

All three brothers were stricken with polio la

August, within a few days time.

Jim and "Butch", who had mild cases, show I signs of after-effects. Orville walks without appare lameness, but the muscles in the backs of his le are still stiff.

"He does exercises they taught him at the host tal, to stretch the muscles," Mrs. Stammen sai When he first came home from the hospital, she h. to keep renewing hot packs constantly. "They real sent him home too soon," she added, "but the were so many polio patients there then, worse that he was, that there just wasn't room for him.'

Orville, who is in the third grade in the Coldwat school, missed the first three weeks of school th fall, but has caught up with his class now. He tak pride in keeping up with his exercises, without r minders from his parents.

Three-year-old Judy, a curly blonde, looked of solemnly as her brothers posed for a photograph.

"Judy was sick, too, about the same time," h mother said. "The doctor thinks she may have had very mild case of polio, too."

Two older sisters came in from school, and lent hand at coaxing Butch to smile at the camera. But was making it clear, with loud wails, that he didr like the idea.

"Are there more?" Mrs. Stammen was asked, and e smiled, "Oh yes, we have ten."

This wasn't the Stammens' first bout with polio. atricia, that's the oldest — she's 17 now — had it ne years ago. She walked with a brace for two ars," Mrs. Stammen recalled. "She still has a akness in her right leg and ankle."

Mrs. Stammen added that she thought presenty treatment for polio greatly improved over the thods used when Patricia was stricken.

Mr. Stammen, a policeman at the New Idea reader plant in Coldwater, arrived. Butch stopped, Ifway through an extra loud yell, to eye the bag of ady his father held out to him.

That was more like it, Butch decided. His mouth I of candy, he let the photographer get on with

HENRY WENDELN

Henry Wendeln, a native of Germany, settled in Minster, Ohio, as one of the earliest pioneers. He purchased three farms of 80 acres each in Auglaize County for a total of $100. Here he and his wife lived the remainder of their lives. He was the father of six children, namely: Engel, who married Christopher Greve; Mary, who married John Starkemp; Henry, Anthony, William, and Fred.

Fred Wendeln, born in Germany, came to America with his parents when he was 15 years old, and settled in Cincinnati, shortly afterward moving to Auglaize County. Mr. Wendeln worked on his father's farm and on the canal for three or four years, and then returned to Cincinnati. After residing there for some years, he returned to Minster, purchased a farm of 80 acres near Minster, and engaged in general farming. Mr. Wendeln was twice married. He was the father of two children by his first wife, namely: William, who married Mary Russ, and Louisa, who married William Hester. Mr. Wendeln's second marriage was with Mary Bryankamp, a native of Germany, and a resident of Cincinnati. Seven children were born to the second union, namely: Christopher, who married Sophia Heitmann; Anna, who married John Kurter; Mary, who married John Bohmann; John Henry, who married Mary Schulte; Elizabeth, who married George Bohmann; Dina, who married John Bruns; and Anthony, who married Mary Meyers. Mr. Wendeln died in October, 1890.

John Henry Wendeln was born January 26, 1865 in Minster, Ohio and was reared on the Wendeln farm. He married Mary Schulte on October 6, 1886 in Minster, Ohio.

Mary Schulte was born on September 8, 1864 in Minster, Ohio, the daughter of Henry Schulte and Elizabeth Wente. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schulte were both of German ancestry, both being born in Auglaize County. Mr. and Mrs. Schulte were parents of ten children, namely: Mary, Anna, Henry, Joseph and Louise (twins), Charles, Catherine, Barney, John, and Elizabeth.

Union Township

UNION TOWNSHIP AND MENDON

The township trustees as of 1978 are Kenneth F. utton, Dale E. Krugh and Lester Miller, Mary Lou dams, Clerk.

The Treaty of Greenville was signed in 1795, in efct ending the Indian wars. A quarter of a century ter, the first white settlers cut their way through ie dense forest on the tip of the Black Swamp reon to cast their lots in what is now Union Town-

Comprised of 36 sections of one square mile each, nion Township occupies the northeastern corner Mercer County, and is bounded on the north by an Wert County, on the east by Auglaize County, n the south by Center Township, and on the westy Dublin Township.

In 1822, Andrew Coil came from Fayette County build a cabin on Twelve-Mile Creek in Section 22. he following year, he laid out a town, Coiltown, hich competed for the seat of justice, lost out to St.

farys, and soon reverted to a cornfield.

There was but a handful of settlers in the area hen Justin Hamilton arrived with his new bride afer an arduous trip from Kentucky by ox-drawn agon in 1823. Hamilton had been reared in New ork State, and had been schooled in both law and ngineering.

It was he who lay the foundation for the establishient of Union Township and the village of Guilford 5 political entities. Prior to the township's birth in 328, four years after the creation of Mercer County, lamilton served as justice of the peace for Dublin ownship. The first election in Union Township was eld at his house on Twelv:-Mile Creek, and he was lected justice of the reace, clerk, and fenceratcher, and also appointed school teacher.

Hamilton also served as county auditor in 1827; as ounty surveyor in 1827, 1835 and 1837; state repreentative in 1831-32 and 1840-41; associate judge of the Common Pleas Court in 1846-47; first president of the Mercer County Fair Board in 1851; and later as county assessor as well as a township trustee for many years.

He was head surveyor when the Grand Reservoir was dug out and during his stint in the Ohio Legislature fought for compensation for farmers whose land had been expropriated for or inundated by the huge man-made lake.

In 1829, the township was divided into districts, primarily for the purpose of building roads where there were only forest trails. By 1830, settlements began to dot the township countryside. By 1834, there was call for a town to be established along the south bank of the St. Marys River, which bisects the township and which had been known to the Shawnees as the "Kettle River."

Thus, Guilford came into being, comprised of 43 lots, a public square, a school and a general store. Hamilton was the founder, along with Andrew Coil's son-in-law, Thomas Parrott, The same year, Centre Township - which had been attached for business purposes — was disconnected from Union Township.

Progress moved slowly. Settlers continued to arrive; a horse-mill was built; the first bridge over the St. Marys was constructed at Mendon in 1838, the same year in which the town's name was changed simply by choice of the founders. Still, in 1848 there were only six properties in town that had values greater than the land from which they were formed.

Union Township, where Abraham Lincoln had defeated Stephen Douglas by a wide margin, answered the call when war broke out with the Confederacy. Dozens of township men joined the Union Army, and several did not come back.

But after Appomattox, economic growth was stimulated. Union Township residents, with an eye to the future, approved a levy for the sale of railroad bonds by a vote of 216-4.

It was thought the Iron Horse would be the township's salvation. Besides providing a transportation outlet, the railroad would "add greatly to the wealth of the township by the shipping advantages" it offered to the area farmers, according to Sutton's History of Van Wert and Mercer Counties.

In 1881, the railroad came to Mendon. The Toledo, Delphos and Burlington later was consolidated into the St. Louis Narrow-Gauge System, and then the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton (CH&D).

Almost overnight, in historical time, the township experienced the greatest economic boom in its history. Along with the discovery of oil in Union Township, the railroad's arrival coincided with a 65 percent increase in population in Mendon in the 1880s.

The village finally was incorporated in 1881, and Samuel Barber served 11 years as its first mayor. Italianate-style houses sprang up. A schoolhouse also was constructed in 1881, followed by a two-story, four-room brick building seven years later.

The oil boom hit with full force in the late 1880s, and Mendon's population grew from 400 to 600 in the decade prior to the Twentieth Century. This was indeed the Golden Age, a spinoff of the Industrial Revolution.

In 1893, Union Township became the first in the state to take advantage of new laws encouraging the organization and operation of township schools. W. E. Kershner spearheaded the effort to consolidate Union Township's various one-room country schools into a Union High School. The district schools were as follows: Hasis, Stump, Bethel, Hussey, Fryer, Protsman, Union, Red, Blue Corner, Gross, South Union and Pike. Kershner was superintendent when the first class was graduated from Union High School in 1896, and later joined the state teachers' association and founded the teachers' retirement system, serving as its secretary until his death.

Meanwhile, the oil kept flowing and the township kept growing. Many of the farmers whose land had yielded oil used their eight-percent royalty money to purchase homes in town. Queen Anne and Eastlake homes were prevalent, though not the brick found in southern Mercer County. As workers migrated from the Pennsylvania oil fields, it became so crowded in Mendon that two families often shared the same house.

Mendon United Methodist Church, 1897

In 1897, a new Methodist Church was built near the public square. Protestantism always was the rule in Union Township. The first Protestant church Mercer County was a log cabin where Bethel Chu now stands. Besides Methodism, other denomitions represented in the township's early history cluded the Baptists and Seventh-Day Adventists.

The Mendon Baptist Church was founded in 18 and later became the Pleasant Grove Baptist Chur Ross Church of the Brethren, whose members a were known as Dunkards, was organized in 1874. members believed in plain dress, including prayveils for women and broad-brimmed hats and spetailed coats for men.

The organization of a Church of God congregaticame as early as 1877, with the original services he in the Methodist church. The first Church of G building was dedicated in 1887, with a new struction 1911. In 1959, the church was razed by fire, bu modern new replacement was dedicated less that year later.

At the turn of the century, Mendon's populati was 600, and the future seemed to hold only t promise of continued expansion.

In late December of 1903, construction of a tow ship meeting hall was approved. The Christian fir of Rockford submitted the low bid of $9275, whi was to be footed evenly by the township and the v lage. One year later, the two-story, Georgian R vival-style building was dedicated as the pride of the community.

The township hall became not only the adminitrative headquarters, but also the center of activit Its upper floor served as the theater, where cormencement exercises, class plays, road shows, farrers' institutes and, of course, movies were the far The lower floor housed a jail at one time.

But the oil boom waned, and reality set in. In 190 a major fire destroyed most of the west side of Ma Street in Mendon; less than a year later, the east side also burned.

In 1908, township residents paid homage to the Civil War veterans with construction of the soldier monument and cannon on the public square. The project honored McKendree Murlin, who had beek illed in Nashville in 1864. J. E. Heppeard was the driving force behind the effort.

In a backlash against the free-wheeling days of the oil boom, when three saloons catered to the drillers and dressers, Mendon passed blue laws by a resounding 266-52. The saloons relocated into the countryside, but Union Township enacted Prohibition soon afterwards. And to this day, Union Town ship remains "dry."

A two-story, eight-room Romanesque-styl schoolhouse, complete with full basement, was buil for $5000 in 1910, and still serves as the elementar building

The pace of progress had quickened. But one of Union Township's more-lasting contributions were virtually unnoticed. Until this time, corn, wheat amounts were the principal crops for local farmers, a they are today. But an enterprising young farmer Hugh H. Hamilton, decided to try his luck with soy beans, which had originated in the Far East.

Hamilton's stand of beans, the first in Merce County and thought to be the first in the Midwes produced an excellent yield. Farmers from severa states visited Hamilton's farm to study his methods By 1920, interest in the new crop had spread hun eds of miles. Now, soybeans are a multi-billion ollar business around the world and perhaps the ost lucrative aspect of farming.

Most of Mendon's development came in the wake the oil boom and the arrival of the railroad. But 1920, growth had slowed to a virtual standstill.

When the railroad line was abandoned, many rmers lost their original investment and Mendon perienced slight economic growth.

It was a sad day for all concerned. The railroad id been the township's economic lifeblood. As a imphlet of the time read, "Good bye, little railad, we will miss thee; when thy rails no more we e." But no one knew how much the CH&D would it missed.

When the railroad left, the grain-shipping trade, e budding sugar-beet market fueled by cheap ungarian-American labor, and all hope of securing dustry went along with it.

The Great Depression followed, and the populaon of Union Township steadily decreased, unarsted until the eve of the Second World War.

The only major construction during the pre-war ars was an annex to the schoolhouse in 1937.

Young veterans returned from the bloodletting in irope and Asia only to find themselves with little no opportunity, a situation which helped spawn e notorious Purple Heart Gang, whose light-arted pranks earned them a reputation throughit Mercer County and elsewhere.

As population climbed in the early 1950s, the hool added a lighted ball diamond, a homeonomics and cafeteria addition, as well as a bus rage. In 1956, Mendon became the site of a bank r the first time in 25 years. And later that year, a we junior high and high school building was concucted, giving the township a ray of hope for the ture.

There also was moderate residential development, second wave of which occurred in the early 1970s.

1976, Mendon acquired a new branch-bank tilding. Plans were made for a solar-heated library, ll unfinished. Mendon-Union remained an acedited high school, with greater opportunity proded through an agreement with Vantage Vocanal School in Van Wert.

But it took 50 years to regain the population level 1900. Industry remained conspicuously absent. ad a first-time visitor would scarcely imagine that is sleepy little town once had been a bustling comunity of great economic vigor. — Steven D. Fought

PRESIDENTIAL VOTING PATTERNS

Throughout their history, Union Township and the village of Mendon have been strongholds of the Republican Party. Since 1932, every Republican presidential candidate has emerged victorious in Union Township. In Mendon, the Republican nominee has won every time except for Barry Goldwater's victory in 1964.

Here are the voting patterns in Union Township

Mendon-Union High School, 1956

MENDON-UNION SCHOOL

In the year 1782, settlers began moving to what is now known as Union Township. When set apart from Dublin and Center, Union occupied the Northeast corner of Mercer County, comprising 36 square miles or thirty-six sections. The first settlers were Andrew Coil and family, and Thomas Parrott, his son-in-law. They settled on Twelve-mile Creek. The following year the first crop in Union Township was harvested. Shortly after other families followed.

The journey to Mercer County was not a pleasure trip. One family arrived in a homemade wagon drawn by six yoke of oxen. Often the wagon and oxen were mired in mud and had to be pulled out by the ones on more solid footing. Others came in a one-horse wagon, filled with all their belongings, and often had a cow tagging along behind. One of these hardy and determined pioneers was Justin Hamilton, who, following settlement on a farm on the banks of Twelve-mile Creek, began preparations to build a school house.

In 1827 Justin Hamilton used volunteer labor to build the first log cabin school in Union Township. The first term, usually three months in length, was taught in 1827 and 1829 by Mr. Hamilton himself. His salary was $10.00 per month and he boarded himself. The second term in these years was taught by Henry Hoagland who received some monetary salary, but was "boarded around."

In the spring of 1831, another log cabin school was built by volunteer labor on the land of Peter Coil on the west bank of Twelve-mile Creek. A first term was taught by Matilda Freeman at the rate of $1.00 per week and free board. Another term was taught by William Hamilton at $10.00 per month. The regular attendance during this term was over 40.

During the years 1828-1837, several schools were built, but no records exist. Around this period the people of Mendon built a school house on the east side of Main Street, close to the area now used as the town park.

Between the years 1837-1880, other area school were built. The Hasis School was a district formed 1837 from the Fred Hasis farm. This brick school house still stands on the Robert Christian farm Mercer Road.

The Red School, a district set apart in 1837, w located one and a half miles south of Mendon on the creek from the land of John Van Gundy. Today the school is the Houser home.

By 1848 land was set aside for the Bethel School The first school house was on the north side of the road on the farm of William Hamilton who came Union Twp. in the late 1820's. No records of the first building exist, but in 1848, a new building we erected a short distance east of the present Beth Church. An 1835 auditor's report showed an appetionment of school funds for six school districts Union Twp. to total $102.38. A report dated Septer ber 21, 1838, states that Joseph Santly was employed or a term of six months commencing November 1 for $100.00. Attendance the first quarter was 48 st dents — 30 males, 18 females — with an average daily attendance of 24.5 pupils. The spring quarte totaled 44 pupils, but an average daily attendance only 14.2 students. Spring planting took its toll.

As the number of people in the township grew, and the number of schools. The Hussey School District was formed in 1849 from land belonging Wm. Hussey and was located east of Mendon on the River Road. In 1851 came the Protsman School, located northeast of Mendon on the J. F. Zook farm.

The Union School was built in 1860 on land donated by Claudius Griffin. This building was not the first in that community, but the first on record. In 1879 this district was divided forming North Union School in Section 1 and South Union School in Section 14. Griffin donated land for both schools.

The Fryer School was a district organized in 187 on the farm of Isaac Fryer. The school was built on hill east of the Mendon Cemetery on the north sic of the road. Today the building is a barn on the Ronald Hamilton farm.

The smaller division of Union School, South U1

1, was organized in 1879. This was one of the first nools to be closed and the pupils brought to Menn. This school was located north of the Hussey hool District.

Gross School District, 1880, was built on the W. C. orris farm located north of Mendon on the corner State Route 117 and the Mendon Road. For many ars this school's enrollment was over 40 pupils.

The Blue Corner School was located on the Jesse ebb farm in the far northwest section of Union vp., a farm now owned by James Tingley. Today is wooden building is on the Tom Dutton farm.

The last district to be formed, 1891, was the Pike hool, also known as Victor School. This school as erected on the Benjamin Rhoad's farm and was rmed from Gross, Blue Corner, and Protsman Discts. However, the last district formed was the first be abandoned.

Until this time the districts worked independently each other, no uniform books or courses of study. andard subjects taught were reading, spelling, ithmetic, writing, history, and geography. Gramar, physiology, and orthography were added in the rly 1880's. Some schools taught algebra, higher ath, and physical geography. Physiology was condered by some as an indecent subject. Reading asses up to the fifth reader recited four times daily, here was no graded school; promotion was on abily in any subject, mostly based on ability to read ad spell.

These early schools had not only a crowded curculum, but also crowded classrooms. An enumeran of 1880 showed eleven school districts with an rollment of 729 pupils in grades 1-11. Mendon at 117 pupils; Bethel and Gross, 59; while Protsan School had 80 pupils and one teacher. Ages of apils ranged from six to twenty-two.

Wages for winter terms in the 1890's were an avage of $40.00 per month. Summer term wages ere only $20.00. The ladies would walk from their omes to school, often a distance of four to five illes. Teachers did their own janitor work or hired a by for 2¢ to 5¢ per day to sweep and carry wood for it next day.

Until a township high school was started, each istrict had three directors; later changed to one director from each school. Eventually the schools lost teir identities and became numbers. By 1927 only ght of the twelve schools were in operation; eventally all Union Twp. pupils were bused into Menon.

By 1880 students in Mendon were attending a vo-story frame building located opposite the Methdist Church; this was recorded as the second build-

The third school, built in 1888, was a two story, our room brick building built on ground currently sed by the Mendon Schools. Although originally onstructed for grades 1-8, the school soon became rowded, and a small frame school was built south f this structure to accommodate the first grade.

Around 1892, the community had visions of a igh school. The state had passed the Boxwell Law iving townships the right to organize and operate igh schools. Union Township was the first in the late to start such a school. In the summer of 1893 he work was begun by Mr. W. E. Kershner, a young ollege graduate and teacher from St. Marys. He visited each of the twelve districts and met with the directors and patrons at each school. Most districts were cooperative, but there were some strong objections: By taking out the older pupils, country schools would be ruined; older ones could not be spared from the farms for eight months; subjects taught were unnecessary. However, the final vote was in favor of a Union High School. Mr. Kershner, who was hired to teach a three-year course, taught for five years. Later he left teaching and organized the teachers' retirement system, acknowledged the best of its kind. He was secretary of the system until his death.

The Class of 1896, was the first to graduate from this new school. From the years 1896-1901, students attended three years of high school. During the 1901-02 year, Mendon became a first class, four-year high school; consequently there was no commencement in 1902; the Class of 1903 was the first four-year class.

Minutes from teachers' meetings, dated September 1906-April 1908, relate discussions and problems of the time. "Are schools doing what they should to produce moral men and women?" and "Are my pupils wasting their time?" or "How much orthography do you teach?" and the age-old question, "Why should I attend teachers' meetings?"

Also at this time teacher's salaries were $52.00 a month with $2.00 for janitors' duties.

By 1909 the directors and school board realized a need for a larger school building. On November 2, 1909, the community voted a $5,000 bond to build a new Mendon-Union high school. Members of the Board of Education were J. W. Hesse, Pres., A. W. Copeland, P. W. Fishbaugh, B. T. Price, and Clerk, J. B. Maurer. The twelve directors were school no. 1, Joe Lampy; 2, Ed Krugh; 3 J. H. Hamilton, 4. Chester Cole; 5. C. E. Rhodes; 6. George Wilson; 7. F. M. Sill; T. R. Nickols;
 Dick Thomas;
 T. C. Ross;
 Ross; W. W. Anderson; 12. E. H. Drake. The old school was torn down and the new building erected a few feet behind. Completed in 1910, this building was a two-story, eight classroom school, with a full basement. Today this building is the Mendon-Union Elementary School, K-6.

Since the building lacked facilities for extracurricular activities, commencement was held and class plays were performed at the Town Hall. Students enjoyed the freedom from studies and classrooms to walk the two blocks for rehearsals and practice. Basketball games were played on the second floor of a downtown building.

In 1937 an annex was added to the 1910 building. This addition included a basketball court, auditorium, stage, farm shop, and restrooms. When completed, the gym was one of the largest in the state and the Mercer County Tournament was held here. Board of Education members were O. K. Drake, Pres., Edgar Hamilton, B. R. Brown, J. W. Kennedy, and Clerk, A. B. Clover. In 1951 a home economics room and cafeteria were added to the annex.

Overcrowded conditions and a need for better facilities to meet state requirements, prompted more building. In 1956 a new high school was completed — a one-story building with nine classrooms, Allpurpose room, cafeteria kitchen, office suite, two clinics, restrooms; also a library, music room, and a commercial department. Today this building is used for both junior high and senior high students. The Board of Education members: Russell Hesse, Pres., Ed Suhr, V. Pres. Merle Roller, Charles Fent, James Tingley, Dave Esmonde, Jr. and Clerk, John Maurer.

Kindergarten classes began in 1965, special education classes and neurological handicapped classes in 1969. In 1976 Mendon voted affiliation with the Joint Vocational School, Van Wert. Although one of the smallest schools in the state, Mendon-Union Schools offer 55 units and a large extra-curricular program for both boys and girls.

Superintendents of Mendon Schools from 1892 to 1978 are as follows: W. E. Kershner, C. E. Thomas, J. L. Cliffton, R. E. Offenhaur, M. O. Krugh, Fred Kownig, Carl Vesper, V. B. Young, A. W. Fishbaugh, O. W. Gratz, Arthur Elam, Philip Williams, Roy Terrell, Jay Stauffer, Gary Mills, Larry Goodes, and Tyrone Thomas.

THE MENDON FLOWER AND GARDEN CLUB

Mendon Flower and Garden Club, affiliated wit the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, was organ ized in 1941 with Ona Bowland as the first Presiden The Town and Township Hall has always been thei meeting place, the second Tuesday of the month.

In 1950 the club planted shrubs around the Town and Township Hall. The grounds of both Mendor Churches were planted with trees and bulbs. A tree and bulbs were planted at the School and wate tower grounds. A tree was also planted at the Mercer County Home. A series of illlustrated gardening books were purchased and presented to the Mendor

Library.

In 1976 the over-grown 1950 planting of shrubs around the Town Hall were replaced with red white, and blue flowers for the Bicentennial celebration. A float was entered in the parade, displaying a quilt made by the club to be raffled off. They painted the banner to go up across Main street and helped with the decoration of store windows. They set up plant and craft sales tables for the event. Another money-making project were the Christmas Workshops held from 1973 to 1976.

In 1977 the club reached another goal by planting more permanent evergreens and a variety of shrubs around the Town Hall, for which they received a first award from the Ohio Association of Garden

Clubs

At the present time the club President is Helen Taylor and other officers as follows: Evelyn Kelner, Vice-President, Mary Crouch, Sec.-Treasurer, and Edna Hamilton, Reporter. Other members are, Hazel Fireoved, Wanda Frysinger, Vergil Griggs, Nettina Haller, Opal Lewis, Joanna Miller, Gayle Miller, Jane Shindollar, Helen Squires, Mae Thomas, and Louise Tingley.

This year the club will purchase a copy of the History Of Mercer County to be presented to the new Mendon Branch Library.

MAURER'S HARDWARE

For ninety-three years Maurer's Hardware has een a family owned and operated business in Merr County, Mendon, Ohio. In this span of time, ree generations of Maurer's — John (J. B.), Fred '., and now John F. — have contributed success-lly to business and community.

Over one hundred years ago, 1870, John (J. B.) aurer of Tuscarawas County, near Bolivar, Ohio, urneyed by train and horse and buggy to Mendon, me 200 miles distance, to help farm for his Unclearistian Maurer.

In 1881 J. B. married Caroline Haglock of Bolivar, id brought his new wife to a rented farm just south

Mendon. However, after several years of crop ilures, J. B. sought other means to provide a living r his wife and new baby. On borrowed money, he arted a hardware business on Main Street in Menon.

The first hardware, a frame building located on e west side of Main Street, was stocked with such ems as farm tools, tubs, dynamite, stable blankets, id horse shoes. Prices, as recorded from an old dger, were: wheelbarrow, $2.75; step ladder, 65¢; llon of white paint, $1.30; and one wood stove, 6.00.

As soon as J. B.'s sons, Monroe and Fred, were old lough to help, they were assigned jobs. Following a hool day, both boys were expected to work until psing time, which was 9 o'clock p.m., six days a eek. One of Fred's earlier tasks was to blacken and plish stoves to sell to customers.

In 1906 a raging, uncontrollable fire destroyed alost one block of businesses on the west side of ain Street: Maurer's Hardware also was destroyed.

fighting the fire, the Maurer boys, along with any others, were able to save some of the more exensive items. But as the fire continued to spread, ey were told not to go into the store again. Realizg the hopelessness and danger, J. B. himself locked e door. Stock was lost, but lives were saved. The ext day a tent was erected in a vacant lot one block orth and used for selling merchandise.

Maurer's Hardware, circa 1912

Maurer's Hardware, Mendon, Ohio 1977

Plans for rebuilding were begun immediately, and in 1907 a new concrete building was erected on the same location as the old store. However, with the expense of building and stocking a new store, the family could not send son Fred to college; instead Fred became a paid clerk in his father's store. Eventually the store became a father and son partnership and supported two families. For years the business operated from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. six days a week. In addition the store was, and still is, a meeting place for farmers and town men to exchange stories.

When J.B. died in 1946 at the age of 89, he had been in the hardware business for sixty-one years. Son Fred W. then became sole owner of the store; he was often assisted by his brother Monroe. One of the slack periods of business occurred during this time; due to the war, many necessary items were impossible to buy or stock.

During his high school days, John F. Maurer, Fred's son, helped stock shelves and clerk in his father's store, just as Fred had done some years earlier. However, John F. was reluctant to become associated with the hardware business. Not until 1949, after a two-year period in the army and an A.B. degree in science from Bowling Green State University, did John join his father in business. He became the third generation in the family business. (Monroe never married). The father and son ownership continued until Fred's death in December, 1964. Fred was seventy-seven years old and had devoted fifty-eight years to the hardware business.

Today the continued precedent of greatgrandfather, grandfather, and father, rests with John's son, J. Gregory Maurer, presently a teacher in the Ridgewood Schools, New Port Richey, Florida; he could be the fourth generation in the hardware business, Main Street, Mendon, Ohio.

W.H. DICK AND SONS FUNERAL HOME

The funeral home, founded by W.H. Dick and his brother-in-law Fred Lutz was established in Mendon, Ohio in 1913. The business was purchased from William Miller in that year.

A furniture store on Main Street housed the "funeral parlor" and funeral arrangements were handled from this site for several years. At this time viewing and services were held in the family home or at church, and a team of matched horses pulled the hearse to the final resting place, the driver resplendent in dark suit and derby.

Sometime later, the family home on Market

Sometime later, the family home on Market Street in Mendon became the site of the establishment and continued there for many years. Through the years, Fred G. Fisher was also associated with the firm in Mendon, as was Carl Stallter, Mr. Dick's son-in-law, who was associated both in Mendon and Celina.

The furniture store in Mendon was in operation for nearly fifty years. In 1973, a funeral home and residence on Sunset Drive in Mendon was opened. This all new facility now serves that area and is also the residence of the Hubert Dick family.

PLEASANT GROVE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Pleasant Grove Baptist Church, organized in 871, was originally called the Mendon Baptist hurch. Meetings began in the Gross school house. 1879, by the voice of the church with the consent f the Assocation, the name was changed to the resent one of Pleasant Grove.

In 1880, land on which the present church stands /as donated by Mrs. Elizabeth Coil, and construcon began. The original structure was erected at a ost of $1200.00 (much of the material and labor was onated), and was officially dedicated in 1881.

In 1922 and 1923, extensive remodeling was done, acluding the addition of a full basement, and the ruilding was rededicated May 27, 1923.

In 1978, more remodeling is being done, includng: new rest rooms, the addition of a nursery, and emodeling of the kitchen. The cost will be approxinately $12000.

ROSS CHURCH

Ross Church of the Brethren is located on Deep-Cut Road, east of Mendon in Union Township and vas formerly known as Mercer Church. It was greed upon at the district meeting at Sugar Creek Church of the Brethren on May 20, 1874, to have egular meetings in Mercer County. As it was the irst Brethren Church in Mercer County, it was alled the Mercer Church. For about 10 years, this hurch was without a building, but met in various buildings, namely Hussey, Adams, and Prairie Schools. It was held also in barns owned by Van Sweringer's near Monticello, John Shellabarger's near Mercer and also at Shively's Corner near Tama. The records show that a greater number of members settled around this place, arriving from Logan County, Darke County, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and other places.

Ross Church of The Brethren

Mercer County records show that George Coffman and his wife leased the grounds to the proper officials in November 1883, to the German Baptist Church (Church of the Brethren) for as long as they used it for Church purposes. The present building was then completed August 22, 1884. All the frame timber was donated by Thomas Ross from his farm. He was a prominent member and very humble, a cripple from injuries in the Civil War. He also donated the seats that are still being used. Alfred Rish and sons were the head carpenters. Other work was donated by members John Shellabarger, John Detrick, and John Coil. John Coil was supposed to have shaved all the first shingles for the roof. Aaron Detrick and his father, John, hauled lumber from a place called Cottonwood, or what is now known as Elgin.

Some of the first ministers were John Detrick, Thomas Roedecker, John Shellabarger and Rev. Abram Detrick. It was known as the Mercer Church until in 1908, it was changed to Ross as too many people who came by train or otherwise would look for the church at Mercer, several miles away.

Other prominent names in the church at that time were Katherman, Meher, Lehman, Roedecker, Snyder, Kaffman, Wise, Goubeau, Norris, Mohler, Stauffer, Baker, several Detricks, Keelings, and others. There were Rish's, Millers, Simmons, Sherer, Cole, Thomas, Redmond and many more.

The early members believed in plain dress and the wearing of prayer veils for the women. Broad Brimmed hats and split tailed coats for men.

We helped to organize and sometimes shared our ministers with the Ash Grove Church, west of Celina, near Coldwater. Rev. Frank Cordier preached there and would sometimes come to our Church. I remember he had a long white beard. That Church is non-existing now but many of the older folks still remember it and the good fellowship that existed there.

In the last 54 years, we have had just 3 pastors. Rev. J.A. Guthrie preached for 11 years. Rev. A.L. Coil was pastor for 21 years. It was his grandfather who made the first shingles. Our pastor we have now is Rev. Walter V. Binkley. He has been with us for 22 years since last February.

We have had many ups and downs over the years, but these words keep ringing in our ears, "Occupy till I come". Mary Crouch

Mendon First Church of God

THE MENDON FIRST CHURCH OF GOD

In 1877 Rev. Tobias, Koogle of the St. Mary's Circuit was invited to preach at Mendon. During this revival there were fifty some conversions and Rev. Aukerman, who was next on the circuit, began organization of a Church of God in Mendon. There were twenty-three charter members, many of whom had been attending Anderson Bethel. They were John Rehn and wife, John Coil and wife, Byran Wollam and wife, William Bahemore (?) and wife, Ira Cisco and wife, Sister Lew Rider, Andrew Barber and wife, Sister Margaret Wilson and two daughters (Mary and Etta Wilson Drake), and John Clark. The early church held their meetings in the Methodist church.

As the congregation grew, plans were made to erect a building of their own. The Building Committee consisted of John Coil, Lewis Barber, and Edward Clay. A site was purchased for $100. The church was fortunate in having in its membership, carpenters and men who owned good timber, all of which was donated to God's cause. According to a day book of John Coil the men began to get out the timber on March 14, 1887. The building was completed at an approximate cost of $1,500. The building was dedicated in 1887 by Rev. Newcomer of Iowa.

The following ministers then served the circuit: McNutt, Small, Bloyd, Burchard, Poling, Slough, Gatchell, Bartlebaugh, Yoder, Harlan, Tracy, De-Hays and Raach. Many outstanding revivals were held during these years. Many new people were added to the church and the need for a larger Bethel was seen. During the ministry of Rev. Raach the plans were completed and the new building was begun. The old church was moved, a basement and Sunday School room added, the entire building was brick veneered, a slate roof added, and stain glass windows installed. The Bethel was completed just after Rev. S.F. Bauders came on the work in 1911. It was dedicated in October 1911 by the Rev. C.I. Brown, president of Findlay College.

The next pastors were Rev. Snavely and Rev. Slough, followed in 1918 by Rev. Harlan. During his ministry the church debt was cancelled, the basement repaired, and house next to the church purchased for a parsonage. The ladies Aid was organized in 1892. The Missionary Society was organized in 1919.

The following ministers then served on our circuit: Revs. Frank and Ruth Turner, Strawn, Tipple, Hudson, Rahmann, Frank and Guyer. Rev. Gaylord Wilkin was next on the work during which time a glorious revival was held with over a hundred conversions and many added to the church. At this time, the kitchen and dining room in the basemer were moved, and the original dining room was mad into a little chapel where Beulah Wilkin organize the Junior Church.

Rev. Neff was next on the work, serving faithful for seven years. Carpet for the sanctuary was purchased during this time. Then followed Rev. Wagne for three years. The communion table, electric organ, and new heating system were purchased. The Turners then returned for five years. The pastor study, nursery and restrooms were added. Rev. Has man then served the church for one year. During this time the church was redecorated and new light installed.

The Rev. A. Gail Dunn came to our work. Th new parsonage was built, the church basement an nursery was redecorated, and the Sunday School room floor and pews were refinished.

On February 6, 1959, the bethel was completel destroyed by fire. The same evening the Churc Council met in prayer at the parsonage. A Plannin Committee was appointed and plans made to clea away the debris. Soon an architect, Mr. P.D. Phar makidis, was employed and a plan for the new building was selected.

On August 2, 1959, Ground Breaking Service were held. Rev. Bauders gave the Invocation. Di Paul Tewell, Eldership president gave the address Those participating were Rev. Dunn, Elders Floy Young, Emlyn Lampy, Harold Hays, Trustees Evelyi Kelner and Max Shaffer and the Architect.

On October 25, 1959, Rev. Dunn conducted the services for the Cornerstone Laying, due to incle ment weather, in the Methodist Church. Scripture and Prayer were by Rev. Clair Harman. The message was by Dr. O.J. Wilson, President of Findlay College. Invocation by Rev. Bauders. Returning to the site, the cornerstone was placed by the trusteed James Dutton, Max Shaffer and Evelyn Kelner Much credit was given to the contractors: Miller Construction Company of Columbus Grove, Sidney Electric of Sidney, Hunter Brothers of St. Marys Splendor of Toledo and Garnett Seating Company of Garnett, Kansas, together with their subcontractors and suppliers, in realizing the goal of this new bethel which was dedicated to the glory of God.

Our present pastor, Glenn E. Masser, came to us on December 8, 1967. Together with his wife, Mary his two sons, Bob and Phil, the love of God and the Gospel of Jesus Christ have been manifested in the Mendon Church of God, the Mendon Community and in all the world for the glory of God and His church.

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH MENDON BETHEL CHARGE

Mercer County was organized April 1, 1820, with ur townships of which Union was one, and with

. Marys as the County seat.

Mercer County Methodism had its beginning bout the year of 1829. Robert Finley, a retired lethodist minister came to Mercer Co. and estabshed a mission called St. Marys Mission. He was sisted by William Raper and James P. Wright. hese men were missionaries to the Wyandotte Inans.as purchased during this ti was extended to ie Eight and Twelve-Mile Creeks. Historians relate 1831-32 classes were held and in 1832 a class of venty-four members was formed in the Eight-Mile reek vicinity. The meetings were held in the homes ir a few years with Abe Wright the first leader and mes Wright the exhorter. In the year 1839, a log turch was built where the present Bethel Church ow stands, and it is recorded as being the first Protstant church in Mercer County.

In the year of 1833, there were four families in the ew settlement called Tomlinson. In the autumn of 334, Grandfather Tomlinson secured the service of missionary, who preached every four weeks. A ass of seven people was organized and services ere held in the Tomlinson cabin. Later Grandfater Tomlinson, with the aid of his six sons cleared to Tomlinson Cemetery of brush, logs were cut and auled and the first church in all this vast wilderness as built. It was 22 ft. square, had a large fireplace, one door and two small windows. People came as far as thirty miles to attend the First Quarterly meetings held there.

In 1836-1837 it was called the St. Marys Mission, Maumee District, Michigan Conference. It was at this time that the Mendon Society was organized. In 1838 and 1839 there were 14 Societies which were as follows: St. Marys, Mercer, Shanesville, Harpers, Willshire, Van Wert, Sugar Ridge, Tomlinson, Pring's, Grefford's, Duck Creek, Mendon, Eight-Mile (Bethel) and Roebuck's.

During 1867 to 1868 the first frame Bethel church was built and dedicated on the site of the old log church. In the year 1902 the present church was built on the site of the other two churches. It was dedicated February 4, 1903 by Rev. Charles B. Crames, pastor and J.M. Miller, presiding elder.

The Mendon Society perservered and grew, then in 1870 it was decided to purchase property and build a church. In February 25, 1870 Lot. No. 25 was purchased and a white frame building was erected on the same site as the present church. In the late 1800's a large tent meeting was held and many new members were gained. The white frame church was no longer large enough, so it was moved and a new brick church was constructed on the site. This was the year 1897, F.S. Robinson was the pastor.

Mendon and Bethel have been together for one hundred forty years. Our churches have a heritage of which we are rightfully proud, and wish to share with you.

E.H. AUFDERHAR

Ernst H. (Adam) Aufderhar, wife Minnie and foster son George Haller came from Auglaize County to Mercer County in 1899. They had purchased 60

Acres of land in Union Township.

This farm is the part of a section from the original Congress Lands. It was first deeded to George Parrott in 1833. The original deed is on parchment and is signed by President Andrew Jackson. Through the years various people had owned the land. Grandfather bought it from the Upton Heirs.

We were told by Upton relatives that the present house was built by Elmer Upton's father. The lumber came from carefully chosen trees cleared from this land. Main beams under-girding the house are 10½ inches square. Some of the siding is walnut. All are hand-hewn. Marks from the Axe, Adz or whatever tools were used to cut them can be seen. A fireplace, partially covered and unused for many years remains as it was in those days.

Grandfather Aufderhar and George farmed the land together for some years. More about life and work in those days follows in the history of the George Haller Family.

The accompanying picture shows the farm home and family in 1904. submitted by Nettina Haller, Mendon, Oh.

SAMUEL C. BARBER

Research has proved that the ancestry of Samuel C. Barber, the original Barber settler in Union Township, Mercer County, Ohio, goes back to Thomas Barber, who arrived in Boston Harbor in 1635 in the ship "Christian de Lo." He was born in Dorchester, England ca 1614 and died at Windsor, Connecticut, September 11, 1662. On October 7, 1640 he married Jane (Coggins?), born 1620 and died September 10, 1662. They became the parents of four sons and three daughters, all born at Windsor. Thomas was a carpenter and farmer. He also fought as a Sergeant under Major Stoughton against the Pequot Indians.

Sons of each generation from Thomas through whom the Mercer County Barbers descend were: Lt. Thomas, 1664-1713, wife Mary Phelps; Samuel, 1673-1725, wife Sarah Holcomb; Dr. Samuel, 1714-1797, first wife, Tryphena Humphrey; Samuel, 1740-1779, wife, Eunice Cowles; Amos, 1771-1823, wife, Margaret McLalan.

Amos Barber was born April 17, 1771 at Norfolk, Connecticut and died in Hardin County, Kentucky before October 14, 1823 when his estate was appraised. He was the sixth generation from the immigrant Thomas. He broke family tradition by selling his inherited land after he became of age. When Moses Cleveland landed at Conneaut in the Wes ern Reserve on July 4, 1796, Amos was in that fir surveying party of 52 persons. When the party re turned to Canandaigua, Ontario County, New Yor to draw up further plans for the Connecticut Lan Company, Amos remained there. He married Ma garet McLalan and purchased Lot 51 in Bristol Tow where their four children were born. From ther too, Amos served in the War of 1812. In 1817 the sold their farm and went to Kentucky with a grou of people from that area — the Bigelows, Brown Drurys, Murlins, Wrights, Nichols, etc. In 181 Amos purchased 1000 acres at $2.00 per acre of Gir eon Granger. Here the family resided until h widow and children began selling the Hard County land to move to richer farm land in Merci County, Ohio along with the families mentions above. Their children were: Amos McLalan, Samu C., Alta O., wife of Eleazer S. Wright, and Eunice I wife of Aaron L. Johns. The first three were marrie in Hardin County, Eunice in Mercer County.

An account of Amos M. Barber is in Bowen "History of Mercer and Van Wert Counties" under the article about his son, L.A. Barber. Howeve there is one variance. Amos M. Barber didn't disappear from the tax records of the county until 185 his wife surviving him. Of Lewis Amos' children none has known descendants in the Mendon are today, but Clarence may have some at Springfield Ohio and Ominda Sibert may have some at Clark:

ville, Arkansas.

Eleazer S. and Alta O. Barber Wright settled i Section 22 in Union Township and lived out the lives there. They and several of their children ar buried in the Sherer Cemetery. It is not likely that there are any of their descendants in the county to day. William moved to Middlepoint, Alta O. mar ried Thomas Coil and went to Paulding County, an James H. married Martha L. Barber and went to Coorado.

Aaron L. and Eunice L. Barber Johns were in th 1840 census in the township and Margaret M. Barber, her mother, was living with them. There nothing about them in the township after they sol their holdings in 1849 when they evidently wer

West.

A profile of Samuel C. Barber is in the history of Mercer County by S.S. Scranton. Adding to the Samuel actually had three wives — Hannah Murling the mother of five of his children, Christean Bolton who didn't live long after their marriage, and Mar Johns, the mother of one daughter Emaline. Nothin could be found about Mary and her daughter afte Samuel's estate was settled in 1852. Besides farming Samuel seemed to have dealt in real estate in the county for there were many transactions until 1851.

Samuel's son, Austin Barber, who married Eliz Lucinda Hamilton, is of record in the history of Au glaize County by Williamson. Of his children, tw have descendants in Mercer County today. Throug his daughter Hannah, who married Charles Shimp are the families of Wanda Shimp Carpenter, wido of George, in Celina and Celia Shimp Beougher, wif of R. Ray, Mercer. Their parents were Harvey an Pearl Haney Shimp. Through Abram Harley, wh married Alice Wright, is the family of John Verno and Dorothy Mae Yewey Barber, Rice Road, Men don, his parents having been Ernest and Ann Whar ton Barber.

In addition to Walter, all the children of Warren id Sallie Hamilton Barber who lived to marry, expt Martha Lucretia, left families in the county. lartha L. became the wife of James H. Wright and ey moved to Colorado because of her health. She ed there in 1891, leaving two daughters and a son. f the three, only Zua, who married Melvin M. lymer, left children. One of her daughters, Melna Clymer Kern, presently lives at Platteville, Colado. From Abram Harrison (Harry) and Clara lurlin Barber are Merle Hickernell, widow of Sheran, and her daughter Claryce Ann of Mendon, obert Barber, Celina and two of his five children, oris of Celina and John Cloyce, who married Opal anTilburg, and has a family at Mendon. From Sun Barber Murlin, wife of Giles P., are the families Dwight M. and Joanna Hays Miller, Clayton L. nd Gladys Lawrence Miller, Betty Miller Kennedy, ife of Wayne, and Rill T. and Viola Long Miller, all Mendon. The Millers' parents were Alpha T. and sephine Murlin Miller. Lulu May Barber was mared to Horatio F. Hooper by whom she had two ildren. One, Ruth; married Edward W. VanTilarg. Of their six children, three - Dale W., who arried Opal Boyce, Lois Ruth, who married Paul J. rown, and Sally Lou, who married Franklin D. Botn — live in or near Celina and all have families. Since the coming of Samuel C. Barber to Union ownship, Mercer County in 1828, Barber descenants have enjoyed the county's bounties for 150 easure of assurance. It fills one with pride and

Walter Barber, father of Robert Bruce Barber and randson of Samuel C. and Hannah Murlin Barber, arly settlers, was born in Union Township on Noember 26, 1871 to Warren and Sallie Hamilton Barer and died January 25, 1957 on the same farm here he was born. The farm, one and one-fourth tiles east of Mendon on the Mendon-Neptune oad, is now owned by John and Mary Helen Will-1th who purchased it in 1974 from Lola J. Barber, ridow of Kenneth W. Barber. On June 11, 1896 Valter married Celia Brewer, daughter of Alpheus nd Mary E. Davis Brewer. The couple celebrated neir golden wedding anniversary in 1946 in the ame house in which Walter's parents had in 1907. elia was born July 22, 1875 in Salem Township, uglaize County, Ohio and died August 5, 1953 in 1ercer County.

Our subject secured his elementary education at ne Bethel School in Union Township after which he nok the Mercer County Teachers' Examination, resiving a certificate to teach. He taught one term in Illen County and then enrolled at Ada Normal, ow Ohio Northern University, Ada, Ohio and comleted the required course in pharmacy in 1893. He worked for some time in a drugstore in Detroit, but ot being able to stand the indoor work, he returned ome to farm with his father.

Celia Brewer Barber also received her early educaon in the local schools and then enrolled at Midlepoint Normal, Middlepoint, Ohio for one term efore teaching in schools in Union and Center ownships. In one of these schools she had her two younger brothers, B. Albert and Oran A. Brewer. When a high school was established in Mendon, she took the three year course and graduated in its first class in 1896, along with her brother, Oran A., who was four years her junior.

The Barber family attended Hamilton Bethel Methodist Church, and all of the children except one were Methodists in their later residences. All the children graduated from Mendon High School.

Vaughn B. Barber was born June 23, 1897 and died February 2, 1968. After graduating from high school he did odd jobs in the area and then enrolled at Ft. Wayne Business College. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in WW I and was assigned a Private with the 66th Company, 5th Regiment, 2nd Division. When the war was over, the 5th Division, having distinguished itself in combat, was selected to march in the Victory Parades in New York and Washington. Afterwards, arriving home unannounced by train - yes, there was a train through Mendon in 1919 — Vaughn was attracted by a horse and buggy coming up the street. The horse he recognized, but not the driver. The driver was his younger brother Bruce, who had grown beyond recognition in his absence. As expected, Bruce then forgot why he had been sent to Mendon and hurried home with his brother. Mr. Barber soon went to work for the Pure Oil Company in Columbus. Later he secured the position of railway mail clerk for the U.S. Postal Department from which he retired. He married Gertrude Brown of Columbus in 1928. They had one daughter, Mary Janice. She married Robert E. Hursey in 1950 and they have three children: David V., Celia Sue and Geri. All are residents of Columbus. Kenneth W. Barber, born January 26, 1899, mar-

Kenneth W. Barber, born January 26, 1899, married Elizabeth Metz, a teacher of Latin at Mendon High School, from whom he was divorced in 1931. For several years Kenneth was employed by the British Petroleum Company in Columbia, South America. During the years of WW II he worked at the Lima Locomotive Works in the construction of tanks. In 1945 he married Lola Johnson of Van Wert County and they became residents of Dayton, Ohio. There he worked at the Frigidaire Company and then as a clerk in the post offices of Dayton and Kettering, retiring from the latter. Lola, with a M.S. degree in education from Miami University, taught in the schools of Dayton. Kenneth died June 16, 1969, leaving no children, and his wife resides in Dayton.

Sophronia Janice Barber was born March 20, 1902. She attended Miami and Ohio State Universities and taught in the schools of Union Township and Lima, Ohio. In later years she became a certified genealogist. On October 2, 1930 she was married to George B. Reddin, D.D.S., of Findlay, Ohio. They are the parents of two sons, George B. Jr., a veterinarian, and James B., a dentist, both of whom are career Army officers with the present rank of Lieutenant Colonel. George B., Jr. has an adopted daughter, Betty Jean (Mrs. C. Jeffrey) High, by his marriage to Mrs. Sarah Sherrard Rawlins and one son, George B. Reddin III, by his marriage to Carol S. Beckley. James B. Reddin married Lois Ann Sielaff of Cleveland by whom he had one daughter, Heidi Linda Reddin. His second wife is the former Gabriele Morath of Munich, Germany.

Keith H. Barber was born December 1, 1903 and now resides in Cleveland. On completing ROTC training at Ohio State University as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Army Reserve Corps, he became commander of several Civilian Conservation Corps camps in Ohio. Following those assignments, he entered WW II, going through the war in the European Theater and the occupation of Berlin. After the war, he became a Regular Army officer, retiring with the rank of Colonel in 1959. He married Marian Bluim of Cleveland in 1935. She was lost in the crash of a Pan American plane in the Pacific Ocean on November 8, 1957. She was on her way to Honolulu to be joined by Keith as he was returning from having been on a hardship tour as one of the early military advisers to Vietnam.

advisers to Vietnam.

Mary E. Barber was born December 3, 1906. She graduated from Ohio State University's School of Nursing in 1929. After graduate work in Chicago, she worked at various hospitals in the area. She was the school nurse of Mercer County for five years and was a nurse at Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, St. Marys, Ohio at the time of her death on July 12, 1961.

Robert Bruce Barber is listed elsewhere in this volume.

Of Walter Barber we can say that, though never dogmatically religious, he had spiritual learnings that were expressed in a love of nature and a stewardship for his country, family and friends. Janice Barber Reddin (Mrs. George B. Reddin), Findlay, Oh. 45840

THE CLOVER FAMILY

According to the 'Mendon Herald' Austin Birchrd Clover and Georgia Fireoved drove (horse and ruggy) to the home of Reverend Roebuck where they were married, August 18, 1902. They went to Oklahoma where Austin B. worked in the oil field. Later they lived in Mendon and then on the Clover farm three miles north of Mendon. They were successful farmers, working side by side.

It was their goal that their daughter Maxine should go to the University. She was graduated with Bachelor and Master degrees from Miami University, and with the Specialist degree from the University of Toledo.

Maxine married Clifford E. Garwick, the son of Earl and Naomi Garwick. They had one son, Clifford Howick Garwick who married Dorothy Bair, the daughter of Gifford and Lucille Bair of Neptune. Their two children are Scott and Sherry.

Later Maxine married Robert Putman, the son of George and Emma Putman. Maxine and Robert were both educators.

Austin traced his family back to John Peter Clover, a Prussian, married to Catherine Sharp. The law did not permit a trained forgeman to leave Prussia but he escaped early in the 18th century. He and Catherine emigrated to Clover Hill, Huntertown County in New Jersey. Indians were numerous and hostile.

Austin's father was James and his mother, Sally (Gross). Elkanah and Susan (Gardner) were the parents of James. Elkanah was buried in the Old Clover Cemetery near Alton, Ohio. James' grandparents were Peter (born in 1791) and Elizabeth (Widner) and James Gardner (born in 1775) and Mary (Cornwall).

James ran a tile mill and owned 365 acres of land. Cherries, apples plums and berries were produced. He and his wife Sally shared food with the less fortunate. The large farm home housed the family and farm hands. Sally and the hired girl cooked for them all. James had a large library.

Austin's mother was (Sarah Gross) born in Holmes County. Her parents were Peter and Mary Gross. The family moved to Mercer County in 1863, and three miles north of Mendon built a cabin, and lived the life of pioneers. Nothing but forest. James served three years in the Civil war, and in 1867 Sally and James were married. They built their home on the former Gross site. The house is occupied by Scott and Deborah (Baltes) Garwick, Clifford's son and his wife.

Georgia May Fireoved's father, Levi married Lida Palmer. His ancestry was Prussian, the son of George Fireoved born in 1811 in Pennsylvania, George married Ellen Krugh and came to Mercer County, where he worked as a distiller of whiskey. He cleared land and eventually owned 160 Acres.

The Palmers trace their lineage back to Robert Palmer who came to America with the followers of William Penn. Lida was the daughter of John (Miami Co.) and Hanna (Hitchner) of Warren Co. John's father was Richard, a native of Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Georgias' great uncle Joseph helped his father clear 920 acres of land. Richard is said to have brought the first cook stove to the county. The Palmer Cemetery (monument and stone fence) were erected in 1884 by Joseph and Thomas Palmer. It is located on Palmer Road near the Robert Kelner farm. Georgias' sister, Frankie Lee, who is 93 years old lives in Mendon, Ohio. Clifford H. Garwick, his wife Dorothy and daughter Sherry live on a 96 A. farm on state route 707, which is a part of the original Palmer Homestead. Maxine Putman, Newark, Oh.

BENJAMIN COIL

According to Sutton's (1882) large "History of Van Wert & Mercer County," Benjamin H. Coil's (1830-1907) grandfather, Andrew Coil, Sr. with his son-inlaw Thomas Parrott (Elizabeth's husband) who was the youngest of six children, came to Mercer Village area in 1819 along the St. Mary's River as one of the earliest white settlers in Mercer County area.

Andrew, Sr. soon moved up stream to Guilford, now Mendon, which he called Coiltown and laid out 56 lots, paying ¼¢ county tax on each lot for years, according to Mercer County Courthouse records of 1824.

Andrew Coil, Sr. went back to Fayette County, Ohio, and in 1822 moved his family to Union Township, Mendon area. His children were Peter, who married Hester Roebuck and settled part of Sec. 20, as did Tom Parrott. Other children were Jeremiah, Andrew, Jr., John, Amalia and Elizabeth who was married before 1819, and Isaac Coil (1798-1863) was Ben's father.

Benjamin H. Coil (1830-1907) married Jane Partner (1834-1897) on Oct. 6, 1859. They moved to their farm about three quarter mile east of Mercer. Ben and Jane lived their entire married life on their farm. Benjamin was one of the first white children born in Union Township. He saw many changes. In his youth it was a rough, untamed wilderness without roads and bridges and only log cabin houses.

Jane was a devout Presbyterian. They were mar ried in Salem Township Presbyterian Church, Au glaize County. She raised her family with daily Bibl study and prayer. Jane would not allow her eigh children to even play on Sunday. They both unite with the Mercer Methodist Church. They and the children usually walked to Sunday services, fore noon and evening. The afternoon was spent in quie rest, Bible lessons and songs, often without much Sunday cooking work. Usually there was a mid week service. There were not many places to go.

Usually the young folks would wait and walk with their friends and neighbors as they came along fron farther down the road. Also imagine the mothe dressing and checking the young and walking close to their parents, who usually came along last. And walking with their neighbors to church, discussing the latest news, events, happenings, weather and future plans.

Mercer's first Methodist Church was a log cabir from about 1833-1848. Then a much larger building about 33 feet by 60 feet, was built and used till 1900 That building was across the road from the presenstructure.

Ben Coil and children donated a front leaded glass window in the present edifice dedicated in Their eight children were Margery Ellen Coil married to Ed Coil (1860-1929). Wm. Harrison Coi (1862-1927), married Lizzie Fryer. Elmira (1864-1921), married S.L. Fryer. Robert A. (1867-1955) married Belle Fryer. Matilda Eva (1869-1924) Mrs Charley Hayes. Irene Belle Coil "Rene" (1872-1896) was Mrs. Cyrus S. Brown. Jennie Susan Coil (1874-1938) was my mother, and married Charles Heath 1898. Cyrus Benjamin Coil (1878-1951) married Gladdyth Poland. Five of these are buried in Mercel Cemetery. Wm. and wife are buried in Avoca Mich., Cy and wife in Toronto, Ohio. Margery in Mendon Cemetery.

Jennie Coil (1874-1938) married Charles Heath and lived most of their life in Union Township and were members of Mercer Methodist Church. Their four children were Morrison, Orpha, Martha and Charles D. "Pat." Dr. Morrison M. (1900-1977) married Eleanora Brickbauer and was a dentist in Kalamazoo. Their sons are Earl and Harold. Orpha Heath Hosack (Mrs. Paul) has two children, Robert, a dentist, and Jennie. Martha Heath Shull (Mrs. Arthur W. of Ft. Wayne have two sons Arthur, Jr., and Dick. Charles D. "Pat" Heath born 1905 married Minnie Kerns, spent about 25 yrs. in garage, auto, machine work in Mercer, Rocl ford area and also in Junnyside Wash. LEWIS EDWARD FOX

Lewis Edward Fox, one of Union Township's representative businessmen, who was engaged in the manufacture of tile and operated an 80 acre farm on which he lived for 25 years, was born June 15, 1853, in Dauphin County, Pennsylvania. He was the son of Peter and Fanny (Moyer) Fox and a grandson of Peter and Anna (Secrist) Fox.

Peter Fox, Jr., the father of our subject, was born and reared on the farm in Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, where Lewis Edward was born and raised, and it was here that the paternal grandfather was also reared. The maternal grandfather of our subject, Christian Moyer, moved from Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, to Dauphin County, where he lived the greater part of his life. Peter Fox died in 1868 at the age of 53 years. He was the father of six sons and one daughter, as follows: Lewis Edward; Benjamin Franklin; Christian Henry; John Wesley; William L.; Peter W.; and Clara Annie, who married W.H. Wolf, of Pembroke, Pennsylvania.

Lewis Edward Fox was reared on his father's farm in Dauphin County, Pennsylvania, received a common school education and then engaged in farming. In the fall of 1870 he moved to Mercer County, Ohio, and worked on a farm at Neptune for two years. He then went back to his old home in Pennsylvania, but later returned to Mercer County in 1881. Mr. Fox was subsequently located for one year at Rockford, where he helped put in a tile plant. After selling the same, he returned to his home in Union Township, where he engaged in manufacturing tile for 24 years, having established the factory in 1862. He always had a large trade and never able to manufacture enough to supply the full demand. In 1905 he established a new plant, and with new appliances and improved machinery largely increased the output.

He found a ready sale for the product, as there was a growing demand for tile and building blocks. He employed eight men to operate the plant. Mr. Fox made many great improvements on his farm, on which there was only a small log cabin when it came into his possession. Mr. Fox was an Odd Fellow of high standing, was a member of the subordinate and Rebekah lodges at Mendon and the encampment of Celina. He was also a charter member of Mendon Lodge No. 586, F.&A.M. He was a Democrat politically, but supported the man in preference to the party. He was always interested in things which were for the betterment and advancement of his community.

Mr. Fox was married January 5, 1876, to Jennie R. Boroff, a native of Union Township, Mercer County, and a daughter of the late Harrison and Rebecca (Ross) Boroff, who were among the early settlers of Mercer County. Children born to Mr. and Mrs. Fox as follows: William H.; Clara B., who married Milton Faurot; Harry G.; Amy, who married Perry Hays and later John Quilling; Edward and Fannie (twins) Edward married Hazel Frysinger; Fannie married Pern Rhoades; Peter married Hazel Stewart and Marlin who married Beulah Marbaugh.

Lewis Edward Fox passed away in Mendon on May 28, 1931. Phyllis Griggs

HALLER FAMILY

Our father George W. Haller came to Mercer county with his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Aufderhar in 1899. They came from Auglaize County. Grandfather had bought sixty acres of land from the Upton Farm in Union Township. Dad helped to pay for the farm with money earned by hauling logs.

In those days everyone worked very hard but they found various means of entertainment and recreation. A barn raising called for a Barn dance where all the folks swung their partners as one person called the square dances. Husking Bees provided another community social event. One highlight was locating red ears of corn with their special privileges. (Each red ear entitled its finder to kiss the girl of his choice.) Skating was a winter pastime with "Shinny", played with crooked sticks, a favorite game. (Possibly a form of Ice Hockey.)

In the fall of 1902 Grandmother's cousin Wilhelmina (Minnie) Huck, . from Ind. came to visit. Grandfather met the late evening train at Elgin and brought her home in the horse drawn buggy. Greeting Grandmother, Minnie said, "My you look so natural." At that moment George strolled out of an adjoining bedroom in his long underwear and said "Do I look natural too?" (And the smarty got away with it!) That was how our Dad and Mother came to meet.

Of course George and his girl friend (at the time) graciously entertained Minnie and included her in their social activities. However, when Minnie returned to Indiana she and George were engaged.

Dad and mother were married Jan. 8, 1903. They shared the farm home and helped cultivate the land. In those days plowing was done with horses and walking plows. Corn was planted with a hand planter. When ripe it was cut by hand with long corn knives. It was stacked in "shocks" to dry. Later the ears were husked out by hand. Some of the small grains were broadcast by hand when planted.

Grandfather had a "cradle" which was used to a wheat by hand, but I don't know if it was ever us on this farm.

On April 1, 1904 I was born in the same house the farm, in which I now live. I had my first year school in the Hussey school down at the corn Then the family moved to Spencerville. Dad took Auctioneering which became his life-long vocation

Through the years we children, Harold, Claytc Merle, Emaline and myself always spent summe with our Grandparents on the farm. We had mufun sliding down the strawstack, wading the dit and playing with the neighbor children. We help hoe the garden, gather wild strawberries, and elde berries, also picked apples and cherries in seaso gathered eggs, fed chickens and learned to milk the cows. We thought it fun to learn to do what the country "kids" did.

Threshing Day was great fun. We watched the blower on the threshing machine pile up the straw tack, and the grain roll out into the wagons. Course we were in on the Big dinner which was a ways provided for the threshers. (Some days it wour job to keep flies away from the table by "swisling" shakers made from cut strips of paper flow sacks tacked to a stick, over it.)

Sometimes butchering day fell such that we coul be around. We watched the big black kettles boilir and lard being made. We saw the meat cut up, sat sage ground and stuffed and the meat carried dow cellar to be cured. This day was also known for th big dinner for all helpers.

Grandmother made her own bread. She churne her own butter (in early days in a barrel churn wit a long handled dasher pushed up and down b hand). She made marvelous Jelly and preserves fror fruits and berries. What a wonderful treat it was t have a thick slice of warm fresh bread with countr butter oozing over it and our favorite jam to top off, if we so desired!

Grandfather Aufderhar died in 1932. After a fer years Grandmother asked Dad to take over th farm. In the fall of 1936 we moved back — actuall Dad, mother and I moved back. Brother Clayton hamarried and lived in Mansfield. Brother Merle wa working out of Columbus, married, and settlethere. Sister Emaline was working in Lima, was married the following year and lived near Elida. I have been teaching for some years but had lived at home Now I came to live again in the home where I wa born.

Again, grandchildren came to visit their grandpar ents on the farm. Merle's children, Tim, Ben and Terry grew up in our home and graduated from

Mendon-Union High School.

Mother died in 1957 and Dad in 1965. It was ther that I purchased the farm. It has been in the family for 79 years. The Grandchildren still like to come "home". Great-grandchildren (who never knew their great grandparents) come too now — to see Aunt "E".

The Haller family is of German Ancestry. Dad's father George Haller, Sr. came directly from Wurtenburg, Germany. Mother's ancestors were German also — the Grandfathers having come from the area around Bremen, Germany. They settled around Breen, Ind. Grandfather Aufderhar was also of Geran descent. Grandmother's ancestors were also erman. submitted by Nettina Haller, Mendon, Oh.

MURNEY HEATH

Murney Heath was the first of his line to come to Mercer County.

Murney (1846-1929) was born in Vermont, but lived on a farm near Avoca, Michigan until he was

He ran away from home and joined the Union Army in 1861. He told them he was 18, but he was too short to carry and handle a gun, so he was added to the bugle corps. He played a fife, learning only a few tunes. He stayed with the Army till the Civil War was over.

Murney came to Union Township, Mercer County and farmed 80 acres for many years on Shelley Road about 2 miles N-W of Mendon. He married Jane Drake (1855-1913). Murney and Jane worked hard to build up their farm. Oil and gas were discovered on their farm, but only enough gas to light a torch which lasted many years.

Joseph Drake the father of Jane, lived on the next farm west of Murneys. Another Joe Drake also lived West of Mendon, one was known as Old Joe, the other as "deef Joe." They were distant cousins.

A few years after Jane's passing away, Murney married Amanda Protsman (1855-1942) who was the widow of David Protsman. (1848-1917)

Murney and Amanda retired and moved to Mendon. All are buried in Tomlinson Cemetery, Union Township near the Van Wert County Line.

Murney Heath was my father Charles Heath's

Uncle.

O.F. Geiger, editor of the Mendon Herald wrote the following in 1929 about my great Uncle Murney Heath. Even the editor used the term "Uncle Murney." Quote.

The last Civil War Veteran in this community Uncle Murney Heath, departed this life, Sunday morning at 5 o'clock. He had been in his usual health till Thursday.

One feels a peculiar sadness at the departure of the last of the old defenders of the flag.

Like all true soldiers, he was modest in speaking of his record in the war, which might lead to a misconception of the service rendered.

The writer got very well acquainted with him, and often without him suspecting it, would lead him out to talk about the war. We found he had an unusual record (not more than a thousand of others). In the first place he went to war when he was only fifteen years of age. I will not attempt to give the number of battles in which he participated; they were many. Will just mention one kind of service he rendered, which we consider remarkable. When Sherman started to the sea, he, with others, were thrown out between the two armies to obtain food; in this dangerous position, separated from the protection of the Army, they went from day to day, and he escaped capture and wounds. Of course, he thought nothing of it, but it means a lot today to his friends.

In every relation in life, you found Uncle Murney Heath as true as steel (end of quote O.F.G.) Orpha

ROBERT ANDREW KELNER

Robert Andrew Kelner is a descendant of Peter Frantz, who came from Versailles, France in the early 1800's with his wife Teresa Marshall. They settled in Darke County and bought land from the government for $1.25 an acre. He founded and named Versailles after his homeland, donated land for the first school and Catholic church, and built the first bank barn in this section. One of their nine children, Anna, married John Henry Kelner, Jr. John Henry Kelner, Sr. came to America from Germany under an assumed name. His real name was Mueller. Due to the reluctance of his friend, John Henry Kelner, to make the voyage to America, Mr. Mueller used Kelner's passport. After arriving in America, he continued to use the name John Henry Kelner in fear of being deported. John, Jr. and Anna had fifteen children, one of which was Nicholas. Nicholas Andrew Kelner came to Mercer County at the age of eight to work for board and room on Charlie Fox's farm. He met and married Pearl Kinkley in 1900 and lived in a log cabin on a parcel of the 960 acre Palmer homefarm. Nicholas farmed all his life and was active in community affairs. He was township trustee for many years. Pearl Kinkley's ancestor, Robert Palmer, came to America with the followers of William Penn. Robert Palmer's son, Richard, worked for the government on an Indian reservation and traveled from Pennsylvania to Miami County in 1809, where he purchased half a section of land. He married Hanna Webb. Hanna's father, John, was stolen from England to man ships to America. Later Richard and Hanna moved to Mercer County and purchased 400 acres, one parcel was where Fort Adams stood, now owned by Frankie Hays, a descendant. Their twin sons, Joseph and Thomas Palmer, later sold an eighty acre farm to finance and build the Palmer Cemetery located on the Palmer farm, west of Mendon.

Their daughter, Parmelia, met her future husband, John McKaig, as he stopped one day for water at their spring. When he saw Parmelia in the window, he instantly fell in love with her and when his journey was over he returned to marry her. John and Parmelia's daughter, Jenny, married Christopher Kinkley and had six children, one of which was Pearl. Nicholas and Pearl Kelner had two sons, John Christopher (1913-1932), accidentally killed, and Robert Andrew (1915-). Robert Kelner graduated

Milton O. Krugh

KRUGH

The first member of the Krugh family to settle in Mercer County was Wm. H. Krugh, born to John and Mary (Miller) Krugh in Cumberland County

Penn. on Oct. 10, 1840.

In 1861 he came to Van Wert County to help on the Wm. Heath farm, but in a year he enlisted and was assigned to Co. A., 99th Regiment of Ohio Volunteer Infantry with whom he participated in many Civil War battles. When mustered out in 1865, he bought a farm in Van Wert County but in ten years he sold it and bought one in Mercer County, north and west of Mendon where he lived until he retired and moved into Mendon.

He had married Malissa J. Hays, daughter of Jackson and Eliza B. Hays of Van Wert. To them were born two daughters who died at ages three and five); and five sons, namely: Milton Orelzo (1868-1950); Orum H. (moved to LaGrange County in Indiana); Homer J. (1873-1960) a grocer in Mendon; Wm. E. (1877-1960) a farmer in Union Twp.; and Chancy R. (1881-1960) also a farmer in Union Twp.

Milton O. spent his adult life in the field of Education and public service. He obtained his education in the district schools and Mendon High School, the Normal School of Middlepoint, Ohio, and with study courses at home and summer courses at Oxford and Ohio Northern Colleges.

THE LEASOR FAMILY

Henry Leasor, the earliest generation of that family name to come to Mercer County, was born in Scotland in 1760, the son of William Leasor, and came to America in 1774 with his parents, the family settling near Richmond, Va. Both William and Henry served in the American Army during the Revolutionary War and each received a grant of land from the Commonwealth of Virginia in recognition of their services. William died in Virginia but Henry sold his farm and moved to Kentucky, settling near Nolin, in Hardin County in the early 1800's. He had nine children, five boys and four girls.

Two of his daughters married in Kentucky and moved to Mercer County following their marriages. Mary Elizabeth, born 1807, married Abram D. Murlin, and Lydia, born 1809, married Henry J. Patterson. An early history of Mercer County lists Abram Murlin as arriving in the county in November, 1828, and settling in Union Twp. While on a visit to his daughters homes in 1832, Henry Leasor was killed by a falling tree and was buried on the Murlin farm.

Henry William Leasor, Henry's youngest son, was born in Kentucky Oct. 31, 1819, moved west when a young man, where he obtained employment as a carpenter on a Mississippi River steamboat. The principal duty of the carpenter on board ship was to keep the 'buckets', the large planks on the stern paddle wheel, in repair. These buckets were subject to damage and breakage by the paddle wheel striking debris floating in the river.

He was married to Mary Ann Stewart Jan. 21, 1845 and settled in Richland Co., Illinois, where he continued in the carpentry profession. Four children were born to this family, John Henry, May 21, 1847; James, Sept. 16, 1849; Sarah Jane, Jan. 4, 1852 and Angeline, April 13, 1854. During this period Henry enlisted in and served with the American Army under Gen. Zachary Taylor in Mexico during the Mexican War.

Mary Ann Leasor died August 26, 1854 and baby Angeline died soon afterward. Henry brought his three surviving children to Mercer County to the homes of his sisters. He then purchased a farm northeast of Mendon in Sec. 11 of Union Twp. He married Elizabeth Parrott Sept. 7, 1856 and seven children were born to this marriage. None of this second family remain in Mercer County. Elizabeth Leasor died July 1, 1891 and Henry died June 25, 1892.

John Leasor made his home with the Abram Murlin family until he began 'working out' in 1861 and related many stories of this period to his own grandson, the author of this article, including remembering the grave of his grandfather, which, he said, was marked by a board marker during the period he lived there. The grave site is unknown at this time.

Sarah Leasor married John Oliver Protsman Sept. 7, 1873. Their children were William, Alice (Mrs. Alexander Drake), Elden, Ida (Mrs. Arthur Elsea), and Charles

John Leasor married Mary Clark, daughter of William and Mary (Wentz) Clark, Jan. 1, 1868. She was born Jan. 16, 1850. He built a home just east of Mendon on the Deep Cut Road and was employed for many years on the section crew of the C.H.&D. Railroad. To this family were born six children, Jarr Agnes (Mrs. Richard Deniston), Mary (Mrs. Je Burnett), William, Celia (Mrs. Samuel Garee) a John Wilbur, who became better known by his m dle name. Wilbur was born March 1, 1882. W Mary Leasor died May 25, 1909 and John died C 23, 1936.

James was thrown from a horse and killed at 1 age of 19, William died at the age of two.

Wilbur married Leona Macklin June 16, 1909. S was born May 21, 1884 in Hardin County, I daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Macklin. To the family were born Vernon, May 6, 1910; Velma (M. Stanley Purdy), June 22, 1912; Carl, June 18, 19, and Edna, June 3, 1916. Velma was born near Kebridge, Lunenberg Co., Va., where the family live for two years.

Wilbur first engaged in farming, then purchased general store in Monticello in 1919 and ran a huc ster route in connection with the store, first wagon and horses, then by truck, serving, amounther areas, much of the east half of Union Tow ship. In 1932 he became manager of the Mendo Service Grain Co., a grain elevator in Mendon, at was well known throughout the area it served. W bur died June 28, 1963 and his wife, Leona, die March 15, 1965.

FRED W. MAURER

Fred W. Maurer, J.B.'s second son, was born January 15, 1887, in Mendon. He spent his childhood in the family home on S. Main Street, attended Mendon grade school, and was graduated from Mendon gh School, class of 1906. Most of his spare time is spent working in the hardware, but he and his enage friends often found time for a few pranks. ortly after the commemorative Spanish-American ar cannon was placed in the town park, Fred and friends, using waste and gunpowder "borrowed" om the hardware, filled the cannon, aimed it tourd an imaginary enemy quartered in the Town ill across the street, and fired. No one was injured, that a few bricks from the hall were broken. The win fathers had the cannon filled with cement.

On June 23, 1910, Fred married Zua Ella Murlin of endon. She had been graduated from Mendon, ass of 1907. Following the birth of Vivian Murlin aurer and Amy Jeanette Maurer, Fred and Zua ilt a two-story house on S. Wayne Street, Menn. Later two more children were born, Betty Frans Maurer and John Fredrick Maurer. Today the aurer home is occupied by son John Maurer and mily.

The family followed a conventional pattern: Faer worked six days a week; Mother made her own d the children's clothes, canned, and baked. Suny mornings the family attended church; Sunday ternoons, borrowed the Grandfather's car to go for ride; and Sunday evening spent a very joyous oc-sion with the grandparents and aunts. Fred and Zua planned for their children's future. Ilowing graduation from Mendon High School, vian attended Miami University, taught school, arried Dana Schnarre of St. Marys. Amy attended ma Business College and married Tom Downey, ma. Betty was graduated from Miami Jacobs Busiss College and married Dean Mann, Illinois. John rved two years in the Army, graduated from Bowlg Green State University in 1949, and married aine Pumphrey, Celina.

In addition to managing the business, Fred was tive in public offices: for 20 years he served as erk for both the school board and the Union twiship Trustees. He was on the Board of Public ffairs for 15 years, and served a three-year term on e Town Council. Before his death in December, 164, he was presented a 50-year pin from the Menon F & AM Lodge.

Zua was active in the Methodist Church, Order of istern Stars, and Daughters of the American Revotion. She preceded her husband in death, December, 1957.

John F. Maurer and his son John Gregory Maurer e the only heirs to the J. B. Maurer name. John F. is been either associated or owner of the family isiness for twenty-nine years. In addition he has sen clerk for both the Mendon Corporation and ie Mendon-Union School Board; other public ofces included member of the Mendon-Union chool Board, and presently a member of the Merer County School Board and the Vantage School oard, Van Wert, Ohio. He is an active member of fendon's F & AM Masonic Lodge, Lions Club, and fendon Improvement Association.

He and his wife, Elaine, a teacher in the Mendon chools, have continued the family's interest in eduation. J. Gregory Maurer, a graduate of Adrian Colege, Michigan, is a teacher and coach at New Port ichey, Florida; daughter Heather Jo Maurer Pero, a raduate of Albion College, Michigan, is a teacher in fadison Heights, Mi., and youngest daughter, Heidi Children of John B. and Callie Maurer — Monroe Maurer, Fred W. Maurer, Anna Maurer Protsman, Margaret Maurer Pierce, Lucy Maurer Lutz, Clara Maurer Howick, Henry Maurer, Frances Maurer Tilton, Eleanor Maurer.

JOHN B. MAURER

The family tree of John B. Maurer, founder of Maurer's Hardware, Mendon, Ohio, dated to the 1600's in Grotzingen, Germany. There the occupations of Michel, Matthaeus, and Christian Maurer were listed as farmers and hospital workers. First to break tradition was Jacob Maurer, born 1789 in Grotzingen; his occupation was listed as "sailor." Jacob married Susanna Maaser of Wittenberg, Germany, and remained there until son Jacob was born in 1824. Shortly afterwards the family left Germany, arrived in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, and settled in Bolivar, Ohio.

Son Jacob helped his father farm, married Margaret Baad, and through the years 1855 to 1881, saw thirteen children born. John Maurer, second son, was born December 27, 1857, in Bolivar. He received his education in the Bolivar schools and then attended a boarding school at Smithville, near Wooster, Ohio, where he earned the equivalent of a high school education.

But John Maurer did not stay in eastern Ohio. His Uncle Christian Maurer, a farmer and landowner in Mercer County, Mendon, Ohio, wrote him "glowing accounts of the good, flat farmland in western Ohio, which was very good for growing corn, raising hogs and cattle." Mendon was soon to become the permanent home for John Maurer.

In the late fall of 1881, John Maurer returned to Bolivar to marry Callie Haglock. They were married on December 27, his birthday, and would live to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary in 1931. Following the marriage, John and Callie returned to Mendon and rented a farm on Main Street, south of Mendon. However, the continual failure of crops forced him to find another means of livelihood. Borrowing money from his father, John started a hardware business on the west side of Main Street in Mendon.

To distinguish between John and his cousin John W. Maurer, people called business man Maurer, Hardware John or Johnnie. Therefore John adopted the initial "B", his mother's maiden name was Baad, and became known ever after as J.B. Maurer. Descendants of these two men inheriting the name of "John" have likewise inherited the same identity problems.

When J.B.'s sons, Monroe and Fred, were old enough to help in the hardware business, J. B. found time to write insurance, serve as Notary Public, and make wills and deeds. Through his efforts and that of others, Mendon established a high school, first a three-year school and later changed to a four-year high school. Education held a high priority in J.B.'s life; five of his daughters attended college and taught school. Also J.B. served on the school board and a term as its president. He was active in forming a Lyceum Association in Mendon, an association which contracted good talent to perform at the Mendon Town Hall. Such performances included New York Opera Companies, orchestras, magicians, and lecturers. Often performers had dinner and stayed overnight at the Maurer household. The charming and suave Buffalo Bill was one visitor the Maurer children especially enjoyed and remembered.

J. B. and his wife were members of the Mendon Methodist Church; J. B. taught a men's Bible class for thirty-five years. He also served as church trea-

J. B. and Callie were parents of nine children: Anna Maurer Protsman, Monroe Maurer, Fred W. Maurer, Margaret Maurer Pierce, Clara Maurer Howick, Lucy Maurer Lutz, Henry Maurer, Frances Maurer Tilton, and Eleanor Maurer. Elaine Maurer

"MOM"

Today, May 24, 1978, Grace Miller, 202 North Green St., Mendon, is 87 years old. Each year she looks forward to Memorial weekend when many relatives and friends go to her house for a basket dinner and visiting.

She was born to John and Caroline (Stallbaum) Schwarck in Butler Township. On November 1, 1911, she was united in marriage with Berlin B. Miller, Montezuma, son of John O. and Nettie (Stafford) Miller. He retired from Lima Locomotive Works in 1955 and died April 5, 1961.

Grace and Berlin had 8 children: Mrs. Vane (Irene) Mills, Ellwell, Michigan; Mrs. Joe (Dorothy) Boyer, Mendon; Twila Miller, Mendon; Berlin O. (Jack) Mendon; Mrs. Ralph (Darrah) High, Mendon; Mrs. Harold (Marilyn) Meihls, Alma, Michigan; Emmett, Seymour, Indiana; and Mrs. Norbert (Druella) Sutter, Celina. There are 23 grandchildren, 5 step grandchildren, 38 great grandchildren, 6 step great grandchildren, and 24 in-laws, a family of 104. There has been only one death — a prematurely born great grand daughter.

Many people have lived in the Miller home from time to time, including Grace's parents, and her brother-in-law, Vane Miller, who resided there for 9 years until his death January 30, 1973. Young people who needed a place to spend the night after a game or play practice were always welcome. Over the years friends and relatives have enjoyed food from her garden, and from her kitchen, especially Home Made Bread. She helped prepare food for the Mendon Band Stand at the Fair for over 30 years.

Grace is "MOM" to many. Truly, her happiness in life has been, and will forever be, doing for oth-

MARVIN E. RICE AND HELEN (RICE) TAYLOR

Jacob Roller, born in Wurttemburg, Germany in 1724 of Huguenot parents, not finding sufficient outlet for his adventurous spirits in his native country or not caring for the restriction of a soldier, with his young wife, Mary sailed for America, the land of adventure and freedom. They landed in Philadelphia Aug. 28, 1750. They took the usual Oath of Allegiance to the king of England. Afterwards, moving to what is now York Co, Pa. Here they raised a family of seven sons and two daughters. Evidently the hunting and fishing were being washed up in their community and as he possessed an "itching toe" and his feet were full of the "wander lust" he could no longer resist the call of adventure, beckoning from the land of the "setting sun" beyond the mountains. So, about 1775 they came to Bedford Co., and took out a patent for a tract of land. 370 acres of virgin forest where he and his sons cleared a farm and built a log cabin. Later the cabin was enlarged and surrounded with a strong stockade and known as Ft. Roller. There were many onsets of Indians and many alarms were reported, among the sixty or seventy families now living in log cabins, and neighbors gathered here for protection. In 1781 Jacobs' son, Jacob Jr. and a friend returned home from the Fort to look after their crops and were ambushed, murdered, and scalped, their bodies left laying in a cornfield.

Within the period of 1803 — 1814 five of the Roller brothers, John, Michael, Baltzer, Henry, and Caleb migrated west to Ohio, settling in the newly formed County of Columbiana near Washington-ville, Ohio. Only one other family lived in the area. John had a son, Jacob Jr. who married Michaels' daughter, Susan March 30, 1809 and their son, John R. Roller married Susanna Fox. This union are the direct ancesters of the Mercer County Rices.

John R. and Susanna lived on a farm in Goshen Twp. Mahoning Co in 1850. In 1865, with their eight children, Martha, Albert, Allen F., Urban C., Joseph Martin, Mary Jane, John M. and George Wilson, moved to Van Wert, Co, Ohio, nearly 200 miles in a covered wagon. The trip took nine days. Their ninth child was born soon after and died at the age of four. Susanna and John R. are buried in the Wright Cemetery near Elgin, Ohio. John lived only eleven months after, leaving Susanna with eight minor children. She survived her husband by 40 years and died at the age of 85. Her daughter, Martha married Silas Rice and to this union were born William H. Rice, Otley O. Rice, Hulda J. (Rice) Protsman. A son, Shirley died in infancy. Martha, died in 1877 leaving the 9 year-old son, William, 3 year old Huldah, and our father, Otley, 2. Susanna raised the grandchildren, William and Otley, Mary Jane (Roller) Wentz raised Huldah.

Otley O. Rice married Harriet R. Goodwin Dec.

25, 1903 and became the parents of Marvin E., Martha Caroline (Rice) Harden, Helen E. (Rice) Taylor, Dolores E. (Rice) Jerome, Willis L. died in 1934 at age of 19. Marvin and Helen live on adjoining farms west of Mendon, Ohio. Marvin retired from Erie Railroad in 1970. Helen E. Taylor

Gerald and Edith Sutton

GERALD SUTTON

History of the Gerald & Edith Sutton family farm located just south of Hamilton Road and ton Road in Union Township, Mercer County.

Gerald was born to Charles and Iva Sutton on cember 18, 1905 in Van Wert County. Edith born September 29, 1911 to Cress and Sarah Born Van Wert County. We were married in Ohio on June 18, 1927. To this union were born: Ne Cincinatti; Carol wife of Lem Mosier, Van VOH; Paul of Vandalia, MO; Ray of Rockford Ethel wife of Richard Fackler, Convoy OH; James Rome NY; Alice wife of Larry Krick, Mendon Sylvia wife of Gary Miller, Tipp City OH.

We had started farming in Van Wert County moved to this location in the spring of 1938.' farm was formerly known as the "Yoemen" f and then the "Rhoades" farm. We rented at firs acres here from the Aetna Life Insurance Co.

Gertrude Einfalt bought the farm from th out 1940. About 1942 she bought 38 acres just to e east of the 63 acres, making a total of 101 acres. 1944, we bought the farm from Gertrude.

As soon as we arrived here the Anderson Bethel lks welcomed us into the church family where we tended for many years.

Looking back over those lean years we are gratel for the generosity afforded us here in the comunity. Harry Stevens, our neighbor, gave us three ads of good alfalfa hay as we helped them in hayg time. Often the ladies of the community gave us of the children which Edith altered as reded.

As our family was growing up and helping, we tilt a general grain and stock farming operation ith hogs, chickens and milk cows. The fields gradully improved in production with proper rotations. tildings were added and others improved as reded.

Simon Clay and I went out on occasions and inted and did carpenter work to supplement our come. I also sold seed corn and fertilizer for seval years.

We remember that our relatives and friends elped us move in here as they did in those days.

his road was a mud road and muddy.

The children walked across a field to the Lampy's get on a school bus. I asked the township trustee get us a pike. He replied I should move out. Hower in about a year we noticed surveyors measuring the road and soon we had a pike! Now we have a ice paved road!

About 1960 we purchased 80 acres just north and est of Hamilton-Dutton Road crossing, known as the Fidelis Small Farm. It was owned by Charles lalfhill for many years. It changed hands several mes and we bought it from John Barber. Larry and lice Krick lived in the house several years. Then they sold it to Danny Huey and family, who reside the term of the house several years.

We are especially grateful to God for all his blessigs thru the years we have lived here in the Menon community. Gerald Sutton

CHARLES B. THOMPSON

Charles B. Thompson and Ella Mastin Thompson came from Preble County to Mercer County in 1881, and settled in Mercer. Mr. Thompson operated the saw mill and tile mill for a short time with Mr. Graham and later operated the business himself. He was also associated with J. F. Disher in the grain business.

The Thompsons had four daughters. Mabel was married to Harle L. Bolton, a resident of Mercer. They moved to the former Stump farm, west of Mendon. Ethel was married to Morris Tullis, a resident of Mercer, and they moved to the present Kimmel farm near Mercer. Ruby was married to Henry Bietry and they moved to a farm on Mercer Road, later moving to Indiana. Ruth Thompson passed away at an early age.

Harle L. and Mabel Thompson Bolton spent most of their life as farmers, west of Mendon on the Stump and Yocum farms (now owned by Robert Fetters and Lowell Walls). They were parents of two daughters, Dorothy who died when a baby and Miriam who married John Upton Brown.

John U. and Miriam Bolton Brown lived in Mendon where they owned and operated a laundromat for several years. Miriam was a teacher in Mercer, Auglaize and Allen Counties. They were parents of a son, Richard, who is married to the former Jennelle Van Tilburg.

Richard B. and Jennelle Van Tilburg Brown are residents of St. Marys. Richard is employed at Crown Controls, New Bremen, in the drafting department and Jennelle is a teacher in New Knoxville School. They are parents of three children, Scott, Steven and Nancy, all students in St. Marys High School.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP

This township is bounded on the north by Liberty Township, on the east by Jefferson and Butler Townships, on the south by Recovery Township, and on the west by the state of Indiana. It contains 36 square miles. It is crossed from south to north by the Wabash River, while across the northeast corner flows the Beaver Creek. These form sufficient courses of natural drainage and the township is rapidly improving all of its agricultural features. The population is largely of German descent and are industrious and enterprising.

Washington Township was organized March 5, 1838, and the first election was held at the house of George Arbaugh, on April 2, 1838, when the following officers were elected: Trustees — James Schoonover, David Trexler, and James Q. Grimes; Clerk-William Nichols; constable-Peter Stevens; overseers of the poor-John Dixon and George Armstead; Fence viewers-Edward Dixon and Samuel Freeman, Jr.; Supervisor-Justin Stevens; and treasurer-George Arbaugh. The present township officers are as follows: Trustees — Ralph Heyne — chairman of the board, lerry Laffin — vice chairman, Jerry Powell and Rose Mary Wenning, clerk.

In 1886, the township contained 8,933 acres of arable land, 2,577 acres of meadow land, and 11,347 acres of woodland — a total of 22,857 acres, valued with the buildings at $362,345. In 1906, the assessor made the following returns: acres of cultivated land, 10,364. acres of pasture land, 6,592. acres of woodland, 2,793. acres of waste land, 405. The population of the township in 1880 was 1384; in 1890, 1,617 and in 1900, 1,487. In 1970, the last census taken, the population was 1261. Total valuation of the township ship in 1978 was $9,836,230.

Speculator's Land

The lands in the township were nearly all entered between the years of 1836 and 1840 and the larger racts were entered by parties who never lived in the county and they were called speculators. In section I, David Cathcart entered 641 acres in 1839. He never lived on the land. Jefferson Walters, who lived in Dayton, Ohio, entered 320 acres in 1878. He never lived in the county.

Pioneers

Most of the early settlers entered land in 40, 80 and 160-acre tracts. Among the first settlers in the ownship were John Boley, John Betz, Samuel Arraugh, David Harrod, E. A. Hillary, William Spriggs, W. Fishpaw, Peter McMillen, Joseph Loughridge, David Houston, William B. Wilson, Daniel Freeman, ohn Dixon, William Loughridge, Amos Dixon, H. Davidson, William Davidson, Joseph Davidson, George L. Adair, Henry Fortman, William C. Armtead, Samuel McDowell, Richard Scott, Thomas Llinton and Adam Miller.

The township contains 4 small towns, Erastus, Macedon, Wabash, and Padua (St. Anthony).

ERASTUS

At the cross roads of St. Anthony and Erastus-Durbin Roads, which is located approximately 6 miles northwest of Coldwater and in Washington Twp. stands the hamlet of Erastus which was originated a little over a hundred years ago. In 1875, James C. Snyder set up a saw mill at that location. After a brief stay he returned to his native home in Darke Co. to resume farming. A Mr. Murphy leased the mill and operated it until 1881 when Mr. Snyder returned to continue the operation of the mill. The town was almost like a lumber camp. The planed lumber was hauled by horses and wagons to Willshire each day where it was placed on a train for Cincinnati and other points.

James C. Snyder was the father of 2 daughters: Florence, wife of Orville Ashcraft, and Vern, wife of Roy Kester and one son Leroy Snyder.

During the time the mill was operated by Mr. Murphy it became known as the Burg which eventually became Murphysburg, which it is still called quite often. Besides the mill there were 2 stores, 2 tile mills, a carpenter shop, a blacksmith shop and a saloon. The saloon had a short stay. There were also a school and a Methodist Episcopal Church. The church was erected in 1879 and the first pastor was Rev. W. S. Philpot. The school still stands. After the school was closed it was purchased by the church and used for social activities. For 5 years Mr. Snyder also operated the tile mill.

One of the stores was owned by a widow, Mrs. Walker, who had 3 sons. The post office was established in their store. When the government wrote and asked the name of the town, one of the Walker boys, who's name was Erastus sent in his own name and that is how it received its name. On Aug. 21, 1880 the small town was forming in the neighborhood and Mr. Snyder sold 10 acres of his farm, on which tract the town of Erastus now stands. In later years, Mrs. Mary Ellen (Hassan) Dixon, widow of William B. Dixon, operated the only store left which sold groceries and a variety of other things for many years. Her children were: Russell, John, William, Walter and Bessie, wife of Dr. Clarence Adams. She loved fruit trees and felt that every family should have some. She was an exceptional cook and braided rugs. She was robbed one time and the robbers took off with other things several of her braided rugs. She had the store until illness shortly before her death in the late 1930's. Following her, Oran Crouch owned the store for a short time, then Sherman Adams bought the store and later Bruce Adams continued the business until his death in 1965 when the business closed. While the Adams' owned the business there was also a stock yard. Then Mrs. Robert Imel operated a beauty shop in the former grocery for a brief time. Now it stands

The lovely brick church still holds worship services. While the businesses have ceased there are probably a dozen nice homes in the area.

ST. ANTHONY PARISH

St. Anthony Church, of rural Ft. Recovery, was established in the summer of 1853, when a group of men, namely, John H. Wichelman, Anton Schnett, Henry Fortman and John Stelzer convinced Father Albrecht, pastor of St. Joseph Church, that they should have their own parish church. Father Albrecht then obtained permission from Archbishop Purcell of Cincinnati for the parish to proceed in the building of a new church.

First of all, two acres were donated to the parish for the church by John Henry Wichelman. Immediately these two acres were deeded to the Archdiocese of Cincinnati, and then a meeting was called of all the men in the parish to inform them of the good news, and to ask for four dollars a piece to help defray the cost of the building. The following were present who also paid five dollars: Henry Schroer, John H. Wichelman, John Stelzer, John Weigel, Vincent Stark, John Driller, Louis Wichelman, Anton Schnett, Ignatius Rauh and Henry Fortman. When new members came into the parish, they too were asked to give four dollars a family.

About the year 1874, it became evident to the pastor, Fr. Wilhelmi, that the log church was so deteriorated, that a new church would have to be built. The people too were aware of this and by this time had decided to change the location of this new church. In the year 1852, the new school board of the Washington district had built the first public school in the south east corner, surrounded by forest for the most part. So when the new church was to be built, the people decided to have the new church as near as possible to the school and so constructed it on the south west corner, where it is now. The parish now needed two acres which belonged to Henry Wellman but he did not consent to donate it to the parish. In order to circumvent the problem, Gerhard Homan offered to give two acres to Henry Wellman, who in turn gave the two acres to the parish.

Father Wilhelmi invited Mr. Anton De Curtins to be the architect of the new church. At this time, with little money available, the new church would be built without steeples nor with any architectura beauty. But one thing was necessary and that was stone foundation. Mr. De Curtins was well ac quainted with a stone quarry near Piqua, Ohio where the lime stone was quite hard, and wa known as "Blue Stone". After this foundation ston had been cut and prepared according to specifical tions, it was shipped via canal to St. Mary's, Ohic and by lake boats to Celina. The boats then docke on the present Main St. in Celina, and the founda tion stone for St. Anthony Church was laid on th present Logan St. This stone was very heavy an could be taken to St. Anthony only when the eart was frozen hard.

Also, at this time, many good trees were cut du ing the winter, the logs of which were taken to th building site, and destined to be used for the sca folding and for the support of the roof. It was i 1874 that the contractor and his men laid the four dation and began laying the bricks. Finally the tim came for laying of the corner stone! Father Wilheln invited the Provincial of the Society of the Preciou Blood, Father Bernard Austerman, to officiate. Th Mass servers were; Joseph Fortman, Ignatius Rau (later a C.PP.S. priest) and Ben Muhlenkamp. F Austerman began the celebration by offering a Hig Mass with the priests and people in the old lo church. After Mass, everyone formed a processio to the place of the blessing of the corner stone, pray ing aloud all the way. A tin box was placed insid the corner stone and Gibhard Fritz placed in it th following items: a penny, a two cent piece, a thre cent piece, some paper money; also a copy of th Celina Standard and one copy of a German newspa per, the "Folksfreund". The "official papers" wer also enclosed. After the services, the priests went t the home of Henry Fortman for dinner, while th visiting relatives and friends were invited to variou homes in the parish.

FINISHING OF THE CHURCH: The parish con tinued to grow and flourish, and times seemed t improve. The pastor thought he could at last finis the interior of the new church. In early summer c 1880 he hired Mr. Perry Betz to plaster the interior but first it was necessary to nail plaster lath onto th ceiling, with the help of Harm Burke, the hodcarrie After all this was completed, Mr. Betz hired Joe Fort man to mix the mortar, even though he was bu fourteen years of age. New pews were made by An ton De Curtins in Carthagena, Ohio, replacing th old pews brought from the old church. Also new al tars were purchased in 1879 from the J. Schroede Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio at a cost of six hundred dol lars. And, at this time, the system of pew rent wa initiated, but the system was more difficult to sel than the selling of the pews.

BLESSING OF THE NEW CHURCH: In 1880 Th Provincial, Father Bernard Austerman, came to bles the church in the presence of many neighboring clergy. In the afternoon, Father Austerman himsel gave the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, and upon returning to the sacristy, he broke the same news to Father Wilhelmi that he was about to leave St. Anthony's. This came as a shock to all the people of the parish who respected him highly. He was long remembered for all the fine work he did. Fathe Wilhelmi died in the year 1893 at Maria Stein Con vent.

SAINT ANTHONY

Saint Anthony is located in Washington Township on State Route 49 and Saint Anthony Road, six miles north of Fort Recovery and one mile east of the Ohio-Indiana State line. The village was originally called Padua, after the Saint, Saint Anthony of Padua. The village was settled in the 1830's by German Immigrants. Lutheran neighbors helped them build the log church in 1853. A quarter mile north of the intersection of State Route 49 and Saint Anthony Road is the cemetery belonging to these early settlers.

Today, there is a grain mill, a supermarket, restaurant, and church. The school, which was built in the 1940's, was closed in the spring of 1978. Students now attend the Coldwater Schools.

I REMEMBER WABASH

It has been 28 years since I was first introduced to Wabash. I remember moving into what I just knew was the biggest and most handsome house in town. It had an open staircase and more rooms than any house dare have. We had a buckeye tree out front and a small pasture field to the south of the house. Mom thought it would be a good idea to buy a cow so we could have fresh milk. It was fine until the cow ate something she wasn't suppose to, got so bloated, she just laid down and died. The Montague family live there now.

To the south of us lived Sylvia Kinnison, known to the neighbors as "Grandma." She was short, with white hair and I was sure that any artist who drew a picture of a grandma for story books must have used her as a model. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jannings now own the house.

Across the street and to the south was Iva and Lionel Gibbons. She had a most precious gift, that of being a pianist. She brought much joy to many people, whether playing for church, a wedding or just for the sheer enjoyment of sitting down on a summer's afternoon with the windows open and letting the music drift through the neighborhood. Mr. Gibbons and son Miles still occupy the house.

Next to Gibbons was Willis and Miriam Shirk. As a small girl, I thought "Shirky" was the meanest man I could ever know, but as I grew older I found him to be a kind and gentle man. Shirky was lineman for the Wabash Mutual Telephone Company and Miriam was the telephone operator. Those were the days of the switchboard and crank telephones. They ran the company until the family of Carl and Verlie Gertz moved in with their two children, Connie and Billie.

These two became very valued and trusted friends. One of our favorite things to do on a hot summer day was to walk down to Harry Lehman's Store on the corner of Wabash Rd. and St. Rt. 29 and get a nickle popsicle. If we were lucky enough to have a dime, we would get a nickle Coke and 5¢ bag of peanuts. Harry's store had any essential you might need for existence from food to hardware. If a husband turned up missing, his wife knew she could find him at the store sitting on a wood bench, fanning himself in the summer, or cuddling up to the coal stove in the winter, shooting the breeze with the other husbands. Harry's store has long been gone, but we now have Wabash Store owned by Dale Schroyer. Although it has modern conveniences like air conditioning and forced air heaters, it still has the essentials from food to hardware to husbands sitting on the wood benches catching up on the latest gossip.

The main social event of the year was the Farmer's Institute. This was a two day affair beginning on Friday with the judging of the home baked goods by area women, speeches, singing, lunch served by the Unity Grange, spelling contests, poster contests by area school children and climaxing on Saturday evening with the traditional three act play. Almost as traditional as the play was the director, Clarence La-Rue. He held that position for as far back as I can remember. My one great ambition at age 9 was to be asked to be in the play, but it was not to be fulfilled until I married the director's son. The Town Hall is still standing but its only visitors now are mice and birds.

A near tragedy occurred at the William and Susie Crouch home on the west end of Wabash. A semi tractor and trailer travelling east hit the bridge, lost control and veered into the Crouch house, destroying everything in its way. The Crouch's were in bed at the time. The truck missed the bed by two feet and the only injuries were a bruised knee and a scratch caused by a falling beam. A lifetime collection of mementoes, photos and furniture were destroyed. A new house was erected several years back from the original site and is now owned by the Carl Pond family. The Ed and Lizzie Kittle house just west of the Crouch house was also moved back and has since been torn down.

Wabash boasted two churches. The Congregational Christian Church, now known as the Wabash Church of Christ, is still in existence with the Rev. Lisle Schmidt preaching the Gospel from the pulpit every Sunday morning. The Tabernacle has long been phased out and the building is now being used for storage, by the Floyd Brehm family who live in the house once owned by the Carl Coate family.

The back part of Carl and Toni Eischen's house was once a small store owned by Louie Crouch, Jr. and Madella Teeters moved it to its present site on Wabash Road just south of Bob and Vi Shirk. Bob owns the body shop south of the telephone office and Vi and son Dane work in the telephone office.

Another son, Dennis and wife Kathy and two children live in the house once owned by Cora Bet. Vernon and Verna Alice Schaadt live in the house across the road from Bob Shirk. The house and the Schaadts are as young looking as I remember ther 28 years ago.

Ida Kettering, the oldest resident of Wabash, stilives in the stately white house on the south side of 29 right next door to Louie and Margaret Crouck Louie was the jack-of-all trades. He could do any thing from fixing a bicycle tire to running a restau rant to shearing sheep.

Ruby Smith owned the building which is nov Leininger's Auction. Rudy used it as a sheep barn and it was great fun when shearing time camaround.

Some of the other residents I remember were Ot and Emma Leininger. He was a woodworker. Botl are now deceased and their home was destroyed by fire a few years back. Their son, Noel, wife Cora and family live in the house north of the church. "Doc' Fishbaugh and Sophia lived just south of the church Their home has since been torn down. Next to them was their son, Stanley, wife Dorothy and Larry. Do is still living in the house. Arthena Pearson lives in a mobile home on the land where Rose Bushor's house once stood.

The newly weds of Wabash were Neal and Mary Boley. They still live in their original house with Larry and Judy. Across the street in the Schroyer house, the Monroe Carroll family lives and next to them is the Bill Reedy family.

On the southwest corner of Wabash Rd. and 29 live Marlin, Marcella and Marvin Hammitt. Their present home was once owned by Laura Enyart West of Hammitt's is the John Hamshire family. remember the house when the Vernon Enyart family lived there. Next is the unoccupied house once owned by Rudy Smith. The Charles Ward family lives where the Arlie Crouch family lived for many years and Calvin Fennig owns the next two homes. The small house where Bill and Pearl Hull lived is now owned by Bob and Marcia Hainline. They also own and live in the next house which once belonged to Harry Lehman. Anna and Albert Schroyer owr the next home. Albert is deceased but Anna stil lives there with her son Dale. What was once known as the Knox home is now owned and occupied by Mrs. Elwin Duerr, Kelly and Tim.

I was once told that long ago when a small village sprang up, its growth and prosperity depended or how close a railroad came to it. Wabash started or the premise that the railroad was destined to come very close by. It had a post office, shoe shop, black-smith, hotel and general store. But, the fickle railroad went by way of Celina, Coldwater and Fort Recovery instead, letting these towns grow more rapidly than Wabash.

But, small as it was, it did not escape from crime and gossip. In the mid 1800's, the post office and general store were robbed on the same day. In the late 1800's a wife reported her husband missing. He was later found in Muncie, Indiana with a much richer and younger woman.

Wabash is now a sleepy community where most drivers don't bother to slow down as they drive through, but the people who live here are as real as you could find living anywhere. by Sharon LaRue

Green rganized the Church with 10 charter members amely Joseph Doner, Emily Doner, William AcCain, Rebecca McCain, Nathaniel Faught, Harriet aught, Allen Wishon, Christiana Wishon, Polly Ammon, and Mary Ammon. They began by having hurch service once each month on Saturday night, junday and Sunday night. Later on as the church rew they decided to arrange for services two Sunlays of each month, and at present time services are onducted each Sunday morning.

In 1881 Joe Doner, William McCain and George Long were appointed to a committee to locate property on which to construct a church. A lot was ourchased from Godfrey and Milligan on July 24,

.882 as a building site.

Louis Spriggs was elected in 1890 to raise money o buy a Bible for the church. In 1909 church mempers secured a piano for the church by selling subcriptions to the Daily Standard.

A circuit was formed in 1913 with the Ft. Recovery Christian Church and the Wabash Christian Church idopted the by-laws of the Ft. Recovery church.

Extensive improvements were made on the thurch in 1916. The furnace room was excavated ind a furnace installed, stained glass windows were nstalled, the elevated floor was built and carpeted, and the church was redecorated and painted. The otal cost was $2,142.44. Then in 1919 a new Delco ighting system was installed.

In 1920 the Wabash Christian Church gave $1,-270.00 to the Forward Movement of the Christian Church. This was the largest single benevolence gift n the history of the church.

The year 1925 saw the lighting system hooked to the Dayton Power and Light Co. lines.

By the year 1930 the Wabash Christian Church nad served the community for 50 years. This was also the year of the Congregational and Christian merger. The Wabash Christian Church became the Wabash Congregational Christian Church.

The year 1941 saw a major remodeling of the church. The basement was completed under the entire church to serve as a fellowship hall and Junior Sunday school. A new roof was installed along with a new forced air heating system.

The church severed its relations with the Eastern Indiana Conference in 1946 and was admitted to the Southwestern Association of the Ohio Conference in 1947. A house and lot were also purchased in 1947 for the parsonage. The house was sold and removed from the lot and a new house was built on the lot in 1948.

In 1954 two rest rooms were added to the basement and a new hard wood floor was installed in the basement.

The church installed a domestic water system and water heater in the church and purchased a new combination piano-organ in 1955. This same year the church celebrated its 75th anniversary on October 30th with a carry in dinner and an afternoon program.

The union of the Congregational Christian Church and the Evangelical and Reformed Churches took place in 1957. It was not until 1961 that the constitution for the new denomination was approved and the name of the denomination would be the United Churches of Christ. The Wabash Congregational Christian Church voted on September 12, 1962 to join the merger and to change its name to the Wabash United Church of Christ.

In 1960 an arch was constructed between the chancel and the congregation, the pews were painted and the church repapered.

The combination piano-organ was traded in on a new piano and a new organ in 1962.

The church was transferred from the Southwestern Association district to the Northwestern Association district in 1963.

In 1970 the church purchased the former Dr. Byran Fishbaugh property just south of the church for a parking lot.

The church walls and attic were insulated in 1975 and in 1978 the outside walls were covered with aluminum siding and all exterior wood was repainted.

Other organizations within the church are 7 Sunday School Classes and the Womens Fellowship.

THE ERASTUS UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The church bell rings every Sunday morning at the little brick church on the northwest corner of Erastus-Durbin and St. Anthony Roads in Section # 14 of Washington Township. It calls to worship members and friends of the Erastus United Methodist Church.

The early Methodist congregation first began meeting in a school building at the corner of State Route 219 and Erastus-Durbin Road known as Bethel Corners around 1851. We find there Christians, Quakers, Methodists, and Negros from Carthagena who took turns holding meetings in the Bethel School House.

Along about 1884 the Methodists of Bethel Corner erected a frame church on the southeast corner which was a portion of the Patton farm. That Methodist Church was a part of the Ft. Recovery Charge whose ministers served both the church at Ft. Recovery and at Bethel and later at Washington Chapel, located 2 miles west and ½ mile south of Wabash on the southwest corner of Schroeder Road and State Route 49. The Methodist Class at Bethel was made up of Florences, Millers, Bennets, Cormacks, Dixons, and Coles. Time passed — some members died, others moved and the church ceased to function. Some members affiliated with other churches or simply remained at home.

Meanwhile, 2 miles further north at Erastus some Methodist families, namely Evans, Cavender, Clayton, Plummer, Howell, Kelley, Rice, Kennard, Franks, together with some Christians of other denominations organized a Sunday School which was held in the schoolhouse. Methodist ministers from Ft. Recovery came out and held the Church Services. J. C. Snider, farmer and saw mill operator, donated land and money to which others contributed, and a hall was erected as a worship center and for other community meetings. Unfortunately, this did not prove to be a harmonious congregation and some withdrew from this work.

Soon those folks joined with those Methodists formerly from Bethel and it was agreed to move the old Bethel Church building to the southern edge of Erastus in 1891. The land was donated for this purpose by a "Billy" Cole. In a short time all animosities were cleared away and great crowds thronged to the church. In 1908, with a Rev. Butler in charge, a subscription list was begun and promoted largely by Mrs. Belle Howell. The necessary money was raised and in 1909 the present brick structure was erected on land given by Mrs. Catherine Scott at a cost of approximately $5000.00.

About that time the Presbyterian Church 2 miles west of Macedon was discontinued. Families who joined the Erastus group were: McMillan, Milles, Leiningers, Swarts, Moores, Grier, and Pattons.

When the one room school system was disbanded in Washington Township in 1939 the school building and grounds adjacent to the church were purchased at a cost of $163.00 to be used as a Community and Recreation Hall.

In 1949 the church interior was extensively remodeled, the Community Hall improved, and grounds landscaped at a cost of approximately $4000.00. The exterior of the building has neve been altered. Most recently storm windows have been installed to protect the beautiful stained glas windows, new furnace and chimney and roof in stalled, and remodeling of the vestibule. A new pi ano was given in memory of a former member.

The Church is presently a two point charge with Ft. Recovery United Methodist Church and pastored by Reverend Charles Michael Madison, a student a Dayton Theological Seminary who came to the church from Jackson, Mississippi, with his wife Margaret, and daughter, Laura. The parsonage is located beside the church in Ft. Recovery.

Church officers are: Trustees; Walter Young Richard May, Glen Florence, Jr., Mrs. John McMillan, John Moore, Miss Mary Ann Kittle, Victor Kittle, Lyle Adams, James M. May; Organists: Mrs Paul (Lois) Brown and Mrs. John (Lela) McMillan Sunday School Superintendent; Larry Florence; Sunday School Teachers are: Richard Berkenstock Nancy Florence, Tom McMillan, and Sharor McMillan.

Some of the yearly events are: Bible School, Sour Supper and Auction, Old Fashioned Ice Cream Social, Summer Volleyball Teams which compete with teams from other county Churches.

Families connected with the Church at this time are: Adams, Boley, Berkenstock, Brown, Buckloh Florence, Kittle, Henkle, Sloan, Gosset, Johnson Moore, McMillan, May, Toler, Young, Yaney, and Shively.

ST. PAUL EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church traces its beinnings back to the year 1861. Early in that year, a lumber of Lutheran families began to conduct serices in an old log school house one half mile south of Wabash on land where the church cemetery now tands. On February 4, 1861, the people organized as congregation and adopted a constitution, calling hemselves The Evangelical St. Paul's Lutheran Conregation of Washington Township. This became he first Protestant church in Washington Townhip. The original constitution still serves as a basis ind backbone of the present one, pointing to the reat faith of people in God's Work. Family names of those who first signed it included: Leininger, labe, Kantzer, Menchhofer, Fennig, Konrath and Maurer. Most of these names or decendants of them re still very prominent on the church roster. Even he long absent name of Maurer once again appears vith the addition of Rev. Dennis Maurer, no relation o early Maurer's, our present pastor.

In July 1873, a new frame church was dedicated and the following year the first organ was purhased. During the next eight years we were served by three different pastors, all who lived in Chattanoga, Ohio and served several parishes. Rev. W.G. Nicol became the first resident pastor in 1882.

All went well with the congregation during these early years and her growth steadily progressed. Then on May 14, 1886 a terrible tornado ripped thru Washington Township and wrecked scores of buildings, among them St. Paul's church and School. Unlaunted by the great loss the church fathers decided o rebuild, but at a new location. After some consideration it was decided to construct a new church on it. Anthony Road where the present church now tands. The second church was dedicated on December 16, 1886.

During these years worship was conducted in the German language. Consequently many of the youth ittended only Sunday School. This led to discussions in 1883 and again in 1908, the year the church was incorporated, to use both English and German n the worship service. On January 1, 1915 it was decided to have two Sundays of English and one of German, and in 1919 German services were discon-

inued altogether. During the Great Depression it was decided the ime had come to build a new house of worship. April 5, 1931 marked the last services in the second thurch at its old location and it was moved west a ew feet the following day, and later sold for $75.00. Digging of the basement of the present church began May 4, 1931. Thirty-five men donated labor, eams etc. for this big undertaking and the cornerstone was laid June 21, 1931. The new structure cost approximately $15,000 and all debts were cleared in 1943. Since the dedication many improvements have been made, including a complete redecorating in 1956, added parking, the building of a lovely brick anch style parsonage and most recently new carpetng throughout the sanctuary.

We have been very fortunate over the years to have had good pastors. One of the sons of a former Pastor is Dr. Fred Meuser who is presently Vice President of the American Lutheran Church and President of Trinity Lutheran Seminary in Columbus, Ohio. We are also blessed in that one of the sons of our congregation was called into the ministry of the church. The Rev. Ivan Menchhofer, grandson of one of the signers of the first constitution, served as a pastor of the ALC for over forty years until his recent retirement. Also among our membership as an "adopted son of the congregation" is the Rev. G. F. Shoup, whose wife's grandmother was in one of the first recorded confirmation classes in 1866. Our faith in our Lord and our emphasis on the word and sacraments has contributed to the warm friendly atmosphere of this church on the banks of the Wabash River.

The congregation has organizations to serve the needs and desires of every group: Junior Lutherans, Luther League, Young Adult League, ALC Women, Junior and Senior Choirs and Sunday School classes for all ages. Throughout its history St. Paul Congregation has been blessed by the hand of the ever present Lord. Without his spiritual guidance we would not have been able to stand united as a real congregation the past 117 years.

WABASH GARAGE, INC.

Not everyone is fortunate enough in a lifetime to see their dreams come true and their goals fulfilled. For Phil LaRue, however, owner of Wabash Garage. Inc., the dream has come true, and as soon as one goal is reached, another one is immediately being

The seed for the garage was planted in the early sixties while working on cars and farm machinery at night for surrounding friends and neighbors, and working for the telephone company during the day. A truck accident resulted in Mr. LaRue's being put in a body cast for several months. With this inability to climb telephone poles, he decided to strike out on his own. Thus, in the year 1968, Wabash Garage became a reality. The payroll consisted of just Phil and a very good friend who helped out at nights. The object of the garage was minor repair to cars and pickups and light duty wrecker service. The garage was housed in the front half of the existing barn on the LaRue land just west of Wabash on Ste. Rte. 29. Since the work area was small (two cars at a time) many customers had to wait. Because they did this so graciously, the garage grew rapidly. First, adding one full time employee, then two, until today, there are twenty people on the payroll. The wrecker service which had expanded to a small fleet of 4 wreckers became well known through out most states east of the Mississippi for the prompt, courteous and well trained service. The operations of the garage have grown to include a full scale body shop for all vehicles, and being a Mack Service Center and a White Service Center, the mechanical services are mostly on heavy duty tractors and trailers. The building has been expanded so it can now accommodate 15 semi tractors at one time.

So in the 10 years that Wabash Garage, Inc. has been growing, many dreams have come true and numerous goals have been reached and there are many more for the future.

MACEDON

Macedon, once a bustling, teeming center of activity, with four general stores, several saloons and gambling places, two hotels, a lime kiln, wagon shop, brick yard, barber shop, and blacksmith shop, is now a quiet little hamlet on the historic Wabash River, six miles west of Coldwater, Ohio, on State Route 219.

Approximately one hundred years ago, Macedon was a typical frontier town that could boast of a population between 400 and 500 residents. Today, 66 people call Macedon home.

The town was platted on September 28, 1838 by William Nichols and George Arbaugh. The area at that time consisted of 60 lots, the size of each being 4 by 8 rods, containing thirty-two square rods each. Main Street was 66 feet wide, Centre Street 60, and all other streets were 40 feet wide.

September 17, 1880, Joseph Harper and John Huston made an addition of six lots, 66 by 132 feet each, east of Grant Street. This same year, the local businesses had dwindled to one general store, one physician, one blacksmith shop and one shoe shop. These comprised most of the businesses, and the surrounding land was rich farming country. Population in 1880 was 75. In 1907, there still remained six streets in Macedon, they were called Walnut, Center, Wabash, Mulberry, Torri, and Main Streets.

What halted the expansion of Macedon? The raiload. Residents today say that Macedon did not wish the railroad to pass through their town. At any ate, the railroad bypassed Macedon for Coldwater, ind the decline began.

The eastern limits of the village extended considerably beyond its present line, and many acres now under cultivation were at one time covered with nouses and cabins. The western limits did not exend much beyond the present line. Between it and he Wabash lowlands is a high knoll that is now a well-kept cemetery. 150 years or more ago, this was in Indian burial ground.

Many Indian bones have been exhumed and hunlreds of trinkets and arrowheads have been found when graves were excavated. Thus, the same plot of ground was served as a resting place for red skins, as well as descendants of the whites. by Louanna Penning-

MACEDON MEDICAL SCHOOL

For several years, there was a medical school in Macedon, probably the first in Ohio and one of the irst in the Midwest. The old log structure that rests n Mercelina Park in Celina, Ohio today, contains ogs that came from the original medical school, acording to residents today. The structure in Merceina Park is known as the Mathias Smith Tavern.

Details are not complete, but one or more doctors vere in charge of the medical school, under whom tudents studied or "Read Medicine" as it was called n those days. The late Dr. S. R. Wilson, whose last some was in Celina at the turn of the 20th century ttended this school.

Macedon Medical School

The skeleton used in this school, which was discontinued in the 1870's, was later in the office of a Washington Township physician, Dr. Denny. Descendants of Dr. Denny are living in Macedon today. After discontinuing his practice, the skeleton was thrown into Buck ditch by a tenant in the house, and flood waters washed it away. One bone remains, a femur, which has been restored and varnished and is in the possession of Chris Ranly, a Fort Recovery upholsterer.

THE GUENTHER HOUSE MYSTERY

On the west edge of the village of Macedon, on the banks of Totti Creek, is a neat, comfortably remodeled home which has no semblance of the past, but which 100 years ago was The Guenther House, or hotel, or tavern, of ill repute.

This building was the setting of a mystery shrouded murder, just prior to the Civil War. Later the place was abandoned and as is often the case, became entwined with ghostly stories. It was shunned by many people and dozens of tenants hurriedly left it. Some folks reported lights moving about upstairs, while others said they heard a thud-ding noise like a body falling.

The tavern was operated by John Guenther and his sons and was the scene of numerous brawls and trouble. Among those present at a New Year's Eve dance was a drover, or stock buyer, who was passing through. He drank heavily and boasted of having $500.00 from the sale of a herd of cattle. A young man whose name according to stories, was John Griffith, but may have been Young as claimed by an elderly Macedon resident, became suspicious of Guenther because of his actions and questions, while plying the drover with liquor.

After the dance broke up, Young loitered in the darkness and watched a lighted upstairs window. He heard a thud and then the light was extinguished.

Later he saw three men come from the tavern carrying a heavy object, and soon they reappeared from the darkness. The next morning it was learned that the drover had disappeared and also that the tavern well had been filled. The towns people were puzzled, but fearful to voice their opinions. Young entered the Union Army soon after this happening and when he returned, he told his story to some close friends and they started excavating the old well. It is said that after reaching a depth of 16 feet, Young suffered a heart attack. The friends became unnerved and abandoned the job. Another story is told that the friends became frightened and quit the job and Young, being unable to continue alone, was forced to give up. Whether or not the body is still at the bottom of the well is unknown.

The Guenthers becoming alarmed by talk of the villagers suddenly disappeared. They are supposed to have fled to Canada, as they were notorious Southern sympathizers and their tavern had been a refuge for draft dodgers, bounty hunters and other lawless elements. At one time it was raided by Union soldiers home on furlough.

MACEDON CONGREGATIONAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

On Wednesday, January 29, 1913, a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions for the first Christian Church at Macedon. This was the beginning of plans and work that resulted in the erection of the building itself. R. A. Scott was chairman of the committee, and G. R. Hassan was clerk. The building committee consisted of Ely Denney, Fred Cline, and Chas. L. Reef. The other members of that soliciting committee were Mart Granger, O. S. Green, James Burkett, John McAfee, Jr., and N. J. Boice.

The committee decided to erect a building 36 feet by 46 feet, at a meeting at Macedon on Monday, February 24, 1913. At a special church meeting held on Wednesday evening, March 12, 1913, the build-ing committee decided to build a belfry on the church on the plan of the High School building.

The building was to be erected on ground donated by C. L. Reef, north of the road and opposite the main entrance to the Macedon Cemetery in Washington Township, Mercer County of the State of

The ground was staked off on Monday, March 10, 1913 for the church and it was 8 rods long and 10 rods deep. At a church meeting two plan changes were approved. One plan was to change the belfry to a plan of placing the bell in top of the Church. The other plan was to change the size of building to 34 feet by 46 feet. The first gravel was hauled for the church on Wednesday, March 19, 1913, by Wiley Runkle, Bert Hassan, and Ely Denney. The first material for the new church was hauled on Saturday, May 31, 1913, by Arthur McAffee, Roy McAfee, Seth Runkles, and George Hassan.

The building committee advertised for bids for contractors to complete the church building, excepting the hardware, cement and gravel. Elwood Drumm had the low bid of $1240.00. The erection of the church began on Tuesday, June 3, 1913. The church was completed on September 5, 1913. The church was dedicated on November 22, 1913. The dedication sermon was given by Rev. G. H. Thornburg. Miss Zelma B. Johnson was the Pastor.

The present church building has been moved since the building of the church. Due to the changing of State Highway 219 in front of the church, it came closer to the front of the church. The building had to be set back farther to the north. Trustee Bill Dillworth was in charge of the negotiations between the church and the State. A rising vote of thanks was given Bill at a business meeting on August 21, 1963 for all that he had done. The work was to be completed by October 1, 1963.

Macedon Church is a member of the Midwest Congregational Christian Fellowship, having voted against the merger with the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The people at Macedon believe in doing church business in unity and harmony. The members, over the years, have increased their mission giving, budget money, and services in the church.

The people are thankful for the help received from the Bethel Church members in the starting of the new church at Macedon. The Bethel Church had been discontinued. The present pastor at Macedon is Rev. Lincoln McEntire. The Membership is thankful for the help received from Mr. William O. Den-ney from Celina.

UNITY GRANGE

The National Grange was organized in 1868 by liver Kelly. The first Grange was organized in thio on March 2, 1870.

The first meeting place for what is now known as nity Grange, was in a small building located west f Wabash, Ohio. It was known as Wabash Grange nd was organized in 1873. Proof of this is through the possession of a subordinate Grange Manual with the organization seal dating December of 1873. The tanual is in possession at the present time of the county Deputy Robert Doner and his wife Leola, who are appointed by the Ohio State Grange Maser. After a number of years, the meeting place was hanged to Erastus in a building located on the east ide of Erastus-Durbin Road.

The name of the Grange was changed to Unity Grange #2116 in 1917 at a reorganization meeting: was in that year that Albert and Golda Hassan beame members and were the recipients of 60 year ins at the County installation of new officers on ept. 26, 1978.

During World War I, the grange meetings were iscontinued a short time. In 1933, the Grange was gain reorganized and is still going forward.

Member's names that were instrumental in carryng forward this grange work and history include he following: LaRue, Grier, Hassan, Wiley, Fetter, Joley, Doner, Koester, Adams, Ransbottom, Coate, Ashcraft, Bryan, Kinnison, and numerous others.

60 Year Pins — Leola Doner, Bob Doner, Albert Hassan, Goldie Hassan, Jerry Laffin.

First Display at County Fair — Kathleen Boley, Mrs. John (Maggie) Grier, Florence Ashcraft (Keister), Tom Boley, Anthony Adams, Orville Ashcraft, John W. Grier, Golda Grier (Hassan), Wm. Wiley, Ruth Hassan, Neal Boley, Albert Hassan.

Unity Grange purchased the old center Grade School in Washington Township in 1949. This was their Grange home until 1958 when they purchased their present building known as the former Washington Township High School located on St. Anthony Road south of Wabash, Ohio.

Past Masters of this Grange were George Coate, William Wiley, John Grier, Frank Fetter, Albert Hassan, Clarence LaRue, Robert Doner, Martin Men-chofer and Jerry Laffin.

The Grange presently has 85 members, who are active in many community activities. Unity Grange has had a cafeteria at the county fair for forty years. Seventeen of our present members have been associated with this grange for over 25 years.

The Grange is a family fraternal organization with a Junior Grange for children ages five thru fourteen. There are many crafts and contests to keep them interested on a local and a state level. The Subordinate Grange is for anyone over fourteen years of age. Among the many activities are sewing and baking contests on a county and state level.

Ritualistic and drill contests keep everyone interested. Talent contests are also held.

Wayne and Janet Doner were chosen young married couple of the year for the state of Ohio in 1973.

Other activities include exchange programs with other county granges. During the winter months, a countywide fun night is held at different granges, with square dancing, folk games and fellowship for members and non-members alike.

The State Grange has a campground named Friendly Hills located near Zanesville where a state horseshoe pitching contest is held.

Unity Grange plans to continue its growth and its service to the community for many years to come and invites anyone interested in agriculture to become associated with it or any other county grange.

JOHN W. ADAMS

John W. Adams married Salome Menchhofer June 15, 1879. They resided in Washington Township on a farm. They had the following children: Homer, born Aug. 13, 1880; Edward, born July 20, 1882; Bruce, born Dec. 26, 1887; Whitridge, born Apr. 18, 1891; Clarence, born Nov. 5, 1893; Dewey, born Sept. 11, 1898.

WHITRIDGE AND CARRIE ADAMS

Whitridge Adams (son of John W. Adams and Salome Menchhofer) and Carrie Ellen Andrews, (daughter of Frank and Ellen (McGee) Andrews) were united in marriage on June 26, 1918. Whitridge was born on April 18, 1891, and died on August 17, 1973. Carrie was born on July 16, 1893, in Jefferson Twp., Ohio, and died on May 15, 1974. They made their home in Washington Twp., Mercer Co., Ohio, on St. Anthony Road. They were both buried in Swamp College Cemetery in Jefferson Twp., Mercer Co., near Celina.

Unto this union were born three children: Carl H., born Feb. 10, 1920, Grace, born March 26, 1922, and Lisle, born Oct. 10, 1925.

Mr. Adams was a farmer and a breeder of hereford cattle. He spent several years showing them at county fairs. He also enjoyed farming with his team of mules in the 30's.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams were both members of the Erastus Methodist Church in the community in which they resided.

Carrie Adams was active in community affairs, member of the Unity Grange, sang in the Community Chorus in the early 30's and the church choir. She enjoyed playing the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams lived their entire married life on the farm (section 24) in Washington Township, Mercer County, Ohio. Whit purchased the farm from his father John W. Adams. His father had purchased the farm in 1903.

Lisle Adams resides on the farm now and farms On Sept. 23, 1950, Carl married La Verne Stum Portland, Ind. To this union was born a daught Deborah Kay on July 2, 1957. They now reside Madison Twp., Jay County, Ind.

On November 10, 1956, Grace was married Floyd Fair of Tipp City, Ohio. They now reside

Troy, Ohio. Lisle Adams, Celina, Oh. 45822

THE ADAMS FAMILY

The Adams family were early settlers in Merce County around the year 1860. Land was purchase in Washington Township on St. Anthony Road. A old log house stood just west of where the preser stately brick home now stands, back a lane off Si Anthony Road, west of Burrville Road. The property still remains in the Adams family with Allan Adam its present owner.

Joseph Adams was one of seven children of the union of Lesson Adams and Catherine Menchhofe Adams. He married Iva Ann Squier in 1906, and to that union two children were born, H. Bernice Ad ams and Naomi Adams.

Bernice married William H. Cashell and they were the parents of one child, Ann Lee Cashell. Ann married Roy Leon Morrison in 1952, and they are the parents of two daughters, Marsha Lynn and Linda Leigh. Marsha is married to Dennis M. Bishop.

Naomi married Chester McAfee, and they are the parents of a boy and a girl, namely Kraig and Karer McAfee. Kraig married Coralie Roesner, and to them were born three daughters and one son, Kelli Jo, Kasi Lee, Kristi Kae and Kerry D. McAfee. Karen married Paul Eugene Liss and a son and a daughter were born to them, Eric Eugene and Paula Adams Liss. Ann Morrison, Celina, Oh. 48522

THE EARLY ADAMS' FAMILY

The Adams Family is believed to have come from England, but there are no records as to the date they arrived in America.

The earliest records are of Robert Adams, who was born February 10, 1816, in Perry County, Ohio. He was married three times and had nineteen children. His first wife was Charlotte Fisher, whom he married April 12, 1842, and together they had six children: John, Evi, Leson, Mary, and twins Henry and Helen. The family came to Mercer County in November of 1851, and settled in Washington Township, where the Wiley home place is now located, and is owned by Wayne Adams. Robert was then appointed Justice of the Peace for Macedon and the surrounding area, by the Governor of Ohio. Charlotte died on August 30, 1853.

Robert and Charlotte's son, Leson, was born February 17, 1848, in McConnelsville, Morgan County, Ohio, and came with his parents to Mercer County at the age of three. He fought in the Civil War, in the Army of the Shenandoah, when he was only sixteen years of age. He was married to Catherine Menchhofer in 1873, eight years after the Civil War. Catherine was born on April 8, 1844, the daughter of hn and Catharine Pflughaupt Menchhofer of the chwindratsheim Estate, near Strassburg, Alsace, ance. In May of 1850, they sailed from Havre, ance for America with their five children, including Catherine who was six years old. They settled in Vashington Twp., Mercer County, Ohio.

Leson had performed honorable service in the ivil War, and later he taught school and engaged in trming. Leson was always interested in the educaon and development of young folks and mainined a creditable library, enjoyed particularly by imself and George Menchhofer, his wife's brother, ho spent many of his days in the Adams' home.
even children were born to this union: Caroline,
hn R., George, Albert, and Alice, who were twins, Villiam Anthony and Joseph.

William Anthony (Tone) Adams was born Februry 15, 1883, in a log house on a 140 acre farm where is parents had lived since their marriage in 1873. he log house was located west of the brick house nat now stands on the Janet and Allan Adams farm. In 1886, the fine two story brick home was built by eson and Catherine Adams for their large family. One Adams was married to Katherine Luella Carnack in 1910, and they lived in the large brick house with his parents, until after their first child, Robert Larmack was born on September 20, 1911. Shortly fter he was born, they moved across the road, to he house that Tone had built. Wayne Adams owns and lives in this house now.

Tone and Katherine had five more children, Anhony Wayne, Hubert, Mary Hazel, Helen Eloise nd Doris Evelyn. Tone's wife Katherine died in April of 1926, and a daughter, Mary, was killed in an uto accident on August 1, 1937, at the age of 19.

Robert walked to grade school at the Erastus ichool, and then attended Washington Township ligh School, from which he graduated in 1929 with 8 in his class. Upon graduation, he started farming with his Dad, who owned 80 acres where they lived, and had bought 40 acres from his parents' (Leson and Catherine) farm. The depression began in the all of 1929, and hogs sold for 3¢ a pound and eggs or 5¢ a dozen. Bob remembers hitching up the team of the mud boat and taking his brothers and sisters of school, when the snow was deep.

Robert was married in 1939, and moved to a farm is father owned on Erastus-Durbin Rd. His father, I'one, lived in the house he built until the time of nis death on February 27, 1954.

THE ALLAN ADAMS FAMILY

Allan Lewis Adams was born June 18, 1946, in Celina, Ohio, the son of Robert Carmack Adams and Florence Margaret Weisman. He attended Washington Township grade school, until it closed in 1958. He then went to Celina Junior High and High School, from which he graduated in May of 1964.

He entered the U.S. Army in December of 1965, and after basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky, he went to Ft. Gordon near Augusta, Georgia for signal school training and from there was sent to Heilbronn, Germany as a radio operator. He returned home in November of 1967, and resumed farming and raising hogs with his father.

On June 20, 1970, he married the former Janet Joanne Peters at Beaver Chapel Congregational Christian Church, west of Celina. She was born October 12, 1948 at Gibbons Hospital in Celina, the daughter of Harold Ora and Mildred Pauline (Gaus) Peters. She lived on an 80 acre farm with her family, 21/4 miles south of Coldwater, until she was seven, and then they moved, to where her parents still live, 3 miles west of Celina. She attended Coldwater school through the second grade, and then attended Celina's East, West, Junior High and High School, from which she graduated in May of 1966. She enrolled at the Western Ohio Education Foundation (branch campus of Ohio Northern University), and attended classes part-time and worked at Celina Mutual Insurance Group until she was married. While still in high school, she learned from a dear friend how to decorate cakes, which she still does

After they were married, they rented the Joe and Iva Adams house on Erastus-Durbin Road, and lived there for three years. Their first child, Scott Lewis was born on February 7, 1971, at Gibbons Hospital in Celina. He is now in the second grade at West Elementary school. In June of 1973, they bought a 12 X 60 mobile home, which they moved just south of his parent's house. They lived there for two years, and their second son, Gregg Allan was born on November 16, 1973 at Van Wert County Hospital, and is now 4 years old.

In March of 1975, they traded in their small mobile home for a 24 x 54' double wide, which they moved to the same location. On July 12, 1975, their first daughter, Jill Joanne, was born at Van Wert County Hospital, and was just 3 years old this summer.

In September of 1975, they bought the Paul (Blue) Powell farm at public auction. The farm consists of 80 acres, a two story brick house, a bank barn, granary and machine shed. Allan's great-grandparents, Leson and Catherine Adams moved to this farm in a log house, when they were married in 1873. Allan's grandfather, William Anthony (Tone) Adams was born there in 1883. The large brick house was built about 1886 by Leson, and Allan's father, Robert was born in that house in 1911. The farm was owned by Leson's father, Robert, before Leson and Catherine moved there in 1873, so the land has been in the Adams family for over a hundred years.

Allan then began raising his own hogs on their farm, and now farrows about 40 sows a year, and feeds out the pigs. He also rents 120 acres for grain farming, and farms 300 acres with his dad.

On November 6, 1977, their second daughter, Diann Janet was born at Van Wert County Hospital, and she is now 11 months old. We are hoping to soon remodel and restore the brick house on our farm and move there.

We have been active in St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Washington Township, and the Mercer County Farm Bureau.

THE ROBERT C. ADAMS' FAMILY

Robert Carmack Adams was born September 20, 1911, and was married to Florence Margaret Weisman on April 9, 1939 at St. Jonh's Lutheran Church in Celina. Florence was born April 6, 1918 at her parent's farm at Five Point, north of Celina. Her father was Charlie Weisman, born October 4, 1879 in Rheinphalz, Germany, the son of Jacob and Elizabeth Ulrick Weisman. He came to America at the age of 3, with his parents and lived in Hopewell Township most of his life, until his death on December 10, 1963. Her mother, Catherine Weisman was born December 26, 1881, in Hopewell Twp., the daughter of Adam and Fredricka Feldhaus Siebert. Charles and Catherine had six children. Catherine died December 11, 1967.

Florence, as a young girl, helped her dad farm, and went to Celina to school. She drove a car for the first time when she was twelve years old. She graduated from Celina High School in 1935 and started working at the J.M. Dull Coal Co., when coal was $6.00 a ton. She worked there until she and Bob were married, and they moved to a 160 acre farm on Erastus-Durbin Road in Washington Township, which Bob's father had bought in 1936.

A log house, part of the present house, was located north of where the house now stands, and was moved to this location by Henry Swartz, when he owned the farm. He also moved a frame house, which stood in the lot south of the present house, behind the log house. Bob tore the frame house down and replaced it with a machine shed.

In 1955, Bob and Florence bought the farm, where their five children had been born. Donald Robert was born August 23, 1940, Kathryn Elaine, August 19, 1941, Linda Ruth, born September 13, 1944, Allan Lewis born June 18, 1946, and David Duane born July 2, 1954. The original log house was remodeled at different times.

In 1967, Bob and Florence bought the Wilbur Straley farm of 120 acres, which used to be the Kittle home place. In 1970, Bob built a hog building to feed hogs, on the farm where he lives.

Florence started working at the Stokely Canning Factory in 1960, and worked there for 3 years. Then she started working at Landmark Elevator in the office, and worked there until February of 1978.

She and Bob are both members of St. Paul's L theran Church in Washington Township, and Bob still farming and raising hogs, and Florence enjo her flowers and gardening. Janet J. Adams

Sebastian and Josepha (Biggs) Diller

THE BIGGS AND DILLER HOMESTEADS

Life had been difficult in Germany. Even women herded sheep and cattle and went into the fields to work all day long; yet hardly got anything to eat. Because of hardships, the Biggs Family, one of the unfortunates, decided to go to America.

Monica Biggs (b. 1807, d. 1880) and her children, namely, Joseph, Engelbert, Josepha, Sophia and Francesco, came to America and homesteaded in Washington Twp., Mercer County, Ohio on what is now the Joe Diller farm at 6050 Rauh Road, Route 1, Coldwater, Ohio.

Engelbert (b. 12-04-1845 at Ravensburg, Germany; 9-24-1913 at Waterloo, Kansas) was engaged in rming and stock-raising and was a road supervir. On 1-17-1871 he married Alaria Elizabeth Fortan in St. Anthony, (Padua, Ohio) and she bore m five children. It is believed that, after Monica's eath, some of the Biggs Family, except Josepha, oved to the Kansas area.

Monica's daughter, Josepha (b. January 1834, d. 5-1897) first married Constant Weigel and they had vo sons. While the sons were small, Constant died a drowning accident, and then Josepha married bastian Diller (b. 3-16-1827, d. 11-17-1906).

Sebastian Diller had also come to America from proper because of the American prosperity he had also and about. The government gave him the land at is now the homeplace of Urban Diller at 5973 and Road, Washington Twp., Mercer County, oute 1, Coldwater, Ohio. After Sebastian and Josema Biggs were married they lived in a log home at 373 Rauh Road; the original cellar and four rooms the house remain as part of the Urban Diller famy home. Sebastian and Josepha's son Philip, lived is entire life on his father's farm and Philip's chilren remember the log house their Grandfather Seastian lived in. They also remember an old spining wheel setting in the house and a steam engine teir father owned.

Sebastian and Josepha had eight children: Sophia, nna, Philip, Mary, Rosina, Tony, Frances and John. fter the Biggs family left the area Sebastian bought in Biggs Homestead (where the Joe Diller family resently resides) and later Albert Diller bought it. abastian's son, John, lived all his life on the Biggs omestead. When Sebastian was about 72 years old in built the barn and 3 or 4 years later the house on its farm. He also bought what is now the Albert filler farm at 5976 Rauh Road across from the Uran Diller farm. Philip Diller built the house on this irm. These farms are in the fourth generation.

All of Sebastian and Josepha's children married cept Anna who entered the Convent of the Sisters f the Precious Blood. Sister helped haul the bricks y hand for building the Maria Stein Chapel, then ecame confined with tuberculosis and never lived see the completion of the new building.

Sophia married William Wellman and had seven nildren; Philip married Anna Gross (5 children); fary married Bernard Homan (2 children); Rosina narried Gerhard May (11 children); Tony married hristina Meng (10 children); Frances married Beradin Doll (3 children); and John married Mary pross (8 children). In 1963 Jim bought a 120 acre farm from Herbe and Ann Menchhofer, which had been in the Menchhofer name since 1911. In 1974 he sold acres to St. Paul's Lutheran Church, on which a ne parsonage was built.

In 1963, Jim and his father formed a partnershi in milking a herd of 20 cows, and Jim was also grain farmer.

On March 14, 1964, Jim married the former Ma

: Kay Peters, the daughter of Harold Ora and Miled Paulene Gaus Peters, at Beaver Chapel Congretional Christian Church. She was born July 4, 1944 Celina, Ohio. She lived on an 80 acre farm, 21/2 les south of Coldwater on St. Rt. 118 until she was years old. She then moved with her family to tere her parents still live, 3 miles west of Celina on Rt. 29. She attended Coldwater Schools through e sixth (6th) grade, and then attended Celina Jun-High and Celina High School, from which she aduated in May, 1962. While at home, she helped ilk the herd of cows which her father had, and afgraduation from school, started working at Cela Mutual Insurance Company, until her marriage. In March, 1964, we purchased a mobile home, nich we moved onto the farm Jim had bought and 'ed in it for 6 years.

On January 8, 1965, a son, Gary David was born, id on November 15, 1966 another son Michael mes was born into our family. Both were born at ibbons Hospital, Celina, Ohio.

1968, Jim tore down the Menchhofer Homestead at had been there for years, built by Jacob Ketterg. We then started building a new home on the remises.

On March 10, 1969, another son, Todd Keith, was orn at Gibbons Hospital, Celina, OH.

In April, 1970, we moved into a ranch style, brick ome which we had built with the help of friends ad family.

In May, 1972, we purchased an 80 acre farm, loited on McMillan Rd.; from Mary Ellen Maffett. It as originally the farm of her father, Ralph McMil-

In 1974 Jim built a hog finishing barn, in which he eds out 1000 head of hogs a year.

In 1974 when Gary was old enough to join the Vashington Winners 4-H Club, we began feeding eers. We feed approximately 50 head a year.

In 1978, we then purchased the Carl Menchhofer rm of 170 acres, on Township Line Rd., on which the Lyle Menchhofer family lived. The farm sold to ettle the estate of Margaret Godfrey Menchhofer, ho passed away January, 1978.

We now farm approximately 288 acres, and rent n additional 250 acres on which we raise corn, soyeans, and wheat. Jim and his dad work together at irming and share some of their machinery. Jim has so erected four (4) grain bins, that are used for oring the grain.

We are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, oldwater, Ohio. Michael is in the sixth grade, and odd is in fourth grade at Celina's West Elementary chool. Gary is a seventh grader at Celina Junior ligh School. The three boys are in the Washington Vinner 4-H Club and have been taking steers as a roise.

I have been active in PTA and WESCO organizaons at the elementary school for several years. low that our children are all in school, I enjoy doing rafts and helping Jim with work around the farm. Ve have a camper, and enjoy camping with our mily several week-ends during the summer. Mrs.

FRAZEE

Old John (born in 1802) and Mary (Dion) Frazee born in 1803) came from Indiana, Pennsylvania in Samuel Frazee, Rozilla (Kimble) Frazee; oldest, Laurabelle Frazee Fink; Cleo Frazee Subler; Youngest, Ruth Frazee Rabe.

1827 to Crawford County, Ohio. John and Mary (Dion) Frazee had nine children: John Frazee, Sr., of Crawford County, Ohio; Phoebe, wife of H. Barber; Delilah, wife of John Myers of Michigan; Andrew Frazee of Nevada, Ohio; Agnes, wife of Ben Easterday; Mrs. Margaret Frazee of Hamilton, Ohio; Telitha, wife of Godleb Ritenger, all of Michigan; George Frazee of Galion, Ohio; Mary Frazee, Nevada, Ohio.

John Frazee, Sr., and his wife Anna Catherine (Goodyear) Frazee moved to Jay County, Indiana in Wabash Township and cleared 80 acres and built a log house. John Sr. (1835-1915) and Anna Catherine (1840-1902) were the parents of five children: Jennie Flesher, Portland, Indiana; Samuel Frazee of Noble Township; Lizzie, wife of Clarence Myers; John Frazee Jr. of Michigan; and Etta (Frazee) Barley of Adams County, Indiana.

Samuel E. Frazee (1878-1972) was born in Seneca County, Ohio near Bucyrus, Ohio before moving to Indiana in 1880. Samuel E. Frazee married Rozilla (Kimble) Frazee in 1902 by Rev. O.S. Green at the home of Rozilla Kimble's parents, Benjamin and Laura (Shimp) Kimble, October 2, 1902. Later in the day the young couple went to the Jay County Fair.

In 1903 Samuel and Rozilla Frazee had their first child Laurabelle Frazee. In 1906 Cleo Icelene Frazee was born and in 1908, the third daughter Evalyin Ruth Marie Frazee was born. Laurabelle Frazee was married to Victor Young of near Portland, Indiana in 1922 by Rev. Fred Stovenaur and they lived together two years when Victor Young died. In later years she married John Fink of Dayton, Ohio. In 1971, John Fink passed away very suddenly with a heart attack.

Cleo Icelene Frazee married Lee Subler who operated the Noble Grocery Store, Indiana for quite some time. Later Cleo Frazee passed away at the age of 38 years old, in 1945.

Ruth Frazee and Clarence Rabe were married in 1938 on Sunday morning in Portland by Rev. Milton Wiseley and later in the day, went to Urbana, Ohio to a horse show!

Samuel E. Frazee passed away in 1972 at the age of 94 years old. His wife Rozilla died in 1941 at the age of 58 years old. Samuel Frazee's father John Frazee and Anna Catherine (Goodyear) Frazee went to Michigan to visit a daughter and on July 30, 1902 the Frazee's were having a pleasant time riding in a spring wagon and going down a hill the harness broke. The horse became scared and ran away throwing Anna Catherine Frazee from the wagon; she was killed instantly. Mr. and Mrs. John Frazee were married on Thanksgiving Day 1865. Mrs. Frazee at the time of her death was 62 years old. Mrs. Frazee's body was returned to Ample, Indiana for burial. Ample, Indiana, at one time, was the post office just north of Noble Road on old route 22, near the Adam Alig farm.

John Frazee who was born in 1835 was in the Civil War and in 1862 was at Camp Mansfield, Ohio. Mr. Frazee received a Certificate of being a member of a company drafted in Auburn Township, Crawford County, Ohio; was honorably discharged from the service by reason of the Surgeon's Statement of disability, approved by the Captain S.W. Yvago and C.T. Shneman Col. Commanding. Mr. Frazee died at the age of 80 years old in 1915.

Before John Frazee and his brother Andrew Frazee went to War in 1861, their brother George who was younger, was to stay home and take care of their parents John and Mary (Dion) Frazee. Young George rebelled, went off to war. Eventually, he and his brother John Jr. met and somewhere in the South, Catherine and Caroline (Goodyear) (sisters) met John and George Frazee (brothers). The boys had stolen Rebel uniforms and the girls took care of them and eventually married them and came up to Ohio to live. Mrs. Clarence Rabe

THE JAMES F. HOMAN FARM

In July of 1850 John and Catharine Pflughaupt Menchhofer and their five children, John, George, Catharine, Margaret and Mary, arrived in Buffalo, N.Y. from France. They settled in Washington Twp., Mercer County, Ohio, having traveled part of the vay from New York by an oxen-drawn wagon. Imnediately they purchased 160 acres in Section 23, Vashington Township. This area included the 80 cres on which the old homestead was founded and on which the Martin Menchhofer family lived. (John, who came from France, is the great-grandfather of Martin Menchhofer).

John and Catharine first built a 16x20 ft. rectangular cabin with a clapboard roof and walls that were not windproof. Later they had two more children and then built a more weatherproof two-story 22x30 ft. log house consisting of four large rooms, two down and two up. Later a lean-to kitchen was built on the back side of the house which also had a porch.

When Martin and Marge Menchhofer purchased the farm they lived in an adjoining garage while building a new six-room story and a half home in 1948. In the basement of the home they included a coal bin and fruit room built from the solid walnut wood siding taken from original buildings on the farm.

In 1963 Martin and Marge sold their 80-acre farm to James F. (Jim) Homan, son of the late August and Catherine (Braun) Homan of St. Peter, Ohio, and his wife Thelma M. (Buschur) daughter of Urban and Rosena (Dippold) Buschur of Route 3, Hopewell Township, Celina, Ohio. In August Jim, Thelma and their children, Randall J., Loraine M., and twins, Patricia A. and Pamela A., moved onto their farm that is now Route 1, 5160 Burrville Road, Washington Township, Coldwater, Ohio, Mercer County. Their fifth child, a son, Brian Joseph, made his arrival on December 6, 1963 at Our Lady of Mercy Hospital, Coldwater, Ohio.

Jim and Thelma have lived on the farm for fifteen years, gardening and caring for friends' livestock kept on the farm. Their neighbors, Jerry Laffin and son Kevin and Jerry's father, Russell Laffin, farm the Various changes have been made over the years to the home and barn such as converting the original coal furnace to an oil burner in 1963 and renovating the barn, including new siding and the removal of the shed at the south end in the fall of 1964. The original granary and smokehouse still remain on the

GERHARD AND MARIA KATHERINA (RHEIN) HOMANN

In the 1850's Gerhard Homann (born 10-24-1822 in West Minster, Europe, died 8-21-1903 in St. Anthony, Ohio) and his two brothers, Bernard and Joseph, arrived in America from Europe. Gerhard settled on a farm located at what is now 97 Elm Road, Washington Township, Mercer County, Route 1, Ft. Recovery, Ohio (St. Anthony or Padua, Ohio) and presently occupied by John Homan, his grandson.

Gerhard farmed and raised hogs which he took to the New Bremen, Ohio (Auglaize County) Canal where they were shipped and sold. He donated part of his farmland for the building of the present St. Anthony Catholic Church. He and his wife, Maria Katherina (Rhein), born 2-07-1835, died 3-02-1901, lived in a log home that was later torn down and replaced with a two-story red brick home. The original summer kitchen and smokehouse still remain next to the home.

Gerhard and Marie's children were: Joseph (b. 4-04-1858, d. 2-28-1936) who married Julia Krieg (b. 5-22-1862, d. 3-07-1927); Henry (b. 1-19-1861, d. 3-26-1943) who married Mary Krieg (b. 4-24-1864, d. 4-06-1937); Josephine (b. 11-24-1862, d. 9-02-1936) who married Herman Voss; Bernard (b. 10-24-1864 d. 4-21-1940) who married Mary Diller (b. 10-25-1868. d. 5-05-1954); Anna (b. 7-24-1866, d. 3-31-1951) who married Fred Ronnebaum (b. 5-20-1865, d. 7-21-1903); Gerhard (b. 7-09-1868, d. 2-14-1947) who married Catharine Muhlenkamp (b. 6-03-1873, d. 6-27-1944); Catharina (b. 2-17-1871, d. 4-19-1947) who married John Muhlenkamp (b. 12-30-1866, d. 3-09-1941); John (b. 8-24-1872, d. 6-02-1952) who married Elizabeth Post (b. 3-25-1881, d. 4-26-1939); Philomena (b. 5-02-1883, d. 3-06-1933) who never married; Elizabeth who became Sister Mary Bibiana in a convent in Clyde, Missouri; Mary who became Sister Mary Paula also in Clyde, Missouri. It is believed that one of Gerhard and Maria's children died in infancy and that another child, a daughter, was killed in an accident at a young age.

Gerhard Homan's obituary card states he was born October 24, 1822 at Herbern, near Muenster, Westphalia, Europe and died at Padua, Ohio August 21, 1903. Padua was the early name of Saint Anthony. Mrs. Thelma M. Homan, Coldwater, Oh.

ED W. HONE

Ed W. Hone was born in Liberty Township on ine 6, 1901. He is one of fifteen children of George /ashington and Fannie Belle Hines Hone. He has a vin brother Elza (Phil). Ed is also known as Ted.

Having lived through the stock market crash and ie depression as one of fifteen children must have roven very demanding. Each of the children arned to care for themselves at an early age.

Ed left Ohio in 1921 at the age of 20 to head for exas. He worked in the oil fields there for a few ears. On his way back to Ohio he stopped off in awrence County, Illinois to visit with friends. While there he married Viola Mae Lawrence on Aust 15, 1926. They returned to Ohio and lived in ast Jefferson Township. Ed worked at Mersman able factory for a while.

The family moved to a 120 acre farm located on rastus-Durbin road in Washington Township. This arm is located about 2 miles south of the farm that vas homesteaded by Henry and Katherine Hone, randparents of Ed Hone.

Ed and Viola became parents of Doris Elizabeth in 927, Inez Lavere in 1928, Ermal Pauline in 1930 and Mary Catherine in 1931. Finally a son George Lawence arrived in 1933, another son Carl Donovan in 935, a daughter Phyllis Elaine in 1938, Franklin David in 1940, Barbara Ruth in 1942 and finally John Tipton in 1944. The children were all born at home except for the last two or three. They were born at Gibbons Hospital in Celina, Ohio.

Living on farm with 10 children proved very interesting. There was no bathroom to share, just a well worn path to the outhouse! A never ending job in wintertime was carrying in coal and wood for the heating stove. There was always lots of work to be done. A large garden was planted and harvested each year. Gathering eggs, milking cows (by hand) and feeding the livestock were daily chores. Among the animals were guineas, hogs, geese, pigeons, cows and a pet crow.

Ed was always able to catch lots of fish in Beaver Creek which ran through the farm and the kids did lots of ice skating there.

There are 68 living descendants. Viola passed away on May 16, 1969. The farm sold in November of 1975 and Ed lives in Mendon, Ohio. 9/30/78

JOHN HENRY JUTTE

John Henry Jutte came from Holland in the early 1840's and settled on 80 acres in section 35, Washington Township. The land has been in the Jutte name since that time; it is now owned by a great great grandson Zeno I. Jutte.

John Henry Jutte died in the cholera epidemic in Minster in 1849 where he had gone for farm supplies. He is survived by one son Theodore who had four sons, Peter, Theodore, John and Bernard and one daughter Mary.

Peter, Theodore and Mary went west to Idaho in the late 1870's, and settled in Genesse, Idaho. John and Bernard remained in Washington Twp. area. John had four sons, four daughters. Bernard had six sons and four daughters.

John Henry Jutte closest neighbors were Perry and Ephriam Carmack; there was an apple tree on the Perry Carmack farm when the people settled there. It was 3 to 4 feet in diameter when it died 30 years ago.

This history was written by August Jutte, a grandson of John Henry Jutte; Fort Recovery, Ohio.

Benjamin and Laura (Shimp) Kimble; and Margaret (Kimble) Brumm, Rozilla (Kimble) Frazee, and Clara (Kimble) Barber.

KIMBLE DESCENDANTS

The United States of America to Charles McKee, Certificate of Purchase, dated November 1, 1837. In 1845, Chas. McKee and wife Sarah, sold the land to Caleb Kimble, of Holms County, Ohio, 160 acres. In 1875, William Davidson sold to Tom Gibson 1 acre and 9 rods. In 1882 Tom Gibson sold to Benjamin J. Kimble. This is the beginning of the Kimble homestead, which at one time belonged to United States of America.

The forefathers were Benjamin and Vesta Kimble; their children were: Caleb who married Margaret (Barr) Kimble; Adam, born 1827 and wife Rachel Kimble, born 1829; William had two sons, Cyrus Kimble of Bryan, Ohio and Lee Kimble of French Lick, Indiana; Jake Kimble who had one daughter; a girl who married Alfred Fuller; a girl who married Steve Shelton.

Caleb and Margaret (Barr) Kimble had nine children: Lisa who married Robert Davis; Mary who married Wes Bergman; Ellen, who married Garrett Adair; Jane who married Mr. Huntwork; Vesta who married William Adney; Robert who married Jane and had two children Wes and Bert; Harrison who married Nancy _____; Benjamin who married Laura Shimp; Frances, whose first wife was Ida _____, and his second wife was Emma _____, and had three daughters: Hazel who married Ezra Shauver; Marie who married Omer Timmons; and Ludy who married Ivo Fisher of Portland, Indiana.

Benjamin Kimble (Sept. 28, 1853 — Feb. 13, 1916) married Laura (Shimp) Kimble (1861-1956), daughter of Jesse and Emily (Heistand) Shimp, Jay County, Indiana. They were married in 1879 and had three daughters: Margaret (Kimble) Brumm, born in 1880; Rozilla Olive (Kimble) Frazee, born in 1882; and Clara (Kimble) Barber born in 1884. Margaret (Kimble) Brumm and husband Harley Brumm had one son Luther who was born in 1907. Rozilla (Kimble) Frazee and husband Samuel E. Frazee had three daughters: Laurabelle (Frazee) Fink, born in 1903; Cleo (Frazee) Subler and Ruth (Frazee) Rabe, who married Clarence Rabe of Fort Recovery.

Benjamin and Laura (Shimp) Kimble purchased the old Christian Church at Noble, Jay County, Indiana, which was built in 1867 by each member giving a tree, cutting it down and hauling it to the saw mill, which was across the road from the one room school house at Noble. The meetings were called to meet at "Lamp Lighting Time." This building was used until the other church was built in 1895. The old church was sold to Benjamin and Laura Kimble and moved across the road in the northwest corner of the crossroads at Noble on the farm owned by Benjamin Kimble where he used it for a slaughter house. He butchered beefs and hogs and delivered the meat to Portland to restaurants and grocery stores. He had a beef wagon drawn by two ponies hitched to a four wheel beef wagon. Mr. Kimble died in 1916, Feb. 16; so the slaughter house was sold to his brother Robert Kimble's son Wess Kimble, just west of where it stood and Wess made a tool shed of it. While Benjamin Kimble would go through the country buying beef to slaughter, his son-in-law Samuel Frazee and Fred Naher would do the butchering. (One of the old stories told about the times was: Before the old church that was built in 1867, was sold to Benjamin Kimble in 1895, many things took place in those days. One time a deacon of the church Charles Houser was deposed of his office duty after a church trial where he was found guilty of severely beating his horse.) Ruth Frazee Rabe

THE LaRUE FAMILY

The fourth and fifth generations of LaRue's are now living within my walls. I have seen over 100 rears of joy, sorrow, laughter, tears, births and leaths. I am not the first house the early arrivals ived in. After being married in Lancaster, Pa., Uriah aRue and Lydia (Neff) travelled to Butler County, Ohio where they spent the next 5 years. From there, heir journey brought them to Mercer County where hey homesteaded a 320 timber tract. Their first nome, a primitive log structure was destroyed by ire after only a few weeks. They then cut a road through the forest about one mile eastward and constructed another log house.

Res. and farm view of Uriah La Rue.

There were many happy times spent in that little log house and some sad times too. Lydia gave birth to 8 children: Abraham W. a well respected school teacher; Elizabeth E., lived to be 18; Leah Ann lived to be 19; Uriah B. died in early manhood; Isaac Martin, who is the grandfather of my present dwellers; John B., died in early manhood; David F. who took up residence half a mile south of the homestead and Lydia A. who died at age 10.

Even through the hard times and sad times, the family remained faithful to God and they prospered in many ways. In 1876, seeing the need for more living area and a more sound structure, they started work on a new home. The large stones forming my basement walls are from Sidney, Ohio, carried by barge across Grand Lake and put on horse drawn sleds to make the final leg of the journey down Mud Pike. My walls are 3 bricks thick and the bricks were formed from the clay earth on the farm. I originally had 6 large rooms with a veranda on the east side, upstairs. This was the favorite sleeping place in the summer for the many farm hands and boarders the LaRue's were known for.

Timber was sawed at the sawmill located Southeast of the house and the sawdust was utilized in many ways. One of the most popular was in the preserving of ice. During the winter, after the ice was frozen to several inches, it was cut into large blocks and carried by sled from a large pond, north of the Doner farm to the ice house located in the woods near the sawmill. By packing the ice in several layers of sawdust, it could be preserved until the middle of August. Because of the availability of the ice, several dishes of homemade ice cream were enjoyed by the LaRue family and friends during the hot summer

With spring came the tapping of the maple sugar trees and the making of maple syrup. Summer and fall brought the threshing machines with a separator to harvest the grain, followed by the bailers. An abundance of fall and winter apples provided all the cider and vinegar that was wanted. Horses, hogs, cows and sheep provided the many necessities that we now take for granted.

The family was also interested in many other things such as church, school, Farmers Institute, etc. They were members of the Washington Chapel Meth. Episc. Church and the children attended the Washington Twp. School Dist. 3, also known as Betz

Isaac Martin, known to his friends as Marty, was co-owner of the land where I now stand, located 1 mile west of Wabash on Ste. Rte. 29. In 1902 he married Mary Weaver from Darke County, Ohio and they had 3 children: Mildred born 1903, Kathleen born 1905 and Clarence born 1910.

Mildred graduated from Washington Twp. High School and Lutheran Hospital School of Nursing. She married Ivan Deeter and they had 2 children: Martha Jane and Keith. Ivan died in 1959. Martha Jane, also a graduate from Lutheran Hospital School of Nursing married Richard Chilcote. He enlisted in the Air Force during the Korean Conflict from 1951-1954. They are now owners of Pond-a-River Golf Course, Woodburn, Indiana. They have 2 children, John and Diane. Keith enlisted in the Marines during the Korean Conflict from 1951-1954. He married Dorothy Pope and they have 4 daughters; Debra, married with 1 child, Cheryl, died in 1969; Donna, married with 1 child and Evelyn. Keith is a floor covering installer.

Kathleen LaRue married Tom Boley and they have 3 sons: Roger, Neal and Joe. Tom and Kathleen are both deceased. Roger married Grace Shane, they have a son, divorced and Roger is remarried. Their son Michael married Cheryl Adams and they have a daughter Julie. Neal married Mary Andrews and they have 4 children; Carol, Bruce, Judy and Larry. Carol married Craig Zimmerman and has 2 daughters, Wendy and Amy. Bruce and Linda Heiby are just recently married and Judy and Larry are still at home. Joe married Shirley Kuhn and they have 2 children, Leisa and Jerry, both at home. Roger, Neal and Joe all are affiliated with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. Joe is also engaged in farming.

Clarence LaRue married Beatrice Huffman and they have 2 sons, Phillip and Dennis. Phillip married Sharon Hines and they have 4 children: Rebecca, Randal, Jennifer and Kristal, all at home. Phillip is owner of Wabash Garage located on the home land. Dennis married Linda Gillett, have 1 child, Susan, divorced. He then married Linda Beougher and they have 1 child, Jeff. Dennis is now owner of his own business in Estes Park, Colorado.

A niece of Mary Weaver LaRue, Doris Weaver Day, was also reared in the home from age 3 to graduation from business college. She is now living in Silver Spring, Md.

The Phillip LaRue family is living in me now, but I have just about outlived my usefulness. My floors creak, my mortar is cracked, my windows are broken and my slate roof is falling off piece by piece. I will soon be torn down, but I'm not sad. I have had a very rich and rewarding life by watching all these young people, starting with Uriah and Lydia, grow and making their mark in their communities, each in his own way. as told by the "Red Brick House"

JOSEPH JOHN LAUX FAMILY

Though he was baptized John Joseph Laux, his friends knew him as J.J. Others knew him as Joe or simply the state line blacksmith. He made his home at what is now the corner of Pine Road and the State Line for seventy some years.

THE HENRY MAY FAMILY

Henry May son of Theodore May of Waldstedde, Germany had planned to come to America in the ate 1850's with his brother Theodore May. It so tappened Henry was in a terrible farm accident in which he was given up to die, so he could not come with his brother Theodore May to America. Theodore May married Rachel Sherman. They left Germany for America and settled at St. Anthony, Ohio or then known as Padua, Ohio.

Henry May began to get better and soon was well again. He then came to America and also bought a farm at St. Anthony. After buying a farm he returned to Germany and married Caroline Homan, daughter of Bernard Henry Homan on April 9, 1861 in Herbern, Germany. They then came to America and settled on the farm at St. Anthony, Ohio which Henry bought when he came over the first time. Later Theodore and Rachel May moved to New Haven, Ind. on a farm.

Caroline (Homan) May had four brothers, John Henry Homan who stayed in Germany on the family farm, Gerhard Homan who settled at St. Anthony, Ohio, Bernard Homan who settled at St. Sebastian, Ohio and Joseph Homan, settled at St. Rose,

Ohio.

Henry and Caroline (Homan) May had five children. Elizabeth May, their oldest child married Joseph Rauh and they had six children, Theodore Urban, Caroline, Amelia, Louise, and Werner Rauh. Henry and Caroline May's second child was Theodore May. He married Elizabeth Losche and stayed on the family farm in St. Anthony, Ohio. Their children were Leo, Edward, Fred, Charles, and Dorothy May. Henry and Caroline May's third child was Gerhard May who married Rosina Diller, their children being Lidwina, Caroline, John, Clem, Elizabeth, Hilda, Alfonse, Frank, Mary, Marvin, and Cletus May. Later Henry May married Catherine Boeckman. They had two children, Catherine May and Anthony May. Catherine married Henry Rosenbeck. They had four children, Rose, Louise, Urban and Dorothy Rosenbeck. Anthony May never married and lived at Marshfield, Wisconsin. Henry May's older brother, Bernard May stayed on the family farm in Germany. The farm Henry May settled on is still in the family name "May". Rita Timmerman

THOMAS EUGENE MAY

Thomas Eugene May was born to Geraldine (Jerry) and Betty May on May 1, 1949. He was the oldest of three children. Tom and his two sisters, Linda Gail and Betsy Jane were raised in Erastus, Ohio (Washington Township in Mercer County).

Tom went to school his first three years in a two room school house near Erastus. There were only three other students in his grade. After these first three years, Tom was bused to Celina where he completed the next nine years of school in the Celina Public Schools.

Tom's father, Jerry May, and grandfather, Philip May, (who was married to the former Lily Monroe) were self-employed outdoor painters and auto body repairmen their entire lives. Eventually, Tom took over the third generation of the outdoor painting business.

Tom's mother, Betty, was born to Edna (Henke) and Fred Moorman. She was the youngest of thirteen children. She grew up on a farm in Mercer County during the Great Depression. While most Americans were struggling along, Betty thought these were the happiest days of her young life. There was plenty of food on the farm and she had no worries. Many of her brothers and sisters worked in Dayton during these years and came home on weekends to shower her with much affection.

During their growing years in the 1950's and '60's, Tom and his sisters lived a happy relaxed life in rural Mercer County. The family's main love was going to car races every Sunday at Eldora Speedway in Rossburg, Ohio.

Tom's sister, Linda eventually married Mike Weiler from St. Marys and they had two children, Jessica Marie and Michael Jr. Betsy Jane May was married to Ronald Link of Celina in November of 1971. They had two daughters, Melissa Renee and Holly Kristina.

On December 8, 1976, Tom married Deborah Jane Anderson, the daughter of Warren and Betty (Kallmeyer) Anderson of rural Celina. Debbie, the second oldest of eleven children, worked in the family owned restaurant (The Willow Drive-In) during her adolescent years.

Now in 1978 Debbie is an airline stewardess with American Airlines. She and Tom live in Celina and enjoy virtually free travel all over the world. They both feel they have the best of both worlds — the travel and excitement of big city living and the peace and serenity of rural America. Tom May

McMILLAN FAMILY

The McMillan Farm, 4820 St. Peter Road, Section 77, was designated a "Centennial Homestead Farm"

by the Ohio Historical Society in 1977.

The founder, Thomas McMillan, born in County Antrim, Ireland, left Pennsylvania searching for good farmland and settled on the 68 acres he acquired on April 1, 1868. As the land was cleared, it vas planted to regular farm crops. Thomas was a derout Covenanter and church worker. He and his vife, Mary (Curry) had six children, three born in Pennsylvania, and three born in Mercer County, Dhio.

The second generation owner was John McMillan, who with his wife, Agnesbelle (Patton) operated the arm adding cows, sheep and horses. There were wo sons, James Ralph and Warren. On October 17, 1906, while in the Meinerding Hardware Store in Ft. Recovery, Ohio, a gun was accidentally discharged into a quantity of dynamite stored there. In the ensuing explosion — an event historically significant in Ft. Recovery History — John was killed and his wife was seriously injured. They were members of the United Presbyterian Church at Macedon, Ohio, where John "lined the hymns" at services.

After John's tragic death, followed by the death of his son Warren, the farm was operated by his wife and their son, J. Ralph, who married Zula Melinda Fennig, daughter of James and Margaret (Beeler) Fennig. Acres were added, but the 68 original acres remained intact, and was operated as a grain and livestock farm. Ralph held political office in Washington Township as Treasurer for many years, and served on the Board of Education. The family held membership in the Erastus Methodist Church.

There were three children: Mary Ellen, married Everett Maffett of Jefferson Township, now of Eaton, Ohio, and parents of two sons, James and Jeffrey; Donald Kermit, married Evelyn Staudt of Montezuma, Ohio, now living in Jay County, Indiana, and parents of Diane (McClung), Gary and Randy; and John Edward, married to Lela Hoenie of Celina,

The "Century Homestead Farm" is presently owned by John Edward and his wife Lela (daughter of Ray and Retta Hoenie) having acquired it in 1947, making this the fourth generation ownership. It is mainly a grain operation, and is farmed by their older son, Tom Warren, who with his wife Sharon (Mertz) and their children, Kimberly, Melinda, Nancy and Thomas, live on a farm on Township Line Road in Washington Township. Son Larry John is married to Judith (Wagner) and parents of John, Susan and Daniel, and live in Rochester, New York. Daughter Gwenyth Anne is married to Owen Ash-baugh and lives in Celina, Ohio. Daughter Gayle Ann is married to William T. Davis, and they live in Columbus, Ohio.

The original homestead, built by Thomas for John and Agnesbelle as a wedding present, is still standing. It has been moved to another tract nearby to make room for a new home. It has been altered, but the original two-story house is still intact and occupied. The "Century Homestead Farm" overlooks the beautiful Wabash River and many interesting Indian Relics have been discovered on the land. Mrs.

THE CLETUS MENCHHOFER, JR. FAMILY

Cletus Menchhofer, Jr. and Imogene Lois Canary were united in marriage, May 19, 1951. Imogene is the daughter of the late Lloyd and Zedna Boice Canary. Zedna was daughter of Andy and Sarah Meyer Boice and Lloyd was son of Alfred and Polly Mault Canary. Both families lived near Wabash. Alfred was killed when the west bank of the reservoir caved in on him while he was working.

Cletus Jr. is the son of Cletus Šr. and Lucille Becher Menchhofer. Lucille was daughter of George and Mary Schlenker Becher of Chattanooga. Cletus Sr. was son of John and Catherine Powell Menchhofer of Washington Twp. Cletus Jr.'s Great Great grandparents came to America in 1850 from Strassburg, Alsace, France, near the Rhine River.

Cletus Jr. served his country for two years in the U.S. Army from 1951-1953, most of the time being spent overseas.

Cletus Jr. and Imogene bought their farm on St. Anthony Rd. in Sec. 16, Washington Twp. twenty-five years ago, and now own 500 acres, specializing in grain and livestock farming. They are the parents of six children; Douglas, Shirley, Marilyn, Dennis (Deceased Nov. 15, 1978), Richard, and Brenda. Cletus Jr. also has been an employee of New Idea, Coldwater for past 30 years. The family are members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Washington Twp.

Daniel & Alice Menchhofer

DANIEL R. AND ALICE M. MENCHHOFER

Typical of many people whose activities may not have gained headlines but who are pleased to have been rooted in Mercer County is the family of Daniel R. and Alice M. Menchhofer.

Daniel Rufus Menchhofer was born April 9, 1881, the first of seven children born to John and Henrietta (nee Bollenbacher) Menchhofer; seven other children had been born earlier of John's first wife, Barbara, (nee Wolfe) all at the farm homestead near Burrville and Menchhofer Roads, in Washington Township. As a lad of twelve years John had come to America from Strassburg, Alsace, France, with his parents, John and Catherine (nee Pflughaupt) Menchhofer in the year 1850.

Alice May Menchhofer, daughter of David and Mary (nee Powell) Schroyer, was born Feb. 16, 1888 at the Schroyer Farm home, one half mile south of Wabash. Her paternal grandparents were George and Mahala (nee Harrod) Schroyer; and her maternal grandparents were Samuel and Lucy (nee Bobenmeyer) Powell, also of Washington Township.

Daniel and Alice were married January 31, 1907. After living four years on the former Porterfield farm near Macedon, they bought the Stelzer farm two miles south of Wabash. That became their home for thirty six years. There they raised their family of two girls and three boys, and taught them to be God-fearing and God-loving children. They were devout members of St. Paul Lutheran Church, where Daniel taught Sunday School and served several terms on the church council. For years Daniel held the elected office of Township Trustee. In 19-they moved to the Schroyer home near Wabash, to years later they celebrated their golden wedding an inversary. Daniel died January 15, 1958. Alice su vives. Their children marked her 90th birthday February, 1978 with a celebration dinner for 15 friends and family. She continues to do much quiling as well as enjoying her children, 32 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren and one great greandchild.

MOEDER-MADER

The Moeder-Mader family has been in Mercer County for many years. Rabanus (Robert) and Elizabeth Bauman Moeder came in the German Migrations of the 1840's. Tradition has it that they came by way of Cincinnati and settled at Litchfield in Medina Co. near the Lorain Co. line. Mr. Moeder was a school teacher and blacksmith. By 1857 they were living at St. Henry, Mercer Co. It is conjectured that they lived just south of the present High School building. They had a family of nine children:

 Josephine Moeder was born in 1845. She married Casper Beckmeyer in Cincinnati. She died in 1876 leaving a son and daughter. They were reared by her brother, Joseph and his wife at St. Henry.

 Robert Moeder was born in 1846. He married Katherine Schlosser. They had one son and an adopted daughter. He died at St. Henry in 1901.

3. Anthony Moeder was born in 1848. He married Elizabeth Brinkman. They adopted two children, who reside on the home place in St. Henry. Anthony died in St. Henry in 1933.

4. John Moeder was born in 1849. He married Rose Elizabeth Panning, who died in 1885. He then married Anna Mary Grube. He had a family of thirteen children. He died at Burkettsville in 1918.

Mary Moeder was born in 1851. She married David Roessner. They had two sons. She died at St.

Henry in 1928.

6. Joseph Moeder was born in 1852. He married Adelheit Haubert and settled on a farm west of St. Henry. They had a family of eight children. One daughter still resides on the home place, which has been in the Joe Moeder family ever since 1874. Joseph died in 1947 at the age of 95.

7. Frank Moeder was born in 1854. He married Elizabeth Forsthoff. Six children were born to them, two of whom reside in the parental home. He died at St.

Henry in 1923.

8. Catherine Moeder was born in 1856. She married Anthony Overman. They had six children. She died in 1940 and is buried at St. John (Maria Stein).

9. Xavier Moeder died in infancy, several months after his mother, who died at his birth.

Elizabeth died in 1857 and Rabanus died in 1880. They are buried in the St. Henry Cemetery. Bernard Locke

MUHLENKAMP-HESS

Bernard Muhlenkamp was born in Billibeck, Westpholen, Germany on March 21, 1838. He married Marie Wessing born Oct. 25, 1836. In the 1860's they and Bernard's brother Herman and Herman's wife came together to America and settled in Saint Anthony. Marie was fearful of the possible dangers of the trip and prayed to God to bring them safely to their new home. She promised to keep the sanctuary lamp burning in church. For over thirty years Marie and for many years her little black dog walked every evening to St. Anthony Church and lit the sanctuary lamp.

For a while they all lived with the Muhlenkamp's sister Catherine Graving and her family who came to America earlier. In 1869 Catherine and her family went out west. Herman bought her farm and Bernard bought a farm nearby. Herman's children were Barney, Gertrude, John, Henry, Theodore, and William. Bernard's children were Anthony (Elizabeth Newport, Delia Adney), Elizabeth (John Bruns), Henry, and Mary (Mike Mertz). Marie died Feb. 2, 1901 and Bernard died March 20, 1916.

Bernard's son Henry (B. Sept. 22, 1875) married Frances Hess (B. Aug. 24, 1882). She was the daughter of Jacob Hess (B. Nov. 5, 1850) and Catherine Fortman (B. Feb. 5, 1855).

As a boy Jacob worked for the Miami-Erie Canal. He walked along the canal from Toledo to Cincinnati driving a team of horses that pulled a flatboat along the canal. Later he told his family many of his adventures. Jacob became a carpenter and a bridge builder.

Jacob and Catherine built a home on Logan St., Celina in the 1870's. It is still standing. Most of their children were born in this home.

Their children were: Mary (B. Bremkte), Rosa, Nora (T. Rafferity), Frances (H. Muhlenkamp), Helen (died at 1 yr.), Frank (Hazel Frysinger, Cho Sheets, Marie Wallburn), Leona (H. Muhlenkamp), and Philip (Edwina Howard). Leona is the only surviving member of the family. Jacob died July 15, 1933 on his 60th Anniversary. Catherine died Feb. 6, 1940.

Catherine's parents were John Fortman and Marie

Wickelman of St. Anthony.

Jacob's father John was born in Germany in 1803. He and three brothers came to America in the 1840's. John and his brother William settled in Mercer County. John and his first wife had one son John. He became a Precious Blood brother and made the outdoor wooden stations at St. Charles Seminary. After his first wife died John married Catherine Knoth who was born in 1824. They had six children: Jacob, Charles, Peter, Joseph, Mary, and Elizabeth. The family lived for a time at Sharpsburg and in 1862 moved to Celina. They were one of three Catholic families who helped establish the Immaculate Conception Parish in Celina. John died March 13, 1884 and Catherine died on Dec. 22, 1880.

Their granddaugther Frances Hess met Henry Muhlenkamp at the cornerstone celebration for the new church in Celina. They were married just two months later on July 2, 1901 and settled on a farm near Trinity, Indiana. They had twelve children: Hebert (Essella Miller), Alvera (Herman Dietering), Lenard (Eulalia Wagner), Cleo, Harold (Rita Knapke), Ralph (Juletta Wenning), Victor (Agnes Wendel), Cornelous (Rose Wenning), Paul (Dorothy Langenkamp), Urban (Irma Hess), Mary (Howard Wagner, Edward Kriegel) and Doris (Richard Moeller). Frances died March 6, 1943. Henry married her sister Leona on Jan. 29, 1944. Henry died on Oct. 19, 1962. They had 89 grandchildren; 185 great-grand.

O'DELL

Clyde and Agnes Mannix O'Dell moved to Mercer County in 1919 from Greenville, Darke County, Ohio, where they had owned farm land. They purchased the former Dave Loughridge farm - eighty acres in Washington Township, two miles south of Saint Anthony, at the corner of State Routes 49 and 219. This land is now owned by Alvin Bruggeman. A title search indicates that this acreage was originally in two forty acre parcels in 1833 and 1834 — owned by an Abraham McDowell.

There was a sawmill at the northwest corner of the farm when the O'Dells moved there. According to Henry O'Dell, his father, Clyde, tore down the mill buildings soon after taking possession. The sawmill had been owned by Joe Kleinhenz, great grandfather of William Wangler of Fort Recovery. The one room school across the road, now owned by Schroer Brothers, was known as the Loughridge School and was in use until consolidation with the St. Anthony School.

Probably one reason for the purchase of the land named above was the fact that one hundred additional acres adjoining were available for rent. Fifty acres along Route 219 were owned by William Lowry of Fort Recovery, and fifty acres owned by Henry Mannix, the father of Agnes O'Dell. Later Clyde and Agnes acquired the Mannix tract. (Now owned by Alfred Sudhoff)

Clyde was born and reared in Savona, Darke County, Ohio and was a farmer in the Greenville area. Agnes was born and reared in Rosehill, Ohio and was a teacher in the Greenville area. They were the parents of two children — Henry O'Dell, and Mary Alice O'Dell Anthony. Henry and his wife, Ruth, now live in Laurel, Florida, south of Sarasota. Their daughter, Kathy O'Dell Coble, and her husband and daughter live in Sarasota, Florida also. Mary Alice, her husband, Luke Anthony, live in Fort Recovery, Ohio. Of their family of five, one son, George lives in Fort Recovery, and is associated with the Sohio Service Station. Susan is a student at Bowling Green State University. Margaret, Tom and Mike are married and living in other areas.

Memories of an 'ice house' out in the woods on the eighty acres described above. Each winter in the early years, at least, Clyde and neighbors would cut large blocks of ice and pack them into the 'ice house' - using saw dust and straw for insulation. The writer can recall the use of a coaster wagon and ice tongs - to get the ice in the summer in order to make homemade ice cream. As a small child, there is a remembrance of a man's coming to Clyde asking for some ice for his very ill wife, in the days before ice was readily available. Naturally, the ice didn't last until the end of the summer, especially if the summer was unusually hot.

Visiting neighbors, especially on Sunday nights, was the usual occurrence. The children played games; the grownups talked or played cards. It was extremely important to have an adequate 'lunch' in readiness. All looked forward to the visit and the lunch. Occasionally birthdays or anniversaries of neighbors were celebrated with a 'surprise' party carry-in. All in all, a very warm feeling of knowing and appreciating people.

BENJAMIN F. POWELL FAMILY

Benjamin Franklin Powell was born January 11, 1883 in Mercer Co., Ohio. His parents were John Powell and Amelia Kutsch. John Powell was born January 24, 1836 in Butler Co., Ohio, the son of John and Barbara Powell. In 1852 the Powell family moved to section 11 of Washington Twp., Mercer Co. John began farming the home place in 1867, and on August 8, 1875 married Amelia Kutsch. Amelia Kutsch was born in Liberty Twp., Mercer Co., on November 29, 1859, the daughter of Jacob and Catherine (Conrad) Kutsch. The union of John Powell and Amelia was blessed with the following children: Catherine, b. June 11, 1876; Maggie E., b. November 29, 1877, who died in infancy; Pearl M., b. June 19, 1880; Benjamin F., b. January 11, 1883; Steven Grover Cleveland, b. August 27, 1885; and Alma Leona V., b. May 27, 1889.

Benjamin F. Powell married Iva Wright, daughter of Peter and Margaret (Kettering) Wright. Their children are: Mrs. Glen (Delilah) Beams, Celina, Ohio, b. July 7, 1904; Mrs. James (Mabel Margaret) Ellis, Dearborn, Michigan, b. Feb. 27, 1906; John Wright Powell, Celina, Ohio, b. Dec. 24, 1907; and Ellen May, who died in infancy. Iva Powell died in 1909. Benjamin Powell married Luetta Curless, of Liberty Twp., Mercer Co., Ohio on January 5, 1911.

Luetta Curless was born Dec. 18, 1894, the daughter of Alva and Marietta (Bollenbacher) Curless. Alva Curless was the son of John Curless and Delilah A. (Garrison) Curless. John, a Civil War veteran, farmed and lived in Liberty Twp., Mercer Co., Ohio. However, he and his family spent several years in Nebraska and in southern Missouri. Spells of severe drought and bad luck forced the Curless family to make the trip back to Mercer Co., Ohio in a covered wagon. The children of John and Delilah Curless were: Art, Harvey, Rebecca Weisenborn, Myrtle Hipkins, Cary, who died at the age of 18; and Alva. John and Delilah Curless later settled in New Madison, Ohio, and are buried in the town cemetery.

Alva Curless married Marietta Bollenbacher on Nov. 11, 1890. At the present time the connection cannot be proven, but it is believed that Marietta was the daughter of Christian and Emily (Mosier) Bollenbacher, who were married on Sept. 20, 1860, and whose children included: "Big Charlie"; "Windy Adam"; Marietta; Christian; Caroline; Anna; Emily; Elizabeth; John; Jacob; and Catherine. There may have been other children, also. Christian Bollenbacher owned a farm of 179.5 acres in section 18 of Liberty Twp. which was deeded to him by his father Adam in 1865. Adam, one of the original settlers of Liberty Twp., obtained the patent deed for that quarter-section from the U.S. government on Oct. 10, 1840. In 1857, he deeded ½ acre to Liberty Twp., for a cemetery, which is now known as Kessle. Cemetery on Oregon Rd.

The marriage of Alva and Marietta (Bollenbacher Curless was blessed with four children: Leroy, Ellie Henry, and Luetta, b. Dec. 18, 1894. Marietta died o the "ague" while the children were still small. The children were raised by relatives in Liberty Twp Alva Curless later settled in Utah.

Luetta Curless and Benjamin Powell were married in 1911, and shortly thereafter moved to Missouri There along with friends and neighbors Ida "Cook" and Adam Kettering, they worked on a dredging boat. They moved back to Mercer Co. prior to the birth of their first child, remaining there the rest of their lives. Their children are: Richard Dwight, b Nov. 15, 1914, of Celina; Echo Hope Rock, b. Aug 10, 1917, of Celina; Mary Jane Wurster, b. Aug. 4 1919, of Celina; Robert Franklin, b. Nov. 21, 1921 deceased; Violet Luetta Shirk, b. July 25, 1923, of Wabash, Ohio; Roger Lee, b. May 28, 1925, of Union City, Ohio; Joanne Iolea Hellwarth, b. April 22, 1928 of Celina; Jack Douglas, b. May 26, 1931, of Mercer Ohio; Jerry Wayne, b. May 26, 1931, of Coldwater, and William Joseph, b. April 25, 1934, of Penville, Ind. Benjamin and Luetta Powell were members of the Wabash Congregational Christian Church. Benjamin Powell died on June 29, 1962, and Luetta's death followed on Sept. 24, 1963.

NEPPISEE LENA SHANER/ RHOADS

Neppisee Lena Shaner, the wife of Benjamin Franklin Shaner, resides at 1622 Pine Road, near Wabash. She is the mother of 4 children, Rebecca Diane (Birt) Hart, born May 8, 1953, Daniel Ernest Birt, born, July 18, 1954, Mark Allen Birt, born July 4, 1957, and Timothy Gorden Birt, born June 24, 1958. Her first husband, Ernest Gilbert Birt, was killed in an automobile accident on April 5, 1964 near Bluffton, Indiana. She remarried March 3, 1967. She is employed at Fort Recovery Industries. Her maiden name was Rhoads.

The Rhoads family were Pennsylvania Dutch, supposedly from Germantown, Pennsylvania. Their background is rather sketchy, but it is known they moved to Ohio, then to Wabash, Indiana. The subjects father, Norman Delor Rhoads was born there June 19, 1904. His father's name was Richard Irvin Rhoads (1869-1933) and his mother was Lena Helen (LaSonde) Rhoads (1885-1940). Norman Rhoads is still living and resides in Plymouth, Indiana.

Helen (LaSonde) Rhoads, mentioned above, was the daughter of Napoleon Bonaparte LaSonde and Amanda (Turner) LaSonde. He immigrated to this country from Montreal, Canada and met his wife in Toledo, Ohio, where they married. They then moved to Wabash, Indiana.

Norman Rhoads married Hazel Marie Kumley, oorn October 9, 1908, on October 31, 1921 in Bucyrus, Ohio. She is the daughter of William Tell Kumley and Clara Maude (Wintrode) Kumley. William Kumley (1890-1932) was of Swiss extraction. His father, Jacob Kumley, was a Civil War veteran.

The Wintrode family were originally from Delaware. They moved to Stark County, Ohio, near Canton, then to Huntington County in 1838. Clara Kumley's grandfather, Daniel Wintrode (1824-1901), was engaged in work with the Miami Indians. He acquired their language and served an an interpretor for traders. He had many close encounters with them. He actually lived with them in their villages and attended their war dances. Mrs. Kumley's mother, Martha Priscilla (Jones) Wintrode (1861-1936), was reportedly the daughter of a full-blooded Miami Indian woman, though this has not been proven.

Mrs. Shaner was born June 5, 1926 in Wabash County, Indiana. She married Ernest Birt on October 28, 1949.

WILLIAM SUDHOFF

This is the story of our parents, William and Sohia Sudhoff — Lewis Sudhoff came to America in bout 1869 from Germany and settled near St. Annony. He married Margaret Heyne of St. Sebastian. o this union William was born May 10, 1875.

He married Sophia Meyers, daughter of John and ophia (Biggs) Meyers of Skeels X Roads. (Our 10ther told that her mother came to America on earing that ladies in America sat in rocking chairs.) Young Sophia did housework in Dayton at the me the young farmer was courting her. He tried actory work there but could not adapt to daily supervision and came home to farm his father's farm. After several visits to the country, Sophia decided to tay, and the two were married in St. Anthony Thurch, September 29, 1903, and lived in a newly built house on the Sudhoff farm.

Their first child died in infancy. Their heartbreak vas eased with the arrival of daughters Margaret and Dorothy, and sons Alfons and Fred.

Farm life was hard in those eary years. Neighbors ook turns taking cream to St. Anthony where it was nade into butter. Produce was brought to the General Store in Wabash and St. Anthony. They were given staples in exchange.

In August of 1910, a steam engine exploded on a nearby farm. Our dad was critically injured. A neighbor told us that Dad, on overhearing the docor say he did not think he could live, muttered, 'Tell him I'll spit on his grave."

They eventually acquired the home place and beame the parents of three more children, Ralph, An-elma and Robert.

Conditions improved. They remodeled their home o include indoor plumbing. A gasoline engine powered the pressure pump as well as the washing ma-:hine. In the next few years a Delco Electric Plant replaced kerosene lamps and lanterns and even the gasoline engine. Family transportation was upgraded considerably with the purchase of their first car, a sleek 1915 Buick.

Farming was progressing from the steam age to nternal combustion. Snapshots record the proud acquisition of a 1020 International Tractor in 1926 to ise in custom threshing. This proved too small, and the next year a McCormick Deering 15-30 tractor was purchased.

They no longer had to haul hogs and drive cattle to market but hauled them in trailers behind the Model T. Grain was hauled to market in wagons in

About this time ground grain was used for feeding. Supplement was mixed in with a shovel and later in a mixer. Still later the portable grinding mill came to the farms.

Dad served several terms as township trustee and road superintendent. It was mainly through his efforts in 1924 that the gravel road past our home became State Route 49. He was instrumental in bringing electric power to our area. He also served on various church commissions.

Each of the children married during the next several years. Margaret and her husband settled in St. Sebastian and managed a general store. NOTE: This index has been prepared by volunteer members and friends of the Mercer County Historical Society Appreciation is extended to these people. A special thank you goes to Florence Gause and Vera Speicher for their months and months of work, helping the editor see this project through to the finish.

There may be errors of omission or commission; please make any corrections in your own copy of the book. This index was a large project for volunteers; please appreciate their efforts.

Due to the tremendous volume of this index, a portion of it was omitted. A copy of this unpublished portion is available at the Mercer County Historical Museum. This unpublished index contains such subjects as: agriculture, arts, businesses, cemeteries, churches, gasoline, holidays, legal action, lights, log buildings, military history, music, oil wells, organizations, radio, schools, sewage disposal, telephone, television, transportation, theatre, and universities.

The Board of Directors of the Mercer County Historical Society reserves all rights of preparation and/or publishing any indexes to this book. No copies or reproductions of these indexes may be made without written permission of the Board of Directors of the Mercer County Historical Society.

Joyce L. Alig, President Mercer County Historical Society.
